CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

This chapter begins with the background of the research which is followed by problem statement, the objective of the research, the significance of the research, the scope of the research and definition of terms.

A. Background

English as a global language and a working knowledge has become a requirement in a number of field's occupations, and professions such as medicine and computing; as a consequence over a billion people speak English to at least basic level. For this reason, the government of Indonesia has decided that, English is the first foreign language to be taught in Indonesia as a compulsory subject in Junior High School, and Senior High School. English as a local content and as elective subject in the school functioning as means of physical, mental, and social development for the young learner. The learners are to be skilled or to have basic knowledge to communicate in English such as speaking, reading, writing, and listening.

Speaking is the most important aspect of learning a second on foreign language. Speaking is an interaction process of meaning construction that involves producing, receiving, processing information, speaking is a way in which the language system is manifested through the use of the organ of speech. The English speaking class is aimed to provide students with an opportunity to practice English language with other students (<http://etd.eprints.ums.ac.id/3747/1/A320030355.pdf>).

The first activity in speaking class is conversation, and the conversation always has many ways to start, to continue and to end conversation in all of situations. English Gambits can help people in showing the ways of how to start, to continue, and also to end conversation in every situation.

Mostly Gambits is used for beginning of a conversation. People often concentrate so much on grammar and correctness of the sentences. People forget to teach important skills like getting a conversation started, keeping it going and ending (<http://gambit/englishlanguageinstitute.htm>). It is important that every time gambits is available in the daily conversation especially in the classroom generally as the beneficial source.

Many language learners regard speaking ability as the measure of knowing a language. These learners define fluency as the ability to converse with others, much more than the ability to read, write or comprehend oral language. They regard speaking as the most important skill they can acquire, and they assess their progress in terms of their accomplishment in spoken communication. Language learners need to recognize that speaking involves an area of knowledge.

The English teachers are expected to think and make some effort in helping the learners easily to learn English. It assumed that, one way the English teacher can use in order to make the learners quickly learn in English is using gambits in conversation in speaking class to provide perspective and create a global classroom.

English teachers and many English learners will immediately recognize these gambits. Because, English language learners, often struggling with a limited vocabulary, find these memorable gambits easy to learn and fun to use. Gambits can capture a point of view in vivid words.

There are many advantages that learners will be taken by using English Gambits, people need to express their opinion to fulfill their own need of speaking, to express uncertainty, to emphasize a point, and to maintain a conversation, etc.

Relating to the background above, the researcher is interested in conducting research on “The Students Ability in Using Gambits at SMA Negeri 1 Sungguminasa Gowa.”

B. Problem Statement

Based on the previous background above, the researcher formulated research questions as follows:

How is the ability of the students' speaking in using gambits at SMA Negeri 1 Sungguminasa?

C. Objective of the Research

The aim of the researcher in this study to find out the ability of students' speaking in using gambits at the SMA Negeri 1 Sungguminasa Gowa.

D. Significance of the Research

The result of the research is expected to be useful information for English teachers especially in teaching speaking about the use of English gambits to increase their knowledge. It is hoped that it can give a meaningful contribution to the students to improve their speaking ability.

E. The Scope of the Research

This research is limited to the teaching English at the first year students of SMAN 1 Sungguminasa Gowa. The researcher focuses on the students ability in using gambits, especially in speaking class.

F. Definition of Terms

This research has some important terms that need to be explained in order to give the same perception towards as like below:

1. Gambits

In communication activity we tried to keep the conversation that we do with others feels politer, in order not to feels directly on subject about problem, and in order not to feels crude. that thing get by use of been rendered opener expression, interlocking expression, and responses expression. That express variation so-called gambits, (Pardiyono, 2009)

The examples can be seen below:

1. Taking information : “Could you tell me...?”, “Do you know.....?”
2. Interrupting : “Excuse me...”, “Certainly”
3. Daily activity : “First of all...”, “Then...”, After that..”
4. Giving reason : “First of all...”, “The reason...”
5. Etc

2. Speaking

The Heritage Illustrated Dictionary of the English Language defines speaking as expressive or telling, eloquent. The Concise Oxford Dictionary defines speaking as a person one knows well enough to exchange conversation with him this degree of familiarity. According to Nurjannah (2002), speaking is one of the skills of language that has an important role beside writing, reading, and listening. The main of teaching speaking is to enable students to speak English in order the students can express their ideas orally. Speaking means as oral communication through speaking is commonly performed in face interaction and occurs as part of dialogue rather focuses of verbal exchange. speaking is an interactive process of constructing meaning that involves producing, receiving and processing information. Widdowson (1978) states that the act of communication through speaking is commonly performed in face to face interactions and occurs as part of dialogue or other forms form exchange.

