ABSTRACT

This thesis is a study of Buginese culture that is focused on theological values in Daud Ismail's al-Munir. Daud Ismail is one of the most charismatic ulema of Soppeng. He was also recognized as one of senior students of AG. Muhammad As'ad (founder of As'adiyah Islamic boarding school). Library research method and historical, linguistic, and theological approaches are used to discuss the problems in this thesis.

Tafsir al-Munir is one of the Qur'anic interpretation book that has some uniqueness. One of them is the use of Buginese language in writing. This indicates assumptions that there are combining between global teachings of the Qur'an values with local-values of Buginese culture. The use of language must be oriented to its function as a determinant of meanings that can or can not be used in certain situations and conditions by the user community of the language.

Theological values of Buginese culture in al Munir are known revolving around the existence of God, the use of pronouns for God and beliefs that exist in the environment of the Buginese. The practices performed in Buginese beliefs before entry of Islam as the official religion that are still performed by most people until now is one of the reasons of Daud Ismail considered that The Bugis should be given an understanding in the form of interpretation of verses of the Qur'an to be more easily accepted. Therefore, the integration between beliefs in the form of local culture of Bugis society with the meaning contained in the Qur'an is very important to do.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

In muslims' life, the Qur'an and its interpretations are placed as the most important things. The importance of the Qur'an is related to its existence and function as the main source of Islamic teachings and the most authoritative guide book.¹ The importance of the interpretation of the Qur'an is related to its purpose and benefits as a guide book of God and as a way that can deliver the Muslims towards the true happiness of life.² The Qur'an is understood as a manifestation of the word of God while Interpretation is the work of man (commentator) which can not be separated from role of reason and individual ability of commentators.³ If everything produced or done by people is referred to as culture⁴, so the interpretation of the Qur'an as a work produced by human reason and individual ability is basically a cultural phenomenon.⁵

The understanding about interpretation of the Qur'an as a cultural phenomenon is based on the concept of culture as a creation of sense and human initiative that comes in three forms. First, a collection of ideas, the concept of values of the norms and rules. Second, a collection of activity patterned of human in society. Third, objects of human handiwork.⁶ The first form is called "culture of thinking", second form is called "social system", and the third form is called "physical culture".⁷ Based on classification of the culture form, interpretation of the Qur'an that is created from the idea of a person (commentator) can be categorized into the first form of culture concept, namely "cultural thinking". When ideas are expressed to the form of writing that is collected to the form of book, so the location of the culture is contained in interpretation book. Based on this understanding, the results of the interpretation of the Qur'an that have been documented in form of commentaries is basically a source of data that can be analyzed in a cultural perspective. Finally, as a consequence of the existence of interpretation of the Qur'an as a cultural phenomenon is the emergence of diversity in interpretation of the Qur'an, both in form and style

One of the important factors in the process of interpretation of the Qur'an is commentators' cultural social background.⁸ This is understandable, because interpretation of the Qur'an is the result of the idea of a commentator when explaining the messages of God according to human needs in social and cultural environment. One of the important elements in the culture of society is language. Language and culture of society are inseparable things. Because language can explain the meaning desired by someone. Talking about language, it might not be separated from the culture of the people who use that language. This is applied to interpretation of the Qur'an `made by commentators who come from a particular part of cultural environment. Desired meaning of commentators will be seen from the language that is adapted to the culture around him. Cultural and linguistic factors also make a differences in interpretation of the Qur'an development in a region.⁹

One of the language system that can not be separated from its cultural and social reality is the language of Bugis¹⁰ ethnic. Buginese language is recognized as one of the regional languages which has specialized letters familiarly called “lontara’”, some are calling the letters with “urupuq massulapaq eppaq” created based on form of wala suji or *lawa suji*¹¹. Buginese language, like other languages in Indonesia has different levels of speech that used in different situations. However, speech levels of the Bugis are much simpler than those in Javanese and Sundanese. They are sometimes derived from metaphors/idioms, etc but here become conventionalized in bugis speakers’ mind as everyday terms appropriate for particular speech levels. As observed, three speech levels are recognised, namely ugi alusu’(smooth Bugis), ugi biasa (normal Bugis) and ugi matojo (hard Bugis) : some examples are as follows :

Ugi alusu ’	Ugi biasa	Ugi matojo	Meaning
Maqbura bura	Manre	Ma’buseq	To eat
Massimang	Lokka/jokka	Maddéq/meddé	To go

Maqbatattau	Botting	Mallaibiné	To get married
Mappoji	Macinna	Mangureq	To like

Mamasé-masé	Kasiasi	-	To be poor
-	Makessing manre	Balala	Greedy

Some words are considered to be smoother and suitable for particular situation, for example by junior to senior, there are also some normal Bugis word used between the same levels of speakers such as close relations or friends. In addition, some words in Bugis ethnic are less polite but are usually used by seniors to juniors such as by parent to children. Some words used as alusu or matojo are idiomatic. Their literal meanings are somewhat different from the extended senses shown in the table above.¹²

Based on the examples above, it can be understood that Buginese language have values which sometimes can be found in other languages. Therefore Buginese language can also be a medium to understand the culture of Bugis society.

One of books of interpretation of the Qur'an which was born from dialectic process as disclosed above is Daud Ismail's al-Munīr that was written with Buginese language in urupuq lontaraq. This indicates a dialectic between two different cultural values systems as reflected in the symbols of the language, namely language of the Qur'an (Arabic) and Buginese language. Buginese language has a symbolic meaning of Buginese culture. So do the existence of the Qur'an as a linguistic book, it also has its own cultural background.¹³

One of the most important cultural values in Bugis society is theological one. Buginese are recognized as social community that have some interesting believing in their daily life. God as the Creator is understood in different views, so than the understanding are applied in many ways in form of ritual. In fact, not all of the ritual on the right way but it is still done because they are thinking that it is a part of religion ways at once as cultural activities. So the cultural approach and understanding that the Qur'an as the guide book for muslim are needed to overcome the problem of theology in Bugis society. Al Munir as Qur'an interpretation book is considered containing both of them (cultural approach and Qur'anic understanding). Therefore, the tussle between content of the Qur'an and Buginese cultural values reflected in the interpretation of the Qur'an with Buginese language as delivering media is an interesting phenomenon to be studied.

B. Problem Statements

Based on the above described, this study focuses on al-Munir Qur'an interpretation book as a cultural phenomenon. The subject chosen in this study is ¹³Nasr Hamid Abu Zaid, Ma'fhum al-Nash Dirasah fi 'Ulum al-Qur'an, trans. Khairon Nahdliyyin, Tekstualitas al-Qur'an: Kritik terhadap Ulumul Qur'an (Yogyakarta: LkiS, 2002) p. 19-24.

Buginese Cultural Values in al-Munīr. To be more focused, the subject matter will be divided into 3 main sub-problems as follows:

1. How are the characters of al-Munīr and its author?
2. How are the characters of Buginese culture?
3. How are theological values of Buginese in al-Munīr?

C. Definition of Key Terms and The Focus of Research

The title of this thesis is "Buginese Cultural Values in Daud Ismail's al-Munīr (an Analysis of Theological Values on Part 30)" In order to make the title clear, the writer presents the definition of terms as follows:

1. Culture: improvement by (mental or physical) training, intellectual development; particular form, stage, or type of intellectual development or civilization.¹⁴
2. Value: worth, desirability, utility, qualities on which these depend, equivalent of a thing, what represents or represented by or may be substituted for a thing.¹⁵
3. Al-Munīr is the Qur'an interpretation book written by Anregurutta H. Daud Ismail.
4. Cultural values meant in this study is specially focusing on theological values of Buginese.
5. Buginese Cultural Values : Ideology or principle of teachings that have been living in the mind of Buginese and believed can make change of life-balance

D. Library Research

By searching available references, there are some references which were found related to this topic, some of them are :

Islah Gusmian. In his published Thesis Khazanah Tafsir Indonesia: Dari Hermeneutika Hingga Ideologi analyzed interpretations of the Qur'an in Indonesia which was written between 1990 and 2000.¹⁶ He strongly considered the social and historical aspects in his study.¹⁷ Methodologically, this book has opened the way to develop the Qur'an interpretation methods critically. But, the hermeneutical methods and discourse analysis used in the content of this book do not give an explanation about the interpretation of the Qur'an as a cultural phenomenon.

Howard M. Federspiel in his book "Popular Indonesian Literature of the Qur'an"¹⁸ analyzed commentaries in Indonesia based on the content and form. The book was talking about Qur'an published between the 1950s until the late 1980s, he concluded:

1. Sunni's traditions are important for writers in Indonesia
2. Form of the Qur'an interpretation book in Indonesia was basically derived from the work of Egyptian Muslim writer 100 years ago
3. Influence of Indonesian government was an important consideration in development of activities and thinking of the of Muslims since 1945 AD.

¹⁶Islah Gusmian. Khazanah Tafsir Indonesia: dari Hermeneutika hingga Ideologi (Jakarta: Teraju, 2002) p. 35.

