CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

This chapter consists of background, problem statement objective of the research, significance of the research, and scope of the research.

A. Background

Literature is the aspect of human activities composition that tells a story, a drama, an expression and feeling. According to Rees (1973:05), literature is a permanent expression in words of some thoughts or feelings in ideas about life and the world. While according to Boulton (1980:07) literature is a functional perspective as the imaginative work that gives us 4Rs: recreation, recognition, revelation and redemption.

Based on the genres of literature, there are three broad types of literature; these are drama, poetry and prose. In this case the writer focused on play. Under play we have: dance drama, radio and television drama, mime, pantomime, heroic and morality plays. Principally however, they all come under: tragedy, comedy, tragic-comedy and mellow drama. For now, we should note that drama is primarily written to be performed or acted on stage. Therefore, the playwright usually writes his plays character by character, scene by scene and act by act to forestall any confusion and to ensure correctness during performance. The playwright can make the drama based on the other literary work that has been existed before.

The adaptation of literary works into other genres implications for changes in the shape and structure of the story. For example, a novel may experience a reduction or increase of the story when transformed into movies. The way of presenting the story underwent a change, from the written form to form an image display. These changes, of course, create other changes which cause differences between novel and drama. When the drama was displayed, it will make any disappointment on the result of the adaptation. This feeling is caused by the dissatisfaction of the people who found a large of differences between the two kinds of the piece. This is because reading a novel gave them a freedom to interpret everything in the novel. Meanwhile, they couldn't make it in the drama because of the limitation made by the director.

The limitations made by the director here are the characters, the situations or occurrence. The main cause why the audiences meet the feeling because their experiences found in the novel couldn't be found in the drama. This case will be a usual thing in process of adaptation because it always creates changes as effects of the changes of the media and the interpretation. In this case, the literary work will appear in a very different form.

Adaptation is the theory that used in this research. Therefore, the researcher needs to have a deep understanding about what adaptation is. There are some theories of linguists about adaptation, one of them is Hutcheon (2013: 08) who defines adaptation as an acknowledged transposition of a recognizable other work or works, a creative and an interpretive act of appropriation/salvaging, and last, an extended inter textual engagement with the adapted work. She adds that an adaptation is a derivation that is not derivative—a work that is second without being secondary. With adaptations, we seem to desire the repetition as much as the change. Hutcheon quoted Fischlin and Fortier who stated that adaptation includes almost any act of alteration performed upon specific cultural works of the past and relates it with a general process of cultural recreation (Hutcheon, 2013: 9)

A play bound with duration causes workers have to be creative to sort and choose important events to being played .Hence, memorable experiences for readers when they read the novel are not always found at the time they watch the play results of the transformation of a novel. Krevolin (2003:11-12) also stated that the perfection of a play adaptation is not caused by conformity to the original novel. The play adaptation is considered successful in catching the essence, spirit, and soul of the original novel. So this is the key to successful play adaptation according to Krevolin and does not do a transcription literally and focus on material source.

Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati is one of well-known Indonesian true story. It will become a material source in this research. The interesting story adapted into English drama by BSI student in 2015. There are many differences caused by the process of the reception toward a novel “Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati” by the play team production (scenario writer, director and producer). This is a problem which often becomes a question for reader of the novel “Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati” and also audiences of the play “The Endless Love Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati”. Therefore, this research is scientifically to answer the questions. It would be very important when a novel is transformed to the play and change is a reasonable.

In this research, the researcher analyzed “ Adaptation of The Novel “ Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by Verdy R Baso into The Drama “ An Endless Love of Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by BSI in 2015” using a structural approach. One of the reasons why the writer chooses this title is because the novel is the only work which is adapted by BSI 2015 into English play. The researcher also wants to find out more deeply about the adaptation in both of work. Another reason is that this is one of the most favorite dramas performed by BSI in 2015; it can be seen from the total number of the audience which, according to the Head of the Committee, Hardillah, reached until more than 700 spectators. The last reason is because this is a story which is based on the original story of Makassar in the colonial era of Netherland colony.

B. Problem Statement

Related to the description above, this research is aimed to answer the following question “What is the adaptation of The Novel “Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” into a Drama entitled “An Endless Love Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by BSI in 2015 using a structural approach”?

C. Research Objectives

Based on the question above, the objective of this research is to describe the adaptation of The Novel “Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” into a drama “An Endless Love of Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by BSI in 2015 (a structural approach).

D. Research Significance

The significance of this writing is that this study gave benefit to Adab and humanities faculty especially to English and literature department. Because of that, the writer divided it into two benefits of the writing; they are the theoretical benefit and the practical benefits:

1. The Theoretical Benefits

Academically, it helps the one who interested in literature especially the student in Adab and Humanities Faculty. Furthermore, it helps in understanding many aspects of adaptation literary work into other genre. Researcher expects this research will be one of the great resources to other researcher who are interested in observing the same field.

2. The practical benefit

Practically, it helps the researcher to know the importance adaptation and structural approach. In addition the playwright can use adaptation theories into the adaptation literary work.

E. Scope of the Research

In this research, the writer would restrict the problem of the research only in original historical tale of Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati, how adaptation of The Novel “ Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by Verdy R Baso into The Drama “ An Endless Love of Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati” by BSI in 2015 (A structural approach). In this paper, the writer will use a structuralism approach and adaptation theory.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

This chapter contains the previous findings, the theories by several experts which will be used to analyze the problem statement. There will be an explanation about pertinent ideas.

A. Previous Findings

The writer presents some previous findings, which related to this research, as follows:

Mahanani (2013), in his thesis entitled "Kajian Transformasi dari Novel Laskar pelangi karya Andrea Hirata ke Film Laskar Pelangi karya Riri Riza". The thesis aimed to describe forms of transformation of a plot and characterization of novel laskar pelangi to the movie Laskar Pelangi by using theory of alih wahana and ecranisation. This research used descriptive qualitative method, the result shows that the transformation of the novel laskar pelangi by Andrea Hirata to the film Laskar pelangi by Riri Riza is the process through the addition of the movie scene, the reduction of the story of the novel, and variations in the movie and novel. The research findings are changes from the story like the death of Pak Harfan, the reduction in the movie like Trapani and his mother who got medical treatment at Zaal Batu and some variations we can see in the movie but we cannot find in the novel. Besides, there are some characters that do not appear anymore in the movie like Drs.

Zulfikar and the appearance of a new character like Pak Mahmud, Pak Zulkarnaen and Pak Baki.

Aderia (2013) in her thesis entitled “Ekranisasi Novel ke film Surat Kecil Untuk Tuhan”. In her thesis, she wrote the analysis of both novel Surat kecil Untuk Tuhan by Agnes Davenor and the film Surat Kecil Untuk Tuhan by Haris Nizam. This research used descriptive qualitative method; the main research finding is the description about the similarities, differences of the events in the novel and also the film Surat Kecil Untuk Tuhan. The one of the differences is found as there are 112 episodes in the novel of Surat Kecil Untuk Tuhan but only 69 episodes are told in the film. The similarity is that 32 episodes of the novel are told the same in the film.

Based on the previous findings above, there are some similarities between those researches and this research. We can see that all of them analyze a novel, just the same as this research. Even though, the titles are not the same, all of the researches mentioned above talk about the adaptation from a novel into another type of literature.

Nevertheless, there are also some differences between those researches and this research. This research will analyze the adaptation from a novel into a drama and not only focus on the plot, characterization, setting, theme, but the researcher will adding the some elements, such as ; point of view, tone, style the author/ figurative language, and the moral value. Furthermore, the researcher will apply structural approach and adaptation theory. While others researches above talked about the adaptation of a novel into a film and used ekranisasi theory.

B. Pertinent Ideas

1. Theory of Adaptation

Hutcheon (2013: 8) describes adaptation as an acknowledged transposition of a recognizable other work or works, a creative and an interpretive act of appropriation/salvaging, and last, an extended intertextual engagement with the adapted work. Ardianto (2014), in his thesis, stated that Adaptation is a manuscript or text sticking in our memory which is not (directly) from the original source but from different types of works by various repetition. Faubert (2010: 182) thinks that adaptation will get a better position if invested as a project of culture than if exploited like the previous work.

Hutcheon also defines the phenomenon of adaptation into three distinct but interrelated perspectives to refer to the process and the product, they are as follows:

- 1) As a formal entity or product, adaptation is an announced and extensive transposition of a particular work or works; it can involve a shift of medium or genre or a change of frame and therefore context.
- 2) As a process of creation, the act of adaptation always involves both (re-)interpretation and (re-)creation.
- 3) Seen from its process of reception, adaptation is a form of intertextuality: we experience adaptations as palimpsests through our memory of other works that resonate through repetition with variation (Hutcheon, 2013: 7-8).

In addition to discussing the type of adaptation Linda Hutcheon also explains about the kind of relationship the medium with the audience, he divided it into three parts;

- 1) To tell; relate to the narrative in the form of text or literature, where imagination arranged by text, and not equipped with pictures and sound. However, the reader can stop reading and imagination in accordance with the will, as well as can be held and felt by hand. Readers also can choose the story or a sequence of pages that want to read.
- 2) To show; is part of the film and a stage show / stage. Spectator trapped in powerlessness being forced to follow the plot according to the concept or line performances. This mode also changes the imagination into reality straight through the audience's perception. Visual and gestures represent a medium complex unity. Musical accompaniment, dialogue and development emotional characters provoke audience to become emotionally involved in the story telling built.
- 3) Interact with the story; the medium with a target that is not only with on display, but merger of both. An example is the game interactive or machine, a form manufacture film using virtual reality digital-based technologies. This medium is electronic and is a combination (Hybrid) of audiovisual, text, and computer system. The strength of the medium is the possibility for the audience to interact with the story that was built (Hutcheon, 2006: 26).

When models mediums are associated in a relation of adaptation, it will be formed patterns:

• Telling ↔ Showing

Example: from the novel adapted to film/drama show (or vice versa)

) Showing ↔ Showing

Example: from film adapted into drama musical (or vice versa)

Stories shown in one performance medium have always been ) Interacting ↔ Telling /Showing

Example: from games adapted to film or comic grafis (or vice versa)

Especially In the move from print to performance, it is usually the common and familiar phenomenon of the adaptation of novels that comes to mind. Novels contain much information that can be rapidly translated into action or gesture on stage or screen or dispensed with altogether, admits novelist and literary critic David Lodge. In the move from telling to showing, a performance adaptation must dramatize: description, narration, and represented thoughts must be transcoded into speech, actions, sounds, and visual images. Conflicts and ideological differences between characters must be made visible and audible. In the process of dramatization there is inevitably a certain amount of re-accentuation and refocusing of themes, characters, plot and all the elements intrinsic of literary work.

An adaptation is a derivation that is not derivative—a work that is second without being secondary. With adaptations, we seem to desire the repetition as much as the change (Hutcheon, 2013: 9). She also quoted Fischlin and Fortier who stated that adaptation includes almost any act of alteration performed upon specific cultural works of the past and relates it with a general process of cultural recreation (Hutcheon, 2013: 9). So, adaptation is reprocess a literary work from one work into another work which maintains the behavior, character, style and the original tone of work.

