Title : An Analysis of Presupposition Used in The Movie Crazy Rich Asian By Kevin Kwan
Supervisor I : Barsihannor
Supervisor II : Sardian Maharani Asnur

This research discusses the presupposition used in the movie Crazy Rich Asian. The aims of this research are to identify the types of presupposition used in the movie Crazy Rich Asian by Kevin Kwan. This research used a descriptive qualitative method. The data in this research were the form of utterances containing presupposition. Based on the classification of six presupposition types according to Yule's Theory (1996), the writer found 47 utterances which contain types of presupposition. It consists of twenty-seven utterances of existential presupposition, three utterances of factive presupposition, three utterances of lexical presupposition, one utterances of non-factive presupposition. For structural presupposition, there are seven utterances and the last is six utterances include counterfactual presupposition.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

In this modern era, when people talk, sometimes the message is not conveyed to the other people. Therefore to know what the speaker means to the hearer, it is important to learn more about presupposition. In speaking, people will do a conversation that contains presuppositions related to a context or understanding between speaker and hearer. A context in a speech containing presupposition will help the hearer to understand information that will be conveyed by the speaker. It is a form of information for a premise or assumption as a way through the interactions that occur in everyday life or from one person to another.

In delivering a message or information from the speaker to the listener, many possibilities that mistakes or misunderstanding can occur, the information delivered to the listener may be different and it will make many interpretations of the listener. To avoid the misinterpretation in the meaning, it will be dealing with a presupposition. Yule,(1996:25) states that presupposition is something to the assumes by the speaker before producing an utterance. Besides, Peccei,(1999:22) explains that presuppositions are the relationship of words and grammar structures used in a speech on how to interpret the language by conventional. Therefore the researcher has a conclusion that presupposition is an initial assumption that is in the mind of the partner said before the speaker gives pieces of information in a conversation. In presupposition, usually, there is hidden information that can be the basis of the subject.

The presupposition is one part of the pragmatic that is important. First, because presuppositions can help in interpreting speech between speakers and listener in the process of delivering information. Second, in a conversation interaction, speaker and listener do not only share information, but assumptions and expectations also appear in it as interpretations of speeches that will act as a result. In other hand, Venneman (1975:314 at Brown (1995) and in Astuti, (2015: 11) states that the context as presupposition which helps listeners to determine or understand the language, topics, and response in a daily or movie conversation. Context will also help listeners to hold the intended meaning of the speaker.

Yuniardi,(2015:2) says that movie is one of the media which is purposed to entertaining or stole the show, therefore, the viewer can understand the plot of the movie. Also, the movie is one type of media that attract many audiences interest like watching a new movie in the cinema. It is there are usually some main characters who use presuppositions that will make the story interesting as well as the spectators.

In this research, the writer chooses Crazy Rich Asian movie published in 2018 because the movie was adapted from the novel Crazy Rich Asian written by Kevin Kwan who also acts as director of the movie with Jon M Chu. In connection with that, in learning the language, the writer uses a pragmatic approach to know the relationship between speech and context in the movie. There are many types of movie that can be used to examine pre-assumption phenomena. Related with this movie, the one that makes movie interesting are the history, culture, and life of the Chinese people. Then, there is a conversation between the characters in the Crazy Rich Asian movie that uses two languages, such as Mandarin and English languages. Besides, the use of presupposition in a dialogue between the characters in the movie quite a lot to be analyzed in the study.

There are some previous studies related to presupposition such as conducted by Siagian, Pangaribuan, & Toruan,(2015). In this article, this research finds four types of presupposition in the magazine. They are existential, factive, lexical, and structural presupposition while the two types other, non-factive and counterfactual are not used in it. And the most dominant types of presupposition found in this research is the existential presupposition.

Gustia,(2018) From the results of his research, she finds the type of presupposition such as existential presupposition, then factive presupposition while the three types of presupposition are less widely used by the general public in Bukit Tinggi. But the types that often used is structural presuppositions. furthermore, Hasta & Marlina, (2018) They use two news from Al-Jazeera and one news from Fox news as the object. Then, they use theory based on Khaleel's (2010) about presupposition triggers. As the results of data, they find that Al Jazeera news, Existential presupposition is more found than on the Fox news. Of both the news the researchers find dominant types of presupposition. They are a verb in the lexical and adverbial clause in structural.

Based on explaining about presupposition then the writer gets the surah related to this research. As explained in the verse below:

In Surah Al-Hujurat(46: 6)

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا إِن جَاءَكُمْ فَاسِقٌ بِنَبَأٍ فَتَبَيَّنُوا أَن تُصِيبُوا قَوْمًا بِجَهَالَةٍ
فَتُصِحُّوا عَلَىٰ مَا فَعَلْتُمْ نَادِمِينَ ﴿٦﴾

O ye who believe! If a wicked person comes to you with any news, as certain the truth, lest ye harm people unwittingly, and afterwards become full of repentance for what ye have done. by Ali,(1946:366)

The verse above is one of the foundations started by religion in social life at the same time it is logical guidance for acceptance and practice. Human life and their interaction must be based on things known and clear. Humans itself cannot reach all the information, Shihab (2009: 586-589). Therefore, if there is a piece of new news, it will be better to filter first because it will be worried if someone steps unclearly. Before the information is clear, it is important to sort the information whether it is important or not and also sort out whether the information carrier can be believed or not.

In connection with the verse above, the writer can associate with presuppositions. In the surah explain when bringing news, it should be checked first that the news is true or not. The same thing with a presupposition, expressions in a speech should be good and clear so that there is no misunderstanding between speaker and listener.

B. Research Question

People can do some ways of expressing what they mean by using presupposition. Based on the background research above, the writer formulated the research question as follow: What are the types of presupposition applied in the movie Crazy Rich Asian by Kevin Kwan?

C. Research Objective

Based on the research question above, the writer provided to propose the objective of the research as follow: to identify the types of presupposition applied in the movie Crazy Rich Asian by Kevin Kwan.

D. Significant of the Research

Theoretically, these studies are expected to contribute to linguistic students, especially in a pragmatics study so that this research can help other linguistic students to discover new ideas to develop some presuppositions research that acts as a fundamental theory, the writer presents and add information about related topics.

Practically, these studies are expected to contribute to the development of knowledge of language society, especially for people who want to engage deeper in linguistics. The first step in introducing linguistics to the community, especially in the study of communication in society with the basic theory of presuppositions.