¹⁷Islah Gusmian. Khazanah Tafsir Indonesia: dari Hermeneutika hingga Ideologi, with the prologue by Amin Abdullah, "Arah Baru Metode Penelitian Tafsir di Indonesia", p. 21.

¹⁸It has been translated to Indonesian language "Kajian al-Qur'an di Indonesia: dari Mahmud Yunus hingga Quraish Shihab", trans. Tadjul Arifin (Bandung: Mizan, 1996).

Like`Islah Gusmian. Federspiel did not analyze yet a cultural phenomenon in interpretation of the Qur'an.

Sulaiman Ibrahim in his study with the title “Tafsir al-Qur’an Bahasa Bugis (Melacak Metodologi dan Pemikiran Tafsir al-Munīr Karya Anre Gurutta K.H. Daud Ismail)” studied about the methodology that was used by al-Munīr’s author. The study in the text include: ittijāh (interpretation approach), tharīqah (interpretation technique), manhaj (interpretation methods), and laūn (interpretation colour). By looking at the sub discussion, it is understandable that the focus of the study are type and the methods of interpretation of al-Munīr.

M. Rafi'i Yunus Martan wrote an article "Membedik Universalitas, Mengusung Lokalitas: Tafsir al-Qur’an Bahasa Bugis Karya AG.H. Daud Ismail " published by the Journal of Qur'anic Studies. This study gives a general understanding of the interpretation of Daud Ismail, in terms of the purpose of writing, the methodology of interpretation, and referral sources used in interpreting the Qur'an. Although it is recognized that this paper is helpful, but there was no study about cultural values in the interpretation of Daud Ismail in the content of the article.

Endang Saifuddin Anshari in his book “Agama dan Kebudayaan” generally classified religion into two forms, namely: Samawi religion and religion of culture, He argued that "religion of culture" is a part of the culture while the " Samawi religion " is not a part of the culture. He also explains how to respon the culture when the culture is associated with religion. But in the book writer did not find explanation that connecting between the interpretation of the Qur'an and local culture.¹⁹

CHAPTER II

DAUD ISMAIL AND HIS AL-MUNĪR

A. Brief Biography of Daud Ismail

1. Family

AG.H. Daud Ismail is greeted with H. Dauda and sometime greeted with *Kali*¹. Daud Ismail is one of the most charismatic ulema of Soppeng² regency in South Sulawesi. He was born in Cenrana, Lalabata subdistrict on December 30th, 1908 and passed away on Monday, Rajab 28th 1427 H. or August 21st, 2006 AD. Daud Ismail has eleven brothers from H. Ismail bin Baco Poso and Hj. Pompala binti Latalibe. His father was a farmer, teacher of reading the Qur'an also as a Kattéq and paréwa syaraq in Soppeng, and his mother was a housewife.³

He married three times, his first wife is Hj. Marellung, married in 1932 AD. and has two sons, namely: Daud Ahmad (passed away) and Muh. Basri Daud (passed ¹The word kali was originated from the word qādi (judge), but in Buginese language that tittle more than just judge who resolves case. Kali is an important position as a partner of King in religion affairs or court but also includes marriage, divorce, inheritance, and the resolution of social problems associated with Islamic rules' and customary law namely Bicāra (rule of law), rāpang (exemplary norm), wari (social stratification) and Sara' (Islamic law). See Mattulada, Latoa: Satu Lukisan Analitis terhadap Antropologi Politik Orang Bugis (Yogyakarta: Gajah Mada University Press, 1985), p. 275.

²Soppeng is a name of district, Wattangsoppeng is its capital city, in South-Sulawesi province. Approximately 174 km from Makassar via Buludua, or about 235 km via Sidenreng-Rappang. Administratively, the district of Soppeng is flanked by several neighboring districts. North is bordered with Sidenreng-Rappang (Sidrap), the eastern is bordered with Wajo and Bone, on the south side with Bone, and in western is bordered with Barru. These data indicate that Soppeng area is surrounded by traces of a large empire area in ancient times. And the kingdom has established cooperative relationships with Soppeng, not only in economics, but also in politics and government. See A. Wanua Tangke and Usman Nukma (ed.), Soppeng Merangkai Esok (Makassar: Pustaka Refleksi, 2001), p. 11-12.

Faridah in 1942 AD. and was blessed with two daughters, namely: Hj. Syamsul Huda (passed away), Hj. Nur Inayah SH. And a son, namely: Drs. Rushdi Daud.⁴

2. Education and Career

Daud Ismail started his education from under of his house. There he began studying reciting the Qur'an with his parents. After that he learned to recite the Qur'an from a woman named Maryam. He learned Lontaraq and Latin by himself. He never sat in public school. Even so Daud Ismail also studied at some teachers, both in Soppeng and Soppeng Riaja. Among of them are :

- a. H. Muh. Shaleh in Cangadi, Liliriaja, Soppeng
- b. Guru Tengnga in Ganra, Soppeng
- c. H. Ismail (Soppeng's Qāḍi at the time)
- d. Syamsuddin (Sengkang's Imām)
- e. H. Daeng Sumange in Soppeng Riaja Barru.
- f. H. Kitta' (Qāḍi of Soppeng Riaja)
- g. AG. Muhammad As'ad in Sengkang (1930-1942 AD.).⁵

In 1930 Daud Ismail went to Sengkang to study with AG. H. Muhammad As'ad, and he was included among the second generation students. MAI (Madrasat al-'Arabiyyat al-Islamiyyah) is one of the oldest educational institutions known by public in South-Sulawesi. MAI Sengkang was founded in Zulkaidah 1348 H./May 1930 AD. by AG. H. Muhammad As'ad who had just returned from Makkah in 1928 after completing his study at Madrasah Al-Falah Makkah. During studying in Sengkang, Daud Ismail felt a lot of progress, especially in mastering the religious sciences. For example, qawāid, 'arud, uṣul al- fiqh, manṭiq, tafsīr and others because the teaching methods applied by AG. H. Muhammad As'ad was more advanced than previously available methods. Daud Ismail was taught arūḍi for one night only. Because of that, on the next day he was given a book by AG. Muhammad As'ad to be studied alone. After learning directly to AG. H. Muhammad As'ad in Sengkang, Daud Ismail was entrusted to teach at Elementary and Junior High level, although he was still learning to AG. H. Muhammad As'ad. Incidentally at that time, there is no level of Aliyah. Since then, people started calling Gurutta (special call under level of Anrégurutta) Daud Ismail.

In 1942, he was appointed to be Imam in Lalabata Soppeng, while teaching at a madrasah. He was also a tutor for the family of Datu Pattojo Soppeng, precisely in 1944, because he was recognized as an ulema. After the death of AG. H. Muhammad As'ad (1952 AD.), Daud Ismail was asked by leaders of community of Wajo and elders of Madrasah Islamiyah Arabiyah (MAI) coming to Sengkang to continue educating with AG. H. M. Yunus Maratan in madrasah which was left by AG. H. Muhammad As'ad.

In 1953 the name of Madrasah Arabiyah Islamiyah (MAI) was changed into Madrasah As'adiyah as an honor to AG. H. Muhammad As'ad.⁶ Daud Ismail led MAI

Sengkang for 8 years because of the insistence of Soppeng to return educating in madrasah in his village. Moreover at the time he felt that there was cadres of ulema could replace him in Sengkang. After he left Sengkang in 1961, Daud Ismail returned to Soppeng. He established Yayasan Perguruan Islam Beowe (YASRIB) and opened Madrasah Muallimin in 1967. At the time Daud Ismail was also reappointed to be the qāḍi (for the second time) in Soppeng. In addition, he also served as a chairman of the Indonesian Ulema Council/Majelis Ulama Indonesia (MUI) of Soppeng in 1993-2005. Daud Ismail led Yasrib Islamic Boarding School until he passed away.⁷

1. Writing Historical Background of al-Munīr

Daud Ismail has reasons to write al-Munīr. The reason was revealed in his commentary that was found in Muqaddimah: “niyi sbn nwtkktai susuGi yea kitea yinritu” (nayi sabaqna nauwakkatta-kattai sūsungngi yaé kittaqué, As for why I intentionally compiling the book) is as follows:

Translation:

- a. According to my (Daud Ismail) observation, in Bugis area, there has been no complete work of the Qur'an interpretation in 30 chapters in Buginese language, which could be read by Muslims in Bugis area.
- b. So that Muslims in Bugis area which have not been able to gain an understanding / knowledge of the Qur'an with the original language namely Arabic language
- c. For information to other ethnics that Buginese language can interact with other languages in the world.
- d. In order to provide guidance to the next generation our attempt to interpret the Qur'an into Buginese language.
- e. In order to Buginese language does not disappear among of Buginese.

From the information above, it could be understood that Daud Ismail has strong motivations in preparing his commentary from the aspect of thought, methodology, including an efforts to maintain the Buginese language as one of the national culture. The reasons given by Daud Ismail have earned result, because before printing, there was public demand for separating printing, specially for juz 'amma, because juz 'amma was reading every praying at the time. Because of this condition

Daud Ismail said:

Translation:

Actually at the time I started translating / interpreting the Qur'an, my desire after translated the overall then printed, but there were some Muslims asked that juz 'amma ought to be printed separately because it was needed to be spreaded quickly to the Buginese Muslim society.

