ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Hamdan wa syukron lillah. All praise be to Allah SWT, God the Almighty, the Owner of the Universe, who Wills Over Everything, for giving the researcher the courage and tenacity to complete this thesis, with the required to work title "Violence in the Film Deadpool," in in order to fulfill the requirements for achieving the degree of Sarjana (S1) of English Literature, Adab and Humanity Faculty, in Alauddin State Islamic University of Makassar. Researcher express her blessings and best regards to Muhammad (peace be upon him), the completed and most significant messenger sent by Allah, who led us out of the dark and evil age and into the age of light and virtue.

Even though there were so many obstacles and challenges that the researcher went through to complete this thesis, she thanks to the help and support from various parties, especially the researcher herself and others. Therefore, the researcher is pleased to express her gratitude to the following individuals for their contributions in completing this thesis:

1. The researcher would like to say big thanks for her life hero, namely to her honorable father, Sammang dan beloved mother, Diana. The researcher also thanks to her siblings such as Nur Lina, Nur Azifa, and Nur Keisya Auni who have prayed for, motivated, encouraged, and reminded the researcher to finish this thesis as soon as possible. The researcher also does not forget to thank all the big families who remind and encourage researcher to quickly carry out graduation;

2. The researcher is also very grateful herself because without patience, persistence so that she can reach this point even though the road to this point is not easy so many have faced such as laziness and even sleep is uncertain;
3. Big thanks to Prof. Drs. Hamdan Juhannis M.A, Ph.D, as the Rector of Alauddin State Islamic University of Makassar;
4. Big thanks to Dr. Hasyim Haddade, S.Ag., M.Ag, as the Dean of Adab and Humanities Faculty;
5. Big thanks to Dr. A. Ibrahim, S.Ag., S.S., M.Pd., Dr. Firdaus, M.Ag., Muh. Nur Akbar Rasyid, M.Pd., M.Ed., Ph.D., as the Vice Deans of the Adab and Humanities Faculty;
6. Big thanks to Dr. Jumharia Djamereng, M. Hum as the Head of the Department and also Syahrani Junaid, S.S., M.Pd. as the Secretary of the Department, because of their help for the researcher;
7. The researcher would like to say big thanks to the honorable supervisors, Hj. Nahdhiyah, S.S., M.Pd as the first supervisor and Sandra Dewi Dahlan, S.Pd., MA., as the second supervisor, because of them the researcher through both technical and non-technical components of writing this research, their sage advice guided the researcher. Their recommendations and helpful criticism considerably contributed in the improvement of this thesis, making it far more intriguing and engaging than the researcher had imagined;

8. The researcher would like to say big thanks to the examiners, Dr. Barsihannor, M.Ag as the first examiner and Dr. Nasrum, S.Pd., MA as the second examiner because with the suggestions and criticisms they give in each exam it can make the researcher's thesis even better;
9. Big thanks to all lecturers and staff of English and Literature Department;
10. Big thanks to the researcher's classmates for supporting and encouraging researcher from the beginning of the lecture to the end of the lecture bench. The lecture journey for researcher was really colorful because there was sadness and happiness, especially during a pandemic where we only studied online for about a year;
11. The researcher would like to say big thanks to Miftahul Saleha or Ayam Betina as her best friend and comrade who has always been there in any condition. She who always supports, encourages, provides motivation and advice all this time. Thank you for being her blood sister and always taking the time to accompany her wherever she go;
12. The researcher would like to say thanks to brother Muhammad Ibnu Rizal M as the listener who never gets tired of hearing all her complaints while working on this thesis and also provides motivation and advice not to give up;

13. Last but not least, the researcher is very grateful to friends whose names I did not mention because they have supported and prayed for the researcher to finish this thesis in a timely manner.

Title : Violence in the Film Deadpool
Supervisor I : Hj. Nahdhiyah, S.S., M.Pd

This research attempted to analyze the forms of direct violence that experienced by the main character, Wade Wilson. The theory used in this research is the Johan Galtung's concept of violence. The researcher applied a descriptive qualitative research method and used note-taking as the research instrument. The data were obtained from the script of the Deadpool film. The research found some indications both of physical and psychological violence that experienced by the main character. Wade has consistently encountered more physical violence, ranging from simple acts of violence including adrenaline acts, punching, and head pounding to extreme acts of violence that almost led to his death as a result of experiment carried out by Angle and Ajax. Wade faced psychological violence, including a decline in self-esteem, brainwashing, and despair. The findings of this research can help us predict when psychological and physical violence will occur, as well as educate both those who commit violence and those who are the victims of it. The researcher can conclude that a person experiencing physical or psychological violence does not mean that person will also do the same thing to the perpetrator. Even though they succeed, sometimes the desired results do not match the reality.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Violence is the willful application of physical force or power for the purpose of threatening or taking action against oneself, another person, a group of people, or a community, which has the potential to cause or is reasonably expected to cause physical harm, death, psychological harm, or deprivation (Bildjuschkin and Ewalds, 2020). There are kinds of violence including physical, sexual, and emotional abuse. A person or a group will act aggressively toward another person or people. When a kid, adolescent, or group physically abuses, harms, or kills another person or people, it is either direct or indirect. Pushing, shoving, shaking, punching, kicking, squeezing, burning, or any other type of physical attack on a person or on property can be considered aggressive behavior. Verbal attacks, threats, taunts, slurs, ridicule, screaming, exclusion, and malicious rumors are all examples of emotionally abusive behavior. Sexual assault or rape constitutes sexually abusive behavior (O'Moore, 2010).

According to the two experts mentioned above, violence is an activity that can physically or psychologically hurt other individuals, including a group. Violence therefore can assume both visible and invisible forms, with instances of the former including punching, slapping, and even killing. While verbal or non-physical violence, such as insults or swear words, hurts other people's feelings and impairs a person's mental health. The occurrence of acts of violence can be triggered from several factors, both personal and social factors. Personal factors include emotions, disputes, stress, depression, and the influence of drugs, while social factors such as household conflicts, external doctrines, culture, environment, and mass media.