So, in my mind, speaking is the ability to express our idea, opinion about all of things around us through our sounds system and good understanding of the speaker and listening.

3. Ability

Hornby (1995) defines ability is the mental or physical capacity, power or skill required to do something. Oxford defines sufficient power, capacity to do something; legal competency.

Based on the definition above, the writer can conclude that ability is skill or capacity that required doing something or something that can be used to measure the successful of someone, it can be natural or acquired.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

This chapter presents the previous research findings, some pertinent ideas..

A. Some Previous Related Research Findings

The following researches have done by some students in Alauddin State Islamic University of Makassar. They used various methods to find out the students speaking ability. And they have reported to expose the identification of students' attitudes and interest in learning English to make the teaching and learning process more effective, especially in speaking (Mahniar, 2007). Some of the researchers are cited briefly below:

1. Danang (2009) in his research say that The First activity in speaking class is conversation, and the conversations always have many ways to start, to continue and to end conversation in all of situation. English Gambit can help people in showing the ways of how to start, to continue, and also to end conversation in every situation.
2. Hanik (1998) in her research on improving the speaking ability of the third year students of SLTP Mandai by using conversation question, she concludes that conversation question can improve the speaking ability of the third year students of SLTP 2 Mandai.

3. Harmer (1983) states that when two people we engage in talking to each other, we can be fairly sure that they are doing so for a reason probably make the following generalizations:
 - a) She wants to speak: in general way, want to suggest that a speaker makes definite decision address someone. Speaking may be forced on him in some way but we can still say that he wants or intend to speak, other wise he would keep silent.
 - b) He has some communicate purposes: speaker says things because they want something to happen as a result of what they say.
 - c) He selects his language store: that speaker has an infinitive capacity to create new sentences if he is a native speaker.
4. Lallo (2001), research that using stick figure in teaching speaking motivated the students to study. In other words, it made them participated, actively enthusiastically, and expressed their ideas freely.

Based on some related findings above, the researcher in present, assumes that using gambits is a good way use in the speaking ability at the First Year of SMAN 1 of Sungguminasa Gowa.

B. Some Pertinent Ideas

1. Gambits

a. Concept of Gambits for The speaking ability

Speaking is the productive skill in the oral mode. it, like the other skill, is more complicated than it seems at first and involves more than just pronouncing words.

Speaking skill is known as an oral skill that plays essential role in human interaction and communication when people communication their ideas, minds, and feeling to others.(Mariah, 2006)

Widdowson (1985: 85) states that an act of communication through speaking is commonly performed in face interaction and occur as part of a dialogue or rather form of verbal exchange, what is said, therefore, depends on understanding of what case has been said in the interaction. In this further discussion, Widdowson proposes the word of “speaking“ for the manifestation of language as usage to the realization as “talking”. Act of speaking involves not only the production of sound but also the use of gesture, the moment of muscle of face, and indeed of whole body.

Widdowson (1983: 58) states that speaking is commonly performed in face to face interaction and occurs as part of a dialogue or other form of verbal exchange.

In communication activity we tries to keep the conversation that we do with others feels politer, in order not to feels directly on subject about problem, and in order not to feels crude. that thing get by use of been rendered opener expression, interlocking expression, and responses expression. That express variation so-called gambits, (Pardiyono, 2009). Gambits can be a word , phrase, and also clause form. gambits is used for helping someone comes in on a talking point. its function is subject to be help someone to begin or showing face a talk, tacking on talk, or gives response on amount to question.