¹⁰Daud Ismāil, Tafsir al-Munir, part 1, p. 3.

Interpretation book that was written by Daud Ismail at first entitled “ترجمة” Interpretation, because in that interpretation, in addition to translate he also interpreted verses of the Qur'an. But when Daud Ismail wrote Q.S. al-Hijr/15: 1 in the end of part 13, he revealed:

yi auwlea modl (نيتي الخالصة وإرادتي القوية) niy simt mtkumi nEniy akt mwukumi, yidoroeGG pbujurueaG pmulai yierkuwearo esauw gau mrj. ag nauwepsonn ripuw mrj alomolomoea nauwbisEmilton naubcai بسم الله تفسير الرحمن الرحيم naupmultoni mokiai yea tpEeser mbs aogiea nauwsEtoni المنير.¹¹

2. Writing Steps of al-Munīr

AG.H. Daud Ismail on its interpretation, performs the following steps:

a. Muqaddimah

The beginning of all parts (juz) was began with gratitude to Allah. So that what is wanted can be understood by the readers, but specially in the first chapter's muqaddimah, firstly he presented some problems that should be known by every Muslim who wants to learn the Qur'an.

- 1) First point, historical background of Al-Munīr,
- 2) Second point, history of the Qur'an includes:

¹¹Daud Ismāil, Tafsir al-Munir, Part.1, p. 231.

- a) Definition of the Qur'an
- b) Ways of revelation of the Qur'an
- c) Names of the Qur'an.
- d) Benefit of revelation of the Qur'an little by little.
- e) Verses and surahs contained in the Qur'an.

3) Third point, Maintenance of the Qur'an which contains:

- a) Maintenance of the Qur'an at the time of Prophet Muhammad saw.
- b) Maintenance of the Qur'an at the time of Khalifah Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq
- c) Maintenance of the Qur'an at the time of Khalifah 'Usmān bin 'Affān.

b. Interpretation was begun by presenting part (juz) and ṣūrah that would be discussed with Buginese language understanding for example:

c. Writing verses of the Qur'an is placed on the right while translations writing is placed on the left, such as:

EewerGi mEn an biyu biiyuea wrPrn mEnRo naj mueselrEGi wrPr mjmu nwrPr mkEsin nEniy ajto pd mua eRai wrPrn, mjEpu aEKairitu dos mrj

According to M. Rafii Yunus Martan, with the format as above, the neatness of the layout will be kept. Every reader will know that the text of the paragraph in the right column is a translation of the verses of the Qur'an which are in the left column. So it can be wellunderstood.¹²

d. Interpretation of verses put after writing versee and its translation with saying “ppktjn (pappakatajanna, explanation)”. Daud Ismail said: “tuKEtuKE purn ritrEjum esdiea ay yerg siaeraer ay ripnEssi aktn tuKEtuKE ayea.¹³ (Tungkeq-tungkeq purāna ritarejuma séddié āyaq iyārēqga siārqué-ārēq āyaq ripannessasi akkattāna tungkeq-tungkeq ayaqé. (Every verse that was translated or some verses, so then the purpose of each verses will be explained).

e. Tanbīh (esauw ppkaiGE)

At the end of interpretation, Daud Ismail closes with saying: (ppkaiG/Epappakaingeq, remainder) to give information about the opinions of ulama on a problem that is discussed, such as:

- f. Daud Ismail always said الحمد لله as a sign of gratitude to God for completion of 1 juz that containing one or several surahs in it. Daud Ismail revealed in one of his commentary:

g. Daud Ismail wrote day, date and year of writing, both Hijriyah and Miladiyah year in the end of each juz. Daud Ismail revealed:

Daud Ismail used some references of commentary books. Daud Ismail revealed “ruprupn kit tpE eser auwlea aseRsE ynritu” (Rupa-rupanna tapesērē uwalaé asanréseng yanaritu, commentary books i used as a references such as):

4. Interpretation Types of al-Munīr

Generally, the types of interpretation are:

a. Tafsīr bi al-Ma'sūr

Tafsīr bi al-Ma'sūr is the interpretation that uses narration (riwāyah) as a basic source,²⁵ the explanations and details of verses derived from the Qur'an, the Prophet traditions, Companions and tabi'in words to explain God's will in it.²⁶ To understand the meaning contained in the Qur'an, commentators must consider other verses that have a relationship with the verses interpreted.

We can see some examples of tafsīr bi al-ma'sūr in al-Munīr, such as:

1) Tafsir Al-Quran verse by verse

An example of interpretation derived from the verses of the Qur'an contained in Q.S. al-Fātiḥah/1: 6.

Translation:

Guide us to the straight way.²⁷

Daud Ismail when interpreting the verse above revealed “niyi yiea aptiroweG mtEtu ripuw al tal, ed esauw tau newer ritu”²⁸ (nayi iyyaé apatirowanngé mattentu ri Puang Allataāla, dē seuwa tau nawéréng ritu, verily this guidance is Allah’s will, no one given). Then the verses of the Qur'an as the foundation that Allah will provide guidance to whom He wants contained in Q.S. al-Qaṣaṣ/28: 56.

Translation:

Verily, you (O Muhammad saw.) guide not whom you like, but Allah guides whom he wills.²⁹

²⁹Dr. Muhammad Taqī>uddi>n al hila>li and Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Kha>n, Translation of the Meaning of the Noble Qur’an in The English Language, p. 524-525

The guidance referred to above is guidance to the straight path with the help of Allah swt. because of errors. Prophet Muhammad saw. can only show the way of truth.

Daud Ismail said:

2) The Qur'an Interpretation with Prophet Traditions

Daud Ismail interpreted Q.S. al-An'ām/6: 112 with hadīs :

عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ الْمَسْجِدَ وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِيهِ فَجِئْتُ فَجَلَسْتُ إِلَيْهِ فَقَالَ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ تَعَوَّذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ شَرِّ شَيَاطِينِ الْجِنِّ وَالْإِنْسِ قُلْتُ أَوْ لِلْإِنْسِ شَيَاطِينُ قَالَ نَعَمْ³²

3) The Qur’an Interpretation with Opinions of Companions

The example, when Daud Ismail interpreted Q.S. al-Baqarah/2: 71.

Translation:

They said, “Now you have brought the truth.” So they slaughtered it thought they were near to not doing it.³³

Daud Ismail when interpreted the verse above cited opinion of ‘Abdullah bin ‘Abbās:

لَوَذَّبُوا أَيَّ بَقْرَةٍ أَرَادُوا لِأَجْرَاتِهِمْ، وَلَكِنْ شَدَّوْا عَلَيَّ أَنْفُسِهِمْ فَشَدَّ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ

b. Tafsīr bi al-ra'yi

Al-Zarqāni said that tafsīr bi al-ra'yi is a type of interpretation of the Qur'an based on opinion or sense³⁵ after commentators understand the Arabic language, mastering its means, Arabic language grammars and mastering the various tools needed in the interpretation.³⁶ Interpreting the Qur'an with this form, the commentators are supported with asbāb al-Nuzūl, nāsikh mansūkh, etc.

So, tafsīr bi al-ra'yi do not only interpret the Qur'an based on thought without a solid foundation, and not also form of interpretation which supports muslim scholar's opinions without argument, but tafsir bi al-ra'yi has a solid foundation and strong arguments.

Tafsīr bi al-ra'yi type in al-Munīr can be seen when the author interpreted Q.S. al-Ra'd/13: 12.

Translation:

Interpretation of Daud Ismail as above based on the results of observation and experience.

c. Al-Tafsīr al-Isyāri

Tafsīr al-Isyāri is type of interpretation that explains (takwīl) the Qur'an with unoriginal meaning, because of the signaling (isyārah) those are known by the Sufism and they can be able to combine its unoriginal meanings with original meaning intended by verses.³⁹

The example can be found in interpretation of Q.S. Āli 'Imrān/3: 5,

Translation:

Nothing is hidden on side of Allah swt. all the intentions and actions of people who have true faith, and nothing is hidden on side of Allah swt. intentions and disbelieving actions of all disbelievers.

Daud Ismail interpreted السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ as people, believers or disbelievers, and the word شَيْءٍ was interpreted as faith/intention and act of human, it indicates that al-Munir was not separated from transference of the original meaning to majāzi meaning as the essence of tafsir bi al-isyāri.