As popular as an adaptation is, for some, written literature will always have obvious superiority over any adaptation of it because of its seniority as an art form (Hutcheon, 2013: 4). Driven by a critical abuse that “an adaptation is likely to be greeted as minor and subsidiary and certainly never good as the ‘original’”, Hutcheon is provoked to study about adaptation (Hutcheon, 2013: xiv). She states that adaptation is not merely a formal entity, but is also a process (2013: xvii).

The aim of theory of adaptation is to tackle the subtle and not so subtle denigration of our culture that still tends to value the “original” despite the popularity of adaptations as a mode to retell our favourite stories, and to consider the ever-winding range of forms of adaptations (Hutcheon, 2013: xx).

The ways of storytelling—and story retelling—are changing daily. In this digital era, digital is more than a platform. A particular interest to adaptation studies is the fact that technology is also altering how we actually tell and re-tell our stories (Hutcheon, 2013: xxi).

Adaptations are everywhere today, including television series. As Hutcheon quoted from Newman, the move from literary to the filmic or televisual has even been called a move to “a willfully inferior for form of cognition” (Hutcheon, 2013: 3). Television and cinema shares many of the same naturalistic conventions and therefore same transcoding issues when it comes to adaptation. However, because there’s more time available in television series, less compression of the adapted work is required (Hutcheon, 2013: 47).

For an adaptation to be successful in its own right, it must make sense for both knowing (the people who are familiar with the original work) and unknowing (people who are not familiar with the original work) audiences (Hutcheon, 2013: 121). Knowing audiences have expectations and demands—the more rabid the fans, the more disappointed they can be. For unknowing audiences, however, adaptations have a way of upending sacrosanct elements like propriety and originality (Hutcheon, 2013: 122-123).

When adaptations make the move across modes of engagements and thus across media, which is, in the most common shift, from the printed page to performance, they find themselves most tangled in the intricacies of the medium-specificity debates (Hutcheon, 2013: 35). The move from telling to showing and, more specifically from a long and complex novel to any form of performance is usually seen as the most fraught transposition. This is due to the fact that when adapting a novel, it needs to be distilled, reduced in size, and inevitably, complexity, in order to dramatize it (Hutcheon, 2013: 36).

Whether an adapted story is told, shown, or interacted with, it always happens in a particular time and space in a society. Nations and media are not the only relevant contexts to be considered. Time, often very short stretches of it, can change the context even within the same place and culture (Hutcheon, 2013: 144). The reception context determined the changes in setting and style. Adaptations of the same play that are even decades apart can and should differ: cultures change over time.

For relevance's sake, adapters need to seek the "right" resetting or recontextualizing (Hutcheon, 2013: 146); in the same society, political issues can change within time. Even within a single culture, the changes can be so great that they can be considered transcultural, on a micro- rather than macro level (Hutcheon, 2013: 147). Contemporary events or dominant images condition our perception as well as interpretation, as they do those of the adapter. Economic and legal considerations, and evolving technologies, play a part in these contexts (Hutcheon, 2013: 149).

Robert B. Ray proposed that adaptation as an act of “quoting” from existing work, in a context of a new “discontinuity”, so that the result will be a really new work, not merely “cover version” (Ray, 2000: 44-46).

To audiences, there are appealing factors of adaptations that make them enjoy adaptations. First, it is repetition without being replication, bringing together the comfort of ritual and recognition with the delight of surprise and novelty; it involves both memory and change, persistence and variation. As Hutcheon quoted from George Kubler, “human desires in every present instance are torn between the replica and the invention, between the desire to return to the known pattern and the desire to escape it by a new variation.” Adaptations fulfill both desires at once (Hutcheon, 2013: 173).

Adaptations as repetitions without replication point us simultaneously to both possible ways of defining narrative: as a specific cultural representation of a “basic ideology” and as a general human universal. They keep the prior work alive, giving it an afterlife it would never have had otherwise (Hutcheon, 2013: 176).

Adaptation is how stories evolve and mutate to fit new times and different places. Evolving by cultural selection, travelling stories adapt to local cultures (Hutcheon, 2013: 176-177). We retell—and show again and interact anew with—stories over and over; they change with each repetition, and yet they are recognizably the same. In the workings of human imagination, adaptation is the norm, not the exception (Hutcheon, 2013: 177).

2. Theory of Structural

The structural approach in the study of literature understands as a theory which considers the elements of literature works as unified whole. In this theory, a literary work is regarded works of literature as an autonomous structure that must be understood to be intrinsically independent of historical background, authorship, and the effects of the reader (Teeuw, 1982:60). In other words, in assessing the structural theory of literary reading only what is contained in such literary works, regardless of extrinsic elements such as author, historical society, and other outside elements that build the work.

According to structuralist, literary works are only to be enjoyed, not to be used as media criticism. In applying structuralism, the analysis can be done by looking at whether the elements in literary works were interrelated, it can be said that theory has a weakness, because it considers literature as a medium for entertainment only, whereas in fact works of literature can provide more information that may not have been known readers, if it is studied more deeply and not just based on its intrinsic elements only. Other than that, a literary works cannot be separated from the social community elements.

Structural approach is approach which is used to analyze literary work. A structural approach appears because of the phenomena that developed in Geneva with formalism. This approach is also named an objective approach (Wellek & Rene, 1978:40).

Abrams added that Structuralism comes with basic principle that focuses on the verbal structure of the literary work and has the autonomy equality which can be seen from three aspect of the work. The transformation means that continuation of the transformation procedure can probably make the new from. While self-regulation means that this approach has autonomy quality and it does not need order aspects out the work itself as long as the meaning of it can be understood. To simplify structuralism here, (Snyder, 2011: 47) a structuralist critique is looking for parallels, echoes, reflections, repetitions, contrasts, and patterns in a text, usually a prose narrative, and examines these factors in the following elements of the narrative: plot, structure, character/ motive, situation/circumstance, and language/imagery

When someone talks about structural approach, he has to define between content and form. The contents include such as; the problems, thinking, philosophy, and the central story. The structural approach sees the unity or totally meaning, one aspect must be related with another aspects or it can be said also that one aspect and the other must be supported each other. Structural approach tries to see the literary works as one system on the objective way, and the values that gives to the system depends on the component of the work itself well. The structure of the literary work determines as character, plot, setting, and theme, point of view, tone style (figurative language), and Moral value.

a) Plot

A plot is narration of event. In arranging the events of a story, the author creates plot. According to Abrams's that "plot is a sequence of incidents or events of which a story is composed". In general, according to Gustav Freytag in Abrams (Abrams, 1981; 227) plot divides into four parts;

- a) Exposition is the part in which the author introduces the characters, scene, time, and situation.
- b) Rising action is the dramatization of event the complication the situation and gradually intensifies the conflict.
- c) Climax is where the rising action (complication and conflict) come to further development and to a moment of crisis.
- d) Resolution is a solution in the story that performed in ending.

Plot of story deals with events that occurs in temporal sequence. The events connect each other. Plot makes us aware not merely as element in temporal series but also as intricate pattern of cause and effect (kenney,1996;14).

b) Character

In fiction, a character may be defined as verbal representation of a human being. Through action, speech, description, and commentary, authors portray character that are worth caring about, rooting, for, and even loving, although there are also characters you may laugh at, dislike, or even hate.

Character may be flat. Minor characters; or round and ,major. The main character in a story is generally known as protagonist, the character who opposes him is the antagonist. Character is revealed by how a character responds to conflict.

Every stories hinges on the actions undertaken by its main character, or protagonist, a term drawn from ancient Greek tragedy that is more useful in discussions of fiction than such misleading terms as hero or heroine. Additionally, stories may contain an opposing character, or antagonist, with whom the protagonist is drawn into conflict

Abrams (1981;276) says that “ character is people who are appeared in a narrative prose or novel and it is interpreted by the readers as a person who has moral quality and certain tendency such as being expressed in what they say and what they do”

Major character is a character that plays an important role or character that often appears in the story that gives some commentaries from the author. The events in a story may change the reader’s point of view or attitudes toward the characters. For instance, the readers feel hate, feel happy or feel sympathetic to the character.

The character may be protagonist or anatagonist, major and minor characters, round or flat, static or dynamic. Gill (1985: 129) says that; “A character is someone in a literary work who has some sort of identity, an identity which is made up by appearance conversation action, name and possibly thought on the need”.

From explanation above, people also know that some characters have function as protagonist. Those who have, function as the main activator of a story are also regarded as good, nice, kind, hero, etc. while antagonist is an opposite of protagonist , usually its unkind, cruel, bad, and always block the protagonist’s action or becomes trouble maker for the protagonist. There are few stages to analyze the character;

1. By action. How someone reveals himself
2. By word. What a person says is a key to know he or she is.
3. The physical appearance. This concern with the features of character covered man or woman, attractive, the age, thin, quick or the skin colour.
4. This social stage. It is pertaining to the human activity, economic, and environment.
5. The spiritual existence. The formed an important thing from the identity of man, the character is materialized in an action which reflect the way behavior, imagination, emotions, and the way of decision.

c) Setting

Setting is the total environment and period for the action of the literary work. It includes the time, place, climatic, condition, and historical period during the action in the story takes places. According to Abrams (1981;274)”

In a literary work, setting is one of the most important elements which build the story, because this element will describe the general situation of literary work”.

Setting gives the basic of the story correctly and clear. The setting is important to give realistic impression to the readers, created a certain situation at a glanced is really happened. So, the readers feel easier to create their imagination and participation to criticize the story.

1) Setting of Place

Setting of place directs to the location where the event happened in a story. The use of setting which certain name should reflect the geographical condition of place. Each place must have their characteristic, which differentiate with the others. The description of the place is important to give impression to the readers, because they will consider that the event really happened in the place of the story.

Setting of place in a novel usually consists of several locations and it will move from one place to another place because there's a development of plot and characters. Setting of place is decided by the accuracy of description, function and the unity with another setting's elements

2) Setting of Time

Setting of time is related to the problem of when the event happens in a story. The problem of when is usually connected with factual time, that has connection with historical events. The readers try to understand and enjoy based on the period.

3) Setting Of Society

Social setting directs to the problem which are related to the behavior of social life in certain place and certain time in a novel. Social setting has connection with the system of social life that contains many problems in complex scope; it can be habits, religion, ideology, and the way of thinking.

d) Theme

According to Abrams (1981, 320), theme is the main idea or the main point in a story. A theme most represents the whole part of the story, because theme is a basic development of a whole story. Actually it is not easy to find out the theme in a novel, the reader has to read the novel and understand what the story tells about.

Stanton (2007:7) was stated that themes gives a strong explained about the unity of what is happening in the story, and tells about the story of life in a common context. The purpose of theme is to give a shape and effect in our mind so make the story easy to remember. A good theme has to represent the entire story in the novel. Sometimes the theme shapes in to the fact that comes from the human experience. It is explored by the story and then gives impression for each other.

The theme of the novel is more than its subject matter, because an author's technique can play as strong a role in developing a theme as the action of the characters do. Sometimes because of the length of novels and the various characters, conflicts, and scenes, found within them, reader can look at different aspect of the work to uncover different interpretations of the meaning of the tale.

e) Point of View

According to Goodman (2001,151) point of view signifies the ways story gets told the mode (or modes) established by an author by means of which the reader is presented with the characters, dialogue, actions, setting, and events which constitute the narrative in a work of fiction.