Most likely, violence has always been a feature of human existence. Around the world, its effects can be felt in a variety of ways. Violence perpetrated by self, interpersonal, or group results in more than one million deaths and many more non-fatal injuries each year. In general, violence tops the list among the leading killers of people between the ages of 15 and 44. Communities have taken initiatives to prevent and reduce difficulties related to pregnancy, workplace injuries, infectious diseases, and diseases caused by contaminated food and water. In many parts of the world violence can be prevented and its effects can be reduced and avoided. The assertion regarding violence is an undeniable fact (Krug, 2002).

Violence can be divided into categories based on its type or how the victim and perpetrator are related. Violence and threats can have serious consequences for the individuals, communities or countries involved. The most visible effects are death and injury; every year, more than 500,000 people worldwide die from various forms of violence and many more are injured (Hess, 2019).

How challenging is to eradicate acts of violence from society, this explains why violence has become a normal part of daily life. Therefore, there are many ways to cease violent behaviors, including through fostering better interpersonal relationships, avoiding selfishness, showing respect for others, and so on. In order not to create social inequality, the community can take advantage of efforts to prevent further acts of violence.

Al-Qur'an has been explained that as humans we are forbidden to commit heinous acts such as committing acts of violence against others. Humans should take care of each other so that unwanted actions are not created, but the fact is that there have been many events that have harmed humans by committing acts of violence for their own pleasure. Acts of violence are things that have a negative impact on the development of social life. As explained in the Al-Qur'an Surah Al-A'raf verse 33, as follows:

قُلْ إِنَّمَا حَرَّمَ رَبِّيَ الْفَوَاحِشَ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا بَطَّنَ وَالْإِثْمَ وَالْبَغْيَ بِغَيْرِ
الْحَقِّ وَأَنْ تُشْرِكُوا بِاللَّهِ مَا لَمْ يُنَزَّلْ بِهِ سُلْطَانًا وَأَنْ تَقُولُوا عَلَى اللَّهِ مَا لَا
نَعْمُونَ

UNIVERSITAS ISLAM NEGERI

The meaning: Say; "My Lord only forbids abominable acts, both visible and hidden, and sinful acts, violating human rights without a just reason, (forbids) associating with Allah with something that Allah has not sent down evidence for and (forbids) fabricating against Allah what you do not know." (Q.S. Al-A'raf:33)

In this verse, Allah orders the Messenger of Allah to convey to those who are polytheists and disbelievers what Allah has forbidden. In fact, what Allah has forbidden in this verse must be completely avoided, because the danger is very large, both for those who do it and for all mankind, Allah's prohibitions are actions that cause sin, such as drinking intoxicants, gambling and so on. Acts that exceed the limits, abuse fellow human beings, and violate personal rights or shared rights (Kemenag, 2021). Humans must be kind to each other, not hurt each other because humans are God's creatures. Even if someone hurts another human being, it doesn't mean that they will also do the same.

The research that related to the violence has been done previously by some researcher, one of them (Mustavi, 2016) conducted research about Violence Suffered by Main Character in Shoko Tendo's Yakuza Moon that aims to discuss about the violence which is experienced by Shoko and to know the violence that happens to the Shoko Tendo and the women struggle that is done by Shoko Tendo to against violence. The result of this study can give the overview that violence has been common term in the case of gender inequality, it means that violence had happened prevalence in every single country in the world. Therefore if people want to stop the violence they should know the root of violence to prevent the happening of violence.

Deadpool is a film that contains violence, because this film tells the story of a former soldier who was dishonorably discharged. As time went on he developed terminal cancer which left him hopeless and his life shattered. He meets a man who is said to be able to cure his illness and will also gain powers that are not possessed by ordinary humans, but after being injected the effects of the drug are slow to react and he is also subjected to repeated torture. The man left him after destroying Deadpool's life. The main character of this film becomes a victim of violence but he also becomes a perpetrator of violence to take revenge. So from the storyline of this film, we can learn that when we accept acts of violence, we as victims have the right to defend ourselves so that acts of violence do not continue.

Deadpool was directed by Tim Miller and written by Rhett Reese and Paul Wernick. This film was released in 2016 with duration of 1 hour 48 minutes. The film was a huge financial hit, earning over $783 million globally and shattering a number of box office records. Not only that, but it also surpassed all previous X-Men films to become the ninth-highest-grossing film of 2016, the highest-grossing R-rated film ever, and the highest-grossing X-men (Palupi, 2020).

Important for everyone to know the forms of violence commonly experienced by humans, so that it can provide a general overview for people who do not know in depth the forms of violence so that they understand that by committing acts of violence, both physical and non-physical will cause a very bad impact for the victim. Therefore, the researcher was interested in analyzing the forms of violence in the film script.

B. Research Question

Based on the background of the problem above, the researcher formulates the research problem, how are the forms of direct violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool?

C. Research Objective

Based on the formulation of the problem above, this research aims to analyze the forms of direct violence which is physical violence and psychological violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool.

D. Research Significance

1. Theoretically

The researcher expect this research can contribute to the development of research substance that focuses on the field of literature, as well as additional references and sources of student reading, especially the English and Literature Department study program.

2. Practically

The researcher hopes that this research can provide insight to the readers about the forms of violence that often occurs in the surrounding environment and also depicted in the film, and also for everyone who is interested in analyzing literary works using the Johan Galtung's concept of violence.

E. Research Scope

In this research, the researcher focused on analyzing how are the forms of direct violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool. The researcher took all the data that show the focused of this research from the film script Deadpool. In this research the researcher used the direct violence theory based on the Johan Galtung's concept of violence which explains about forms of violence.