E. Research Scope

In this research, the writer focused on analyzing the presupposition of the movie Crazy Rich Asian. It includes the types of presuppositions those are, the existential presupposition, the factive presupposition, the lexical presupposition, the structural presupposition, the non-factive presupposition, and the counterfactual presupposition. Thus, context of presupposition in the movie. This research uses Yule's (1996) theory.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

A. Previous Findings

Before the writer did some research then should look for or read some thesis or journals that have researched earlier about the presuppositions. So the writer can find the differences as well as similarities in the study. In connection with it, the writer founds there were few prior findings related to this research, as follows:

The first research was “Presupposition Of The Narrator’s Utterances In Silet Infotainment” conducted By Astuti,(2015).Thesis from Faculty Of Humanities Diponegoro University Semarang. In this research, Astuti focused on a program that conveys a piece of information about gossip news that is presented by television such as Infotainment. She also examined the presuppositions found in the narrator infotainment Silet's speech. The research aims to identify the types of pre-suppositions that arise in the narrator infotainment of Silet. The pre-supposition function used narrator infotainment Silet. In the data, Astuti uses a non-participant observation method and is followed by a note-taking technique. The Data is then selected using the purposive sampling technique. Authors use a pragmatic method of order, introspective reflective methods, and clear techniques for analyzing data. Therefore, the results of his research gained 55 speech from the 108 speech narrator which contains presuppositions. The author finds that a speech can have more than one presupposition trigger representing a different presuppositions type. Authors find that the pre-assumed category is found to be single triggers, double triggers, and plural triggers.

The second Hikmah Nur,(2017) Researched the title “An Analysis Of Language Presupposition In Advertisements Of Tv Channels In Indonesia” from English and Literature Department, Adab and Humanities Faculty, Alauddin State Islamic University of Makassar. The method used in this research used descriptive qualitative method and the researcher will use Yule’s theory about presupposition, Existential presupposition, Factive presupposition, Lexical presupposition, Nonfactive presupposition, structural presupposition, and Counterfactual presupposition. This research aims to find out the types of presupposition in an advertisement for a TV channel in Indonesia. Furthermore, the result of the study shows that the researchers concluded that everyone who presupposed something that they must have different presupposition.

The third,Cahyono,(2016) researched the title “The Analysis Of Presupposition Found In Song Lyrics Of The Heart Of Everything Album By Within Temptation Band And Its Application In Teaching Listening”. The method used in this research used the descriptive qualitative method. This research aims to find out the presupposition Found in Song Lyrics of “The Heart of Everything” Album by Within Temptation Band and to find out the way of teaching listening using song lyrics on The Heart of Everything. Furthermore, the result of the study shows that the researcher found that the most presupposition used in song lyrics on The Heart of Everything album by Within Temptation band are existential presupposition. The application of presupposition in the song lyrics on the album entitled The Heart of Everything by Within Temptation band is to teach English listening. The indicator is students can identify the meaning of the song. The researcher suggests to the teachers, they can use authentic materials like this song lyrics so teachers can maximize the teaching result. For the students, songs can help them learn to listen to something entertaining.

The fourth, Ananda, Wihadi, & Suryana, (2017) in the research entitled Presupposition Analysis in Some Selected Consumer Advertisement Slogan of The Jakarta post this research aims to finding the types of presupposition and describing the function of presupposition in advertisement found in consumer advertisement slogans of the Jakarta post newspaper. The method used in this research used descriptive qualitative method and the researcher will use Yule's theory about presupposition. The result of this research showed that the writer found 20 presuppositions. Then, not all type of presupposition and function of presupposition in advertisement are found, it is influenced by various types and functions in advertisement causing different assumption and presupposition.

The fifth study is taken from taken Risdianto, (1996) entitled "The Analysis of Presupposition in George Orwell's Novella Animal Fram". The study focuses on types to identify and classify the presupposition used in conversation in Orwell's novella. The identification is based on the presupposition triggers and classification based on six type of presupposition. The research also attempts to analyze the function in the use of presupposition in conversation. The data in this research are in form of utterances containing presupposition. Based on the classification of six presupposition types according to Yule's theory (1996), this research found the 180 utterances.

Based on the previous study above, the writer finds the similarity and difference between this research. The similarity is that the writer will also use the type of presupposition propose by Yule's theory (1996). Therefore, those relevant studies will be very helpful in simplifying the writer in doing data analysis. Moreover, there are disimilarity between this research and prior research. First, Astuti's thesis focuses on analyzing the types of presupposition triggers based on Levinson theory. Then. She has an object this research about "infotainment" While, Hikmah's thesis focuses on analysis in "advertisement of Tv channel Indonesia". Thus, Cahyono's thesis used the song for an object is "The Heart of Everything" Album by Within Temptation Band" and its application teaching listening". Next, Ananda's Journal focuses on analyzing advertisement in post Jakarta. The last, Cahyono's in the journal focuses on analysis George Orwell's Novella Animal Fram. be different previous study, the data in this writer taken from in movie Crazy Rich Asian. The writer assumes that this study which is titled presupposition in movie Crazy Rich Asian has never been observed before.

B.Theoretical Framework

1. Pragmatics

Pragmatics is one of the branches of linguistics that is closely related to semantics because they both have the meaning of language units. However, the two branches of linguistics have the distinction of semantics studying the meaning of language units internally while pragmatics learning the meaning of a language externally. Levinson,(1983:12) states that pragmatics is the study of all those aspects of meaning not captured in a semantics theory. Pragmatics has as its topic those aspects of the meaning of utterances which can not be accounted for by straightforward reference to the truth conditions of the sentences uttered. Then, according to Yule,(1996: 4) pragmatics is the study of the relationship between linguistics form and the users of those forms situations to communicate. Pragmatics related to the study of meaning as communicated by the speaker or the author and interpreted by listeners or readers.

a. Pragmatics is the study of speaker meaning. This approach is concerned with the study about the meaning conveyed by the speaker or the author than in the interpretation by the listener or reader. This study is more related to the analysis of what is meant by people with the speech of the meaning of Separate words and phrases. Their speech rather than the literal meaning of the speech itself.

b. Pragmatics is the study of contextual meaning. This approach explains what a person means to use a context and how the context affects what it says.

c. Pragmatics is the study of how more meaning is communicated than what is said. The intent of this approach is how the listener can conclude the information that the speakers say. Another word of study is a vague search study of meaning.

d. Pragmatics is the study of the expression of relative distance. This approach answers perspectives on what determines the choice between the spoken and the unspoken. So there is assuming how close or distant the listener.

From its definition, it is apparent that there is a close relationship between the linguisticsqa form and the person using it. A speech can have several different meanings if pronounced by different people with different statuses, different jobs, and different genders. Following pragmatics definitions according to experts:

Trudgill (1980:61) states that pragmatic is a branch of linguistics that relates to the meaning when it occurs in the social context. Pragmatic can be described as a study of meaning from linguistics. Then, based on the pragmatics standpoint, the meaning and use of the language depends on the speaker. Similar to the opinion above, Levinson,(1983:5) states that pragmatic study of language uses the relationship between language and basic context for a language understanding. Afterward, Huang, (2007:2) says that pragmatic are systematic studies based on meaning the use of language.

