CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION

This chapter consists of background study, research question, research objectives, research significance, and research scopes.

A. Background of Study

يَتَأْتِيهَا النَّاسُ إِنَّا خَلَقْنَاكُمْ مِنْ ذَكَرٍ وَأُنْثَىٰ وَجَعَلْنَاكُمْ شُعُوبًا وَقَبَائِلَ لِتَعَارَفُوا ۗ إِنَّ أَكْرَمَكُمْ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ أَتَقْوَمُ ۗ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلِيمٌ خَبِيرٌ

Translation:

“O mankind, indeed we have created you from male and female and made you peoples and tribes that you may know one another. Indeed, the most noble of you in the sight of Allah is the most righteous of you. Indeed, Allah is Knowing and Acquainted”. (QS al-Hujurat 49: 13)

This verse asserts that the humanity of the nation and the tribes are to know each other. According to al-Baghawi ta'aruf is about making everyone can recognize near or far their nasab with other parties, not to deny each other. Based on this verse, Abd ar-Rahman as-Sa'di states that knowing some nasab is a matter required by the Shari'a. Because, human beings made nations and tribes are for it indeed. Therefore, a person is not allowed to make any other than his or her parents.

By knowing the nasab, various laws can be resolved such as the law of connecting with people who have rights over it, marriage law, inheritance, and so on.

In addition, taaruf is also useful to help each other. With mutual assistance between individuals, a happy and good community.

An important part of a culture or a society is a social value. An act is deemed legitimate in the morally acceptable sense that the action is related to the values agreed upon and respected by the society in which it is performed. The value or basic grip in life is an abstract concept that becomes the main reference or guideline to know the fundamental problem in the life of a society. Values in a society vary, but there are many things that are universal meaning that the truth of the value is widely accepted or absolute. Value refers to the consideration of an action that has a value of truth, religious value and moral values. These values are then manifested in a message called a social message. (Putra 2014: 26)

Values and communities have a very important and inseparable link. Society will be torn apart if the values of togetherness have disappeared from that society. The development of values in a society is influenced by citizens or nations that have value itself. Values are an important part of society and the development of culture.

Culture is collective programming of the main which distinguishes the members of one group or category of people of another. The set of attitudes, values, beliefs, and behavior, shared by a group of people and communicated from one generation to the next. (Hofstede, 1980: 5)

It can be concluded that Culture is a complex whole which includes knowledge, belief, art, moral, law, custom and any other capabilities and habits acquire by man as a member of society.

Nowadays, Indonesian culture is experiencing the threat of extinction caused by the influence of external culture, the lack of attention and interest from the young generation towards its own culture, especially the traditional ceremony. This resulted in some of the cultural heritages becoming extinct; aesthetic values, ethics, rules, and philosophy will disappear from human life.

Culture if not preserved there will be many bad things that will happen, some of the worse things are the next generation, especially in Indonesia. They will be blind about their culture, the culture will die by time because the next generation may not care anymore about culture, culture will change, etc. It is unfortunate if those will happen, because in Indonesia there are many cultures and some of them still exist around in society.

Ma'jaga is one culture that is still often held in the village of Kaluppini. It is a dance accompanied by uttering poems in the form of a prayer performed during the wedding ceremony and traditional ceremonies of Maccera Manurun. The tradition of Maccera Manurun is conducted once for eight years with the aim of gratitude of Kaluppini society to the creator of the earth that has provided an abundance of grace such as fertile soil and the result of abundant planting.

Poems which are commonly called lyrics have been written to express joy, sadness, doubt, decision, ennui, wonder, disappointment, surprise, and prayer. The lyric is the most common of all poetic forms. When people think of poetry, that which comes most readily to mind is a lyric poem. Lyrics are among the simplest poems of the language. (Albert in Qushoy, 2010: 2)

The lyrics used in the Ma'jaga tradition is symbols of communication in the form of messages delivered in the form of singing. The message conveyed from Ma'jaga poems is to humanity, is to man and its creator, and is to man and nature.

In fact, at this time many people in Kaluppini who do not really comprehend the meaning of the messages conveyed in the arts Ma'jaga especially the young generation. Most of them are disregarding their own culture. They are more inclined to the outside culture (western culture). As future generations they are expected to learn and to know the content or message of every tradition that exist especially the Ma'jaga tradition, because this is one of the arts ceremony inherited by the ancestors and still often done in the wedding ceremony. It is unfortunate if the tradition of the relics of our ancestors will just disappear.

