This research aimed to find out what vowel sounds are difficult to be pronounced by the students and what factors make the students difficult to pronounce the English vowel at the third year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo regency. It employed a descriptive method that consisted of two kinds of instruments, there were oral test that consisted of 30 items and questionnaire that included 10 items.

The subjects of the research was the third year students of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo Regency in academic year 2009-2010 namely class XII 1 IPA that consisted of 30 students. The data were collected through questionnaire and oral test, and were analyzed qualitatively and quantitatively.

The result of the research showed that the students of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo Regency got some English vowel difficult to pronounce, The English vowel sound which difficult to pronounce by the students are: /i:/, /u:/, /ə/ and /ʌ/. The result of the research through questionnaire showed that the factor made the students of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo Regency difficult to pronounce the English vowels are: (1). They were confused with the pronunciation, and (2). They were not serious in attending the class.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Language has an important part in our communication, people need to communicate to each other. English as foreign language has been established as important in the world. As an international language, English is very important to make one become successful in mastering science and technology, which is why we still need foreign language.

Event though Indonesia students have been learning English for six until twelve years or more, they still could not express their thought in English correctly because there must be some reasons which bring failure of them in mastering English, especially in pronounce English vowels. The failure originated from difficulties in learning foreign language is caused of the differences between the students' mother tongue and English as target language.

The differences above make the students produce so many errors in pronouncing English vowels. But they do not care about it. And sometimes they do not know what the native speaker said. So the students get difficulties in pronouncing word correctly.

In fact the learners may face some difficulties in the pronunciation when they find new sounds in the target language. A lot of errors made by the students especially to produce English vowels and English consonant in initial and middle position. And the problem made by the students need to solve. For example when the students find the words they did not produce in their mother tongue such as: /ei/, /ai/, /au/, /uə/, /eə/, /iə/, /ɜ:/, /u:/, /ɔ:/, /u:/, /ɪ/ in their mother tongue. As Ramely (1996:25) who has conducted a research on pronunciation find that, the student errors in pronouncing English vowels caused from their mother language.

The difficulty might be caused by the fact that in Indonesian language there are only five vowels and three diphthongs, while in English we have twelve vowels and nine diphthongs, (Anas Syafei: 40).

From the arguments above, the researcher concludes that the difficulties in pronouncing the English vowels and diphthongs are the students rarely to hear and pronounce the sound and also there are some different between English vowel and Indonesian vowel.

Based on the description above, the researcher will conduct the research under the title “The Students’ Difficulties in Pronouncing the English Vowel at the Third Year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo Regency”.

B. Statement of Problem

Based on the background above, some problems need to be answered from this research:

1. What vowel sounds are difficult to be pronounced by the students of the third year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo regency?
2. What factors make the students difficult to pronounce the English Vowel at the third year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo regency?

C. Objective of the Research

The objective of the research is to find out the vowel sounds which are difficult to be pronounced and to find the factors that make the students of the third year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo Regency are difficult to pronounce it.

D. Scope of the Research

The scope of the research is focused on the vowel sounds are difficult to be pronounced and what factors make the students difficult to pronounce the English Vowels at the third year of SMAN 1 Pitumpanua Wajo regency.

E. Significance of the Research

The research is expected to have contributions for:

1. Teachers.

To help them to find out the students' difficulties in pronouncing English vowel in order that they will teach their students well.

2. Students.

They are be able to know their weakness in order that be easily to solve them.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

A. Previous Research Findings

Many researchers have reported their research about difficulties in pronouncing. Some of the findings of related research are presented in the following section.

Arman Asra (1999: 24) in his research about the difficulties encountered by the third semester students of English education department IKIP Ujung Pandang in learning English pronunciation. He formulated problem statement: (1) what are the difficulties encountered by the third semester students and (2) what the sounds are difficult to produce of the students? The result of his research show that the difficulties of students to produce vowel sounds that are /æ/, /ə/ and consonant sounds between /θ/, /ʒ/, /ð/, /dʒ/. And some causes of the difficulties of students to produce that sound resulted from the data presentation and discussions are they could not differentiate the vowel sound of /æ/, /ə/ and consonant sounds of /θ/, /ʒ/, /ð/, /dʒ/.