Furthermore, Birner,(2013:2) explains that pragmatic is a study of the language used in the context in comparison with semantics, which is a literal study of independent meanings of contexts. On the other hand, Pragmatics are associated interactions with tools for meaningful communication that relies on or originates in the way in which are use words and sentences by Kroeger,(2018:4) and Griffiths, (2006:1). Based on the definition above, briefly, pragmatics is studying a language use based on the context of the meaning of a speech speaker to the listener.

2. Context

Context is a very important aspect inferring the implicit meaning (Schiffrin, 1987:3). Context is the knowledge and situation in which the language itself guides the use of language and interpretation of speech so that the information to be conveyed can be understood by the listener. The information submitted will be successfully understood only if the listener can capture meaning in context. The function of context is to reduce the ambiguity of meaning if there are different contexts then produce different meanings. Levinson,(1983:22).

On the other hand, Dey,(2001:5) says that context is any information that can be used to characterizes the situation of an entity. An entity is a person, place, or object that is considered relevant to the interaction between a speaker and listeners. Meanwhile, Holmes,(2013:250) writes that there are several factors related to use language and social settings and interaction functions. Moreover, context will reflect the influences of one or more of the following components:

a. The participants: who is speaking and who are they talking ? for example wife-husband, boss-workers, lecture-student, etc.

b. The setting or social context of the interaction: where are they speaking?
Example: home, work, campus, school, etc

c. The topic: What is being talked about? for example education, social media, Global warming, etc

d. The function: why are they speaking?

From the explanations above, Context is the crucial factor influencing a deeper meaning of an utterance. it is known that context is an important concept in pragmatics as part of presupposition.

3. Presupposition.

a. Definition

A presupposition is derived from the pre-suppose, which means to suspect a prior or suspected temporary. It means that before speakers get in the talk of something, speakers already had a previous guess about would the speakers talking. To better understand the presupposition. Here are some of the definitions of the presupposition by experts:

Fromkin, Victoria, Rodman Robert, Hyams (1988:174) says that presuppositions are the situation should usually exist on each appropriate for utterance. Besides, Grundy, (2008:63) says that a presupposition is the meaning of someone accommodating along the side of a speech. Furthermore, Tambunan, (2019:18) explains that the presupposition is in the form of a speaker is say that the speech partner can know for sure the person or object being discussed. The speech partner will understand or recognize something that the speaker communicates. Communication between speakers and speech partners can run without obstacles. Understanding of presuppositions by speech partners is due to the utterances that preach.

(Wang, 2007) Presupposition is a subject widely studied by linguists nowadays, but actually it is first studied by philosophers and logicians. Various opinions exist about the definition of presupposition by different linguists. During the daily communication, it happens that speakers assume certain information is already known; such information will generally not be stated and consequently will count as part of what is communicated but not said. Thus, according to Levinson (1983:168) presupposition is background belief, relating to an utterance that must be mutually known or assumed by the speaker and addressee for the utterance to be considered appropriate in context. Yuniardi (2015:11) says that Presupposition is interpreted by considering the context that exists in the situation when the utterance is happening to find out the intended meaning of the speaker to get the information. The context of this utterance should be understood by the listener.

b. Types of Presupposition

Yule (1996:27) states that presuppositions have been associated with the use of a large number of words, phrases, and structures. This linguistic form is regarded as an indicator of a potential presupposition, which can only be an actual presuppose in context with the speakers. Thus, Yule's states that six types of presuppositions are: the existential presupposition, the factive presupposition, the lexical presupposition, the structural presupposition, non-factive presupposition and counter-factual presupposition. The writer is a further explanation of the six types of presuppositions:

1) Existential presupposition.

The existential presupposition is not only assumed to be present in possessive construction but more generally in any definite noun phrase. Speaker is committed to the existence of the entities named any definite noun phrase an assumption that someone or something exists, based on the Yule's, (1996: 27).

Also, the definite noun has any form such as definite article, determiner and proper name that use to specifying something who have in know by listeners.

Then, form the definite article and the determiner like the that, this, these, and those. As well as possessive pronoun like Tina, my, yours. To refer in word exist. El-Gamal, (2001: 42) says that definite expressions are closely linked to existence and reference. which express indefiniteness with indefinite articles that always precede the noun.

Definite expressions include proper nouns, personal pronouns, and noun phrases. A semantic categorization of noun phrases divides them in three subclasses definite descriptions, indefinite noun phrases, and quantified noun phrases. Definite descriptions are expressions that refer to some definite entity and identify it partly by means of the descriptive content of the expression. For example : The king of Sweden, the cat, the girl door, the counting Crows.

In the example above, the utterance said “The king of Sweden” that the king does exist and they presuppose is “there is the king of Sweden”

The cat >> exist

The girl door >> exist

The counting Crows >> there is a crow.

2) Factive presupposition.

The second type of presupposition is factive presupposition since some verb used in the sentences to indicates a fact, such as know, realize, regret, glad, odd and aware. the speaker makes the hearer or reader trust and the information of the utterance in a fact, based on Yule's, (1996: 27) For example:

- a. She did not realize he was ill. (>> He was ill)
- b. We regret telling him. (>> We told him)
- c. I was not aware that she was married. (>>She was married)
- d. It is not odd that he left early. (>>He left early)
- e. I am glad that it is over (>>It is over)

In the example above, the part (a) of the sentence that can be presupposed is “ He was ill” because it is the fact or the part of the sentence that must be true although she realized it or she did not realize it. While the part (b) of the sentence that can be presupposed is “He told him” because it is the fact or the part of the sentence that must be true although we regret it. The same way part (c) of the phrase “ was not aware” gives an assumption that I do know that She was married. So, the presupposed information treated as the fact of her.

3) Lexical presupposition.

Based on the Yule's, (1996: 28), lexical presupposition is asserted meaning conventionally interpreted with another meaning for the listener understood about the information it and it has some word like managed, stop, and start. For example:

- a. He stopped smoking. (>>He used to smoke)
- b. They started complaining. (>>They were not complaining before)

- c. You are late again. (>>You were late before)

In the example above, in the first sentence, the use of one verb “stopped” can lead up to the presupposition that the smoking was his pas habit, so it can be presupposed that “ He used to smoke”. Furthermore, in the second sentence, the use of one verb “ started” indicates the beginning which means that before the utterance is made, the action of complaining has never been done. The same way third sentence, the use of one verb “ late” indicates the not on time means that before the utterance is made, the action of again has never been done.

4) Non-factive presupposition.