Authors have developed many different ways to present a story, and many single words exhibit a diversity of methods. The simplified classification below, however, is widely recognized and can serve as a preliminary frame of reference for analyzing traditional types of narration and for determining the predominant type in mixed narrative modes. It dealt first with by far the most widely used modes, first-person, and third person narration. It establishes a broad distinction between these two modes, then they divides third person narratives into subclasses according to the degree and kind of freedom or limitation which the author assumes in getting the story across to the reader. It then goes on to deal brief with the rarely used mode of second person narration.

Based on Abraham (1981,232) In a third-person narrative, the narrator is someone outside the story proper who refers to all the charecters in the story by name, or as “he,” “she,” “they.” in a first-person narrative, the narrator speaks “I,” and is to a greater or lesser degree a participant in the story. Abrams divided into three poits of view which they are:

1) Third-person points of view

a. The omniscient point of view

This is a common term for the many and varied works of fiction written in accord with the convention that the narrator knows about the agents, actions, and events, has privileged access to the narrator is free to move at will in time and place, to shift from character to character, and to report (or conceal) their speech, doings, and states of consciousness.

b. The limited point of view

The narrator tells the story in the third person but stays inside the confines of what is perceived, the ought, remembered and felt by a single character (or at most by very few characters) within the story.

2) First-person points of view

This mode, insofar as it is consistently carried out, limits the matter of the narrative to what the first-person narrator knows experiences, infers, or can find out by talking to other characters.

3) Second person points of view

In this mode the story gets told solely, or at least primarily, as an address by the narrator to someone he calls by the second-person pronoun “you”. This form of narration occurred in occasional passages of traditional fiction, but has been exploited in a sustained way only during the latter part of the twentieth century and then only rarely; the effect is of a virtuoso performance.

f) Tone

Abrams (1981, 237) defined tone as the expression of a literary speaker’s “attitude to his listener,” “the tone of his utterance reflects his sense of how he stands toward those he is addressing” (Practical Criticism, 1929, chapters 1 and 3). In more complex definition, the soviet critic Mikhail Bakhtin said that tone, or “intonation,” is oriented in two directions: with respect to the listener as ally or witness and with respect to the object of the utterance as the third person, living participant whom the intonation scolds or caresses, denigrates or magnifies (Discourse in Life and Discourse in Art, in Bakhtin’s Freudianism). The tone of a speech can be described as critical or approving, formal or intimate, outspoken or reticent, solemn or playful, arrogant or prayerful, angry or loving, serious or ironic, condescending or obsequious, and so on through numberless possible nuances of relationship and attitude both to object and auditor.

g) Figurative Language

Abrams (1981:63) explained that “figurative language is a deviation from what speakers of a language apprehend as the ordinary or standard, significance or sequence of words, in order to achieve some special meaning or effect. Furthermore, Rozakis (1995:28) said that “figurative language-saying one thing in terms of another”. It means that figurative language is an expression used by person or the author indirectly by using the comparison. It cannot be interpreted literally because the comparison in figurative language expression has the meaning.” By this explanation, it can be said that this expression is different from the language that we use in daily activity. The deviation of language has occurred in figurative language. This figurative language is often used as the technique to tell the story by the author. It is used to obtain the effect containing the meaning behind figurative language in which the use of it makes the description of the novel or plays more powerful than the daily use of language or it is called literal language.

When the author uses figurative language to describe the story, he usually trick the language because he wants to create the implied meaning that will make the readers think deeply about the meaning. In interpreting the expression of figurative language, the reader will use the power of imagination to imagine this expression and think what the meaning behind it..

In this study, the researcher uses the kinds of figurative language by Rozakis (1995:33) because she explains it completely.

1) Simile

Simile is the comparison to express the thing is like another thing explicitly. Rozakis (1995:36) explain that “A simile is comparison between unlike objects introduced by a connective word such as like, as, or than or a verb as seems.” Briefly, simile is the comparison of two distinctly different things but it is considered the same as helped by the connective words. In simile expression, other connective words that be found are compare, similar to and resemble

2) Metaphor

The word metaphor comes from greek; it means to carry over. Rozakis (1995:33) stated that “A metaphor is a comparison without the words like or as.” this statement is supported by Perrine (1983:571), he declared that “in metaphor the comparison is implied-that is, the figurative term is substituted for or identified with literal term.” From those statements, we can get the point that metaphor is the process of comparing two unlike things as if they are one. This thing happened because metaphor does not have connective words such as like, as, than similar to, and seems determining them as figurative.

3) Personification

According to Rozakis, (1995:35) explained that “personification is the attribution of human characteristics and/or feelings to nonhuman organisms, inanimate objects or abstract ideas.” This statement is supported by Murfin and Ray (2003:339), “personification is a figure of speech (more specifically a trope) that bestows human characteristics upon anything nonhuman, from an abstract idea to a physical force to an inanimate object to a living organism.” Briefly, personification is the expression of language to create non-human life as is human. So, this kind of figurative language makes non-human can act, speak, and has emotion feeling like human.

4) Irony

Irony derived from the word eironia, it means deception. Rozakis stated that “irony states one thing in one of voice when, in fact, the opposite meaning is intended.” Clearly, it can be proposed that irony is not seen from what it is said but rather to interpret the meaning from the context or situation.

5) Hyperbole

Barnwell (1980:49) proposed that “A hyperbole is a deliberate exaggeration, used for emphasis and dramatic effect.”. Hyperbole or overstatement is used to cause the effect and reaction from the reader such as serious, ironic, and humorous.

h) Moral Value

Values of literary work are complex and hard to define. They are not directly observable, but are an essential part of any literary work. They provide an intense support base for literary work. For example, values are contain in the literary work : religious, hard work, discipline, educative, creative, etc.

Bertens (2005:139) states that value is something interesting for us, something we look for, something delighting and something good. This means that something can be said valuable if it has accepted as something good. The one has tendency to do something good or something bad. Since the estimation is came up from the others not from the individual him/her self, Bartens also state there characteristic of value to make the definition is easy to be understood. Firstly, value is personal and is related with the subject. The value embed on something is personally decided by the subject. Secondly, value is practical and is not found in a theory. The last, value does not deal with material worthiness of something.

3. Novel

The word comes from the Italian, novella, which means the new staff that small. The novel developed in England and America. Novel is a branch of fiction that developed late in history; but a relish for stories seems to be as old as recorded humanity (Boulton 1980:14). Novel is different from other kinds of literary works like drama and short story. Drama relates to fiction that is played by characters in the play, while short story is like a novel but very short. Novel is very long and to read a novel people need more time and not enough to only read for one sitting. Kenney (1966:103) stated that novel is generally thought of as containing about forty-five thousand words or more. Because being longer than short story, a novel can reveal further development of characters and have more incidents, scenes, setting, and take place in longer span of time.

4. Drama

The word of drama comes from Greek language “Drau” which means is “action” or does something, Endraswara (2011;12) said that “drama is a representation of an action”, similar with Boulton (1980; 70) said that drama presented in action performance has full code and symbols that keep a story from beginning until the end. In Milawaty (2011;72) that word of drama is “draomi” from Greek language it means doing, obtain, action, or reaction. She add that drama is supposed to explain the story about middle level life There is another term that drama is “drame”, it is from French Language.

5. Synopsis of the Novel of Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati

Here is the synopsis of the novel of The Novel “Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati” written by Verdy R. Baso.

The love story between Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati began when Datu Museng went to Sumbawa and met Maipa Deapati there. Shortly, Datu Museng and Maipa got married after dealing with some problems.

When Datu Museng and Maipa came back to Makassar, Tumalompoa, a Dutch spy and followers wished to destroy Datu Museng and took over Maipa. When the army came over, Maipa begged her husband to grant her wish. Before Datu Museng fulfilled his wife wish, he talked to his wife, "If you go first facing the God, I will follow you at the midday (before dhuhur pray). If I don't come, then wait for me at the noon (before ashar pray). If I don't come at the noon, I will surely come to you at the sunset (before Maghrib pray)".

When the sun was going to set, he was still fighting with the dutch and he still had a chance to fight over his enemy, but he remembered his promise to his wife. It made him resigned himself to be killed.

6. Synopsis of an Endless Love Datu Musseng and Maipa Deapati by BSI in 2015

The plays opened in the Sumbawa place, the king of sultan Sumbawa tried to figure out about the causes of disappearance of his daughter, Maipa Deapati. Her daughter ran away from the palace with Datu Museng. She knew that her parents would disagree if she married to Datu Museng as he was from ordinary people. Then she chose to run away from the palace. Maipa Deapati and Datu Musseng disappeared because they were helped by Maipa Deapati's nanny, Ibu Inang.

In the palace, the king and the queen discussed with the oracle that saw that there were three people who involved in that case. The king ordered his troops to investigate about it. They came to Datu Museng's place to pick up Maipa but they didn't make it. Datu Museng's grandfather didn't want to please them to take Maipa. Furthermore, suddenly Pangeran Manngalasa who had been engaged with Maipa Deapati came and very angry when he heard about that.

Then, on the next scene (scene 2), the play began in the house of To'bo Le'Lenna Mangkasara, where Maipa Deapati and Datu Musseng lived. Datu Musseng and his grandfather were discussing about the condition in Sumbawa sultanate, after Maipa escapes. Datu Musseng said that he was ready to face Sumbawa's attack. He was falling in love with Maipa Deapati when they learned how to read AL-Quran at Taman Pengkajian Kadi Mampawa. In that place, they met and when Maipas's ring fell, Datu Musseng took it from the ground, at the time Datu musseng swore that he would not return that ring before Maipa became his wife. Then, he went to Madinah, Saudi Arabia. To take Bunga Ejana Madinah, the only way to get Maipa. There, he got it from Shekh.

Then, on the next scene, Pangeran Manngalasa attacked Datu Museng's house. Actually Tobo Le'lenna Mangkasara wanted to face them alone, but Datu Museng asked for fight Pangeran Manngalasa by himself. Shortly, Datu Musseng won. Then, Karaenna Sumbawa approved his daughter relationship with Datu Museng. Thus, they got married.

On the next scene, Datu Musseng and his wife went to Makassar, the place where he was born. His father in law commanded him to go there, in order to solve the problem, Datu Jarewe confessed himself as the Sumbawa's Sultan. In the real fact Karaenna Sambawaya was the sultan of Sumbawa. Actually, what Datu Jawere did was influenced by the Dutch. Their unity would be broken by the way, they fought each other.

In the office of Tumulompowa they had known that Datu Musseng was coming from Sumbawa. They were looking for the way to lose DatuMusseng. They had known that it was not easy to lose him. Datu Jarewe' explained the strength of Datu Musseng, because of Bunga Ejana Madinah which he had. Then Tumulompowa got an idea, he planned to bother Maipa, Datu Musseng's wife. Tumulompowa commanded Daeng Jarre's to go to Datu Musseng's house, in order to deliver message from Tumulompowa. Datu Musseng was asked for giving up. Moreover, Datu Musseng was very angry hearing that. He said that he would not give up; even he didn't want to hear that message again.