5. Interpretation Methods of al-Munir

Today, development of thought influences interpretation methods of the Qur'an. In relation with al-Munir, writer will present the methods contained in it, namely:

a. Tahlīli

Tahlīli interpretation method is a method of interpretation that aims to explain the content of the verses of the Qur'an from all of its aspects, and to uncover the whole meaning, based on order of verses in sequence.⁴²

When applying tahlīli method, commentators usually do the following actions:

1. Describing relationship (munāsabah), either between one verse to another verse, and between a surah with another surah. explaining the causes of revelation of verses (asbāb al-nuzūl), Analyzing vocabulary (mufradāt) and the pronunciation of the Arabic language,
2. Describing general content of verse,
3. Explaining the elements of faṣāḥah, bayān and i'jaz, ⁴²Abd. Muin Salim, Metodologi Tafsir Sebuah Rekonstruksi Epistemologis Memantapkan Ilmu Tafsir sebagai Disiplin Ilmu (Orasi Pengukuhan Guru Besar IAIN Alauddin Makassar, 1999), p. 30.

4. Explaining the law that can be gotten from the verse discussed;
5. Explaining the meaning and purpose of religion (syarīat) that is contained in a verse discussed⁴³

By looking at actions above it, could be concluded that al-Munir used tahlīli method in interpretation. An example, when interpreting Q.S. al-Ṭariq/86: 8, Daud Ismail revealed:
 mjEpu puw altal ypCjiaGi tauew poel riedea, aiyerg poel rieswesw edea ntuwo, paelai perwEai tau met tuwo paimE.⁴⁴

Transliteration:

Majepu Puang Allataāla iya pancajiénni tauwé pōlé ri dēé, iyaréga pōlé riséwasewa dēé natuwo, paullei paréweqi tau maté tuwo paimeng.

Translation:

Indeed, Allah swt. who created man from nothing, or from something which doesn't alive, he is able to revive the dead.

then Daud Ismail continued his interpretation:

“nyi aktn yea ayea pdmotoai rimkEdn riay laieG” (nayi akkattāna iyaé ayaqé padamotoi rimakkedāna ri ayaq laingnge, the purpose of this verse as found in the other verse), namely:

bEtuwn.

⁴⁵Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 142.

Transliteration:

Iyanaritu rimula pancajiénngi (tauwé) nainappasi naparéwe ritu (tuwo paimeng), naiyanaritu (aparewekenna tuwo paimeng) lebbi malōmoi/ lebbi magampanngi.

Translation:

He The first who created (man) and then restore them (life back), and that (restoring life) the easier.

The example above is about relationship between verse by verse, reinforcing each other. Q.S. al-Ṭariq/86: 8 talks about the creation of Allah swt. from nothing, while Q.S al-Rūm/30: 27 explains that Allah swt. who created man and then return their life back.

b. Muqāran

Muqāran interpretation method is a method that describes the verses of the Qur'an with explanations of others commentators⁴⁶, and focus on the comparison aspect of the interpretation of the Qur'an.⁴⁷ Commentators try to take a number of verses of the Qur'an and then put some interpretations of the muslim scholars (ulāma) and compare different tendencies of the commentators when interpreting the Qur'an.

An example in Al-munīr can be found in Q.S. al-A' rāf/7:

mkuniea eks mpocon nbi sel sibw wwn y ripelel poel rikit tpEeser الصاوى

Translation:

Here is the short story of Prophet Saleh with his people derived from the interpretation book of الصاوى part 2 volume 2 page 74, and derived from the interpretation book of المراغى page 128 volume 3 part 8.

Based on example above, could be understood that when Daud Ismail was interpreting a verse, sometimes he compared between one interpretation with other interpretations so then found a single unit of meaning.

6. Approaches of al-Munir

The meaning of approach is mindset (al-Ittijat al-Fikri) used to discuss a problem.⁴⁹ The approaches used by Daud Ismail in his interpretation book are:

a. Rational Approach

Rational approach is based on the interpretation of mind,⁵⁰ or commonly known as the scientific approach. This approach arose as a result of the advancement of science and efforts to understand the Qur'an in accordance with the development of science.⁵¹ Although the commentators interprets by mind (ratio), but they are not absolutely interpreting without any specific rules.

Al-Munir as the interpretation book of the Qur'an would not be separated from this approach, because when commentator interprets the verses of the Qur'an, he would not be separated from the ideas of himself. An example can be seen in Q.S. al-Isrā/18: 2.

Translation:

Indeed when the Prophet Muhammad was taken for a journey at night, he rode an animal called buraq, and clearly not possible spirit sat on top of buraq, but just a body or a solid object that could be carried by buraq

In this interpretation, Daud Ismail explained that prophet Muhammad saw. was going to meet Allah by his body and his spirit. This opinion based on logical understanding that buraq is an animal that has a solid object, so Muhammad absolutely used it as a vehicle for his real body, not just his spirit.

b. Socio-Historical Approach

Socio-historical approach focuses on understanding of conditions when the Qur'an was revealed,⁵³ namely asbāb al-nuzūl.

An example of Socio-historical approach in al-Munir can be seen in Q.S. al-Lahab/111.

⁵²Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 15, p. 9.

⁵³M. Alfatih Suryadilaga, Metodologi Ilmu Tafsir, p. 142.

(3) And his wife, too, who carries wood (thorns of sa'da which she used to put on the way of the prophet saw., or used to slander him) (4) In her neck is a twisted rope of Masad (palm fibre).⁵⁴

Suddenly Abū Lahab by moving his hands said "تبا لك سائر اليوم الالهذاجمعتنا", "woe to you Muhammad today, just because of this reason you gather we all?", then this surah revealed.

c. Socio-cultural Approach

Socio-cultural approach describes the changes of social and cultural happened in perspective of the Qur'an,⁵⁶ attention of the Qur'an about society and problems faced by muslims in specifically and other problems in general.⁵⁷ So that, Socio-cultural approach tries to interpret the Qur'an with the reality of people's lives, social traditions and systems change.

interpretation used, it will be connected with color of interpretation, both general, special, or combination.⁶⁰

The color of interpretation that can be found in Tafsīr al-Munīr are:

a. Linguistic

Linguistic color arose because the number of non-Arabian converted to Islam and weaknesses of the Arabian themselves in the field of Arabic literature so the advantages and the depth of the meaning of the content of the Qur'an in this field needed to be explained.⁶¹

In al-Munir, Daud Ismail used aspects of language in interpreting the verses of the Qur'an, it can be seen in Q.S. Al-fātihah/1: 1.

“الرحمن الرحيم” ny yewea duwea lplE, mpoGi poel rilplE الرحمة ynritu esauw bEtuw coko riatieay y pGEsieaGi tau punai eyGi ritu, mepedec lao rilainea ritu.

Translation:

“الرحمن الرحيم” verily these two words, derived from lafaz “الرحمة” namely a meaning appears in heart, which can encourage people who has it to do good things to others.

Using of linguistic aspect in interpretation was not applied by Daud Ismail in all verses, because the purpose of this commentary to explain the meanings of the Qur'an in accordance with the needs of people at the time.

b. Fiqh

⁶⁰Nashruddin Baidan, Metodologi Penafsiran Al-Qur'an (Yogyakarta: Pustaka Pelajar, 1998), p. 10.

⁶¹M. Quraish Shihab, Membumikan Alquran; Fungsi dan Peran Wahyu dalam Kehidupa, p. 72.

Color interpretation of fiqh is an attention to focus to the laws aspects, In the beginning, the fiqh interpretation was free from the contamination of desire and negative motivations. This period lasted until the rise of fiqh mazhab. After the rising of mazhab of fiqh, each group tried to prove the truth of his opinions based on his interpretation of the verses of laws,⁶².

In Tafsīr al-Munīr this color could be found when the author interpreted Q.S. al-Fātihah/1: 1. Daud Ismail revealed the interpretation contained in Tafsīr al-Marāgi.

If we notice the dalīls those are held by three opinions about basmalah, The first opinion is the the most strong opinion, because what they pointed out was clear, and prophet traditions used as the source was the most strong hadīš, even supported by two great imams from the four agreed on the first opinion.

From the description above, we could know that the color of fiqh in al-Munir oriented to fiqh al-Syāfīi.

c. Kalām

⁶²M. Quraish Shihab, Membumikan Alquran; Fungsi dan Peran Wahyu dalam Kehidupan, p. 75.

⁶³Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir , part 1, p. 32.

The rising of rational method has given rise to a variety of colors in understanding and interpreting the Qur'an like kalam (theology). As an example, There are two different ideology of theology known in interpreting the Qur'an, namely Mu'tazilah and Asy'ariyah. The verses of the Qur'an that describe that God has physical characteristic, given ta'wīl by Mu'tazilah with proper understanding of the greatness and majesty of God Almighty. While Asy'ariyah gives the mind small power, and refuses understanding that God has physical characteristic if the physical characteristic is seen as human nature.⁶⁴ Therefore, in view of Asy'ariyah God has eye, face, hands, and sits on the throne must be accepted literally.

An example of the interpretation of verse about this topic is Q.S. Ṭāhā/20: 5

Translation:

The most gracious (Allah) rose over (Istawā) the (Mihgty) Throne (in a manner that suits His Majesty).⁶⁵

Term س ◆ □ ◆ ↓ ↔ ↻ interpreted by Mu'tazilah with engaging and defeating,⁶⁶ or according to al-Bazdāwi, mastering something and forcing⁶⁷, so it could be understood that Allah swt. as a Merciful God can master, defeat or can force creatures to do something. While according to Asy'ariyah, God sits on his throne but we do not know how God sits.⁶⁸

In al-Munir, Daud Ismail interpreted that verse by said: ynritu puw mrj akmes y mkuwseyGi arse nIEbi IEbini rilai nea.⁶⁹ (yanaritu Puang marāja akkamāsé iya makuwasaénngi arase nalebbi-lebbina lainngé, Allah swt. Most merciful and mastering 'Arsy even the others).