The non-factive presupposition is associated with some verbs that are assumed not to be true. such verbs are the dream, imagine and pretend are used with the presupposition that what follows is not true, based on the Yule’s,(1996: 29).For example:

- a. I dreamed that I was rich (>>I was not rich)
b. We imagined we were in Hawaii (>>We were not in Hawaii)
c. He pretends to be ill (>>He is not ill)

In the first sentence, the use of the verb “ dreamed” indicates that the clause following the verb“I was rich” is not true. This means that the presupposition is “I was not rich”. Meanwhile, is applied to the second sentence where it can be presupposed that the clause “ We were in Hawaii” is not true because it follows the verb “imagined”. The same way, in the third sentence, the presupposition is “He is not ill” because the clause uses the verb “pretends

5) Structural presupposition.

The presupposition is the speaker treats them as presupposed information and accepted be true by the listeners. It can be seen in the use of Wh- question construction, which is the information after Wh-question is already known to be the case, based on the Yule’s,(1996: 28). For example :

- a. When did he leave? (>>He left)
- b. Where did you buy the like (>>You bought the bike)

The sentence above shows that the listener perceives that the information presented is necessarily true rather than just the presupposition of the person asking the question.

6) Counter-factual presupposition

This type creates a presupposition meaning that is contrary to the facts or the opposite is true. Such a structure of if-clause presupposes that information is considered as not true. However, the meaning of this presupposition isn’t only true, but it is the opposite of what is true or contrary to the fact, based on the Yule’s, (1996: 29). For example :

If you were my friend, you would have helped me.

(>>You are not my friend)

Based the example above, the if-clause “ if you were my friend” uses a conditional structure indicating that the is opposite to the utterance, so it can be presupposed that the meaning of the clause is “ you are not my friend.

4. Movie

a. Definition of movie

Bahri Arifin & Ariani, (2017:86) states that movie is one media that reflects the social life of human. One of the important aspect mostly occurred in movie is the dialogue (conversation) among the characters. Thus, Ali (2013) in (Sa’adah, 2014 :3) states that a movie is a combination of art, literature and science. Art and literature reflect moments in people’s life and science studies people and the world where they live. Thus, a movie is a portrait of people’s life which is presented beautifully and colorfully. The movie is one of the audiovisual mass media. It is a series of motion images with sounds and colors. The movie carries something to share and it is projected.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Research Method

The writer uses qualitative research in this study. Which is designed to describe the case of the study by words or sentence than numbers. The analysis explains the presupposition that used in movie “Crazy Rich Asian” according to Yule’s pragmatics theory. By using the descriptive qualitative method, it is easy to find the disparate and the meaning of presupposition which contains in the movie “Crazy Rich Asian”.

B. Data Source

The source of data is the conversation that includes the types of presupposition the movie script “Crazy Rich Asian” by Kevin Kwan as the main object of the research. The duration is around 01:56:46 and the movie script around 77 pages.

C. Instruments of the Research

Guba’s in (Shenton, 2004:64) states that the writer himself or herself is the key instrument of the qualitative method. This research is qualitative, so the primary instrument is the writer itself.

D. Procedures of Collecting Data

In this research, the process of collecting the data is taken such as following steps:

1. The writer watched the movie thoroughly.
2. The writer read and completed the script with see the context
3. The writer identified the utterances which include in presupposition in the movie script.
4. The writer reduces the data being identified in a form of extract data on the piece of note and coding it.

E. The Techniques of Data Analysis

Coming to this section, the writer included these following steps for the formulated problem:

1. The writer analyzed the phrase of presupposition in movie “Crazy Rich Asian” by using the theory of Yule’s, (1996:25) about presupposition.
2. The writer categorized the data in types of presupposition in the movie.
3. Furthermore, the writer drew the conclusion and rechecked it whether or not the conclusion is appropriate to answer the formulated problem.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

This chapter provides the findings and discussion. As states in the previous part, this research aims at identifying the presupposition applied in the movie Crazy Rich Asian by Kevin Kwan. The data gained are presented in the findings, while the detail explanation is conveyed deeply in the discussion section.

A. Findings

The categorized data is based on Yule's (1996:25) theory about presupposition. Thus, Yule explains about six types of presupposition are existential presupposition, factive presupposition, lexical presupposition, non-factive presupposition, structural presupposition, and counterfactual presupposition.

Based on the data result, the writers finds all of the types of presupposition in the movie Crazy Rich Asian. It can be seen that there are 47 data divided into six categories. It consists of 27 data out of 47 data of existential presupposition as the most dominant and followed by others, that are 3 data of 47 data of factive presupposition, 3 data are lexical presupposition, thus, data of non-factive presupposition only has 1 data of 47 data, 7 data are structural presupposition and 6 data of 48 data are counterfactual presupposition.

1. The Existential Presupposition

It is an assumption of the existence of the entities named any definite noun phrase by the speaker. In this research, the writer founds 27 data that belong to the type of existential presupposition. But, the writer just to explain some of extract this type. The first data can be seen below:

- 1) The utterances at 00:01:28 - 00:01:29

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Clerk and Eleanor. The conversation takes place in the lobby on the hotel. As mentioned earlier, it is a problem to receive a visitor to the hotel. The function of the conversation is to show that the speaker receive guests who come and introduce the hotel as a luxurious and private hotel.

Extract 1

Clerk # 1: May I help you? This is the Calthorpe, a private hotel

The function of the conversation is to show that Nick who always orders coffee and he always eats his girlfriend's dessert.

Extract 7

Nick: Mm, I'm okay with coffee. Thanks.

*Rachel: Yeah, well, you always say that, and then you end up eating all my dessert

This bold utterance is classified as the existential presupposition because it shows that the speaker mentions he has a dessert and the speaker assumes that the dessert exists. Then, this phrase refers to possessive construction.

6) The utterance at 00:13:19 - 00:13:28

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Rachel and Nick. The conversation takes place in the Plane. The topic of the conversation is Nick's family. The function of the conversation is to show that Rachel wants to know all of Nick's family because she only finds out that Nick's simple people. But they are a rich and famous family in Singapore.

Extract 8

Nick: I like that place, thank you very much. And yes, my family has money, but I've always thought of it as theirs. Not mine

Rachel: I get that. But I'm going all the way over there to meet them... Kind of just wanna know what I'm getting into. And, you know, they're your family.

This bold utterance is classified as the existential presupposition because it shows that the speaker mentions he has a family and money. This utterance refers to exist because the speakers assume that he does not money just her family.