In scene 4, Datu Musseng and his troops were ready to fight against the Dutch troops. Maipa Deapati was worried about the safety of her husband. Datu Museng tried to make calm his wife. He said that danger was destiny for the true lover. After that, Datu Museng said that he had heard the sound of their enemy. The Dutch and his troops attacked Datu Museng's house.

In the situation like that, Maipa asked for her husband to kill her, because she swore that they would lose. The Dutch and their troops were too many. Maipa Deapati did not want to be touched by the Dutch, so she wanted to die before her husband lost. Although Datu Museng didn't want to do it, but Maipa forced her. Then Maipa Deapati died in her husband arms.

All the troops of Datu Musseng had died, Karaeng Galesong, who also killed Datu Museng's parents, asked Datu Musseng to give up, but Datu Museng chose to fight until he died. Datu Museng lost, Karaeng Galasong killed him.

B. Discussions

1. The Adaptation of Plot from Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati.

From the table above, it can be concluded that in both novel and drama used the same technic, namely flash-forward which is able to be seen from the exposition, conflict or climax and the resolution of the story.

In the beginning of the novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati involved an exposition, it is the part in which the author introduced the characters and describes the situation when Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati meet in Kadi Mappawa's house in which they learn to recite a holy Qor'an. There is their love's story start. While in the drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati, the director cuts the exposition which is in the novel. The director starts his story through the rising action as the prince of Lombok get angry when he heard that his fiancée has disappeared at the time he arrived in the land of Sumbawa. However, the rising action in the novel is when Datu Museng falls in love with Maipa Deapati who had engaged with prince of Lombok since she was a child. Then many complications appears in the novel, they are when Maipa Deapati is getting sick and no one could cure it, then Maipa Deapati disappeared and no one knows where she is in, thus prince of Lombok fight with Datu Museng's grandfather and the last the conspiracy made by Tumulompoa between the king of Galesong and Datu Museng but in the drama, complications appear differently which they are Maipa Deapati directly disappears followed by the battle of Datu Museng and Mangngalasa, the prince of Lombok, the next following action is the greedy of Tumulompoa who wants Datu Museng's wife to be his wife, then the conspiracy he made to break down Datu Museng's kinship relation to king of Galesong. Hence the first conflict is created both in the novel and in the drama is when Datu Museng falls in love with a princess of Sumbawa, Maipa Deapati who has betrothed with Prince of Lombok. Their forbidden love created a big problem between Datu Museng and Mangngalasa. And second conflict is the emerging of Tumulompoa who wants the princess of Sumbawa to be his wife. This part ascends to reach out the tip of the climax.

The climax of story both in the novel and in drama happen when Datu Museng was forced to kill his wife because he was asked by his wife to kill her, Maipa Deapati is more willing to die through her husband's hand than to be Tumalompoa's wife.

In the development of this climax either in the novel or in the drama is the viewers presented a wrestling conflict with strained situation and emotion then becomes final to the end of the story. The love story between Datu Museng & Maipa Deapati began when Datu Museng went to Sumbawa and met Maipa Deapati there. Shortly, Datu Museng and Maipa got married after dealing with some problem. Datu Museng and Maipa came back to Makassar, Tumalompoa, a Dutch spy and followers wished to destroy Datu Museng and took over Maipa. When the army came over, Maipa begged her husband to grant her wish. And Datu Museng promised after he fulfilled his wife wish he will follow her after he fought over his enemy.

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that commonly the story moves through sequences of event to climax after exceeding the exposition and certain complications and ends in the resolution logically.

The differences which occur as result of the novel transformation process Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati into a drama and their meaning would explain in this part. The transformation is not only totally different in one scene but also specially for the emerging. For example, there is the drama shown but in the novel the story is not, and viceversa. Next is explanation the difference through reducing in the drama comparing to the original novel.

a. Different Plot and Reducing the Scene

The exposition (beginning of the story) is the introductory material which creates the tone and mood of the piece, creates the setting, introduces the characters and supplies other facts the reader needs in order to understand the development of the plot and character motives. The extract 1 tells the opening of the novel which begins when Maipa played her ring in Kadi's house, a place of reciting al-quran. Her ring fell under the house. In a hurry Datu Museng helped her to take the ring and gave it back to Maipa. Here it is the love story began. We can see from the dialogue below:

“maaf putri Maipa. cincinmu telah kucincin dan menjadi penghias jari manisku. Bagiku, haram ia keluar kembali. Semoga Tuhan mengabulkan pintaku, putri kelak menjadi milikku” (Baso,2002:3)

The quotation above shows that this scene is not found in the drama because there is a reducing process made by the director in the drama that is why there is no exposition part that found in the drama so we cannot find any introductory of characters in it. To make it brief the director tries to cut this part in his play to interact reader's attention. After exposition, we come up to the next part which is called rising action.

Rising action is as the event that leads up to the climax of a story. The rising action in a novel showed in Extract 2 conveying these two lovers are forbidden to love each other. Because Maipa Deapati had been betrothed since she was a child to a noble man from Lombok named Mangngalasa. It can be seen from the quotation below:

“tidak...tidak kakek. Maipa Deapati adalah Maipaku. I Mangngalasa boleh dijodohkan dengan Maipa Deapati sejak kecil, semasih dalam kandungan permaisuri. Tapi sekarang....aku yang punya.” (Baso, 2002:5)

The conversation above tells that Maipa Deapati has been betrothed since she was a child with the prince of Lombok, Mangalasa. This event is marked as rising action in the novel. While the rising action in Drama shows in extract 2 states that Mangngalasa arrives in Sumbawa then he gets angry when his fiancé has disappeared from the palace. Therefore, the king of Sumbawa, Manggauka, called the oracle to find out the information about the location of Maipa Deapati and try to find out who is the man behind her disappearance. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 1. Showing the king of Sumbawa, Ma'gauka was talking to the oracle in drama of the endless love of Datu Museng Maipa Deapati use dissolve technik.

From the picture above, we can see that the king of Sumbawa, Ma'gauka, was talking about the disappearance of the princess to the oracle. The difference in both works is the rising action in the novel starts when the two lovers, Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati, are forbidden to love each other because Maipa Deapati had betrothed since her childhood with the prince of Lombok, Manggalasa. While in the drama starts when the prince of Lombok, Manggalasa, arrives in Sumbawa and he gets mad as he knows the princess, Maipa Deapati, has disappeared.

In this scene done in the drama is to make the story more attractive to the viewers. Furthermore the director intended to make duration of the drama no so long in which at the time the story drama performed along with other stories in the same day. So to make the story runs as well as other stories performed at the day the director tried to make a brief the scene. Moreover he didn't add any new scene. The director seems no willing to take any variation stiles. This is the starting point in which conflicts to both works are emerging.

The conflict is a struggle between two opposing character. Extract 3 displays the conflicts both in the Novel and in the drama. Conflict in novel is when Datu Museng has cruch on the princess, Maipa Deapati, who had betrothed with the prince of Lombok, Manggalasa. Then followed by the problem of Tumalompoa, ruler of Makassar, wants the princess to be his wife. We can be seen from the quotation below:

Dan aku hanya gelarang (pimpinan daerah kecil) karaeng Palili. Tidak berkuasa, tidak memegang pemerintah. Aku rendah dalam derajat dari darah mengalir dalam tubuhmu. Tapi ketahuilah adinda, tekadku telah bulat. Kenyakinanku tak tergoyahkan lagi menghadap adat yangusang yang rebut tentang asal darahmu dan darahku yang tak boleh bercampur. Batinku menyangkal itu semua. Aku yakin darah kita sama, dari Adam dan Hawa ciptaan tuhan, bukan ciptaan manusia.

Akan kurombak dan kuhancurkan segala adat dan istiadat yang berdiri membenteng diantara kita berdua (Baso,2002:10)

The quotation above expresses the first conflict in novel is when the two people form the different social status has a crushes on each other. The culture at the time did not allow them to take get married. The next conflict in extract 3 can be shown from the quotation below:

Akhirnya nafsu menguasai dirinya (Tumalompoa) ia tak kuasa lagi berangan-angan berkepanjangan. Ia ingin secara cepat mungkin menguasai wanita milik Datu Museng. Ya, jika tidak dapat dengan damai, menumpahkan darahpun jadilah. Ia toh orang berkuasa, dapat mengerahkan ratusan, bahkan ribuan serdadu dan tubarani untuk mengambilnya, nafsu binatang telah merajai kalbunya. (Baso,2002:99)

The quotation above demonstrates in the novel that how lust rules himself. He cannot be longer to imagine Maipa Deapati. He wants to as soon as possible control a woman belonging to Datu Museng. If he cannot take her in peace, he will fight to take her. Tumalompoa is a powerful person; he can exert thousands of soldiers and Tubarani to take it. Animal passion dominates his heart. While there is not different conflict in drama, this part explained in extract 3 which can be seen from these pictures below:

Picture 2. Showing Datu Museng loves Maipa Deapati who already has betrothed with the prince of Lombok, Mangngalasa use dissolve technik

Picture 3. Showing how Tumulompoa wants maipa Deapati to be his suppose use dissolve technik

From these two pictures above illustrate the conflicts happened in the drama. The first conflict is when Datu Museng loves Maipa Deapati who already has betrothed with the prince of Lombok, Mangngalasa and the second conflict is when Tumulompoa wants maipa Deapati to be his suppose. So there is not different conflict found in both works. It's because the director seems to avoid the lost of its original sense. In addition, many complications happene among the conflicts.

Complication is a series of problems or difficulties that make up the main action of a piece of literature. Extract 4 shows these complications happened in the novel. It can be seen from the quotation below:

Ibu susu tergopoh-gopoh memasuki bilik sang putri. Didapatkan raga masih berada dekat Maipa. ia pun mendekat dan memungutnya. Tapi yang terjadi? Raga melompat naik ke dada Maipa. sang ibu susu terkejut, masih mencoba memegangnya. Tapi rotan itu menyelinap masuk kedalam kain Maipa. lalu hilang masuk kedalam tubuhnya. Maipa kini terlentang, tak sadarkan diri (Baso,2002:25)

The complication above expresses the first complication, which tells that the caretaker of princess, Maipa Deapati, enters the princess' room. She found the rattan sport then she tries to approach and pick it up. But what happens? The rattan jumps up to the chest of princess. The caretaker surprises, she still tries to hold it but the rattan sneak into cloth of Maipa and then it disappears into princess' body. Maipa now is unconscious. This scene is not found in the drama. The director seems to reduce this event. Next complication can be seen from the quotation below:

“Putriku Maipa, gelaplah sudah bilik ini, kelam seluruh istana bagai cincin tiada permata lagi. Mengapa engkau sampai hati benar meninggalkan bunda dalam duka.” (baso,2012:44)

The quotation above illustrates the second complication which conveys the Princess disappeared who makes the queen in deep sadness.

“melihat amukan kakek Adearangang, I manggalasa mengambil langkah seribu. Ia lari terbirit-birit seperti dikejar hantu. Tak peduli anak buahnya. Ia takut sang kakek mengejar dan mencabut nyawanya.