From the problem above, the researcher is interested in conducting the research with the title "The social messages of Ma'jaga Poems in Kaluppini, Enrekang" to find out the social message of the poems.

B. Research Question

Based on the previous statements, the formulation of the problem is formulated as follow:

What do the social messages convey in Ma'jaga Poems?

C. Research Objective

Therefore, the purpose of this research is:

To find out the social messages convey in Ma'jaga poems in Kaluppini district, Enrekang aregency.

D. Research Significance

E. Research Scope

Basically, the tradition of Ma'jaga shows two events, those are Ma'jaga in Wedding ceremony and Meccera Manurun ceremony. Culture consists of several values that are moral, social and religious. In this study, the researcher will focus about the social messages of the Ma'jaga poems performed in the wedding ceremony. It will analyzed by using the semiotic theory stated by Roland Barthes to reveal the social messages.

CHAPTER II

LITERATURE REVIEW

A. Previous Findings

Relating to the topic of the thesis, there are two previous studies found by the researcher.

Yapenes (2010) in his thesis, “Tari Pa’jaga dalam Upacara Maccera Manurun Di Desa Adat Kaluppini, Kecamatan Enrekang, Kabupaten Enrekang”. In this research he is use descriptive qualitative method. He was analyzed the history of the Ma’jaga Ceremony.

The findings of this thesis found Ma’jaga tradition is a symbolic representation of courage in guarding the kingdom, especially the protection of the royal family. Pa’jaga Dance at first served as entertainment for the royal family, the marriage of the royal family, and the series of ceremonies Maccera Manurun. At present Pa’jaga dance in addition to functioning as a dance of entertainment also serves as a guest picking dance on the anniversary of Enrekang Regency, as well as at the event of honor guests, and can also be invited to the wedding with consideration to preserve and introduce dance Pa’jaga as one of the traditional dances located in Enrekang Regency.

Nadiar (2013) in his thesis, “Meaning and Function of Pakkio Bunting in Wedding Ceremony of Makassar Culture (ease study at Bontonompo District of Gowa Regency)”. In this research used descriptive qualitative method. He is use hermeneutika theory and that object is Pakkio Bunting). In this research, he was analyzed the meaning and function of Pakkio Bunting in wedding ceremony.

The findings of this thesis found the meaning and function in the text of Pakkio Bunting. The meaning of Pakkio Bunting are happiness, longlife, prosperity, advice, praying, family, kindness, intension, proposal, admission, honestly, expentency, vows, and loyalty. The Function are as a communication tool to convey a messages tu-riolo (ancestors), poetry Pakkio Bunting became one of the forms of interaction between the bride's family represented by speakers Pakkio Bunting with the groom's family, as a refresher material for introspection, as entertainment, as ratification of culture, as a tool of society norms and social control, as an educational tool for oral literature in a given society.

Having compared two researchers, they have similarity of the research by Nadiar and this research. This research about the Makassar culture and used descriptive qualitative to analysis and to find out the object of research. The difference between this research and Nadiar is that the research about the meaning and function of pakkio butting in wedding ceremony in Makassar culture, whereas this research is about message of the culture in Enrekang, is tradition of Ma'jaga in Makassar culture.

The similarity of the research above with this research is also research about Ma'jaga poems and used descriptive qualitative in his research. The difference between this research and Yapenes, is that he only focused on History of Ma'jaga poems without analyzing the message, whereas this research is focus on the social messages of it.

In this study, the researcher will conduct a study related to the two previous researchers is will discuss about culture of Makassar and also uses the research method of descriptive qualitative to analyze it based on Roland Barthes Theory. The purpose of this study is will give the information to young generation about the culture, tradition, Meaning of the tradition, and the message of each tradition in Enrekang, especially tradition Ma'jaga.

B. Conceptual Framework

1. Definition of Social Message

The message is a component in the communication process in the form of a blend of thoughts and feelings of a person by using the symbol, language / other symbols delivered to others. By using a message, one can convey the value or idea he or she wants to others. While, Social message is one form of communication and as a control over the course of a social system or social process. social messages can be a means of communicating new ideas about everyday life. social messages can also be used to criticize the existing social conditions in society. (Effendy, 1989: 224)

Message is what the source to the recipient communicates. Message is a set of verbal or non verbal symbols that represent the feelings, values, ideas or intentions of the source. Messages have three components namely meaning, symbols used to convey the meaning, and the form or organization of the message. (Mulyadi, 2005: 63)

The social term in social science refers to its object, ie society. Whereas socialism is an ideology that stems from the principle of elections. Social is a matter of human relations, either directly or institutional form (family, society, state) a critical attitude to world views and ideologies as well as obligations / responsibilities as members of humanity. (Suseno in Nuswantara, 2014: 14)

Social objects are societies that are viewed from the point of relationship between humans and processes arising from human relationships within society. For that, it can be concluded that the social message is a verbal and non verbal symbol that is conveyed to the community through a media or gesture related to society (human).