If we look at interpretation of Daud Ismail in verse above, it seems like way of Mu'tazilah, understanding ⑧ ◆ ◻ ◆ ✎ ⇄ ☞ ✂ by giving mening "mastering", not "sitting" like Asy'ariyah.

Interpretation written by Daud Ismail was interpretation that in accordance with the conditions of the Bugis society. To avoid the understanding that God is equated with conditions those are owned by people who can sit down, has hands, eyes and all physical attributes, so that the Buginese can be easier to understand and know God as Lord Who Masters all His creatures.

CHAPTER III

BUGINESE CULTURE

A. Historical Development

Buginese ethnic is the third largest ethnic in Indonesia after Javanese and Sundanese ethnic. This ethnic can be found in South-Sulawesi, West-Sulawesi and also spread in Southeast-Sulawesi, Central-Sulawesi, the island of Borneo, Irian, Java, Bali, Riau islands, even in Singapore, Malaysia, Brunei-Darussalam, and South Africa.¹

Most of districts in South-Sulawesi are dominated by Bugis speakers: Bone, Soppeng, Wajo, Sidrap, Pinrang, Barru, Sinjai, and Pare-pare. People in some districts such as Bulukumba, Pangkep, Maros, speak both Bugis and Makassar language. Although there are some differences in dialects and expressions, most of Bugis speaker can understand each other.

The origin of the Bugis are still unclear and uncertain. In contrast to the region in the western of Indonesia, South-Sulawesi has no monuments or inscriptions Hindus or Buddhists, both of stone and metal. Local written sources is only information on the 15th century and thereafter. Then for the periods before it the researchers can only rely on the local written sources very carefully and combined with archaeological site, written sources from outside, and ethnography.²

Buginese know their past history by two kinds of anonymous manuscripts which are called as myth and historical texts. The first type (myth) is literary work ¹Rustan, "Suku Bugis", <http://portalbugis.wordpress.com/2009/05/18/suku-bugis/>, (November 20th, 2013).

²Christian Pelras, The Bugis, trans. Abdul Rahman Abu, Hassriady and Nurhady Sirimorok, Manusia bugis, (1st Ed. ; Jakarta: Nalar cooperates with Forum Jakarta Paris, EFEO, 2005), p. 23 .

contained stories in form of poem which is called sure' galigo based on the name of one of the main characters of the stories, namely La Galigo.³

La Galigo manuscript told the story of hundreds of descendants of the gods who live at the time for six generations hereditary in the various kingdoms in South-Sulawesi and surrounding islands. The manuscript written in ancient Buginese language with high literary style. Until the 20th century AD., La Galigo manuscript believed by Bugis society as a sacred book and should not be read without any specific ritual. Bugis people believe that the events described in the manuscript was actually happening at one time in the past when the situation was not like now and when they communicated directly to the déwata.⁴

This myth began with decisions of a couple of déwata who ruled in the up-world (Datu Patoto' and Datu Palinge') and a couple of déwata who ruled in the under-world (Guru ri Selleng and Sinau Toja) to live in the midst-world (earth) so than human worship and serve them. And then Batara Guru (eldest son of Datu Patoto) was put in bamboo and sent down to earth. As the first tomanurung he was given a form. When he sent down to Luwu he fasted and meditated soon. Then the servants, the empress, the people and even the palace were sent down from up-world too. Then as promised to him, his cousin (Wé' nyili') daughter of Guru ri Selleng arised from the water (she was the first to tompo) to be his queen.⁵ Thus the beginning of the myth story of the Bugis ethnic.

Almost all of Bugis kingdoms has its own chronicle. The chronicle habitually called as lontara', which contains detailed notes of the genealogy of a noble family, kingdom, diaries, and various information such as a list of kingdoms or subordinate area, agreements with another kingdoms or agreements that have been held between the rulers and the people.⁶

Most of the historical manuscript/chronicle narrated that the first rulers, men and women are those who came from the sky “to manurung” or people who appeared from under “to tompo” they were descendants of gods who were sent to the human world (earth) to end the chaotic situation, how long the situation can not be ascertained because in the historical manuscript, it was happened in 7 pariama, how long the pariama it was a matter of debate too.⁷

B. Adé' in Buginese Culture

One important concept of Buginese culture is adé' (culture and tradition). Adé' is a manifestation of Buginese's views of life in their social institutions and placed at the highest position in the social norms that controls the behavior of public life.⁸ Bugis people who have received adé' totally in their system of socio-cultural life believe that only with adé' peace and happiness for every member of the community can be protected. The belief is a supporting factor why adé' can survive until now.

According to lontara' of Bugis, there are five basic principles of adé' namely adé', bicāra, rāpang, wāri and sara', together known as pangngadereng.⁹ In the beginning there were only 4 pangadereng in Bugis society namely, adé', bicāra, rāpang, wāri. But after Islam was accepted as a religion, then sāra, included as one of the pangngaadereng. Sāra 'organizes all related to Islamic law

If we consider the teachings of pangngadereng carefully as in lontara latoa, There are three main things that needed to be considered in context to guide people to gain stability in their lives and to gain the pleasure of God Almighty. Namely:

1. God is the central point
2. Honesty
3. Elements of justice and wisdom.¹¹

C. Buginese Language: Using and Fungtions

Buginese language is included as a major language in Indonesia. The number of speakers of Buginese language is the largest of several regional languages used in South-Sulawesi. Locations of Buginese language include the districts of Bone, Soppeng, Wajo, Luwu, Sidenreng-Rappang, Pinrang, Pare-Pare, Barru, a part of district of Maros, Pangkep, Sinjai, Bulukumba, a part of district of Polewali-Mandar, a part of Palopo and Makassar.¹²

Buginese language has a history and tradition that has been kept by the Buginese. Buginese language sometimes influences other language such as Makassar, Mandar, Massenrempulu, and Toraja languages, but it is also influenced.. Although each of their speakers do not understand each other, but can

1. Lontara' Letters

In writing-world, Buginese has known longer than their own assumption or foreign scientists estimate.¹³ An oral tradition of South Sulawesi, connected lontara' of Bugis-Makassar with Daeng Pammatte, Syahbandar Makassar during the reign of King of Gowa, Daeng Matanré Tumapa'risi' Kallonna (1511-1548).¹⁴ Lontara' Letters are using a systematic sequence (ka, ga, nga, pa, ba, ma, ta, da, na, nra, ca, ja, nya, nca, ya, ra, la, wa, sa, ha). This letters has undergone some changes. Letter ngka, mpa, nca, seems added about in the 19th century.¹⁵

The table below will explains how to read and spell the letters in lontara' who have 23 forms and 92 changes in the form of letters:

2. Speech Level in Buginese Language

In Buginese language there is a term called bicara cuku' (looking down sentence)', namely vertically downward communication. In conditions of the speaker is like having the authority (power) higher than the hearer or the relationship between them is not very familiar. Generally, using of bicara cuku' seems uncivilized. In Buginese language, There are two options for realizing euphemism language style, namely bicara conga (looking up sentence) and bicara sanra (equal sentence). The meaning of bicara conga is vertikal communication style, and bicara sanra is horizontal communication style. Form of bicara congga is reflecting mappakaraja (to respect) or mappakalebbi (to honor). Both bicara congga and bicara sanra in stylistic analysis required a good understanding about the linguistic markers that can be used to imply the meaning of sipakaraja and sipakalebbi. After classified based on the analysis of stylistic, linguistic, markers meant consists of four patterns, namely:

1. Variations of word synonyms. Example: Mattampu' (pregnant) to be monro dara (blood stays) or mallise' (contained), maté (die) to be réwe' ripammaséna (back to God mercy);
2. Shift from the first person singular to the third person singular. Example: Siaga ellinna uttimmu? (what the price of your banana?) To be Siaga ellinna uttié? (what the price of that banana?);
3. Shift from the second person singular to the form of the first person plural. Example: Tegako mélo' lao? (where will you go?) to be Tégaki' mélo' lao (where will we go?);
4. Shift from the second person singular to the form of the third person singular. Example: Niga asemmu? (what is your name?) to be Niga asenna, bapa' é? (what is that mister name?).¹⁶

D. Theology of Buginese

1. Definition of Theology

Etymologically, theology derived from the Greek language “theologia”. Which consists of the words theos meaning God, and logos meaning knowledge. so theology is knowledge about God. According to William L. Resse “Theology derived from English language namely theology which means discourse or reason concerning god". Reese furthermore said, "theology is a knowledge which talked about the truth of revelation and the independence of philosophy and science. Gove said that theology is an explanation of faith, actions, and experiences in religion rationally.¹⁷ while, Fergilius Ferm described theology as "the discipline which concern God (or the divine Reality) and God relation to the word. In New English Dictionary, arrangement of Collins, the science treats of the facts and phenomena of religion and the relation between God and men.¹⁸

¹⁶H. Muhammad Darwis and Hj. Kamsinah, Penggunaan Eufemisme Sebagai Strategi Kesantunan Bertutur dalam Bahasa Bugis: Analisis Stilistika (Presented at the 2nd Inter-nation Seminar of Archaeology, History, & Culture in Malay on November 26th-27th, 2013 at ATMA University of Malaysia, Bangi, Slangor.), p. 14.