Wajahnya yang merah padam menahan marah ketika menuju medan laga, kini pucat, sepucat-pucatnya, laksana tiada berdarah lagi. Semangatnya yang berkobar-kobar ketika memimpin barisan tubarani yang tegap-tegap, sekarang ciut sekecil-kecilnya. Ia tak kuasa lagi memikirkan sedikitpun tunangannya. Ia sekarang hanya memikirkan bagaimana menyelamatkan jiwanya.” (Baso,2012:53)

The quotation above confirmates that the third complication which tells the dispute between datu Museng and Mangngalasa. Because Adearangang, Datu Museng 's Grand farther, is wiiling to die to protect his grandchild, so he faught with Mangngalasa.

Datu museng terlalu keras kepala. Kita harus menghajar kerbau liar itu supaya tau diri. Suruh bersiap menyerang sahabat sahabat kita Bolebolena tallo, Pallakina Malengkeri, Passikkina Parangtambung, I Bage Daeng Majjanji, Karaeng Lewa ri Popo, I Taga ri Mangindara, Karaeng Nyikko ri Kanaeng dan tubarani pilihan lainnya. (Baso,2002:120)

The quotation above appears the last complication which talks about the hardness of Datu Museng. Tumulompoa commands his concellor asks his friends to attack Datu Museng. Then it was the conspiracy made by Tumulompoa among the ruler around Makassar land.

Extract 4 shows the different complications in drama. In the drama the scene in which princess is getting sick is reducing by the director. But other conflicts are still same. The director seems did want to make any transformation in his work. We can see from these pictures below:

Picture 4. Showing Maipa deapati disappeared use dissolve technic

Picture 5. Showing Mangalasa faught with datu Musseng use dissolve technic

Picture 6. Showing Tumulompoa wanted Maipa Deapati use dissolve technic

Picture 7. Showing Conspiracy between Tumulompoa and Karaeng galesong use dissolve technic

These pictures above show the complications in drama. Picture 4 states that Maipa deapati has disappear, Picture 5 conveys that Mangalasa faught with datu Musseng, Picture 6 illustrates that Tumulompoa wanted Maipa Deapati, and the last Picture 7 speaks that the conspiracy between Tumulompoa and Karaeng galesong.

Based on the extract 3 and 4, there is a different complication in both works. In the novel, the complications are Maipa Deapati is sick while in drama there is not scene that shows Maipa Deapati is getting sick. It means the director reduces this scene in his drama. Next, Mangangalasa fight with Adearangang in the novel while in the drama he is fighting with Datu Museng. Here the director tried to make a variation to the complication of the drama. So he tried to reduce the scene in which the princess getting sick. Yet the director did not make a reducing in to others. Then these complications go steps to become climax. Climax is the turning point of the story. Extract 5 illustrates the climax in which can be seen from Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati dialogue below:

Tapi sebelum keris pusaka tercabut dari sarungnya Maipa deapati betrkata “Kanda, izinkan adinda mengambil air sembahnyang! Lalu bangun dan menuju ruang belakang mengambil air sembahnyang. Setelah selesai, ia kembali tidur di pangkuan suaminya. ” (Baso,2002:126)

The quotation above indicates the climax of the novel which tells when Datu Museng was forced to kill his wife in order to avoid his wife being Tumelompoa’s wife. Also we can find this scene the in drama. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 8. Showing Datu Museng killed the princess used dissolve technic.

The picture above shows Datu Museng is forced to kill his wife due to his wife wish. In this part, it is not found a climax difference in drama. In making the scene, the director chooses not to make a difference. Furthermore, he does not make any new scene. So we do not find improvement in this part of drama. This climax which leads to last part of the story called falling action.

Resolution occurs after the climax as things start to work themselves out in the story. Extract 6 illustrates the final part of the story to both works. In the novel the story ended by the death of Tumulompoa's consellor which can be seen from the quotation below:

Ia jatuh bukan karena pingsan tak sadarkan diri, tetapi jatuh untuk di jembah maut. Jantungnya ternyata tak berdenyut lagi. Darahnya yang tadi penuh gairah, kini berhenti beredar. Dan tubuhnya yang menjadi mayat itu, tiarap diatas permadani dihimpit tubuh Maipa Deapati. (Baso,2002:141)

Picture 9 Showing Datu Museng is killed by Karaeng galesong use dissolve technic

Extract 6 demonstrates that the falling action of the drama is marked by the death of Datu Museng through Karaeng Galesong's hand. The director tried to make a difference in this part that is why he reduced the story of consellor's death.

2. The Adaptation of Characters from Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati.

The adaptation from Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati and the endless love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati is supported many characters. Each character has their own thought, habits and behavior. The abundant characters involved are impossible to be discussed as whole. Therefore the researcher limited to ascertain characters. Only important characters are discussed. They are Datu Museng, Maipa Deapati (princess of Sumbawa), Adearangang (Datu Museng's Grand farther), Maggauka (king of Sumbawa), Queen of Sumbawa, Manggalasa (prince of Lombok), Tumulompoa (a dutch man who rules Makassar) and Karaeng Galesong.

The different frequency of the appearing charcters becomes a reason for the researcher to analyze only characters which becomes a center in the story. Like Datu Museng is a main cahacter of the story. The existence in each story makes this chatacter shows more thought, habits and behaviuors than other chatacters.

Based on the above, the characters that would be discussed then are dominant characters. They are;

a. Datu Museng

Extract 7 shows Datu Museng is as a main character both in the novel and the drama. Commonly, the description of Datu Museng's character eithet in the novel or in the drama is not different. In the novel, it can be seen from the quotation below:

“maaf putri Maipa. Cincinmu telah kucincin dan menjadi penghias jari manisku. Bagiku, haram ia keluar kembali. Semoga tuhan mengabulkan pintaku, putri kelak menjadi milikku.”(Baso, 2002: 3)

The quotation above indicates that the dominant character is Datu Museng. He is a brave and assertive man. He is known as he can take decision quickly without thinking a good and ad effects of his decision. However Datu Museng’ character is not different in the drama. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 10 Showing Datu Museng’s Character use dissolve technic

b. Maipa Deapat (A Princess of Sumbawa)

Extract 8 demonstrates Maipa Deapati is also a main character both in the novel and the drama. Universally, the description of Maipa Deapati’s character eithet in the novel or in the drama is not different. In the novel, it can be seen from the quotation below:

“apa maksud tuanku memanggil kami sekalian? Negeri mana yang hendak diserang? Adakah musuh hendak mengganggu negeri tuanku....” sembah rakyat memadati pekarangan istana.

“tidak ada negeri yang hendak diserang. Juga tak ada musuh yg menyerang. Hanya putri kita Maipa Deapatiyang telah sembuh dari sakitnya akan melaksanakan kaulnya... ” kata Maggauka (Baso. 2012:3536)

The quotation above expresses that Maipa Deapati si a daughter of Maggauka, a king of Sunbawa. It means that she is only offspring of a blue blood who has been recovery from her sickness. In addition, she really loves Datu Museng. We can see from her dialogue below:

“ah, kakanda Datu Museng, betapa kejammu sekarang padaku yang selama ini setia menunggu dalam derita batin yang tak berbanding. Kanda rupanya tak acuh lagi padaku kini, tidak sedikitpun menaruh belas kasihan.... ”(Baso, 2012:32).

The quotation above illustrates that Maipa Deapati is in love to Datu Museng. She is willing to wait for his return no matter how long it will be. And there is not different Maipa Deapati’s character in drama. We can see from the picture below:

Picture 11. Showing Maipa Deapati’s character use dissolve technic

c. Adearangang (Datu Museng's Grand farther)

Extract 9 tells Adearangang is one of a dominant character both in the novel and I the drama. Generally, description Adearangang's character either in novel or in drama is not different. He is a good character. We can see from the dialogue between Adearangang and his grandchild Datu Museng below:

“aku tak tahan menyaksikan mereka mempermaikanmu, cucuku” tukas tukas kakek terengah-engah menahan amarah “tapi sabarlah kek,” bujuk Datu Museng. (Baso,2002:21)

The quotation above confirms that Adearangang is a grandfather of Datu Museng. He is a good man for his grandchild. We can see from the conversation above how he really loves his only grandchild. He could not see his grandchild be a toy and he is willing to die for Datu Museng, the only grandchild for him. So there is also his different character in Drama. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 12. Showing Adearangang's character uses dissolve technic

d. Maggauka (a king of Sumbawa)

Extract 10 illustrates Maggauka is a major character not only in the novel but also in the drama. He is a great noble man. Normally, description of Maggauka's character either in novel in drama is not also different. We can see from the dialogue below:

“Tuanku Maggauka, saudara saudara anggota adat yang mulia. Telah kusampaikan apa keputusan kita bersama kepada kakek Adearangang seorang, karena Datu Museng taka da waktu untuk bertemu muka dengan kami.....” kata Gelarang (Baso, 2012:45)

The quotation above apperes that Maggauka is a wise noble man in his kingdom. He empires the kingdom of Sumbawa wisely. Many people is loyal to him, Gelarang is one of his loyal people.

Besides, he has a nice character as a father of a princess. We can see from his dialogue below.

“Anakku Mangngalasa, apalah bicaramu sekarang, karena Datu Museng dan kakenya, rupanya berkeras kepala tak mau mengembalikan adikmu Maipa Deapati yang sudah ditangannya. Keduanya sudah mengharamkan mengeluarkan kain yang telah ia pakai sebelum mayatnya terbujur. Dosalah katanya, ika hati yang bersatu dibelah dua, matilah ia jika jantung hati direnggut dari tubuhnya, karena jantung hatinya adalah Maipa Deapati, tiada lain. ” (Baso,2012:46-47)

The quotation above indicates that Maggauka is a wise and thoughtful person. He always takes a decision through discussion. While in the drama the director does not make a different character. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 13. Showing Manggauka's character uses dissolve technic

e. Queen of Sumbawa

Extract 11 conveys that the Queen of Sumbawa is a dominant character either in novel or in drama. Regularly, description of Queen's character not only in novel but also in drama is not different. She has a wife of Maggauka and Maipa Deapati is their daughter. We can see from the conversation below:

“wahai kanda yang kuat-kuasa bagi orang Sumbawa, bagaimana nasib putri kita? Adakah ia selamat, tak kurang suatu apapun?katakanlah wahai junjungan, keadaan Maipa Deapati.....ceritakan segera, jangan suamiku diam juga, membisu seribu bahasa. Kasihanilah, kasihanilah aku yang sudah balut mata menangis..... ” (Baso, 2012:57)

The quotation above tells that Queen of Maggauka is a lovely woman. He really loves her princess, Maipa Deapati. When her daughter lost, she suffered from deep loss. Moreover, she is a patient woman. Whereas, the director does not make a different character of the queen in his drama. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 14. Showing the queen's character uses dissolve technic

f. Mangngalasa (A Prince of Lombok)

Extract 12 displays that Mangngalasa is also a mayor character both in the novel and in the drama. Commonly, description of Mangngalasa's character is little different from in the drama. He has a bad character. We can see from his conversation below:

“.....mengapa Datu Museng di biarkan merajalela menguasai kita? Apakah kekuatannya? Puiihh..., sudah gatal tangan hamba untuk menghajar kerbau tiada berhidung dan bertanduk sejengkal itu. Akan dirasainya nanti bekas tangan I Mangngalasa, jagoan Lombok ini. Ya, akan meraung melolonglah ia menyembah memohon ampun di bawah telapak kaki hamba”. (Baso,2002: 47)

The quotation above conveys that Mangngalasa is a very arrogant person. He always looks down to Datu Museng as if he is the only person who has a power. Moreover he is a coward man. We can see from his conversation with Maggauka below:

“wahai anak muda perkasa, mengapa gerangan semua ini lakumu?” Tanya Maggauka. “ ceritakan sebab-musabab musibah menimpamu. Di mana semua tubarani pilihan kerajaan Sumbawa dan Lombok yang kau pimin? Dimana semua pemuda gagah perkasa yang pantang terkalahkan , ayam jagoo sabungan, kerbau aduan pantang surut? Di mana semua? Adakah sayap menjadi patah, taji ayam tiada bersisa lagi?” (Baso,2002:55)

The quotation above speaks that Mangngalasa is a coward man because he runs out with his people from their battle against Datu Museng. He left his fiancée “Maipa Deapati” with Datu Museng.