And Rifial Rifandi (2008: 23) in his research about the error analysis in pronouncing English consonant formulated problem statement, namely: (1) what errors made by students in pronouncing nasals consonants, (2) what errors made by the students in pronouncing fricatives consonants, and (3) what errors made by the students in pronouncing approximants consonants? The result of his research indicate that the students still made some errors in pronouncing English consonant which were skill mispronounced by the students, were in nasal: /m/, /n/, /ŋ/; fricative consonants: /f/, /v/, /θ/, /ð/, /s/, /z/, /ʃ/, /ʒ/; and approximant consonant: /w/, /r/, /j/. The factor that caused the students makes errors in pronouncing English consonant were:

- a. The different sounds and spelling system of English and Indonesian,
- b. The consistence of English spelling system,
- c. Lack of the students knowledge toward the correct pronunciation of English consonants,
- d. Lacking efforts of the students learn and practice the English consonants.

Other research, Dwi Ardeni Amalia (2010:28) in his research she wants to find out the students' errors analysis in pronouncing English sound. Problem statements that have formulated, namely: (1) which English vowels are mispronounced by the students, and (2) which English consonants are mispronounced by the students? After finishing his research he indicated that the students still made some errors in pronouncing English sounds which were still mispronounced by the students were in nasals /ŋ/, fricative /ʒ/, /ð/, /ʃ/, and /ʒ/, affricative /tʃ/ and /dʒ/ long vowels /i:/, /ɜ:/, /u:/, /ɔ:/, and /a:/, and also short vowels /ɪ/, /e/, /æ/, /ə/, /ʌ/, /ʊ/, and /ɒ/. The factors that caused the students errors in pronouncing English sound were:

- a. The different sound and spelling system of English and Indonesian,
- b. The inconsistency of English spelling system,
- c. Lack of the students knowledge toward the correct pronunciation of English sounds,
- d. Lacking efforts of the students learn and practice the English sounds.

From the findings above, the researcher interest to research the difficulties in pronouncing English vowels because certain there are many reason about the students' difficulties in pronouncing English vowels.

B. Some Basic Concepts

1. Difficulties

According to Oxford dictionary (2000:120), difficulty/ies is problem, thing or situation that causes problems.

According to Webster dictionary, difficulty is a factor causing trouble in achieving a positive result or tending to produce a negative result.

2. Pronunciation

According to Encarta dictionary in Mustari (2010:10), pronunciation is the way in which a sound, word, or language is articulated, especially in conforming to an accepted standard, can also the act of articulating a sound or word.

Pronunciation refers to the way a word or a language is spoken or the manner in which someone utters the word.

3. English Pronunciation

We cannot pronounce an English word correctly based on its spelling. English spelling is only a poor representation of pronunciation although it must be admitted that there is much regularity between sounds and written symbols. The ordinary spelling of an English word sometimes has a little apparent relation to its sound. There is no one to one correspondence between the sound uttered and the letter which appears in the written word. The spelling of “o” in “door” and “fool” shows different pronunciations. The letter “o” in “door” is pronounced as /ɔ:/. On the other hand, the same sound may have various spelling as the sound /ɔ:/ in “port”, “stalk,” and “caught.” The sound /ɔ:/ is spelled inconsistently. It is represented the letter “o” in,” “port,” “a” in “stalk,” and “au” in “caught.” We pronounce those words /p ɔ:t/, /st ɔ:k/, and /kæ:t. Therefore, it is necessary for the learners to have a clear understanding of the distinctive sounds that appear in English.

4. Vowel

According to Oxford dictionary (2000:483), vowel is speech sound in which the mouth is open and the tongue is not touching the top of the mouth, the teeth, etc.

Vowel is sounds which are made without any kind of closure to the escape of air through the mouth. The tongue plays an essential role in forming vowels.

- a. /i:/ : sheep /ʃi:p/
- b. /ɪ/ : ship /ʃɪp/
- c. /e/ : bed /bed/
- d. /æ/ : bad /bæd/
- e. /ɑ:/ : father /fɑ:ðə/
- f. /ɔ:/ : saw /sɔ:/
- g. /ɒ/ : lock /lɒk/
- h. /ʊ/ : pull /pʊl/
- i. /u:/ : spoon /spu:n/
- j. /ə/ : about /ə'baʊt/
- k. /ʌ/ : above /ə'bʌv/

1. /ɜ:/ :bird /bɜ:d/

The various vowels and diphthongs selected in this section are those that most likely mispronounced and confused by Indonesian learners. The selection is based on the most common mistake made by Indonesian learners learning English. From my experience of teaching English as a foreign language to Indonesian learners for twenty five years I have observed that not all of the vowel and diphthongs are difficult for Indonesian learners (Anas Syafei, 1988: 40). The sounds that are often mispronounced are:

- a.) The vowel /i:/
- b.) The vowel /æ/
- c.) The vowel /u:/
- d.) The vowel /ɔ:/
- e.) Confusing between the quality of the vowels /i:/ and /I/, /e/ and /æ/, /u:/ and /ʊ/, /a:/ and /ʌ/.