2. The Factive Presupposition

Something that's an assumption that the speaker is a fact. This type has some words are used in the sentences to denote facts, such as know, realize, regret, glad, aware, odd. In this research, the writer found 3 data that be part of factive presupposition those are:

7) The utterance at 00:39:15-00:39:27

Context:

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Rachel and Eleanor. The conversation takes place in the kitchen. The topic of the conversation is to introduce itself. The function of the conversation is to show the speaker that she is happy to meet he boyfriend's parents, even though she only meet her mother while her husband went to work outside the city despite she is her very nervous when they meet for the first time.

Extract 9

Rachel: Oh, my gosh! I, I'm so happy to meet you, Mrs. Young. (gives her a big hug) Or, uh, Auntie. Right?

Eleanor: I'm very glad to finally meet you, too. And I'm sorry Nick's father couldn't be here. He was called to a business in Shanghai.

This bold utterance is classified as the factive presupposition because it shows that the speaker indicates feeling happy when he first meet the girlfriend of a daughter even though Eleanor feel guilty because her husband is not here.

8) The utterance at 01:12:01-01:12:05

Context:

The utterance below show that the participants of the conversation are Rachel and Eleanor. The conversation takes place on the ladder. The topic of the conversation is rung. The function of the conversation is to show the speaker looking for Rachel because she thinks that it will disappear in this huge house and she wants to tell story about this ring.

Extract 10

Rachel : (surprised) Oh. Hi. I think I'm a little lost. This house is pretty big.

Eleanor: I'm glad I found you. I'm afraid that I've been unfair.

Rachel: Oh, no, you know what? I'm sorry I made an assumption. I didn't mean to offend you.

Eleanor: Not at all. (then) You asked about my ring. The truth is Nick's father had it made when he wanted to propose to me because Ah Ma wouldn't give him the family ring. I wasn't her first choice. Honestly, I wasn't her second

This bold utterance is classified in the factive presupposition because it shows that the speaker indicated his feelings because he thinks Rachel will be lost in this House that is very large buildings.

9) The utterance at 01:14:01- 01:32:32

Context:

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Nick and Ah ma. The conversation takes place in the garden. The topic of the conversation is Rachel's parents. The function of the conversation is to show that the speaker says her mother does not know about her activity.

Extract 11

Nick: I know my mum can be tough at times, but there isn't anything she wouldn't do for me... (off Rachel's silence) And there is a reason why I lived with Ah Ma growing up. It's because my mother knew she wasn't the favorite. So she let her raise me so I would be.

Nick: Ah Ma. Mum. What's all this about?

This bold utterance is classified as the factive presupposition because it shows that the speaker indicates the disappointment of a child to his mother who does not know her habits and her drinks, she feels happier if she lives with her grandmother. And also a disappointment that her boyfriend go because of the past problems of Rachel's parents.

3. The Lexical Presupposition

This type is the use of a form with its asserted meaning is conventionally interpreted with the presupposition that another, non-asserted meaning is understood. On the other hand. The lexical presupposition is the assumption that, in using one word, the speaker can act as if another meaning (word) will be understood. This type has some words are used in such as managed, stop, start, and again. In this research, the writer found 3 utterances that apply to the type of lexical presupposition those are:

10) The utterance at 00:20 51-00:20 53

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Colin and Nick. The conversation takes place is Hacker Center. A place that has traditional food and is very popular in Singapore. The topic of the conversation is groomsman wedding. The function of the conversation is to show that Colin wants to ask Nick for helping to become a Groomsman because he does not want his own male companion at the time of the wedding. And after that they speak while eating that they has bought.

Extract 12

Colin : (to Nick) Oh, before I forget, I need your help tomorrow. Uh, I need to do some groomsmen stuff and I don't wanna do it alone with Bernard Tai.

*Nick : I still cannot believe that you got that guy to be your groomsman

Araminta : thank you. Thank you. I rest my case.

The presuppositions appearing in this extract are lexical presupposition. In the bold sentence it has presuppositions that he does not think he will be a groomsmen and his friend would marry. The presuppositions that arise are on the word "still" because the speaker has an implied word that says that it does not believe what he has heard.

11) The utterance at 00:43:51- 00:43:55

Context:

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Astrid and Michael. The conversation takes place in Ah Ma's House. The topic of the conversation is the food. The function of the conversation is to show that Astrid brings her a favorite meal for her husband because the party is over and all the food have been cleaned.

Extract 13

*Astrid : They started clearing away dinner. Your favorites

Michael : Thank you

The presuppositions appearing in this data are lexical preconditions. In the bold sentence has a presupposition that the dinner has been completed because the officers have cleared the party. The presuppositions that appear are in the word if "started" which of the speaker gives an implied information.

12) The utterance at 01:45:31 - 01:45:34

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Eleanor and Rachel. The conversation takes place in Mahjong Hall. The topic of the conversation is Mahjong games. The function of the conversation is to show that the speakers play Mahjong with Rachel as they relate the relationship to Rachel and Nick where Rachel has gone because she doesn't want Nick to go with her and leave her family so she decides to go back to America.

Extract 14

Eleanor : (realizing) so you chose for him.

Rachel : i'm not leaving 'cause i'm scared or because i think i'm not enough. Because... Maybe for the first time in my life, i know i am. I just love nick so much. I don't want him to lose his mom again. So i just wanted you to know that one day, when he marries another lucky girl, who is enough for you, and you're playing with your grandkids while the tan huas are blooming, and the birds are chirping, that it was because of me... A poor, raised by a single mother, low class, immigrant nobody.

The presuppositions appearing in this data are lexical presupposition. The bold sentence has a presupposition Nick has abandoned his mother before. Rachel's implied speech explaining information that has previously occurred in the present time when the incident is repeated. The presuppositions that arise is the word "again" in order to be understood the implied information that is said by speakers.

4. The Non-factive Presupposition.

The non-factive presupposition is one that is assumed not to be true. then, these types are the opposite of factive presupposition. There is a verb that includes this type like dream, imagine and pretend. In this research, the writer found 1 utterance that belongs to the type of non-factive those are

13) The utterance at 01:50:49 - 01:50:52

Context :

Eleanor : everybody knows. Nick sees celine leaving through a revolving door.
Nick : Radio One Asia.*

This bold utterance is clasified as the structural presupposition because in this expression it has a presupposition "He had known the news before He called to me". As for the presuppositions which raise structural presuppositions on Nick's speech is Wh-Question. Wh-Question type used is the Question "How " that can serve to ask for a situation or clarity about a thing.

15) The utterance at 00:39:32 - 00:39:40

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Eleanor and Rachel. The conversation takes place in the house. The topic of the conversation is Rachel's job. The function of the conversation is to show the speaker has learned earlier that he is a professor then he is curious about what subjects he has taught his students.

Extract :17

*Eleanor : as it should be. (to rachel) nick tells me you're a professor, too. What did you teach?

Rachel : um, i teach economics.

Nick : and she's brilliant. Nyu's youngest faculty member.