Different from novel which tells Mangngalasa is an arrogant and coward man. In the drama, Mangngalasa’characters is not only an arrogant person but also a brave person. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 15. Showing Mangngalasa’ character uses dissolve technic

g. Tumulompoa (The Ruler of Makassar Land)

Extract 13 explains that Tumulompoa is a minor character not only in the novel but also in the drama. Commonly, description of Tumulompoa's character is not different in both works. He has bad character. We can see from the dialogue below:

“begini saja, kau..., kau harus berusaha sekuat-kuatnya memisahkan dia dari isterinya .” kata Tumulompoa.
 “diceraikan tuanku? kata Juru bahasa ”
 “ya, ceraikan! Karena dia terlalu berbahaya.....”
 “tapi itu berarti mati, tuan besar.” Jawab juru bahasa
 “memang itulah kehendakku”(Baso, 2012:96-97)

The quotation above states that Tumulompoa is cruel person. He will do anything to reach his willingness even he has to separate or kill people. So there is not different character in the drama. We can see from the picture below:

Picture 16. Showing Tumulompoa's character uses dissolve technic

h. Karaeng Galesong

Extract 14 tells that Karaeng Galesong is also a minor character both in the novel and in the drama. Generally, description of Karaeng Galesong's character not only in novel but also in drama is not different. He is also a bad person. We can see from the dialogue between Datu Museng and Karaeng Galesong below:

“Datu Museng Keparat...! Aku Karaeng Galesong yang sakti dan digdaya. Aku datang untuk mengakhiri riwayat hidupmu....”
 “benarkah kau Karaeng Galesong jika benar aku sangat gembira. Aku bersyukur kepada tuhan karena dapat berjumpa denganmu sebelum aku meninggalkan dunia fana ini. Aku rela mati ditanganmu, ditangan salah seorang keluargaku yang cukup sakti dan perkasa. Hanya sayang, kehadirannmu terlalu cepat. Aku belum mau mati sekarang. Aku masih hendak membalaskan dendam istriku. Leh karena itu minggirlah hai Karaeng Galesong!” kata Datu Museng “tidak! Aku tidak akan menyingkir!” balas Karaeng Galesong.”
 (Baso,2012:3)

The quotation above communicates that Karaeng Galesong is not a good family. His bad temper let him assail Datu Museng. In addition he can be provoked easily. Actually he was provoked by Tumulompoa to kill Datu Museng. That is why he against his own family. Consequentl, there is no different character. We can see from the picture below:

Picture 17. Showing Karaeng Galesong’s character uses dissolve technic.

3. The Adaptation of Setting from Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati.

Setting is one of the most important elements which build both the story in novel of Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati and in drama of the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati because this element describes the general situation in both works. Setting includes place, time and society. So the researcher determines to analyze these setting. They are:

a. Setting of Place

Extract 15 indicates that setting of place is the location where the event happened in a story. The setting of place both in novel and drama happened in Sumbawa kingdom. Description of place not only in novel but also in drama is different. It can be seen from the quotation below:

Langkah dipercepat menuju rumah. Ia hendak segera mengadukan peristiwanya kepada sang kakek tercinta. Sebelum memasuki pekarangan rumah ia sudah berteriak. Suaranya bergetar, teriaknya parau menggelegar, membuat orang tua itu terkejut dan melompat berdiri menyongsong cucunya di halaman. (Baso, 2002:4)

The quotation above expresses that the place where the story happened both in novel and in drama is in Datu Museng's Grandfather house. But the story which takes place in I lologading ship and in the princess' room reduced in drama. This part is the director means to give a difference. We can see the part reduced in drama from the dialogue between Datu Museng and the crewman below:

“Sumbawa sudah dibelakang Datu...! Lombok dan Bali tepat dihaluan, semoga cepat sampe ditujuan. Marilah, Datu. Marilah, tuan kita turun ke ruang istirahat untuk melepas lelah, membaringkan tubuh diatas tilam peraduan yang sudah tersedia. Malam sudah larut. Angin laut semakin terasa dingin menusuk sumsum. Penyakit akan lekas menyerang jika hati kosong melengah-hampa” ajak nahkoda I lologading Datu Museng yang sejak Sumbawa ditinggalkan belum beranjak dari duduknya dianjungan bahtera. (Baso,; 2002:13)

The quotation above says that the place in which the story takes place on the ship of I lologading. We can see from the conversation above how the crewship asked Datu Museng to get out from his position to take a rest because the wind blew tightly the crewship did want Datu Museng to get sick because the weather. This event happened in middle night on the ship. This is a part in which we cannot find drama because the director trid to reduce it in drama. But we can see some places in the drama bases on these pictures below:

Picture 19. Showing Datu Museng's house uses dissolve technic

Picture 20. Showing Tumulopoa's room uses dissolve technic

Picture 21. Showing Makassar land uses dissolve technic

b. Setting of Time

Extract 16 expresses that setting of time is related to the problem when the story happened. The problem when is usually connected with factual time that has connection with the historical and periodical event. The time either in novel or in drama happened in seventeenth century. We can see from the quotation below:

Sumbawa pada abad ketujuh belas ketujuh belas. Di rumah Kadi Mappawa lapa-lapa terdapat suasana semarak pengajian. Karena agama Islam baru masuk kesana, kewajiban bagi kanak-kanak belum terlalu dihiraukan. Maka tidak mengherankan jika yang mengaji di rumah Kadi adalah gadis-gadis dan pemuda yang berasal dari segala macam golongan masyarakat. (Baso.2002:1)

The quotation above illustrates that the time in which the story happened both in novel and in drama is not different. Generally, description of the time takes place in seventeenth century in both works:

Demikian sejak saat itu, sejak pulau Sumbawa dibelakangi dan pulau Lombok dan Bali tepat di haluan bahtera, Datu Museng tetap tinggal di geladak diwaktu malam untuk bersemedi. Ia baru turun keruang bawah untuk beristirahat di kala fajar akan meyingsing, hingga petang berebut senja. Makan dan minumnya tak pernah banyak dalam usaha mendekatkan diri sedekat-dekantnya kepada Maha Pencipta.

(Baso,2002:15)

The quotation above proves that the event takes place in the night. We can see from the quotation above that datu Museng stayed in deck to mediate in the night. It was done to close his self to the almighty God, eating and drinking are not his concern. This is a part also reduced in the drama by the director. We can see from the picture below:

Picture 22. Showing the time uses dissolve technic

c. Setting of society

Extract 17 reveals that setting of society directs to the problem which are related to the behavior of social life in certain place and certain time in anovel. Society has connection with the system of social life that contains many problems in complex scope; it can be habits, religion, ideology and the way of thinking. The social lives not only in novel but also in drama are based on kingdom rules. The social status related to blood relation. Therefore the highest status is belonging to the king blood.

We can see from the quotation below:

Mendengar tekad Datu Museng kakek Adearangang tafakkurberfikir dalam-dalam. Hati-tuanya menyala kembali. Rasa pati bangkit untuk mengabdikan pusa sang cucu, ingin membantu sekuatnya dengan nyawa dan badan dipertanggungjawabkan. Ia sadar, cucunya berkeras ingin memetik kembang larangan yang dijaga ketat. Hendak dipetik secara resmi, susah sungguh dan teramat rumit. Sebab Maipa Deapati berdarah bangsawan turunan sultan yang memerintah. Akan halnya Datu Museng, hanya separuh turunan bangsawan. Darahnya tak murni lagi, sehingga tak pantas duduk bersanding menurut ukuran adat. (Baso,2001:6)

The quotation above explains that the social status at the time either in novel or in drama is based on the blood. We can see from the above quotation that ordinary person is not allowed to get married with the king family culturally. Generally, there is no different social life in both works. We can see setting of the society in these pictures below:

4. The Adaptation of Theme from Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapti.

a. Theme

Theme is the main point in a story. A theme is most represents the hole part of the story because theme is a basic development of a whole story. In addition the purpose of the theme is to give a shape and effect in our mind to make the story easy to remember. Extract 18 explains theme in both novel and drama which talk about love. Universally, description of theme either in novel or in drama is not difference. Both stories talk about an endless love between Datu Museng as ordinary man and Maipa deapati as a noble woman who has the highest blood status among the societies:

Mula pertama ketika pandangan Datu Museng menatap wajah Maipa Deapati yang laksana bidadari itu, didada anak mudah itu langsung menyala bara hangat yang membara piala hatinya dan menggetarkan seluruh jalur urat syarafnya. (Baso,2002:3).

The quotation above illuminates that for Datu Museng interested to Maipa Deapati since him he showed the princess for the first time. His beautiful has enchanted Datu Museng heart. This is a part which is reduced in Drama. Besides that another story talks about their endless love which we can see from the quotation below:

“Pergilah adinda, tunggulah kanda di tanah seberang, dialam indah permai di Surga Firdaus. Tunggu aku diwaktu dhuhur. Jika kanda belum datang, nantikan diwaktu ashar. Apabila belum juga tiba, nantikan pada waktu magrib, ketika matahari bersiap-siap masuk peraduannya. Diwaktu itulah kanda pasti datang menjemput, dan kita bergandengan tangan beriringan bersama diapit dielu-elukan oleh bidadari, berjalan diatas kursi keemasan bertahta intan baiduri. Ya, disanalah kita hidup kekal abadi, taka da lagi yang mengantarai kita berdua, taka da lagi tangan akan mengusik kebahagiaan kita. Tak ada lagi kebatilan yang dating menyiksa.

The quotation above clarifies that the conversation between Datu Museng dan Maipa Deapati above, the scene we can see both in novel and in drama that how deep their heart ties eachother, event a death, their love could not separate. If earth could not make them unity, heaven is meant them to be a choice undoubtly.

5. The Adaptation of Point of view from Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapti.

A Point of View

Point of view is a way story gets told the mode established by an author by means of whom the reader is presented with the characters, dialogue, actions, setting, and events which constitute the narrative in a work of fiction.

Extract 19 describes the point of view both in novel and in drama presented a story through a third-person point of view or omniscient point of view in which the narrator is an all-knowing outsider who can enter the minds of more than one of the character. This is a common term for the many and varied works of fiction written in accord with the convention that the narrator knows about the agents, actions, and events, has privileged access to the narrator is free to move at will in time and place, to shift from character to character, and to report (or conceal) their speech, doings, and states of consciousness.