In Islam, this knowledge called as Tauhīd science, Uṣuluddīn science, 'Aqāid science, and kalam science. It's called Tauhīd science because it invites people to believe and trust in only one God, namely Allah swt. It's named Uṣuluddin science, because it discuss about religious subjects, namely the belief in God. It's named 'Aqāid science, because with this science, it is expected that a person believes in his heart deeply and commit himself only to Allah as God. However, in subsequent developments of Theology, it also talks about various issues relates to faith and their consequences, like problem of faith, disbelieving, setting partner with God, apostasy, Hereafter problems with a variety of enjoyment or misery, matters relates to the words of Allah (kalāmullāh), namely the Qur'an, etc.¹⁹

According to Ibn Khaldun, as cited by A. Hanafi, kalam science is the science that contains the reasons that maintaining the faith by using the arguments of the mind and contains a refutation of those are deviating from the beliefs of the Salaf and ahli sunnah.²⁰

There are also said that science of kalam is the science that discuss how to define religious beliefs with convincing evidence. This science discuss about ma'rifah (knowing in depth) the attributes of God and His prophets by using strong arguments to achieve happiness of life.²¹

Abu Hanifah named this science by Fiqh al-Akbar. According to his perception, Islamic law are known as Fiqh, and it is divided into two parts. First, Fiqh al-Akbar, discuss the main points of belief or religion or science of monotheism (tauhīd). Second, Fiqh al-Aṣḡar, discuss issues related to the problems of muāmalah, not the main points of religion, but only sub-main point of religion²²

From the opinions above, it can be concluded that theology is science that specifically discuss about God and various issues relates to God based on the strong arguments. So the people who learn about it can know the way to have belief and faith and how to keep it well.

2. Religion in Bugis Society

For Bugis society, there are two kinds of belief systems namely belief systems of ancestors traditions commonly called the pre-Islamic beliefs and system of belief based on the Islam religion. Ancestors traditions belief system came from lontara i galigo that contains myths about patoto'é the creator in boting langi who teaches straight and firm belief as the main characteristics that must be owned by human, namely: lempu (honesty), tongeng (truth) and getteng (firmness).²³

Religion is an important element that determines the identity of a community. Almost all of the Buginese are muslim, except a small community of to lotang. Since the 17th century they have been a part of Bugis community, specially in Amparita (sidenreng).²⁴

Usually the religion of Islam was spreaded through trade. Muslim traders spreaded the religion of Islam to the area where the population has not converted to Islam yet. Thus, the religion of Islam arrived in the area that have a trade harbor which was visited by the traders of Muslims.²⁵ And because of the political situation and social culture of the region when visited by Islam is different ²⁶. In the case of spreading Islam in South-Sulawesi, there are exceptions as described. Bugis-Makassar traders who sailed visiting trade harbor also played a role to bring the influence of Islam in and out of South-Sulawesi.²⁷

In shipping regulations, Bugis-Makassar people make their boats are generally as land sailing with all of the accessories. If they came to a harbor it's like their land came to the harbor. So they acted as their behaviour in his own land. They married foreign women that he came. They produced children there and sometimes brought home wives and their children back to their home country in South-Sulawesi. Those who marry Muslim women in shoreline accepted the religion of Islam as their religion. then many leaders of Bugis-Makassar people converted to Islam before Islam was made authorized religion of Bugis-Makassar kingdom at the beginning of the seventeenth century.²⁸

Islamic leaders of Bugis-Makassar existed before the arrival of Islamic scholars from the outside of Bugis area to increase the development of Islam religion rapidly after the religion of Islam to be authorized religion of the kingdom. Bugis-Makassar people who have been scholars of Islam, went to trade and study about Islam at the muslim scholars in the country where the population had converted Islam.²⁹

And then, the kingdom of Makassar were considered to be the center of deployment of Islam in the region of South-Sulawesi performed Islamization Politics run by the king of Gowa and Tallo strongly. Several small kingdoms accepted the invitation. However, strong Bugis kingdoms, such as Bone, Wajo and Soppeng refused the invitation hardly. Because they guest that butta Gowa only make the issue of Islam as an excuse to continue the expansion to dominate other kingdoms.³⁰

Because of intransigence of *Tellu Boccoé*³¹ land, Butta Gowa then declared war on them. Four times Gowa sent troops to the land of Bugis, first time in 1608. Troops of war losed by a combined army of Buginese. But in the next year, Bugis kingdom was conquered one by one, so Islam in the land of Bugis were spreaded, Sidenreng and Soppeng in 1609, Wajo in 1610, and the last were tana-Bone in 1611.³²

Phase of Islamization in South Sulawesi, politically and military could be considered completed after tana-Bone accepted Islam as the official religion. The next phase is the development of Islamic religion and its completion in the implementation of political power in each kingdom, and then integration and consolidation of Islamic teachings into *pangngadereng*³³

In the other side, Actually peacefully the influence of Islamic teachings has begun in Bugis area precisely in tana-Luwu in 1603 AD. Datu Luwu who first converted to Islam is La Patiware Daéng Parabbuang. on 15th Ramadhan 1013 H. (1603 AD.). He was called as Sultan Muhammad Mudharuddin who suggested to the three ulama came to South-Sulawesi (Khatib Tuggal or Dato' ri Bandang, Dato Patimang and Dato' Tiro) for coming to Butta Gowa asked the kings of Gowa Tallo to become spreaders of Islam in South-Sulawesi.³⁴

Based on data from several lontara and the data revealed by various researchers of Islamisation in the kingdom of Luwu, found that the three ulama were left Makassar toward Luwu after they learned that “even though the power is in Gowa, but the glory is in Luwu (awatangengé ri Gowa, alebbirengné ri Luwu). In other words if they wanted to spread the Islam religion in South-Sulawesi, the king of Luwu must be invited to convert to Islam firstly.³⁵

Then the three ulāma agreed to separate, and spreaded Islam according to their own way in their own place.

- b. Sulaiman Khatib Sulung, known as Dato' Patimang, at the first time with Aabdul Makmur Khatib Tunggal to Gowa, then he returned and stayed at Luwu and spreaded the teachings of Islam by prioritizing Tauhīd as main teaching
- c. Abdul Jawad Khatib Bungsu, stayed in Tiro (Bulukumba), so then he were known as Dato ri Tiro, he spreaded teaching of islam with tasawuf approach.³⁶

That is the beginning of Islam spreading in South-Sulawesi in general and specifically in Bugis land. The acceptance of Islam period was about from 1603 AD. until 1612 AD. After that, the process of socialization and acculturation of Islam into South Sulawesi society began.

CHAPTER IV

BUGINESE THEOLOGICAL VALUES IN AL-MUNIR

A. The Existence of God

Basically, every religion, especially revelation religions have three basics of dimensions, namely:

1. Religious belief which is also called as ideological dimension. This is relating to the recognition and acceptance of a almighty substance "sacred", as the truth or a reality.
2. Religious practice or ritualistic dimension. This is relating to aspects of observance or ceremonies, which are done by the adherents in order to worship, serve and honor the God they believe.
3. Religious experience. This is relating to feelings and perceptions about the contact with what he believed as the ultimate reality, devine power or the understanding of religious matters.¹

In accordance with the first point above, based on the divinity view development of Bugis-Makassar society which was taken from written sources, initially, the concept of divinity of Bugis society could only be identified with mythology contained in I La Galigo. It described the view of divinity of Buginese approximately a thousand years ago. The views of divinity in the myth of I La Galigo are still in form of primitive belief.

According to N. R. Bella, in primitive religion there is no separation between the mystical world with the real world., distance or difference between humans and mythical creatures disappear. Similarly, the role or act of God are still identical to the role or human action. Doctrine of God in I La Galigo who called as Datu Palanroe, Aji Patotoq or Lapuanqe are still very anthropomorphic, because God is described as a human, who has a wife, children and brothers/sisters in law.²

Before Buginese recognize Islam, they have had an ancestor belief. According to Mattulada, belief of Buginese Pre-Islamic period as illustrated in Sureq La Galigo, has had a belief in one Déwa (God), who is called by several names: Patotoqé (He who determines the fate), Déwata Séuwaé (A single God), To-Palanroé (The creator) etc.³ The language used to refer to the name of God indicates that the Buginese have had faith in God the Almighty in monotheistic belief. The Belief to their supreme god who became the creator of all things on earth indicates a kind of ancient monotheism in the days before Islam arrived in South-Sulawesi.