This bold utterance is classified as the structural presupposition because this phrase has an assumption that Rachel is a teacher because she had previously been told by Nick that she is a Professor. But he does not know that he is a young professor at the faculty. The presuppositions which the structural presuppositions of Eleanor's use is the question "What" that can be used to ask something.

16) The utterance at 00:46:00 - 00:46:13

Kerry : My husband wasn't a good man. He hurt me. (off rachel) but an old schoolmate of mine helped me through things and we fell in love and I got pregnant with his baby, that's you. I was so afraid my husband would find out and kill us both, so I just took you and I ran to America.

This bold utterance is classified as the structural presupposition because this expression has a presupposition "you never told my father before". As for the presuppositions which raise structural presuppositions on Rachel's used the word "why" which can serve to ask the reason for an event that happened.

6. The Counterfactual presupposition

It is presupposition when the assumption of what is presupposed is not only untrue but is the opposite of what is true or contrary to fact. Then, this presupposition uses conditional structure if-clause for the information is not true at the time of utterance. In this research, the writer found 6 utterances that belong to the type of counterfactual presupposition those are:

21) The utterances at 00:09:36 - 00:09:48

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Eleanor and Nick. The conversation takes place in a Restaurant. The topic of the conversation are Rachel and Nick's visit to Singapore. *Photographer: You know if you move, it will look more natural.

Eddie : No, this way you get our optimal angles.

This bold utterance is classified as the structural presupposition because it shows that the speaker had a presuppose is "although he moved it wouldn't look natural". As for the type of presuppositions used is in the word "if" which is applied to explain the presuppositions of speakers that the fact that he faced opposition.

23) the utterance at 00:32:15-00:32:07

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Wye mun and Rachel. The conversation takes place in Peik Lin'S house. The topic of the conversation is Rachel's outfit. The function of the conversation is to show the family situation of Peik Lin is gathering in the dining room as they tell the story of Rachel who is invited by the Nick family to go to her grandmother's party. And they also turned out about the clothes to be used by Rachel who wears very simple clothes.

Extract 25

Rachel : Yeah, I thought red was a lucky color, right?

*Wye mun : Yeah,if you're an envelope. Zing! Nailed it!

Rachel : No

On this data, the speakers have the opposite presuppositions appearing in the bold sentence. In that sentence, the presuppose of the speakers is "he was not an envelope" because the assumption shows untrue reality and did not also conform to the fact that he was a man. The type of presuppositions uses in the word "if" which is apply to explain the presuppositions of speakers that the fact that he face opposition.

24) The utterance at 00:32:28 - 00:32:28

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Peiklin and Rachel. The conversation takes place in Peik Lin's bedroom closet. The topic of the conversation is Rachel's outfit. So she want to make Rachel stand out on the show.

Extract 26

Peik lin :Now, they're the landlords of the most expensive city in the world. Here you go. (hands Rachel the purse) These people are so posh and snobby, they're snoshy. Here you go. Peik Lin hands her a pair of platform shoes.

Rachel : Yeah, but Nick's not like that.

*Peik lin : Even if he isn't, I guarantee you the family is. Which is why tonight, you need to not look like Sebastian of The Little Mermaid. You know, little crab guy.

In this data, speakers have the opposite presuppositions appearing in bold sentences. In the sentence, the presuppositions of the speakers is "he did not look like Sebastian as a crab guy" because the presuppositions show an untrue reality and did not also conform to the fact that he is a man and Female while Sebastian is a male crab in the movie The Little Mermaid. The type of presuppositions used is the word "if" which is applied to explain the presuppositions of speakers that the fact that he faced opposite.

25) The utterance at 01:09:20 - 01:09:30

Context :

The utterance below shows that the participants of the conversation are Astrid, Oliver, and Felicity. The conversation takes place in Tyersall park - dining room. The topic of the conversation is the Tradition of making dumplings. The function of the conversation is to show the situation of people gathering in the family room to make dumplings which are a tradition of the Young family so as not to lose. So all the family must teach all his children to make dumplings.

Extract 27

Astrid : (to Felicity) Hey, I never got after-school dumplings.

Oliver: Well, that's because Aunty Felicity was doing after-school microdermabrasion

Felicity : (mock-scolds; in Cantonese; subtitled) Ni le wu qie, ruguo a ye zhong xi du, shi qing ni shi teng tiao wen zhurou. [Smart ass. If your grandfather was alive, he'd kick you into next week.]

In this data, speakers have the opposite presuppositions appearing in bold sentences. In that sentence, the presuppositions of the speakers were "he died" because the presuppositions shows unrighteous reality and does not also conform to the fact that grandfather's died and could not kick you anymore. The type of presuppositions uses word "if" which is applied to explain the presuppositions of speakers that the fact that he faced opposition.

26) The utterance at 01:17:54 - 01:17:58

He is assisted by Oliver and Peik Lin in choosing a dress and his goes the party.

Extract 28

*Oliver : Right. I'm not sure if it's working or if she looks like a clown's tampon.

Rachel : Oh!

In this data, speakers have the opposite presuppositions appearing in bold sentences. In that sentence, the presuppose of the speakers is "he was not like Clown's tampon" because the presuppositions shows an untrue reality and did not also correspond to the fact that he wants to beautify himself but they said he saw like a clown wearing such a suit. The type of presuppositions used is in the word "if" which is applied to explain the presuppositions of speakers that the fact that he faced opposition.

B. Discussion

This part, the writer discuss the result of data analysis. In the finding section, the writer presents and analyze the data about the movie “Crazy Rich Asian” by Kevin Kwan. The writer begins the discussion by answering the research question about the presupposition applied by character in the movie. Based on Yule’s theory (1996) about presupposition. As a result, based on 47 data, the writer finds all the types of presupposition in the movie Crazy Rich Asian.

From the five types of presupposition which is used by the main character in the movie Crazy Rich Asian, the writer finds existential presupposition is the most dominant among all types of presupposition is 27 data. This type shows definite noun phrase. One of the interesting findings is that utterance “This is the Calthorpe” and “The Lancaster suite” show that the utterance refer to noun place and proper to the name place. Another the data of existential type are the mostly is used in the phrase “ my family, your husband, my dessert” showing possessive construction.

The second finding is the factive presupposition having three (3) data from all data and the writer only finds the factive verb like “knew and glad”. Factive is the assumption that something is true and it has some verbs such as “ realize, regret. aware, odd, glad and know”. These data are taken from the movie “I’m very glad to finally meet you, too” (extract 11),” I’m glad I found you”(extract 13), and “It’s because my mother knew she wasn’t the favorite”. This data shows a fact of information that is proved

The third finding is the lexical presupposition having three (3) data of 48 the total amount of data. This type, the writer only finds the lexical verb like “start, again and still”. Lexical is any implied information that can be understood by the listener and it has some verb such as “ stop, start, again, manage and still”. These data are taken from the movie “They started clearing away dinner” (extract 15), “I don't want him to lose his mom again” (extract 16) and “I still cannot believe that you got that guy to be your groomsman (extract 14).