He said that traditional figures had previously worn clothes while performing the dance but one of them fell ill. So from then on they no longer wear clothes while dancing. The form of language used in this ritual is poems. The poem is expressed in eight languages: Kaluppini, Maiwa, Bone, Tator, Mandar, Duri, Makassar and Luwu.

The traditional leaders revolved around the object while reciting poems in the form of prayers and messages while waving scarves. Ma'jaga uses eight languages consisting of Maiwa, Kaluppini, Toraja, Mandar, Duri, Bone, Luwu, and Makassar.

4. Semiotic Theory

Etymologically, the term semiotic comes from the Greek word Semeion which means “sign”. In terminologically, Eco defines it as science that study about a vast array of objects, events, and all cultures as signs.

Roland Barthes as one of the semiotics figures sees signification as a total process with a structured arrangement. Signification is not limited to language, but there are also things that are not language. In the end, Barthes regards the social life, regardless of its form, a separate sign system (Kurniawan 2001: 53). There are three stage significations:

a) Denotation

Barthes the first stage of significance is the relationship between signifier (signifier) and signified (marker) in a sign of external reality. He calls this denotation the most obvious meaning of the sign. The meaning of denotation is the first meaning of denotation that is objective (first order) that can be given to the symbols. The meaning of denotation is derived from directly linking directly between the symbol and the designated reality or phenomenon.

Denotation is an objective and fixed meaning; while connotations are subjective and varied meanings. Although different, these two meanings are determined by context. The first meaning, denotative meaning, relates to the reference figure, for example the word red means "color like the color of blood" (more objectively, meaning can be described according to the light). Context in this case to solve polysemic problems; whereas in connotative meaning, context supports the emergence of subjective meaning.

Denotation is sometimes regarded as a digital code where markers (penanda) and marks (petanda) are clearly separated and connotations as analogues are codes that work on continuous scale. (Fiske 2004: 93)

Denotation is the level of signification that describes the relationship between sign and references to reality, which results in explicit, direct, and definite meaning. While connotation is a level of signification that explains the relationship between marks (penanda) and marks (petanda), in which the operating implicit and hidden meaning. Denotation and connotation can not be seen separately or stand alone. In other word, the denotation is what the sign represents of object; whereas connotation is how to describe it. (Fiske 1990: 88)

Means the meaning of denotation is the explicit relationship between the sign with the reference or reality in denotative stage denominations. For example, there are pictures of humans, animals, trees, houses. The colors are recorded as red, yellow, blue, white, and so on. At this stage, only the data information is submitted. In other words denotation can be a word that has meaning in accordance with what is in the Indonesian dictionary, which can be the real meaning or the true meaning of what is written and seen. (Pilliang 1998: 14)

b) Connotation

Connotation is a term used by Barthes to show the significance of the second stage. This illustrates the interactions that occur when a sign meets the feelings or emotions of the speaker as well as the values of the culture. Connotation has a subjective or at least inter-subjective meaning.

Barthes uses the term denotation and connotation to show the levels of meaning. The meaning of connotation refers to the meanings that can be given to symbols with reference to cultural values which are therefore on the second level. Some of Barthes's creations which are his heritage for the intellectual world are, first, the concept of connotation which is the key to the semiotic in the culture of culture; second, the concept of myth which is the result of applying connotations in various fields in everyday life.