Generally, belief about God in al-Munir is harmony with belief of Buginese, namely believing on His oneness. In this regard, al-Munir revealed in Q.S al-Ikhlas/112: 1:

⁶Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 320.

These (verses) examples indicate that the principle of monotheism taught in Islam and in the ancient Buginese belief has similarity. That principle which wanted to be confirmed by anregurutta. However, in al-Munir, God is not called as the mention used in ancient Buginese belief but referred to as “Puang”. The addition of the word “Puang” in front of the word Allah basically does not contradict with the principle of monotheism. Because the meaning of “Puang” is respect and submission. In the beginning, the term “Puang” was a greeting to the king or nobleman,. Therefore, when God Almighty called by “Puang”, it means that God is positioned as “The King” as understood by the Buginese.⁷

As the following examples which was presented by Daud Ismail on his commentary in Q.S. al-Nās/114: 2:

By looking at some of the interpretation examples above, inclusion of varying God's attributes from a few verses is the way of Daud Ismail to sterilize ideologies of society that were developed among the Buginese who characterize certain human with the attributes which only appropriate to Allah. Indirectly this method will give the effect of awareness for people who read the commentaries of Daud Ismail in al-Munir especially Buginese.

B. The Form of Buginese Beliefs

The entry of Islam as an integral part of the pangngadereng system caused the process of mutual influence which caused the emergence of various forms of response from the community. Generally, it can be grouped into three categories:

1. Accepting Islam perfectly and as a consequences the rejection of the beliefs and religious practices that are considered incompatible with Islamic teachings
2. Ensuring adjustments through a integrating between both of them, thus giving rise to a form of understanding and religious experience in syncretistic patterned ¹³Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 250.

3. Rejecting Islam because they think that the religion is foreign for people who are already familiar with the original belief received from their ancestors¹⁴

In the field of belief, contiguity and integration in belief among the Bugis people happened frequently. For example, it can be seen in ceremonial tools, such as rekko-rekko ota (betel leaf folds) consisting of rekko sulu which is shaped like “I” and rekko massulekka (cross folds). Meaning of rekko sulu is male and meaning of rekko massulekka is female. Therefore the presence of the tool in religious ceremonies symbolizes fertility and hope so that fortune can overflow (sisulu-sulu). But when Islam is in contact with the tradition, then it is not necessarily prohibited and discarded but been given new meaning or called “islamized” form alif on rekko sulu its meaning changed to Allah, and letter form “T” on rekko massulekka its symbol changed to lam its meaning protecting (it’s taken from tauhid sentence, namely lā ilāha illa allāh). So the meaning of the two folds of betel leaf as a tool of ritual ceremony is “God is the protector”.¹⁵

Although the Bugis community believe that Allah is the only one God worshipped and no partner for Him as in the pledge made when pronouncing syahadat sentences, but they still perform the worship of spirits and ancestors. with certain symbols or even go to the places that are considered sacred. At the ritual ceremony seems both of them (islamic teaching and old tradition) are performed, praying, reading barazanji, and burning incense. The occurrence of the contiguity because at the time of entry of Islam in South Sulawesi, old beliefs in many forms was “islamized” and tolerated by giving the Islamic meanings by religious leaders.

In al-Munir, Daud Ismail revealed some of beliefs practices which was considered out from tauhiḍ values and important to be noticed:

Nasaba maega tau tassala risipaq sipaqna puang Allah ta'ala nenniaya pusa pole rilaleng malempuqe, kuwaena tau pancajiengngi puang padanna toripancaji, kuwaena tau sompaiengngi seuwwae batu, yarega naseuwwae olokolo, yarega naseuwwae tau, makkutopiro marellau ellaue rikobburuqna tau nasengnge makarameq yarega napancaji puangngi seuwwae nabi, makkutoro sala toi narekko riatekakengngi makkedae nabi dauda pelemmakiwi bessie e nabi sulaimana makkeleriwi angingnge, nabi iberahima pecekkekiwi apie.

From the interpretation above, can be understood that the types of polytheism in Bugis society is still very much, namely:

- a. Tau pancajiengngi puang padanna toripancaji (the people who consider the creature as a God)
- b. Tau sompaiengngi seuwwae batu (who worship the stone)
- c. Tau sompaiengngi seuwwae olokolo (worshipper of animals)
- d. Tau sompaiengngi seuwwae tau (people worshipper)
- e. Makkotoparo marellau ellaue rikobburu'na tau nasengnge makarameq (praying at the graves of people who are considered sacred),
- f. Napancaji puangngi seuwwae nabi (considering the prophet as a god).
- g. Yatekakengngi makkedae nabi daud palemakiwi bessie, nabi sulaiman makkeleriwi angingnge, nabi iberahim pecekkekiwi apie (believing that the Prophet Daud flexed iron, Prophet Sulaiman ruled the wind, and the prophet ibrahim cooled the fire).

Cause of existence of these beliefs is before the coming of Islam in Sulawesi in the early 17th century, South-Sulawesi residents have embraced animism and dynamism belief those were taught by their ancestors, inherited from generation to generation.¹⁶

Related to the points mentioned above. Historically, Buginese have known about to halusuq and to tenriita who should be given offerings, at a certain time and place. Offerings in the form of sticky rice (sokko) in four kinds (patanrupa) namely in four kinds of colours (white, red, yellow and black) to symbolize the totality of the world. The side dishes (pakkanréang) are chicken, fish and shrimp are mixed according to ancient recipes, and other complements are bananas and water (not cooked) or coconut water. The offerings are intended for the spirits of the world's top placed in a steep ravine, and hilltop. Attic of the house can also be used as a substitute symbol of the high places. The dish is placed in foreground wall on the ridge of the house (timpaq lajaq) in the attic. If a home has no attic, The offerings can also be placed above the cupboard, offerings for the creatures of the underworld have to be placed at the edge of the water, such as the seaside, edge of the pond, or the riverbank. Which symbolically can be replaced with a basin full of water.¹⁷

This belief is based on the tradition about the existence of spirits of ancestors and déwata who have influence in people's live. The ancestors spirits that maintain and provide protection for humans and sometimes they are angry if they are not payed attention by giving offerings. There are also other evil spirits who bring disaster or disease and disturb human life. Therefore at every important event, in human life should be held ceremonies by giving offerings and expressed the hope to the spirits so that they do not get angry and still provide protection for humans.¹⁸

Spirits of ancestors is considered have a special settlement, including the grave, or large rocks sacred by the people. One of the sacred place is the grave of Syeikh Yusuf in Gowa, Pétta Janggoe in Batu-Batu Soppeng, Petta Pallaseq-lasqué in Barru etc. In addition, excessive veneration of the ancestors in South-Sulawesi since antiquity still can be traced from the remnants of religio-magical belief that still exist until today, such as:

1. Aluk-todolo, in Tana-Toraja, with central figure Puang Matua, The belief activities performed with various rituals, such as rambu tuka and rambu solo, reverence or worship of the ancestors in the wild-puya (nature spirits), is connected with the activities of life of family, with various Tongkonan Layuk
2. Belief of to-Lotang, (in Sidenreng-Rappang), it is remnants belief of sacred literature mythology I La Galigo, with central figure déwata séuaé (the single déwa), with various names, la puanngé lebba, totoq To-Palanroé, datu déwata, there are also naming to follow the alphabet lontara spelling as one possibility, namely: “de watang seuae” which means the intangible and single. (who is became the lord, the giver of fate, he who made everything, he is datu déwata). This belief is spread in to wugi, in coastal areas of north bone gulf.
3. Belief of Patuntung, with the central figure is also a kind of supreme and single god with various names: Tu-rieqaqna, tu kammaya éroqna, tu mangkasaraq (Makassarese), This belief is usually found in kajang (Bulukumba), Onto (Bantaeng) and in Camba (Maros)

¹⁸Ahmad Saransi, Tradisi Masyarakat Islam di Sulawesi Selatan, p. 17.

Daud Ismail said that between 1933-1934 AD. there were approximately 200 pieces of idols, and other places of worship which were destroyed by the students who were assigned by AG. Muhammad As'ad. The idols destroyed only the biggest one in territory of Wajo, not including the idols were destroyed in Bone, Soppeng and Sidrap.¹⁹

Beside their belief in the creature who has a very powerful force for good and bad life in Bugis community, there are still a lot of beliefs expressed in form of pémmali, both in terms of food and in certain jobs. Incantations and amulets are still found everywhere. In daily life there are many pémmali which are adhered by residents. Pémmali is prohibition or restrictions to do or to say something.. The examples of pémmali that are still adhered until now are pémmali in pronouncing certain words in a certain place and time, for example when sailing or planting rice. Pémmali to pronounce words “fire”, “nothing”, “stone” etc. The words would be replaced with other words that specifically applied when the people are sailing. Such as using word tambora for replacing word “fire”, masempo for “nothing” , dulu-dulu for “stone” etc. The story of pémmali in Bugis society was clasified into something called rapang that has strong relationship with pangngadereng. So that violation of pémmali causes a person can be considered to violate pangngadereng.²⁰

Beliefs of the ancestors as mentioned above known as attoriyolong, in al-Munir, Daud Ismail explained about it on his commentaries, Q.S. al-A'lā/87: 13:

The disbelievers were just stubborn, arrogant, and jealous of Muhammad the Messenger of Allah or because of their unwillingness to release the teachings of their ancestors, so they refused to accept and lie to the truth, they chose the unguiding, so they kept in their unguiding and disbelieving.