The fourth is the non-factive presupposition having one (1) data from all data. This type, the writer only finds the non-factive verb like “imagine”. Non-factive is an assumption that is not a fact and it has some verb such as “dream, imagine and pretend”. These are the data taken from the movie; I always imagined what I proposing to you would be like. (extract 16).

The five findings are the structural presupposition having seven (7) data from all data. Which were presupposed by Wh-question like the word “what, when, where, who, why, and how which help the spectator to fully understand the story of the movie. Non-factive is an assumption that uses a phrase and structure in explaining a truth that occurs. One of the interesting findings is that the word “that’s very romantic. How did you guys meet? (Extract 23)”. This utterance, the speaker wants to know the relationship between Eleanor and your husband.

The last finding is the counterfactual presupposition having six (6) data from all data. Which presuppose used is counterfactual conditional like the word “if-clause”. Counterfactual is a presupposition contrary to the facts and truths. One of the interesting findings is that the word “Yeah if you’re an envelope. Zing! Nailed it”. this utterance shows that The presuppositions demonstrate the unrighteous reality and not also in accordance with the fact that he was a man.

This finding in the movie “Crazy Rich Asian” is different from the previous studies that also analysis about presupposition. Compared with Astuti (2015) who study presupposition as find in silet infotainment. She finds that 108 utterances narrator which contain presupposition triggers like single triggers, double triggers, and plural triggers. Moreover, she finds three functions presupposition in the narrator speaks. Meanwhile, this research find 47 utterances the types of presupposition in the movie and this research did not find the function of presupposition. Furthermore, the research conducted by Hikmah (2017) analyze presupposition in advertisements. She find the most dominant type of presupposition used is existential presupposition and she just find out three type of presupposition. Whereas, this research find all the types of presupposition.

On the side, Cahyono (2016) also analyze the types of presupposition and application teaching listening. He finds the most dominant type is existential presupposition and he gives suggestions for the students that songs can help to learn listening with something entertaining. Meanwhile, this research just focuses on the types of presupposition. Furthermore, the last previous studies conducted by Risdianto (1996) focuses on the types of presupposition in George Orwell's Novella Animal Farm and the language function by Jakobson (1960). He found 180 presupposition types according to Yule's theory. Moreover, He find 5 functions of presuppositions the novella which is emotive, conative, referential, poetic, and phatic. While this research just focusses the types of presupposition and use the movie as main object.

After classifying the types of presupposition ,The writer finds that the presupposition applied by character in the movie can be seen from presupposition types that uses. This type of presupposition mostly used is existential presupposition and the types of presupposition rarely used non-factive presupposition. because the existential used by the writer telling relationship between Rachel with her boyfriend, which he is the richest in Asia. Thus, this types shows the existence of an entity such as definite noun phrase and possessive construction,after the writer looking the character in movie from their background and their condition place.

The writer concluded that every presupposition produced has meaning that want to be sent by speaker to hearer, every presupposition can depends on the condition or the situation when the speaker says a presupposition. When the speaker produces a presupposition, we should consider about the situation that conveys the presupposition itself, so it can decrease the mistakes in receiving meaning.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

In this chapter the writer would like to present the conclusion and suggestion of this research which is entitled "An Analysis of Presupposition Used in The Movie Crazy Rich Asian by Kevin Kwan".

A. Conclusions

Based on analyzing the data of presupposition, the writer concludes that the characters in the movie Crazy Rich Asian mostly used the presupposition in the form of existential presupposition, and followed by factive presupposition, lexical presupposition, non-factive presupposition, structural presupposition, and counterfactual presupposition. It is proven by the 47 utterances types of presupposition that are found by the writer. The utterances are divided into some presupposition, which consist of 27 utterances existential presupposition, 3 utterances of factive presupposition, 3 utterances of lexical presupposition, 1 utterances of non-factive presupposition, for structural presupposition these are 7 utterances and the last is 6 utterance that include counterfactual presupposition.

B. Suggestions

After analyzing the data and discussing the result, the writer gives some suggestion to those who might be benefited to the result of this research, there are four as follows

1. English and literature students

The writer hopes this research can be one of the references for studying presupposition especially to give more understanding about presupposition as one of the part pragmatics studies in the linguistics field.

2. For the reader

The writer hopes that this research can be one of the reader's references when studying presupposition. It is also hope after reading this research the readers would understand if every utterance that produces by people sometimes has implicit meaning that wants to speak to the listener, so the reader can communicate well with the others.

3. The writer future

This research can be one of the references in studying presupposition and for the other writers, and the writer hopes that in the future there will be other writers who will conduct the same topic or the same theory to complete this research although indifferent object.

8		00:12:02 - 00:12:13	Flight attendant #2 : Welcome aboard, Mr. Young, Ms. Chu. Here's the way to your private suite ¹³ . And some champagne
9		00:18:12	Rachel : I can't believe this airport ¹⁴ has a butterfly garden and a movie theater. JFK is just salmonella and despair.
10		00:20:30 - 00:20:34	Rachel : Oh, my God! Nick : Yes! I told you! I told you. The best satay on the island ¹⁵ . For sure. All right.
11		00:27:12 - 00:27:16	Peik lin : New York in the house! ¹⁶ Yeah! Yeah Rachel : Aw! Peik Lin!
12		00:27:39 - 00:27:51	Neenah : Singapore is so hot. Come in and enjoy the aircon. Come, come on. Whole family waiting to meet you. Very excited. Rachel, welcome, welcome Rachel : Wow! Oh, my gosh! Your house is amazing ¹⁷ , Mrs. Goh.

13		00:28:09 - 00:28:13	Neenah : Oh, yeah. Uh... Yeah,yeah, yeah, yeah. We were inspired by the Hall of Mirrors in Versailles. ¹⁸ Peik lin ; (to Rachel; low) And Donald Trump’s bathroom, as well Rachel : Really?
14		00:32:13 - 00:32:46	Peik lin : Rachel, these people aren’t just rich, okay. They’re Crazy Rich ¹⁹ Rachel : Yeah, but Nick’s not like that.
15		00:33:08 - 00:33:10	Peik lin : Duh. This is, like, my one chance to see the Young family mansion. ²⁰ Rachel : Mm.
16		00:35:30 - 00:35:38	Peik lin : (awestruck) Damn, Rachel. He’s like the Asian ‘Bachelor. ²¹ Nick : Hello, gorgeous
17		00:41:14 - 00:41:17	Michael : Nick. Astrid : This is my husband, Michael ²²
18		00:42:36 - 00:42:41	Nick : This is Auntie Alix and Auntie Felicity. ²³ Rachel : Hi! It’s so nice to meet you. I’ve never been to a tan hua party before.