CHAPTER II

LITERATURE REVIEW

A. Previous Studies

A number of studies have been associated with using violence analysis. They mention it in their research, as follows:

Wulaningtyas, in her research entitled Violence Against the Main Character in Memoirs of A Geisha film by Rob Marshall 2018. Her research focused on analyzing violence against women which are to know kinds of violence, to know how the main character solve the violence and to know the effects of violence towards the main character in Memoirs of A Geisha. Her research used descriptive qualitative method to analyze this film. She used the theory of violence by Iris Marion Young and the feminist approach. The result of this research present that the main character experienced four types of violence which are; physical violence, sexual violence, emotional violence and psychological violence. The main character used four ways to solve the violence namely contending or fighting, yielding, with drawing or run away from the problem, and inaction (silent) and also the effect of the violence are negative effects; depression and anxiety, and the positive effects are; become a powerful and strong character in facing problems in her life and encourage someone to be innovative and creative (Wulaningtyas, 2018).

Kusmana, in her research entitled Violence on Women in Munro's Who Do You Think You Are 2020. The aims of this research are explained the violence experienced by women characters and described the impact of violence in Munro's Who Do You Think You Are. She used descriptive qualitative method to analyze Munro's short stories. Her researcher used structuralism approach and the theory of violence. After she conducted the research, she found the various forms of violence experienced by the women characters such as humiliation, murder, violence and sexual harassment and also the effect of sexual violence which are loss of self-confidence, trauma, mental retardation, lifelong disability, and death (Kusmana, 2020).

Alfianita, in her research entitled Domestic Violence on Charles Frazier's Nightwoods 2021. This research aims to found domestic violence and showed how the characters attempt to deal with the effect of domestic violence in the novel Nightwoods by Charles Frazier. She had used literary criticism to analyze the data from literary works. This research used theory of domestic violence by Zastrow. The result of this research described the portrait of domestic violence that happened against women and children. As the main character, Luce attempts to protect herself from the trauma of being raped and the children are victims and witnesses of their mother's death, who their stepfather killed, bringing their trauma. The kinds of domestic violence that found in the novel are physical and psychological violence. Moreover, there are two attempts to protect themselves: live in the safest place with the supportive person and become more defensive by using a razor while staying on high alert where the abuser is coming (Alfianita, 2021)

The similarities of this research with the three previous findings above discussed about violence, the first and the second previous findings used the same method with this research namely the descriptive qualitative method while the third used literary criticism. The difference between this research with three previous findings above are different in each focus of the researches and also the used of the theory. The first research focused on analyzing violence against women which are kinds of violence, how to solve the violence and the effects of violence and using the theory of violence by Iris Marion Young and the feminist approach. The second research focused on analyzing the violence experienced by women characters and the impact of violence and using the structuralism approach and the theory of violence. The last research focused on analyzing domestic violence and how the characters attempt to deal with the effects and using the theory of domestic violence by Zastrow, while this research focused on analyzing the forms of direct violence experienced by the main character in film script Deadpool and using Johan Galtung's concept of violence.

B. Theoretical Framework

1. Violence

An action is considered an argument or disapproval from one point of view can be considered violence or humiliation. Violence occurs when aggressive behavior succeeds and the intended victim suffers harm. When a particular perpetrator targets another person or their property with malicious intent and causes injury or trauma to another person or makes a threat to do so, the act is considered violent. Therefore, using violence is a particular strategy or method used by the perpetrator to achieve a goal that is different from the act of violence itself. The objectives may vary widely but are always linked to specific circumstances and power dynamics between perpetrators and victims of violence (Vambheim, 2016).

It's more difficult to define violence. Everyone has heard the word violence, but few have really thought about it in depth. While some forms of violence only include human action, others also involve devastating natural phenomena such as tornadoes, storms, earthquakes, and hurricanes. It is more difficult to define violence when there are emotional reactions involved because there are many behaviors that many of us do not consider violent because they may be seen as acceptable or even encouraged (Blankenship, 2021).

Violent tendencies in people can be caused by one of two things. The first basic requirement is that the person has been injured, whereas the second fundamental requirement is less clear. The individual hasn't been given the chance to express the hurt-related emotions. Violence is a twisted way for a person to express their fury or fear in a setting where it is unsafe to express or let go of intense emotions. It is also a sign of a psychological collapse (Babovic and Suboticki, 2013).

2. Johan Galtung's Concept of Violence

According to Galtung said human violence causes physical, mental, and spiritual pain. Through psychosomatic transference, the other two are typically impacted when one of them is hurt. Violence leaves behind traumatic, deep wounds that are challenging to mend. Threats of violence are equally violent since they are insults to the mind and soul and they instill dread, which leads to delusions and hopelessness. Any living thing, especially a human person, is the target of violence. This can apply to actors, individuals, or groups (group, country). Any actor may be the target of violence, whether it is intentional or direct. Or, as in unintentional, indirect, or structural violence, a framework at work producing harm and depleting basic human needs. Or, culture at work when it is used to justify structural and direct violence, the justification being either direct or indirect, or cultural violence (Galtung, 2013).

Violence is when a person intentionally caused bodily harm to another person through physical injury. This also includes cruelty to animals, mishaps, exploitation of the mind and emotions, and acts of aggression in the natural world (Good, 2003). Other opinion according to (Ogunyemi and Babatunde 2006) said that violence is universal phenomenon social scientists explore in their various works in order to portray the causes of conflict and these conflicts are amicably resolved. Violence is expressed when there is a conflict between a person and the existing which he belongs. The concept of violence is incredibly broad, containing something from physical and psychological harm, various types of crime, impolite behavior in society, to social and political discrimination.

Galtung divided all forms of violence into three categories: direct, structural, and cultural. Direct violence is an act of violence whereas structural violence is a process with ups and downs it means that a lot of omissions and escapes from attention in cultures are the foundation of structural violence. In addition to physically scarring a person, a violent environment can also mentally and spiritually affect them. The structural violence would be more egregious; it would not be done with the intention of destroying nature, but it would still do so because to the chemical industry's pollution and resource depletion, which causes things like dying trees, ozone holes, global warming, and other issues like these. Cultural violence is an invariant (permanence). Cultural violence refers to those facets of culture the symbolic realm of our existence that can be used to defend, legitimate direct or structural violence. Examples include religion and ideology, language and art, empirical science, and formal science (logic, mathematics) (Galtung, 2013).