In connotative semiotics, the markers in the second system are constituted by the signs in the first system, while in the contrasting metaphors the markers in the second system are constituted by the signs in the first system. (Barthes 2012: 135). Within the framework of Barthes, the connotative is identical to ideological operations, which he calls a “Myth” and serves to express and justify the prevailing dominant values in a given period (Sobur 2001).

c) Myth

Barthes also sees another aspect of marking the "myth" that marks a society. The "myth" according to Barthes lies at the second level of marking, so after a sign-signifier-signified system has been established, the mark will become a new marker which then has a second marker and a new sign. The first marking construction is the language, while the second marking mark is a myth. This second level marking construction is understood by Barthes as Metalanguage. (Putra, 2014: 67)

Myth according to Barthes is a communication system that is a message. Myth then can not become an object, a concept or idea, because myth is a marking mode that is a form. Myth as a form is not limited to the object of its message, but in what way the myth tells the message. It can find the ideology in the text by examining the connotations contained in it one way is to search for mythology in such texts. Ideology is something abstract. Mythology (the unity of coherent myths) presents the inkarsi of hidden meanings of containers in ideology to be narrated. That story is a Myth. (Putra, 2014: 67)

When a sign that has the connotation meaning then develops into the meaning of denotation, then the meaning of denotation will be a myth. For example: Banyan trees are shady and dense cause connotation "sacred" because it is considered as the dwelling of the spirits. This "sacred" connotation then develops into a common assumption attached to the banyan tree symbol, so that the sacred banyan tree is no longer a connotation but turned into a denotation of the second level of meaning. At this stage, the "sacred banyan tree" is finally regarded as a Myth. (Putra 2014: 68)

Semiotic is essentially a theoretical approach to communication in that its aim is to establish widely applicable principles. A semiotic analysis of visual symbols can be tested against viewer responses to identify the patterns of construction of the meaning. It also finds that visuals carrying different types of semiotics meaning elicit different levels of response from viewer. Generally, more viewers note iconic message elements than symbolic or indexical elements. However, those elements with symbolic meaning, fewer though they may be, may create.

B. Discussion

This section also gives the explanation about the description of Ma'jaga poems and the social messages that convey in Ma'jaga Poems. In this analysis, the researcher used Semiotic based on Roland Barthes's theory.

Datum 1:

Extract

Bismillahi tabe puang tinja' ladi palessa
Lattu madeceng tinja'na to indona,
Na lattu madeceng.
Bismillahi tabe puang tinja' ladi palessa
Lattu madeceng tinja'na to ambe'na
Na lattu madeceng.

Based on the Datum 1, the researcher found the sentences that express connotation meaning, such as "Bismillah, tabe puang tinja' ladi palessa" the term of Tabe in Bugis language is one of the honor given to the elderly or the person who was considered to have a higher status. Tabe is similar to the attitude of permission. The epithet in the community was famous known as Puang in Bugis language. It has two meanings: 1) when the word of Puang addressed to the Almighty means "God" usually people call it Puang Allah Ta'ala. 2) If the term "Puang" addressed to the creature then it mean Mister but in this lyric addressed to the Almighty Allah swt.

The poem in the first line was "Bismillah, tabe puang tinja' ladi palessa" means "Bismillah, tabe Puang the desire will be fulfilled" has a meaning that asked for permission to the Almighty Allah of a desire that will be fulfilled. Such as starting a new life that was "Marriage". The poem contained in the second line that was "Lattu madeceng tinja' na indo na" means "her mother wishes is well conveyed" the meaning of the second lyric was hopefully her mother's desire will be accepted by the Almighty Allah, the was desire to marry her daughter.

The third lyrics were "Na lattu madeceng" means "will be received" the meaning of this lyric was hopefully blessed by the Almighty Allah. The lyrics are contained in the first and fourth line has the same meaning. The fifth line is "Lattu madeceng tinja' na Ambe' na" means "her father wishes is well conveyed". It mean hopefully the wishes of his father could be accepted by Almighty Allah. The desire means to marry off his daughter.

The lyric is contained in the second line is "Lattu madeceng tinja' na indo to indo na" and the lyric in the fourth line "Lattu madeceng tinja' na to ambe' na" separated, because the wishes of the two parents were different. The mother expected to daughter, that she would has the good children and become a good wife and good mother. Meanwhile, the father expectation for her husband was to became a good husband that could guide in the right way and took care of his daughter. Because, after the marriage all the responsibility would handle by the husband.

From the previously explanation, it could be concluded that the social message contained in the Ma'jaga poem was a time would come when all the parents must be ready to their responsibility for the daughter and give full to her husband. Therefore, they should teach their daughter how to be a good wife and mother. That she would not be surprised to face new life after she married and has a child. Moreover, they must be able to support each other and become a good father of the family then guide his wife and children, because they would become role models for their children in the future.