²²Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 109-110.

²³Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 121.

Based on the explanation above, Daud Ismail said that the people who don't want to avoid attoriyolong will be considered as unguiding, not clean, stubborn, and arrogant people.

Other than some form of beliefs that are considered wrong by Daud Ismail above, there is also a belief that he mentioned in his interpretation, that is considered deviate from the true aqidah, namely "wihdatul wujud", as developed by Khalwatiyah Samman. The teachings appeared in South Sulawesi around 1910 AD brought by Abdullah ibn Abd Razak (Haji Palopo) who came from Leppakomae in Maros²⁴. Concept of wihdatul wujud taught his followers that the new (hadiś) can be at one with the Qadim as possibility the unity between the worshipper and The Worshipped (creation and God can be at one), its mean that all things, all that seen, heard and felt nothing but a God.²⁵

To anticipate this understanding develop among the general public, Daud Ismail revealed on his commentary when he explained about God attributes that are worshipped by disbelievers in Q.S. al-Kāfirūn: 1-2:

Followers of Khalawatiah-Samman was also obliged to pilgrimage their caliph or their teachers at least once a year, namely each finished praying Eid or on Maulid or haul. Besides pilgrimage to the caliph who was still alive, they also made a pilgrimage to kobbang (cube) or the tomb of Khalawatiah Samman's religious mans. They prayed and hoped that puang lombo and other caliphs who were "sacred" could connected their pray. They believed that only sacred peoples who have direct relationship with Allah.²⁷ Opinions like these were opposed by Daud Ismail. As revealed in Q.S. al-Ikhlās/112: 2:

this is the error belief of the polytheists because they think that their idols can connect their desire to Allah. So the people who consider that their leaders or teachers are the connectors because they think that their teachers have a special position which can be connector eventhough they have died.

Beside that, some communities in South-Sulawesi also believe on days of prohibition, in terms of the Buginese and Makassarese called by nakasa days. Nakasa days are the days that are forbidden doing various activities and actions, especially decisive actions in human life such as getting married, starting a trading business, starting to plant rice and tobacco, wandering or going away and doing ceremonies etc. When the ancestors would do a great job, they determined in advance the good days in order not to fall on nakasa days. nakasa divided into two, namely: yearly nakasa and monthly nakasa. yearly nakasa falls on every 1st sura (Muharram) and in all days of that year of the date that coincide with the day on 1st Muharram are considered nakasa days. For example, 1st Muharram falls on monday, then during the year, Monday is nakasa day. Monthly nakasa is seen based on certain calculations, some people usually call it as esso sibokoreng and market days. For example: Tobacco farmers in Soppeng avoid to start planting tobacco on the kecci (wry) market day. They will start planting tobacco on the ulaweng (gold) market day. They assume that if they start to plant on kecci market day, the tobacco will be wry even can be failed to be harvested. But if they start to plant on ulaweng market day, they think that the tobacco will be great.²⁹. related to this opinion daud ismail said when explained Q.S al-‘Aşr/103: 2:

C. Communication Forms Between Allah and His Creation

Al-Munir distinguishes forms of speech in the Qur'an according to the status of the parties involve the communication in it. Even though all contents of the Qur'an are *kalāmullāh*³¹. Because Allah swt. has the highest status, then all direct communication that are submitted by Him to the other parties always be expressed in “bicara cukuq” form.

Some examples of communication form of Allah with His creation are as follows.

Allah's communication with His massanger as found in explanation of Q.S. 'Abasa/80: 8-10 ;

Some examples show that all direct communication performed by Allah with the servants or creatures in al-Munir are expressed in the form of “bicara cuku’ ”speech, which are characterized by the use of the term ko/mu, This case illustrates that God has full power to creatures. it's different when God is positioned as opposed to speech (speaker object).

Examples:

Q.S. al-Takaşur/102: 8:

*Ee puang inri lalokkeng sukkurukiwi pappenyamengmu.*³⁵ (O God teach us to be grateful to the favor from You)

Transliteration:

Translation:

O Allah, indeed a servant only able to protect his home, so protect your home.

Do not you let the crusaders and their religion beat your strength.

If you let them fall it out (destroy) our kiblat (our facing place) That is,
 destiny that you show (desired by your wisdom)”

From these examples it could be seen that the use of the pronoun that are addressed to God in to two different versions, even apparently contradictory, Because the sentence sometimes in the form of bicara congaaq (using the pronoun taq/ta), sometimes in the form of bicara cukuk, (using pronounce ko/mu). In this case, The writer has asked several teachers (read: gurutta/anregurutta) when studying in Islamic boarding school of As'adiyah (the same studying place of the author). The conclusion of the answers of this case is: the meaning of ta/ta' is ambiguous, namely “we” and “you” (politely), while pronounce “ko” only has one meaning namely “you” (unpolitely), eventhough in Buginese culture, the use of “ko” is understood as unpolite form. But in this case, the use of word that show the oneness is preferred, so that the used pronoun to Allah is ko. So that the writer conclute that the use of ko/mu and taq as the pronounces of Allah in al-Munir has ³⁶Daud Ismail, Tafsir al-Munir, part 30, p. 295.

purpose to include the value of the oneness that exists in pronouns iko/ko/mu and the value of respect that exists in pronouns taq/ta.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the previous discussions, it can be obtained some conclusions as follows:

1. AG. H. Daud Ismail was born in Cenrana, Lalabata subdistrict on December 30th, 1908 and passed away on Monday, Rajab 28th 1427 H./ August 21st, 2006 AD. He was included among the second generation students. He established Yayasan Perguruan Islam Beowe (YASRIB) and opened Madrasah Muallimin AI (Madrasat al-‘Arabiyyat al-Islamiyyah). One of his biggest works is Tafsir al-Munīr. When it is viewed from periodization of development, it’s included as modern interpretation, but when it’s viewed from the ideas of interpretation, it is still relatively included as textual interpretation. And about the aspect of the methodology it still follows the type of the interpretation adopted by the mutaqaddīmīn interpreters. But, This interpretation book still has its own characteristics. It was written by using Buginese language, so that the Buginese people who read it can know the content well, to keep the Buginese language from extinction and to give a correct understanding of some of the Buginese traditions that contradict with the teachings of Islam which are still maintained.
2. Bugis community is one of the communities in Indonesia that respect to their culture. They maintain identity by teachings of pangngadereng namely adé’ bicara, rapang, wari, and saraq. Pangngadereng system that has existed for centuries caused them to be familiar with the habits of their ancestors, eventhough the truth of the habits/practices are still questionable, especially in terms of beliefs in The God..

3. Theological values of Buginese in al-Munir generally related to the existence of God, the forms of Buginese beliefs in their living environment that has believed in long time ago, and forms of communication between God and creatures that contains the implied meaning. The first, In relation with the existence of God, Allah swt. is “Puang” or called as “Torisompa”. The substantiation of this naming are reverence and submission, God is positioned as “The King” as understood by the Buginese. The second, Attoriyolong became one of the points considered by the author of al-Munir, this is seen when interpreting the verses related to belief, Daud Ismail explained the errors and results of it, He also revealed understanding that were undue to be developed in The Bugis community environment namely understanding of wihdah al-wujud. The third, Direct communication of Allah with his servants or creatures expressed by using the word “iko,ko,and mu” which are characteristic of the form of “bicara cukuq”. Meanwhile, when God is positioned as opposed to speech, words used consists of two versions, namely using the words “mu and ko” (bicara cukuq) and word “ta” (characteristic of bicara congga), its seem contradictory with the theory of Buginese language speech, but meaning desired of the model is the implied meaning, namely monotheism and the glorification.

B. Suggestion

Based on some of the conclusions presented above, the writer suggests:

1. The Qur'an interpretation is different with the Qur'an. If the interpretation is the result of cultural creation that is not absolute, then the Qur'an is believed as the words of God which is absolute and sacred. This facts need to be noticed so that absoluting interpretation and single truth claims based on the interpretation that someone believes do not happen. Therefore, the study of the Qur'an with the culture needs to be done in order to know the relation between Islam and culture.

2. The arrival of Islam in someplaces will always have contact with the cultural values of the society. In that situation, Islam often absorbs local elements which do not contradict with basic principles of its teaching. In every culture, the public save local teaching values that have similiarity with the universal values of the Qur'an. al-Munir is one examples of contacts that happened between Islam (the Qur'an) with the local culture, especially the Buginese culture. Indeed there are many interesting things that needs to be studied in al-Munir. This study only tries to understand contacts happened between the universal values of the Qur'an in one side with theological values of Bugines cultural on the other side. Therefore, further research to the book interpretation still needs to be studied.