Based on the explanation above, the researcher will use one of the forms of violence which is direct violence. So the use of physical violence is involved in the traditional kind of aggression known as direct violence. Violence committed in a direct, obvious, and intentional manner. So this direct violence can show the act of violence experienced by the main character.

According to Galtung said that since direct violence can be seen as an action, there is a clear subject-object relationship. This kind of violence occurs when an individual or group of individuals performs an act of violence directly or personally and can be identified as the perpetrator. Verbal violence is also considered a form of direct violence because it is intentional, targeted, and directed at a particular individual or group. Direct violence can be verbal or physical, such as when a wife is abused. Another kind of direct violence is rape and sexual assault (Galtung, 2013).

a. Physical Violence

According to Galtung said when people are physically harmed they suffer severe physical harm to the point of death, it's called physical violence (Galtung, 2013). When someone attempts to control another person's behavior physically, they employ a body part or an object. Physical aggression may encompass, but is not restricted to: using physical force that causes pain, suffering, or harm; hitting, pulling hair, twisting arms, strangling, burning, stabbing, pushing, slapping, beating, shoving, kicking, choking, biting, force-feeding, or any other harsh treatment; assault with a weapon or other object; threats made using a weapon or other object; intentional exposure to extreme weather or unsuitable room temperatures; homicide (Marcincin, Gifu, and Teodorescu, 2014).

Physical violence defined as the deprivation of a person or the use of physical force against a person to access water, food, clothing, rest, shelter, or exposing a person to inhuman treatment. Violence can affect social, sexual and reproductive health of individuals and families (Mekonnen et al. 2022).

Violence can take many different forms, including physical bullying and corporal punishment used by both adults and children with the aim to inflict harm. Any punishment that involves physical force but was designed to inflict some level of pain or discomfort is referred to as corporal punishment. Poor academic performance or inappropriate behaviors are often targets of corporal punishment (Ferrara et al. 2019).

b. Psychological violence

Galtung defined psychological violence as aggression that affects the soul and involves deception, brainwashing, various forms of indoctrination, and threats that serve to limit mental capacity (Galtung, 2013). When a person utilizes threats to gain control of another person, this is referred to as psychological violence. Threatening the person or their family, threatening oneself, threats of violence, threats of abandonment, criminal stalking or harassment, destruction of personal property, verbal aggression, social isolation, improperly controlling the person's activities, treating someone like a child or servant, withholding friendship or affection are all examples of psychological violence. Unreasonable pressure, such as signing legal documents without seeking legal counsel or advice, making or altering wills or heirs, making or changing health care directives, and doing things the individual would not want to do (Marcincin, Gifu, and Teodorescu, 2014).

Psychological violence includes verbal and emotional abuse: isolating, rejecting, ignoring, insults, spreading rumours, making up lies, name calling, ridicule, humiliation and threats, and psychological punishment. Psychological punishments are not physical but humiliate, denigrate, scapegoat, threaten, scare or ridicule a child or adolescent. Sexual violence includes intimidation of a sexual nature, sexual harassment, unwanted touching, sexual coercion and rape, and it affects both girls and boys (Ferrara et al. 2019).

3. Film

Film is an audio-visual communication medium that aims to convey a message to the public, because of its audio-visual nature can tell a lot of stories in a fairly short time. When watching a film, the audience is like being able to penetrate space and time which can tell life stories and can even influence audiences. There are those who think that the film is a mere entertainment show, there are also those who think that the film is a medium that can provide learning for the audience. For filmmakers, they make films based on personal experiences or real events that are brought to the big screen because basically film always records the reality that grows in society (Asri, 2020).

(Afdlila, 2015), in her research describe that film is one of the media used to build attitudes, emotions, and methods of problem solving. Film is created under different social, historical and cultural backgrounds and a media with social influence. Moreover, (Nafisah, 2019) in her research said that contextually film is not only telling stories, but also show ideas from many aspects. The visual images presented in film are not always the same as themselves. They may have different meanings and understandings. In addition, whether we like it or not, film has shaped the ideas and values held by many people today.

A written piece created specifically for a film or television program is known as a film script. Film script may be original works or revisions of already published materials. Trotter also narrates the actors' movements, expressions, and dialogue in the scene. In addition to the actors' spoken speech, film script typically include a shot-by-shot breakdown of the action (Susanti, 2020)

A script is a piece of writing created by a scriptwriter for a film, video game, or television show. These scripts may be unique creations or adaptations of already published works. They also describe the characters' movements, actions, attitudes, and dialogue. A teleplay is another name for a play created on television piece of literature with structural affinities to theater. The script also features a background, plot, characterization, and themes, indicating that it is a film script (Nurjanah, 2018)

Based on the explanation above the researcher can conclude that film is tell stories with movement images, not only telling story to viewer but film also can be used to build any aspect such as emotion, attitudes, morals, and many others.

4. The Synopsis of Deadpool Film

Superhero characters are generally synonymous with dashing, cool, brave, and willing to sacrifice for the truth or save the lives of others. However, the character of the Deadpool figure who admits that he is indeed a super, but is not a hero. This film tells the story of a man named Wade Wilson, a former member of the special army who was dishonorably discharged. Now he prefers to work as a mercenary or rather a mercenary bouncer. He is in a relationship with a woman named Vanessa and lives a life that he thinks is quite happy. Until one day, Wade Wilson was diagnosed with terminal cancer and made him quite desperate. Until he decides to take part in a scientific experiment that promises him to have superhero powers and can cure his illness (Novitasari, 2020).