19		00:56:17 - 00:56:23	Superimpose: SAMSARA ISLAND Araminta : Welcome to paradise this is Samsara Island. ²⁴
20		01:09:54- 01:10:06	Rachel : That's a beautiful ring, ²⁵ Aunty Eleanor.I've never seen anything like it That's very romantic. How did you guys meet? Nick : Actually, they met at Cambridge. They were both studying law together.
21		00:21:29 - 00:21:37	Araminta ; Listen, Rachel, I know we've only just met, but it's my bachelorette party ²⁶ this weekend and I would love for you to come. Rachel : That would be amazing. ²⁷ Thank you so much
1	The Factive presupposition	00:39:15- 00:39:27	Rachel: Oh, my gosh! I, I'm so happy to meet you, Mrs. Young. (gives her a big hug) Or, uh, Auntie. Right? Eleanor: I'm very glad to finally meet you, too. And I'm sorry Nick's father couldn't be here. He was called to a business in Shanghai.

2		01:12:01- 01:12:05	Rachel : (surprised) Oh. Hi. I think I'm a little lost. This house is pretty big. Eleanor: I'm glad I found you. I'm afraid that I've been unfair. Rachel: Oh, no, you know what? I'm sorry I made an assumption. I didn't mean to offend you. Eleanor: Not at all. (then) You asked about my ring. The truth is Nick's father had it made when he wanted to propose to me because Ah Ma wouldn't give him the family ring. I wasn't her first choice. Honestly, I wasn't her second
3		01:14:01- 01:32:32	Nick: I know my mum can be tough at times, but there isn't anything she wouldn't do for me... (off Rachel's silence) And there is a reason why I lived with Ah Ma growing up. It's because my mother knew she wasn't the favorite. So she let her raise me so I would be. Nick: Ah Ma. Mum. What's all this about?

1	The lexical presupposition	00:20 51-00:20 53	Colin : (to Nick) Oh, before I forget, I need your help tomorrow. Uh, I need to do some groomsmen stuff and I don't wanna do it alone with Bernard Tai. Nick : I still cannot believe that you got that guy to be your groomsman Araminta : thank you. Thank you. I rest my case.
2		00:43:51- 00:43:55	Astrid : They started clearing away dinner. Your favorites Michael : Thank you
3		01:45:31 - 01:45:34	Eleanor : (realizing) so you chose for him. Rachel : i'm not leaving 'cause i'm scared or because i think i'm not enough. Because... Maybe for the first time in my life, i know i am. I just love nick so much. I don't want him to lose his mom again. So i just wanted you to know that one day, when he marries another lucky girl, who is enough for you, and you're playing with your grandkids while the tan huas are blooming, and the birds are chirping, that it was because of me... A poor, raised by a single mother, low class, immigrant nobody.
1	The Non-factive	01:50:49 -	Nick: I always imagined what I

	Presupposition.	01:50:52	proposing to you would be like. And you know what, I had it all planned out. Oh, yeah, right behind you.
1	The structural presupposition	00:09:07 - 00:09:21	Nick : hmm. We were literally just talking about that. How could you know? Eleanor : everybody knows. Nick sees celine leaving through a revolving door. Nick : Radio One Asia
2		00:39:32 - 00:39:40	Eleanor : as it should be. (to Rachel) nick tells me you're a professor, too. What did you teach? Rachel : um, i teach economics. Nick : and she's brilliant. Nyu's youngest faculty member.
3		00:46:00 - 00:46:13	Oliver : Mm, well, I'm one of the poorer relations. The rainbow sheep of the family. But I make myself useful. Whatever the Youngs want, I procure. Golden koi fish, Huanghuali furniture. A rare Cambodian gong. Rachel : why would they want to buy a rare cambodian gong? Oliver : because they can.
4		00:29:46 - 00:29:49	Neena: so, Rachel, what you did in a America? Rachel: um, i'm an economics professor Wye mun : (impressed) whoa. Very impressive. Econ professor, eh? Wow! You must be very smart. Good for you.

5		01:03:25 - 01:03:28	Rachel : i mean, i didn't have to deal with catty, fish-killing sociopaths, but how did you two get through all this? Astrid : well, i didn't have it quite this bad, but it wasn't pretty.
6		01:10:08 - 01:10:18	Rachel : That's a beautiful ring, Aunty Eleanor.I've never seen anything like it. Eleanor : (surprised; then) Nick's father had it made when he proposed to me. Rachel : that's very romantic. How did you guys meet? Nick : actually, they met at cambridge. They were both studying law together. Rachel : oh, i didn't know you were a lawyer
7		01:37:33- 01:38:17	Rachel : why didn't you tell me about my father? Kerry : My husband wasn't a good man.He hurt me.(off rachel) but an old schoolmate of mine helped me through things and we fell in love and I got pregnant with his baby, that's you. I was so afraid my husband would find out and kill us both, so I just took you and I ran to America.

1	The counterfactual presupposition	00:09:36 - 00:09:48	Eleanor: I see. Well, I'm having the house redone. And it's not ready for guests. If Rachel comes , I think she might be more comfortable staying somewhere else? Nick: All right. Sorry about that
2		00:14:42 - 00:14:44	Photographer: You know if you move, it will look more natural. Eddie : No, this way you get our optimal angles.
3		00:32:15 - 00:32:07	Rachel : Yeah, I thought red was a lucky color, right? Wye mun : Yeah, if you're an envelope. Zing! Nailed it! Rachel : No

4		00:32:28 - 00:32:28	Peik lin :Now, they're the landlords of the most expensive city in the world. Here you go. (hands Rachel the purse) These people are so posh and snobby, they're snoshy. Here you go. Peik Lin hands her a pair of platform shoes. Rachel : Yeah, but Nick's not like that. Peik lin : Even if he isn't, I guarantee you the family is. Which is why tonight, you need to not look like Sebastian of The Little Mermaid. You know, little crab guy.
5		01:09:20 - 01:09:30	Astrid : (to Felicity) Hey, I never got after-school dumplings. Oliver : Well, that's because Aunty Felicity was doing after-school microdermabrasion Felicity : (mock-scolds; in Cantonese; subtitled) Ni le wu qie, ruguo a ye zhong xi du, shi qing ni shi teng tiao wen zhurou. [Smart ass. If your grandfather was alive, he'd kick you into next week.]
6		01:17:54 - 01:17:58	Oliver : Right. I'm not sure if it's working or if she looks like a clown's tampon. Rachel : Oh!