*Sima' tana ta ripunna tana
Mapallawai na lattu ri puang to jolo
Tana di indan tana tan di puppu,
Lino leppangan ni aja'mu marannu
apa tannia onroan mara'da
marannu ki makkegona*

The lyric above was the second that poem commonly called Ma'jaga rapu-rapu. That was means performing the Ma'jaga ritual for the salvation of the invited guests. This ritual was usually did in the afternoon when the guests come home. The members of Ma'Jaga perform their rituals beside the entrance of the venue. The wedding tradition in the village of Kaluppini did in two stages, namely the evening and the wedding party that performed on the next day. This lyrics poem was recite in the evening at the same time when the guests coming into the wedding party. The bride's do not sit together in the evening party, only the groom and the both family who could welcome the guest. Whereas, the bride was at home to prepare everything for the wedding party on the next day. In other cities such as in Pinrang, Bone, Parepare, etc, they also have an evening event called Mappacci, but Kaluppini societies do not carry out this tradion.

The content of the poem that are used denotative meaning, this poem remind the people about the world was only a temporary. Life in the world was actually the life to the Hereafter. Then the world was a bridge that must be passed by every human being before going through the afterlife. In other words, the life of the world was a place to have the preparation for the eternal destiny of all the times. As mentioned in the Qur'an (Qs Al-Mu'min: 39) which reads "... The life of this world is only a joy (temporary) and verily it is an everlasting land".

Based on the previous explanation, the social message contained in the poem was that all the pleasures who the humans felt in the world only temporary. Therefore as a Moslem was commanded to be obedient to Allah and His apostle, then avoid to His bans. For that, the humans must prepare to provisions for eternal life in the afterlife, such as doing good to human beings, perform the duty of a Muslim is to pray, give charity, help each other, remind each other in virtue, worship to parents, and always be on the path of God.

Bulu'ki samballeng

Taneteki sappan-sappan

Buttu ki tale-tale

Kenna ratumo nyawana

Kenna pole sumanga'na

Based on Datum 3, the researcher found several connotation meaning. The first line was "Bulu'ki samballeng" mean "Mount of slaughtered". The word Bulu' on the first line in the lyrics of Ma'jaga poem was in the Makassar language means "Mountain". The intention of saying slaughtered mountain was a slaughtered cow. The mountain was the assumption of cow.

The second line was "Tanete ki sappan-sappan" means "The splitted hill". The meaning of Sappan in the Kaluppini language was splitted. The hill was the assumption of an animal (cow). The meaning of the splitted hill was cow that has been skinned and stacked in one place and then would be splitted. Before the cow was slaughtered, there was a ritual performed. The first, beef would be read prays. The next ritual was split the cow and this ritual was did by one of the member of the customary leader. After that this ritual has done people could slaughter the beef.

The third poem was "Buttu ki tale-tale" means "The separated mountain". It means a cow that has been slaughtered and splitted, it would be splitted into pieces. The word of "Buttu" in the third stanza was from Kaluppini language means "Mountain". The word Bulu' and Buttu means mountain but used different word and language, it because in the Ma'jaga ritual used eight languages, namely Makassar language, Kaluppini, Bone, Toraja, Mandar, Duri, and Luwu.

The fourth poem "Kenna ratu mo nyawana" means "May its life is blessed by God". The meaning of the fourth line was the spirit or life of the slaughtered, in addition the cow has reached Almighty Allah. The fifth line was "Kenna pole sumanga'na" means "May the animal's life accepted by The Almighty". The meaning of the fifth line was that all the soul of the slaughtered animal was blessed Allah Almighty and the people enjoyed it blessed as well.

Based on the previously explanation, it could be concluded that the social message contained in the Ma'jaga poem was the slaughter of animal was as the gratitude of host and to the guests who have spent their time pray for the happiness, the tranquility, and peace for the bride. In this case, the people were commanded to be much grateful for all the pleasures of Allah that has given to us while begging for blessings over all that has been done.

The next line was "Lakko tangnga paningo" it means "to be the middle of a player". Furthermore, the intention of this line refers to something of abstract such as the goodness and the blessing.

Based on the explanation above, the social message contained in this stanza that was the pleasure of parents is one of important to their children marriage. Beside of parents blessing that was the crucial thing as well, the blessings of friends and relatives were also extremely important. Therefore, friends and relatives of the bride must be participated in the ceremony to pray for the brides, such as for their health, sustenance abundant salvation, happiness of life in marriage. Based on the previously explanation, the social message contained in the Ma'jaga poem in this datum was that all good intentions. That was not always happen as same as our expectation before. For this reason, sometimes all the people need sacrifice and endeavor in order to reach the expected point as well as the determination of self-determined intention.