But the experiment had left him suffering and excruciating pain. Wilson's face was even damaged by the experiment until he devised a revenge plan for the torture he felt. Wade Wilson was starting to feel short of breath. Apparently, his body had reacted and activated the ability to fight cancer cells. Wade Wilson also survived and recovered from cancer, but he suffered severe disfigurement and burns all over his body. He escapes from his room and attacks Ajax, but Ajax convinces him that he can heal his handicap. When the experiment site catches fire, Wilson, who is trying to escape, turns out to be a superhero with extraordinary powers. Now, with that power, Wilson seeks to pursue someone who once destroyed his life in order to take revenge and find a way to restore himself to the way he was (Sulistiyani, 2020).

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Research Method

This research used descriptive qualitative method. Descriptive research is a method that aims to accurately describe a phenomenon based on research characteristics with data analyzed through interpretation rather than statistical analysis. According Denzin & Lincoln define that Qualitative research is a research method that focuses on interpretive and naturalistic approaches to learning, so qualitative research studies things in ways such as representations, field notes, interviews, conversations, photographs, recordings, and notes to themselves. This means that Qualitative researcher studies things within their natural authority by trying to understand or interpret phenomena in terms of the meanings that people bring to them (Creswell, 2013).

Descriptive qualitative method aims to obtain in-depth data and careful reading of a text and data that contains meaning. Therefore, qualitative studies do not emphasize generalizations, but concentrate more on meaning to reveal various in depth information. Researcher used this method to understand carefully and accurately the characteristics of individuals or groups in the film script.

B. Source of Data

The research has taken data source from the film script Deadpool 2015 written by Rhett Reese and Paul Wernick. Deadpool film was released in 2016 directed by Tim Miller, this film has duration of 1 hour 48 minutes. So the data from this research taken from the text and conversations carried out by the main character in the film script of Deadpool that related to the topic.

C. Research Instrument

The instrument of data used by the researcher is note taking. Note taking is taking information by writing down the core of the information with the freedom to write it so that it is easy for the author to remember and understand. The researcher used note taking to make it easier for her to focus on important points that showed excerpts the part of script that contain direct violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool.

D. Data Analysis

1. Procedures of Data Collection

In collecting data, researcher has several data collection procedures as follows:

- a. The researcher watched the film to make her understand clearly;
- b. The researcher read the script of Deadpool film from beginning until the end to find out which part of script that describe the direct violence experienced by the main character;
- c. The researcher done note taking to collect all the data related to the direct violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool;

- d. The researcher collected all the data results that show the direct violence experienced by the main character in the script film Deadpool.

2. Technique of Data Analysis

In analyzing the film, the researcher applied the Johan Galtung's concept of violence. The researcher gathered all the sources related to the topic of this research. Then the researcher identified the physical violence and psychological violence based on the theory Galtung's about direct violence. And finally, the researcher has drawn the conclusion by considering the result of the data analysis.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

This chapter presents the research problem of analyzing the form of direct violence experienced by the main character in the Deadpool film script directed by Tim Miller. The direct violence that occurs in the film is divided into two, namely physical violence and psychological violence, where the main character named Wade Wilson got various forms of physical violence from organization that recruit people who suffer from diseases that were difficult to cure to be used as experimental material that promised healing as well as gain power that was not possessed by ordinary human. Besides getting physical violence, the main character also experienced psychological violence where his confidence slowly decreases because he has an ugly face so that people saw him differently from others. Both types of violence were directly analyzed with the perception theory of Johan Galtung's concept of violence. The findings and discussions are in the following explanation.

A. Findings

This section consists of findings to answer research problems that show direct violence experienced by the main character in the Deadpool script film. Based on the theory from Galtung explained that direct violence can be seen from, the actions of the perpetrator against the victim. Direct violence can be verbal or physical. Based on the data that the researcher found there are two forms of direct violence physical and psychological violence.

1. Physical Violence

Physical violence is a type of violence that is visible. It means, anyone can see it because there is physical touch between perpetrators and victims such as slap, stomp, tackle, spit, throwing with stuff, etc. Based on the findings found by researcher there are twelve data related to physical violence which can be cited in the quotation below.

Extract 1

(Wade is wheeled into the tent that's his new home. The figure who was pushing Wade dumps him onto a chrome operating table and roughly straps him down).

The text above shows the physical violence experienced by Wade Wilson as the main character. It can be seen when he is taken and would be transferred to the operating table but he is transferred by having his body violently removed and then tied up. It can be proven from "roughly straps him down" as we know that a patient is usually treated well but it is different for Wade, because he is not only a patient but he is also an experimental material.

Extract 2

(Then she roughly straps Wade's neck to the table. Wade nearly gaps, the color now officially drained from his face).

The text above shows physical violence against Wade by someone named Angel Dust who is one of the staff who handles patients. This can be proven from "she roughly straps Wade's neck to the table" Angel Dust ties Wade's neck to the operating table so that it makes Wade breathless with a pale face, this is said to be physical violence because Wade did not riot but his neck was tied and his condition was already weakened.

Extract 3

(Angel Dust places a finger on Wade's forehead and shoves his head back against the table - bang - pinning it there).

Ajax (O.S.) : "Patience, Angel. All in good time".

The text above shows the mild physical violence that Wade experienced. It can be proven from “Angel Dust places a finger on Wade’s forehead and shoves his head back against the table” she lifted Wade's head and then smashed her head against Wade's head, so from this action it can be seen that the physical violence that Wade experienced had a negative impact on him. Angle's acts of violence against patients are very unnatural because as we all know, as patients we should be treated properly.

Extract 4

(Ajax touches Wade with the I.V. needle, pressing here and there, not quite hard enough to break skin. At last, he locates the subclavian vein. Wade flinches).

Ajax (Cont'd): “We’re injecting you with a serum that activates mutant genes. For it to work, we need to subject you to extreme stress”.

The conversation above shows the physical violence committed by someone named Ajax, he is the one who managed the organization. It can be proven from the quotation “we need to subject you to extreme stress” when Ajax injected Wade with a liquid that would activate the mutant gene and he also said that to activate it he would pressure Wade to make Ajax succeed with his experiment. Ajax will pressure Wade in any way to torture him so he can stress Wade so that the mutant gene can mutate.