5. English Vowels

English vowels are divided into two major classes, simple vowels (also called pure vowels or monophthongs) and diphthongs (William in Wasis Tri Puspita, 1997: 36). Simple vowels do not show a noticeable change in quality, the vowels of pit, cat, dog, set, but, put, and the first vowel of suppose are all simple vowels. Diphthongs are vowels that exhibit a change in quality within single syllable. According to (Daniel in Wasis Tri Puspita, 2007:20), a vowel is defined as a voiced sound in forming which the air issues in a continuous stream through the pharynx and mouth, there being no obstruction and no narrowing. According to (Ramelan in Wasis Tri Puspita 2007:20), vowel sounds are, therefore, classified and described on the basis of the following variables:

- (1) Which part of the tongue is raised
- (2) How high in the mouth some part of the tongue is raised (the degree of the raising the tongue).
- (3) The position of the two lips, that is, whether the two lips are rounded or unrounded.

The following is a vowel diagram and the description of each of the English vowel as (Ramelan in Wasis Tri Puspita, 2007:20) presents them:

(Ramelan in Wasis Tri Puspita, 2007: 20)

(1) / i: /

Articulatory definition:

/i:/ is an unrounded close front vowel

Articulatory description:

- a. In producing /i:/ the front of the tongue is raised.
- b. It is raised almost to the close position;
- c. The lip position is unrounded or spread, it may even be neutral.
- d. The jaws are slightly apart from each other.
- e. The organs of speech are relatively fortis or tense, which can be felt by putting the fingertips on the muscles bellow the jaws.

THE RESEARCH OF METHODOLOGY

A. Kind of Research

The kind of the research that used in this research was qualitative descriptive. Sugiono (2010:9) stated that Qualitative research is descriptive, the data collected is in the form of words of pictures or table rather than number. Qualitative researches are concerned with process rather than simply outcomes or products: qualitative researches tend to analyze their data inductively.

B. Location and the Time of Research

The location of this research was SMAN 1 Pitumpanua. The research was conducted from July to August 2010.

C. Subject of Research

The subjects of the research were the students of class XII IPA 1 in SMAN 1 Pitumpanua in academic year 2009-2010 that consisted of 30 students.

The researcher chooses the class because there was not Language department in the school and class XII IPA 1 is familiar in the school that the class has bright students.

D. Instrument of the Research

In collecting data, the researcher used two kinds of instruments. They are pronunciation test and questionnaires. Pronunciation test was used to find out the vowel sounds are difficult to be pronounced by them. Questionnaires were used to find out the factors make the students difficult to pronounce the English Vowel.

E. Procedure of collecting data

The data collected through the following procedures, namely:

1. The researcher asked the students to read the text which there are some example of English vowel.
2. One by one of the students read the text, while the researcher recorded their voices and observed the difficulties made by them.
3. Then, the researcher analyzed the data collected.
4. Recording with the camera.

F. Technique of data analysis

The researcher used certain criterion based on Best's (1981) criterion in order to know how well the students pronounce the English vowel. The criterion is follows:

Categories	Number of mistake in percentage
Excellent	0-25 %
Good	26-50 %
Fair	51-75 %
Poor	76-100 %

G. Position of Researcher

The researcher acted as planner, performer, and collector of data and to report the results of research. The planner is the researcher processing, to find out and set the result of data. The performer is the result of the collections will be analyze and explaining of the data by making conclusion. The collector is the researcher determined the subject of research and providing the instruments of data collection. So, the researcher's presence is very important and needed.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

A. Findings

As the researcher explained at the previous chapter, this research used the oral test and questionnaire. The oral test is used to find out the vowel sounds was difficult to be pronounced and questionnaires to find out factors made the students difficult to pronounce the English vowel.