In both works the author and the director presented the story through omniscient point of view in which in a third-person narrative, the narrator is someone outside the story proper who refers to all the characters in the story by name, or as “he,” “she,” “they.” Through a third-person point of view as main character can be seen that the author and the director get the story told through the pronoun he, she or they to describe the characters of the event which illustrates time, place, and the environment of the players consequently, the readers or viewers are able to understand experience of the characters in the novel.

As he, she or they as the main characters in the story, the readers or viewers are brought into the illustration of her, his or their soul. It can be seen from the two quotations below:

Kendati hati Maipa sesungguhnya sudah bertaut dengan hati Datu Museng, namun dalam menerima perlakuan seperti itu didepan kawan dan gurunya yang dikenal kukuh dalam adat, tak ada jalan lain baginya

kecuali terus berbuat sesuatu yang bertentangan dengan hati nuraninya. (Baso,2002:3)

The quotation above elucidates that the author and the director of both works to reveal the characters' intention to both readers and viewers thorough he or she.

Here there is no different point of view. It can be seen from the picture below:

Picture 25. Showing point of view uses dissolve technic

6. The Adaptation of Tone Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapti.

Tone

Tone is the author's attitude, stated or implied, toward a subject. Some possible attitudes are pessimism, optimism, earnestness, and seriousness, bitterness, humorous and joyful. An author's tone can be revealed through choice of words and details.

Tone in both novel and drama can be concluded from the author or the director's emotion through the story telling. Exctaret 20 explains tone both in novel and in drama, with the story; the author and the director are willing to reveal the facts of story through their view. The meaning of the story facts which is willing to show to readers or viewers is author or directors' attitude toward the characters experience in both novel and drama. Author and director's attitude are to critic the cultural tradition at the time which forbade an ordinary people to get married with the king's daughter. The way to solve the dispute is to rebel the kindom's rules which forbade people who comes from a different social satus to get married. We can see from the dialogue below:

“Datu..., Maipa bukan sembarang kembang, memetikanya amat susah, tidak gampang. Disekitarnya penuh onak-duri yang siap menusuk siapa coba-coba memetikanya. Tetapi jika hatimu membaja, yakinlah akan bias memperolehnya. Hanya kau harus berjuang keras membekal kesabaran dalam menentang resiko dalam mengarungi laut menghadang maut maarabahaya. Kau harus berguru ke mekka, negeri suci tempat lahir nabi akhir zaman, Muhammad SAW. Kau mesti berguru pada tuan syekh di Mekkah dan Medina. Cari dan petik Bunga Ejana Madina (kembang Madina). Jika berhasil memetikanya, percayalah cita-citamu akan terkabul. Maipa Deapati akan dapat kau miliki. Semua perintang, onak-duri, tanjakan tajam, apalagi kerikil, dengan mudah kau linds dan lewati. Sungguh cucuk.” (Baso,2002:6-7)

The quotation above enlightens that a hard struggle in facing many government's efforts to separate their love is successful to get approved. It can be seen how the king and queen accepted their marriage. Eventhough other problem comes after their marriage.

The author and the director mean to choose the third-person point of view as the main character to illustrate the event. This is meant to make the readers and viewers able to involve in the story through the third-person feeling. Thus the readers or viewers get the meaning through the characters experience in the story.

7. The Adaptation of Figurative Language Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati.

In this part the researcher discusses the adaptation of the types and the relation of figurative to both novel and drama. Figurative languages are characterized by the use of bold type in the data. The connective words of figurative language are marked with underline type and the things which are being compared are recognized through italic type.

a. Simile

Extraxt 21 enlightens that simile is the comparison to express the thing is like another thing explicitly. This figurative language can be found both in novel and in drama. We can see form the quotation below in the novel:

Dan bila di tempat itu ada Maipa Meapati sebagai kembang yang sedang mekar, di sana ada pula seorang pemuda istimewa. Pemuda yang keras kemauan dan luar biasa keberaniannya. Ia bergelar I Baso Mallarangang, lelaki yang tak terhalang kehendaknya. (Baso,2002:1)

The quotation above explicates that the dialogue above is uttered by the narrator. He thinks of the princess, Maipa Deapati, as the only young beautiful woman in that place. Furthermore, there is a young man who has hard willingness and unusual braveness. From this case, the narrator describes the princess by saying that Maipa Deapati as beautiful blossom flower.

The expression of Maipa Deapati as beautiful blossom flower is simile expression because it compares Maipa Deapati with a beautiful blossom flower. The topick of this simile is Maipa Deapati's beautiful and the illustration is a beautiful blossom flower while the point of similarity is beautiful. The connective word used in this simile expression is as. The narrator compares the princess, Maipa Deapati, who is beautiful to the beautiful blossom flower.

Mula pertama ketika pandangan Datu museng menatap wajah Maipa Deapati yang laksana bidadari itu, di dada anak muda ini langsung menyala bara hangat yang membakar piala hatinya dan menggetarkan seluruh jalur urat syarafnya. (Baso,2002:2)

The quotation above describes that the situation above occurs when the first time Datu Museng looks at Maipa Deapati's face. Something is burning in the chest of the young man, Datu Museng, which burns and trembles all his nerves. Then the narrator reveals his admiring to Maipa Deapati that the princess is like an angel.

The simile expression is the comparison between one thing to another thing. In this case, the narrator compares Maipa Deapati's face with an angel by using connective words like. The topic is Maipa Deapati's face and the illustration is the angel, meanwhile the point is Maipa' face. The use of simile expression in datum Maipa Deapati's face has the relation to the characterization of the angel. It describes how the girl looks the angel.

Ia laksana musafir kehilangan bintang pedoman jika tak melihat wajah anak dara itu walau hanya sekejap dalam sehari. Sebaliknya, hatinya akan bersorak bertalu-talu jika sempat bermain-main dengan Maipa Deapati sebelum pengajian dimulai. (Baso,2002:2)

The quotation above is uttered by the narrator. He thinks to Datu Museng that Datu Museng is like a traveler losing his directive star if he doesn't look at face of the young girl even a minute in a day. In contrast, his heart will cheer with a melody if he could play together Maipa Deapati before reciting holy Qur'an star. From this case, the narrator describes the princess' face by saying that he is like a traveler losing his direction if he doesn't look at the face of the young girl.

The expression of Datu Museng is like a traveler losing his direction if he doesn't look at the face of the young girl is a simile expression because it compares a star with face of the young girl. The topic of this simile is the face of young girl and the illustration is a star while the point of similarity is start. The connective word used in this simile expression is like. The narrator compares the start, which has a beauty to the Maipa Deapati's face.

b. Metaphor

Extract 22 communicates that a metaphor is a comparison without the connective words like, seems or as. This figurative language can be found in both novel and drama. We can see from the quotation in the novel below:

“kini aku tak dapat lagi melihat kejora ditengah malam, Maipa Deapati suluh dalam gelap, ratna mutu-manikam, permata dalam khayatku.” (Baso, 2002:5)

The quotation above expresses about Maipa Deapati who is illustrated by the author. Far away, Maipa Deapati is not able to be seen more by Datu Museng, his morning star in the mid night, Maipa deapati torches in the dark, precious stone his imagination.

The expression of star in the mid night, Maipa Deapati torches in the dark is a metaphor. The star compares to Maipa Deapati. The comparison in metaphor is implied because this expression does not have the connective word such as like, seems, and as. It can be seen from the quotation in the novel below:

“.....Mengapa putri itu menyusahkan hatimu dan membuat kau gunda gulana? Bukan Maipa saja yang cantik, bunga setangkai di dalam taman, cucuku. Banyak kembang semerbak di berbagai taman. Bintang-bintang dilangit, juga tak terbilang jumlahnya...”
(Baso,2002:5)

The quotation above describes about Maipa Deapati who is illustrated by the author. For far away, Batu Museng worried about Maipa Deapati and made him depression. She is not the only a beautiful girl, a single flower in the park. Many fragrant flowers in various parks. Stars in the sky are uncountable

The expression of Maipa is no the only beautiful girl, Maipa a single flower is the park is metaphor. Maipa Deapati compared to flower and star. The comparison in metaphor is implied because this expression does not have the connective word such as like, seems, and as. While the metaphor expression can be seen from the dialogue of drama below:

Tumalompowa : “My passion on having her becomes bigger now there is no woman more than her that i do want as my bride ...even this flower is not enough to depict her beauty....she is the best flower among flower ...”

The quotation above describes that the expression of Maipa is the best flower among the flower is metaphor. Maipa Deapati compared to flower. The comparison in metaphor is implied because this expression does not have the connective word such as like, seems, and as.

c. Personification

Extract 23 illustrates that personification is the style of language that gives the characteristics of human to inanimate objects. This figurative language can be found not only in novel but also in drama. We can see from the dialogue below:

“jika begini cara Datu berlayar, bakal tak sampai jiwa dan badan ke rantau tujuan. Boleh jadi hanya keranda tuanku yang akan balik menemui kekasih dan tak putus menunggu dan berharap.”
(Baso.2002:14)

The quotation above gives details that the utterance in this extract said by the ship man when he believes that sadness will make nothing. Sadness is something which can loose hope and spirit because he thinks that sadness is a wasting thing in their trip. He compresses a bier.

The expression of personification contains in a bier which wants to meet his lover. The ship man personifies bier. In this expression, inanimate object is like bier is treated as though it were a person. It can act to meet someone like human.

Raga pun mulai melayang ke udara Raga itu melentik lentik, dari kaki ke tangan, kemudian ke kepala. Lalu melambung lagi ke atas, dan jatuh kembali ke kaki lain. (Baso, 2002:21)

The extract above is said by the narrator. When he tells the rattan is cirve upward and back from leg to hand then head. After that it throws up, and fall back to the leg. He compresses the rattan.

The expression of personification contains in rattan which acts as finger. The narrator personifies rattan. In this expression, inanimate object is like rattan is treated as though it were a person's hand. It can act to dance like human. While the expression of personification in drama can be seen from the quotation below:

Maepa : If you love me my lord... please allow your matatarampa toches my neck... on the name of Allah SWT... I'll do it sincerely because my ove to you my lord...

The quotation above explains that the expression of personification contains in matarampa which acts as human. The narrator personifies matarampa. In this expression, inanimate object is like matarampa treats a though it were a human. It can act to do like human.

d. Irony

Extract 24 expalins that irony is the style of language to express something captured by the reader that should be opposite from the literal meaning. This figurative language is reduced in drama by the director. We can seen form the quotation below in the novel:

“Maaf beribu-ribu maaf tuanku hamba tak layak melalui berjenjang empat puluh yang dihampari kain putih ini. Hamba takut durhaka karena turunan hamba tak layak menginjak yang tuanku hamparkan didepan hamba. Hamba hanya orang biasa. Turunan bangsawan rendah, sudah bercampurpula, tidak asli lagi sebagai kehendak tuanku,” (Baso,2002:31)

The quotation above explains the situation of irony occurs when Datu Museng arrives at the palace. He says many sorry to the king and queen because he thinks that he is appropriate to walk on the white kain. He is afraid of durhaka because he is not form the highest blue blood as they are he is only an ordinary man his blue blood is not as high as they.