Extract 5

Ajax (Cont'd): “You’ve heard the whole make-an-omelette, break-some-eggs bit? (Wade blinks) I’m about to hurt you, Wade. The kind of hurt I can’t describe and you can’t prepare for. It’s cruel stuff. And there’s no way out for you. No secret you can tell me. No soft spot in me to appeal to”.
(Wade stares at them in shock).

The conversation above shows the physical violence that Wade Wilson will experience after being injected with a liquid containing the mutant gene. It can be seen from Ajax's statement that he would torture Wade so cruelly that the torture that Wade would receive was unimaginable, so these words surprised Wade by what Ajax said. Because Wade knew he was a patient but did not think that he would be used as an experimental material in the organization and would get physical violence.

Extract 6

(We re-take Wade's P.O.V. as Angel Dust, chewing her matchstick, re-enters frame above him, smiles, then punches him in the face. Black).

The text above shows physical violence before the cruel torture of Wade. It can be proven from quotation "then punches him in the face". Wade is lying in a weakened condition after getting an injection from Ajax. Then Angle looks at Wade closely and then he punches him in the face which causes Wade to lose consciousness. This can be said that Wade did not get treatment like a patient but violence that he did not imagine before.

Extract 7

Torture:

Ajax (V.O.): "Adrenaline acts as a catalyst for the serum, so we must subject you to extreme stress".

Ajax (V.O.): “If you’re lucky, the mutant genes will activate and manifest in spectacular fashion”.

Ajax (V.O.): “If not, we’ll have no choice but to keep hurting you in new and different ways. Each more painful than the last”.

The conversation above shows the physical violence that Wade would continue to experience until he mutates. It can be proven from quotation “adrenaline acts as a catalyst for the serum, so we must subject you to extreme stress”. Ajax explained that he would do adrenaline to trigger the gene so that it must make Wade felt quite depressed and also Ajax would continue to torture him in a different and more painful way than before. Even though Wade's condition is weakened but if the mutant doesn't mutate it means Ajax won't stop to continue torturing him in any way.

Extract 8

Ajax: “Until you finally mutate. Or die”.

The conversation above explains the physical violence would continue until Wade dead. It can be proven when Ajax said that “until you mutate or you will die”. Wade's position will not be comfortable while he is there, but he always got endless torture until the mutant gene fluid he injected manages to mutate in his body or he will even die if he does not make it through. From Ajax's words it can be concluded that he was very optimistic about the experiments he carried out on Wade.

Extract 9

(Two orderlies and Angel Dust finish strapping Wade down and attaching electrodes to his head and chest. Wade is bound to a hospital bed that's encased in a large capsule of plexiglas. The top half of the capsule is hinged to one side, open, allowing Angel Dust access to Wade. Ajax sits eating a meal from some yupperware in a nearby chair).

Ajax: "Seems your genes are as stubborn as you. But we can still increase your suffering. We don't even have a name for this next toy".

The text above shows the physical violence that Wade experienced was cruel than before. This can be proven from quotation "but we can still increase your suffering", Wade was tied up in a large capsule-shaped tube, then his head and chest were attached with electrodes in a helpless condition and Ajax also said that he did not know what the torture he would give Wade would be called. The violence Wade would receive from them was already so cruel that it could cost his life.

Extract 10

Ajax (Cont'd): "We reduce the oxygen in the air to the exact point you feel like you're suffocating".

Ajax (Cont'd): "If you start to pass out, and your brain waves slow, we turn up the O2. If you catch your breath, and your heart rate slows, we turn it back down. And we leave you. Right. There".

The conversation above shows the physical violence that Wade experienced. This can be proven from quotation "we reduce the oxygen in the air to the exact point you feel like you're suffocating" because inside the capsule-shaped tube the oxygen level reduced so that Wade experienced difficulty breathing, his brain waves was slow down and his heart was also slow down. This torture can be said to kill someone slowly because in the room the tube is already narrow and then the oxygen is reduced

(Ajax swings the capsule closed and locks it. The sound leaks away until all that's left is a hissing sound as Ajax hits buttons to lower O2 levels. Wade's voice drops out as his breathing suddenly grows short and shallow. The oxygen dials fall. His heart-rate soars. Wade fights off panic. His breaths become desperate gasps. There's not enough air to talk, or even scream).

The text above shows how physical violence can kill Wade. This can be proven from quotation "Ajax hits buttons to lower O2 levels" Ajax lowers oxygen levels to level two, causing Wade to find it difficult to breathe until he is out of breath. Wade's heart rate also peaked which made it difficult for him to speak and even scream. it can be said that in this torture Wade could be killed because there was almost no air he could breathe to breathe normally (An extreme close-up of Wade's hand, nails clenched into the surface of whatever he's lying on. Is his skin... actually bubbling?).

The text above shows the consequences of the physical violence that Wade experienced during the experiment being confined in a capsule-shaped tube. This can be seen from quotation "actually bubbling" because the experiment resulted in Wade getting wounds all over his body like burns and these wounds made Wade like a monster. Thus making Wade decided to take revenge against Ajax for turning Wade into a monster.

2. Psychological Violence

According to Lailatussyifa said that psychological violence manifests itself in numerous ways, including attacks on self-esteem, motivation destruction, humiliation, humiliating acts, attempts to intimidate, and terror. For example, foul words, threats, stalking, grooming, and numerous forms of physical/sexual violence that have psychological consequences, such as stripping and alternatives (Lailatussyifa, 2021). Based on the findings found by researcher there are five data related to psychological violence which can be cited in the quotation below.

Extract 13

Recruiter: “The world needs extraordinary men. We won’t just make you better. We’ll make you better than better. A super-hero”.

The conversation above shows the brainwashing that Wade went through at Sister's Margaret's. This can be seen when Wade met a man who works in an organization that aims to recruit people who have a disease that is difficult to cure. The quotation “A super-hero” said to be brainwashing because the recruiter promised healing and gaining powers that ordinary humans do not have, but the recruiter did not explain that Wade would be used as an experimental material and would be tortured.

Extract 14

(A sickly-looking Wade is on the final stop in his futile quest to find a cure. Desperate. Among the most desperate. He sits in a pathetic muzak-filled waiting room).

The text above explains that Wade unconsciously experienced psychological violence. This can be proven from quotation “a pathetic muzak-filled” when he was waiting in the waiting room at the clinic with a sad, hopeless face and feeling devastated because he has not found a drug that can cure his illness. Thus making Wade decided to accept the offer from the recruiter in the hope that he can recover from the illness he has suffered.

Extract 15

(Still on Wade’s P.O.V. Wade stops, too, suddenly paralyzed, as the moment to face Vanessa arrives. As he hesitates, torn with anguish, the whispers seem to grow, rising in volume until they become deafening:)

Whisper 2 (O.S.): “Oh, my, god, that is so fucking gnarly”.

Whisper 3 (O.S.): “I just lost my appetite”.

The text above shows the psychological violence that Wade gets from the people who see him. This can be seen from quotation “Oh, my, god, that is so fucking gnarly” “I just lost my appetite” when Wade was first going to meet his girlfriend Vanessa but his steps suddenly stopped due to the voices he heard from people around the street, where they saw Wade's figure with a surprised and disgusted face because Wade's face had changed since the experiment

Extract 16

Wade: “No... no way! I’m not making her life as ugly as mine”!

Weasel: “I can’t envision a scenario where Vanessa won’t take you ba- (Wade steps into light, takes off his hoodie) -aaaaaccckkk!! Holy shit. You... are... terrifying. You look like an avocado had sex with an older avocado”.

The conversation above, it is clear that Wade also got psychological violence from his own friend. This can be proven from quotation “You... are... terrifying” when he met his friend named Weasel. Weasel was surprised to see Wade's face and he also said that Wade's face was very scary. Not only gave Wade any confidence in the state of his face but also said a bad word, so Wade is increasingly insecure about his situation

Extract 17

01:12:20

(Hypnotized, Deadpool puts one foot in front of the other, approaching the waitress. Suddenly, the waitress turns to reveal her face: Vanessa. Deadpool immediately chickens out, puts his head down, turns away from her into the press of men around one of the stages).

The text above explains that Wade doesn't have the confidence to meet his girlfriend Vanessa for the second time. It can be seen from quotation "puts his head down, turns away from her" when Wade will meet Vanessa at work because she is in a dangerous situation where Ajax and Angle are looking for her. Wade was very close to Vanessa but then he looked down and turned around and left Vanessa just like that because he wasn't confident about meeting Vanessa with his changed condition.

B. Discussions

In this part, the researcher explained the data that has been analyzed which has been obtained from the findings above regarding direct violence, namely physical violence and psychological violence experienced by the main character in the film script Deadpool.

1. Physical Violence Experienced by the Main Character in Film Script Deadpool

Violence can be experienced by someone at any time. It could be physical or non-physical violence, so that it can have a bad impact on the victim. As clearly illustrated in the film Deadpool where the main character (Wade Wilson) experienced two types of violence, namely physical violence and psychological violence. The physical violence that Wade experienced varied greatly, the violence started when he was offered to be a patient in an organization. That works to recruit people who have diseases that were difficult to cure by promising healing and having super hero-like powers that ordinary humans do not have. Initially Wade ignored the offer, but he was desperate because he could not find a cure for his illness and did not want his girlfriend Vanessa to worry.

Finally Wade accepted the offer. After becoming one of the patients, he was subjected various physical violence by Ajax and Angle Dust after accepting the offer in the end Wade did not get the treatment he wanted but made him an experimental material by injecting a mutant gene into his body so that the gene could destroy cancer cells. If the mutant gene is successfully mutated then it is said to be a successful experiment otherwise if the mutant gene is not successful then it can kill it. Finally the mutant gene that had been injected into Wade's body succeeded, but Wade's life changed after the experiment he went through because the result of the experiment made Wade's face get scars like burns.

Based on the findings that the researcher found there were twelve data indicating physical violence experienced by the main character in the Deadpool film. From the twelve data the researcher can interpret that Wade experienced violent physical violence as depicted in extracts 1 and 2. The two data have similarities where Wade experienced violence perpetrated by Angle by tying Wade's body roughly on the operating table.

The data showed physical violence because the actions done by Angle harmed the victim. So the case that was illustrated in extract 3 where Angle banged Wade's head because Wade made fun of Angle so that she got angry and physical violence Wade. Extract 4 that showed physical violence by injecting a mutant gene into Wade's body and Ajax said that in order for the gene to mutate he would make Wade very stressed so that the mutant gene works. Extract 5 showed the physical violence carried out by Ajax by saying he would hurt Wade in any way he could not imagine before.

The violence depicted in extract 6 Angle was punching Wade in the head causing Wade to lose consciousness. Extracts 7 and 8 showed an increasingly torturous level of physical violence. This was done so that Wade could mutate so that Ajax would continue to torture Wade in a new and different way than before and said he would torture him until Wade mutated and even died. One of Angle's and Ajax's efforts in torturing Wade was by putting Wade into a capsule-shaped tube and then tying him and attaching electrodes to his chest and head so that it would give very fatal torture.

The physical violence experienced by Wade always increases from time to time as explained in extracts 10 and 11 where Wade has difficulty breathing in a tube which makes his brain and heart slow down. It did not stop there even though they knew that Wade was getting weaker, they then reduced the oxygen levels in the tube so that Wade could not speak and even scream because the tube had almost no oxygen. Thus the effect of the tube experiment made severe wounds all over Wade's body, these wounds resembled burns, as explained in extract 12 where Wade was very devastated by the experiment.