The irony expression contains in he is afraid of durhaka because his blood is not suitable to walk on white kain which was terhampar in front him. It is categorized into irony due to the fact statement by Datu Museng is opposite of what the king and queen expected. They hope after Datu Museng arrived, they can walk together on the white kain happily like they think before, but what happens is the opposite of their expectation.

The expression of irony said by Datu Museng shows the personality of him has changed. His judgment about the same status has turned into ridiculous. Datu Museng who says social status is a difference describes that it is untrue. He becomes the person who does not believe in different social status because he feels relation is built by the blood.

e. Hyperbole

Extract 25 states that hyperbole is the style of language in expressing something exaggeratedly even beyond of human logic. This figurative language can be seen in both novel and drama. We can see from the dialogue below:

“Hanya ke Mekka dan Medina, kek? Cuma mengarungi laut berombakkan air, menjelajah Sahara berpadangkan pasir? Tak usah kuatir. Kelaut api sekalipun aku akan pergi, demi mengadatkan mutiara hidupku. Aku akan pergi menghadang laut marabahaya, melintasi lautan berombak setinggi rumah. Aku akan menjelajah padang pasir yang terik membara membakar jagat... ”
(Baso, 2002:7)

The quotation above shows that the expression above is said by Datu Museng when he talks to his grandfather related to his trip to Mekka and Madina. He said that just over the sea waving water, roam the Sahara desert. Do not have to worry.

Even goes to the fire sea he will go.

Datu Museng's expression is categorized into hyperbole because he said. Even goes to the fire sea he will go that has hyperbole elements, it is exaggerated thing.

The key word of hyperbole in this expression is even goes to the fire sea he will go.

Datu Museng's expression is beyond human logic that even goes to the fire sea he will go. Normally, there is not sea contains a fire. The hyperbole expression even goes to the fire sea he will go aims to dramatize the struggle which is felt by Datu Museng when he talks to his granfather to struggle achieving his love. The hyperbole expression will give dramatic effect to the reader. He can imagine the struggle of Datu Museng in getting his lover, how hard his effort to make it happens. While the hyperbole can be seen from the quotation below:

Consellor : Mr . . all of that i told you last night is true . .
She is a special diamond among Diamond .
. there is nothing on her beauty . .

The quotation above conveys that concellor's expression is beyond human logic that she is a special diamond among diamonds; there is nothing in her beauty.

Normally, it could not be compare between a beauty of girls and many diamonds. The hyperbole expression there is nothing on her beauty aims to dramatize princess's beauty among the gilrs in the kingdom. The hyperbole expression will give dramatic effect to the reader. He can imagine how beautiful Maipa in the kingdom is.

8. The Adaptation of Moral Value Novel Datu Museng and Maipa Deapati into Drama the Endless Love of Datu Museng and Maipa Deapti.

a. Never give up

Extract 25 describes that the never give up which can be found in both novel and drama. It is explained that no body lives without problem in this word.it depends on personal; he will face his problem and find the solution or run away from it and makes it to be like as a burden in his life. Sometimes we give up with the problems can train us to be a strong person in facing our life. We should try hard to find solution. We can see from the quotations below:

“”cari dan petik Bunga Ejana Madina (kambang Medina). Jika berhasil memetikinya, percayalah cita-citamu akan terkabul. Maipa Deapati akan dapat kau miliki. Semua perintang, onak-duri, tanjakan tajam, apalagi kerikil, dengan mudah kau lindas dan lewati.”(Baso, 2002:6-7)

Tobo' Le'lenna Mangkasara'	: Are you worried ? have you felt a doubt in your heart now ?
Datu Museng	: We have discussed it that it's a big shame for us to stop when we have said and decided what we believe . .
Tobo' Le'lenna Mangkasara'	: Despite you will be dying instead of it ?
Datu Museng	: Grandfa . . kualleangi tallanga na towaliya . . I prefer to die than hand over what i have believed . . (BSI, 2015: scene 2)

b. Nationalism

Extract 27 carries that nationalis which can be showed in both literary works. So, it is described that we live not alone; there are families, friends, societies and kinds of people. We must help one to other. If our family needs our help, as possible we help them. It can be seen from the extract below:

“tuanku Maggauka, tuanku gelarang, dan tuan-tuan anggota adat sekalian yang mulia. Jangankan ke Makassar, kelaut api sekalipun hamba akan pergi. Hamba adalah abdi tuanku. Sabda tuanku adalah perintah Negara yang tak dapat dielakkan dan tak mungkin ditolak oleh seorang abdi Negara.” (Baso,2002: 73-74)

c. Strength of heart

Extract 28 describes that strength of heart which can be seen in both novel and drama. Therefore, it is clarified that people have the strength of heart and strong faithful, to make our life become quite and peaceful. We must belief in God. Because who has all soul, body to keep by God's. We can see from the quotation below:

“Sekarang ku hembuskan nafasku dalam nafasmu, dan kuterima nafasmu dalam nafasku, kau dan aku hanya satu...amin!” (Baso, 2002: 11)

The queen : My son . . . Datu Museng . . . we have seen your pure love to Maepa Deapati . . . I, myself, can't do anything to separate you both ... (BSI,2015:scene 2)

d. Optimist and thingking positively

Extract 29 describes that optimist and thingking positively can be found not only in novel but also in drama. Consequently, it is pronounced that when we have decided a decision, we must optimistic and thinking positively that is good decision for our live. It can be seen from the extract below:

“jika keyakinanmu telah bulat, kamauan sudah keras membaja dan tekad telah membungkah, akan kusuruh buatkan bahtera kenaikanmu ke Mekka mencari Bunga Ejana Madina.” (Baso, 2002: 7)

Datu' Museng : I have prepared myself for everything since I felt in love with Maepa for the first time . .
I swear to myself I never make a step back even a little for my love, Maepa Deapati . . (BSI,2015:scene 2)

e. Believe in God

Extract 30 tells that believe in God can be showed in both novel and drama. Thus, it is defined that people become necessity for believing existence of God; belief in all of his creation, use our mind to look at his direction. We can see it all of the main characters when they give confession about God's grandeur an every God's creation. It can be seen from the extract below:

“ku pinta pada Tuhan, kurebut kau dari tangan manusia, dari kekuasaan duniawi dan ayahandamu Maggauka. Dengarlah adinda, tak ada benteng yang kukuh, taka da lascar yang kuat, semua akan hancur jika Tuhan menhendaki.” (Baso, 2002:11)

Datu Museng : ohhh...so, you are Karaeng Galesong...alhamdulillah...I'm happy that Allah SWT let me to meet with one of my family here...(BSI,2015: scene 4)

f. Struggle for life

Extract 31 conveys that struggle for life can be seen not only in novel but also in drama. Hence, it is explicated that everyone who lives in this world certainly face many problems. As a proverb says, “the higher of a tree, the wind become stronger.”

It can be challenged that will make his stronger life of be obstacles that will burden his life. It depends on him how he will manage and overcome them.

Demikian sejak itu, sejak pulau Sumbawa di belakang dan pulau Lombok dan Bali tepat dihaluan bahtera, datu Museng tetap tinggal di geladak di waktu malam untuk bersemedi. Ia baru turun, ke ruang bawah untuk beristirahat di kala fajar akan menyingsing, hingga petang berebut senja. Makan dan minumannya tak pernah banyak dalam usaha mendekatkan diri sedekat-dekatnya kepada Maha Pencipta. (Baso,2002:15)

Datu Museng : my brother...you are my family...but if you want to take my life...then do it because I'm happy to die in my own family than to die the bastards like you there...!
(BSI,2015: scene 4)

Based on the discussion above, the researcher found out the different between previous studies and this research. According to Mahanani and Aderia, those thesis shown three of intrinsic elements, such as plot, character, and setting. While the researcher shown all of the elemnt intrinsic, they were plot, character, setting, point of view, theme, tone, style the aauthor/ use figurative language, and last the moral value.

Overall discussion above, shown that the adaptation taken from the novel into its drama is reduction done by the director. The reduction is not without purpose, Indeed It is not all the scenes in the novel comes in the drama, of course it can happen because of the limited duration of drama. However, if we look deeper, all sides in this novel is basically going to appear in the drama.

In other hand, the director tried to make a variation, director tried for producing variations in a deliberately different from the novel, such as the difference in the character of the prince Manngalasa, in drama prince Mangalasa made more brave, imperious, and died when he faught with Datu Musseng, director's objectives here makes variation is to make the story more attractive. In this case, the director seems avoid addition story doe to its losing original sense. That is why the director did not make it complex but he did not forget the dramatic aspect of the story.

Ma'gauka : Where is the oracle?

Anangguru : My lord, I'm sorry... I don't find him.

Mangalasa : (Menghentikan percakapan antara Raja dan Anangguru)
My lord, did you use an oracle to bring Maepa back?

Ma'gauka : It's not as same as you see my son...

Mangalasa : So, why do you still ask the oracle for a help, my lord?

Ma'gauka : I just want to know this problem further...
(Sambil bertanya ke Anangguru kembali) What did you want to report to me?

Anangguru : I'm sorry my lord, I can't catch him up eventhough tried my best to follow him.. He runs as fast as tiger.

Anangguru : Yes my lord, as you wish... (Pergi meninggalkan panggung)

Ibu Inang : My lord...

Ma'gauka : I'd like to tell me the truth about my beloved daughter.

Ibu Inang : What do you mean my lord?

Ma'gauka : Hmm... answer my questions...

Do you know what happened in the room when Datu's Museng healed my daughter?

Ibu Inang : I don't know, my lord...

Ma'gauka : Then, what did happened when there were only both of you in the room?

Ibu Inang : The princess just hugged me, my lord...

Ma'gauka : Then, what's next?

Ibu Inang : Then she told me she wanted to go to pound for bathing in the midnight...

Ma'gauka : Any else?

Ibu Inang : Any else? Hmm, I think it's over all that I can say to you, my lord...

Ma'gauka : Are you sure?

Ibu Inang : Yes, I am, my lord...

Ma'gauka : Can you swear on the name of Allah SWT?

IBU INANG IS SAYING NO WORD AFTER SHE HEARS WHAT THE KING SAID ..

The Queen : Ibu Inang... Please, just tell us all of the truth...

Ma'gauka : Yeah Ibu Inang, I just want you to be honest now!

Mangalasa : Do what the king has said!!!

AFTER IBU INANG GOT THE SHOUT FROM MANGALASA, SHE IS GETTING NERVOUS AND SCARED ..

Ibu Inang : My prince, forgive me... Please forgive me. I didn't intend to hide it. Please forgive me...

SUDDENLY, THE PRINCE KICKS IBU INANG WHEN IBU INANG TRIES TO GRAB MANGALASA'S LEGS FOR ASKING FORGIVENESS.

WHEN MANGALASA INTENDS TO GIVE HER THE SECOND WAVE, HIS BODYGUARDS STOP HIM GENTLY. .

The 1st BG : Please my lord, it just wastes your strength.. it doesn't make a sense. My lord...

The 2nd BG : My lord, remember. She is just a woman .. no strength.. no worthy.