Based on twelve data showing the physical violence experienced by Wade, the researcher can conclude that the level of violence Wade experienced has always increased, starting from minor violence such as binding, punching, banging his head to the violence that almost caused him to lose his life as a result of experiments conducted by Angle and Ajax. Considering the violence experienced and perpetrated by the main character in the film, the researcher can conclude that violence will continue if the perpetrator and the victim are not aware of what they have done. So to prevent the violence from continuing, it would be nice for people to be aware of the actions that will be carried out and think about the impacts that will occur.

2. Psychological Violence Experienced by the Main Character in Film Script Deadpool

Psychological violence sometimes occurs without the perpetrator or victim being aware of it because the violence affects a person's mentality, while psychological violence that is usually experienced by a person is an act of control, manipulation, exploitation, abuse, humiliation and humiliation in the form of prohibition, coercion and social isolation. As clearly illustrated in the film Deadpool where the main character (Wade Wilson) experienced psychological violence. The psychological violence experienced by Wade greatly affected his mentality when he known that he was suffering from cancer. Even though Wade sought treatment with his girlfriend Vanessa, they did not get the medicine, causing Wade to suffer mentally.

Based on the findings that the researcher found there were five data indicating psychological violence experienced by the main character in the Deadpool film. From the five data the researcher can interpret that Wade experienced psychological violence as depicted in extract 13 showed the brainwashing of Wade, he is influenced so that he can become an experimental material by promising a cure for his illness and powers that ordinary humans do not have. Extract 14 showed how sad and desperate

Wade was when he came to the clinic to check on his illness but could not find a cure for the disease. Due to this, Wade decided to accept the recruiter's offer. After being successfully indoctrinated by the recruiter, Wade then went through various experimental processes from the organization that made Wade's face ugly.

The result made those who saw him feel disgusted and afraid of his face. So that Wade felt embarrassed and his confidence decreased. As illustrated in extracts 15 and 16 where the people around him and his own friends say words that make Wade lose his confidence. Likewise, what was explained in extract 17 where when Wade wanted to meet his girlfriend Vanessa at work, Wade instead lowered his head and turned away from Vanessa because he was afraid that Vanessa would not be able to accept Wade's situation.

Based on the five data which showed the psychological violence experienced by Wade the researcher can conclude that there were several types of psychological violence that he experienced namely decreased self-confidence, experienced brainwashing, and despair. All of these things took a toll on Wade's mental health as he was used as the subject of experiments.

This study has similarities and differences with previous research from Wulaningtyas (2018), Kusmana (2020) and Alfianita (2021). The results of this research have similarities with the three previous studies because this research and the three previous studies seek to find out the forms of violence contained in a literary work. The results of the previous study from Alfianita (2021) entitled Domestic Violence on Charles Frazier's Nightwoods had the similarity from this research where the result of the study showed that the kinds of domestic violence that found in the novel are physical and psychological violence. Moreover, there are two attempts to protect themselves; live in the safest place with the supportive person and become more defensive by using a razor while staying on high alert where the abuser is coming.

There is a difference in the results of this research from the two previous studies from Wulaningtyas (2018) entitled Violence Against the Main Character in Memoirs of A Geisha Film by Rob Marshall and Kusmana (2020) entitled Violence on Women in Munro's Who Do You Think You Are. The difference between these studies and this research is the results found by researchers where their research results found many forms of violence including sexual violence, emotional violence, physical violence and psychological violence. The research results from these two studies are different from this research because only focus on the direct violence experienced by the main character in the film Deadpool and also the film Deadpool which is used as the research object only has physical violence and psychological violence. The results of this study are different from the results of the two previous studies because the researchers used different theories to find out the forms of violence.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

This chapter is divided into two parts that give conclusions and suggestions. The first point is a conclusion that may be drawn from study findings and discussion, and the second point is a set of suggestions that are supposed to offer the future researchers and the readers with information regarding physical violence and psychological violence.

A. Conclusion

Based on the results and discussions chapter the researcher can conclude that there are two act of violence that the main character experience in the film Deadpool namely physical violence and psychological violence. If someone experiences an act of violence they have the right to defend themselves it depends on each person personally when he cannot fight back he will continue to experience acts of violence and vice versa. Physical Violence experienced by Wade in this film was very bad and always increased, starting from minor violence such as binding, punching, banging his head to the violence that almost caused him to lose his life as a result of experiments conducted by Angle and Ajax as a result of the violence he got Wade wanted to take revenge on Ajax for changing his life for the worse so he lost his confidence.

Not only Physical Violence that sometimes experienced by someone but also psychological violence can occur without the perpetrator or victim being aware of it because the violence affects a person's mentality, while psychological violence that is usually experienced by a person is an act of control, manipulation, exploitation, abuse, humiliation and humiliation in the form of prohibition, coercion and social isolation. Psychological violence experienced by the main character in the Deadpool film made Wade hopeless and there were several types of psychological violence that he experienced namely decreased self-confidence, experienced brainwashing, and despair. All of these things took a toll on Wade's mental health as he was used as the subject of experiments.

The villain commits violence against the main character because they are conducting an experiment by injecting a mutant gene then for the mutant gene to mutate must be violent but if the gene is not mutated it can be fatal. The main character also commits violence and even kills to take revenge and also seeks medicine for his damaged body. However after taking revenge and even killing he did not get what he wanted. Researcher can conclude that even though we have committed violence against people who have tortured us, it is not certain that what we want can come true but can make us become criminals like them.

B. Suggestion

After getting the results of the analysis, the researcher wants to provide suggestion as material for consideration that is important for the next researchers. The researcher hopes that further research on direct violence, namely physical violence and psychological violence, will be explained in more detail about the forms of violence so that people can be careful in the actions they take and also understand physical violence and psychological violence and subsequent researchers can use this research as reference as well for the next researchers to use a different theory to research. Further suggestion for readers to read carefully and understand the concept of physical violence and psychological violence therefore, they can avoid treatment to hurt each other consciously or unconsciously.