In order our conversation becomes politer, indirect, and don't feel crude, someone can open talk and saying, "excuse me,..." if someone intends to ask for others help that haven't knows each other, it can say, "excuse me. where is the nearest bank around here?" the sentence will be politer if fuse "excuse me" and "can you tell me." e.g., "excuse me. can you tell me where the nearest bank around here?" this expression like; "excuse me" and "can you tell me?" called gambits. Actually gambits have not special meaning, just functioning as opener of conversation or introduction for entering deep of conversational topic. In using gambits for particular, if we talk, you will more feel nature, not crude, and politer.

Gambits sometimes called of expression. Oxford, (2003) states that expression is thing that people say, write or do to show their feelings, opinion, or ideas. Furthermore, Wikipedia (2010) defines that expression is a person's face, especially their eyes, creates the most obvious and immediate to cues that lead to the information of impression. A person's eyes reveal much about how they are feeling or what they are thinking.

Philosophy dictionary describes that expression is an utterance express a thought : a cry express grief of pain; a poem may express nostalgia or energy. The simplest view would be that any action that makes public or communicates a state of mind thereby expresses it.

Based on the some definition above, we can conclude that expression or gambits is a form a delivering our opinion when communicate to other. In our communication we can share what we think, feel through speaking. It is very important to the learners who study language to enlarge their speaking ability by starting their sentences depend on their thought or mind.

Communication is the core of learning language. The goals of communicative approach technique are to allow students to become communicatively competent, able to use the language appropriate for a given social context and manage the process of negotiating meaning with interlocutors. Individuality is encouraged as well as cooperation with peers, which both contribute to the sense of emotional security with the target language. The nature of communication is that the speaker/ the writer: (Harmer in Blasius Nanggor's Thesis, 2009)

1. Want to say something (eg. Makes a definite decision to address people).
2. Has communicative purpose (eg. Speaker say things because they want something to happen as a result of what they say. They may want to charm, give information, flatter, be rude, complain, to refute, to refuse, to invite, advice etc).
3. Select for language store-speaker, especially native speaker, have an invite capacity to create the sentence in order to achieve communication purpose. Therefore, they select from store / reserve of language they posses which they think is appropriate to carry out that speech act.

2. How to Use Gambits

As has already mentioned before, practically there are some of a number gambits that in common is used in daily conversation. Teachers can give many using up of gambits' example in the context that separate or in the context dialogue. In the following table there are some gambits' purpose example that can give into student.

Because with using gambits, can make easy the students to say something even just a little bit. In this research, the researcher want to know the ability of students in using gambits because one of reason is; the first activity in speaking class is conversation, and the conversation always have many ways to start, to continue and to end conversation in all of situation. English Gambits can help people in showing the ways of how to start, to continue, and also to end conversation in every situation. That's way, gambits is the right choice to apply in learning English.

CHAPTER III

METHOD OF THE RESEARCH

In this research, the researcher presents the research design, research population and sample, instrument of the research, procedure of collecting data, and technique of data analysis.

A. Research Design

The method of research to be used in this research is descriptive method. It aims at giving description of the students' speaking ability in using gambits and the result depends on the score of the students get after answer the test and. It is conducted of SMA Negeri 1 Sungguminasa Gowa..

B. Population and Sample

a. Population

The population of the research will be the second year students of SMAN 1 Sungguminasa Gowa in the Academic Year of 2010-2011. This consists of 364 students.

b. Sample

Sample is the representative of the total number of population which will be researched (Arikunto, 2006). In this research the method of taking sample that is used purposive sampling. Purposive sampling means taking sample by intentionality, serving or effecting a useful function though not as a result of planning or design . Purposive sampling is taking sample based on the specific purpose (Arikunto, 2006). The researcher takes sample for 10% in 364 samples and there are 36 students will become the sample of the research. (Arikunto, 2006: 136).

C. Instrument of the Research

The instrument of this research is a test. The test consist of a number of written questions used to get information from respondents about theirselves report. The test is used to get information about the students' ability in using gambits. It contents 20 questions about gambits. And the type of the test is multiple choice.

D. Procedure collecting data

Students will be given test to be answered, and before the students answer the test, the researcher give instruction about the test. The total time needed to answer the test is 30 minutes. About 5 minutes to explain the way to answer the test and the rest is total time to answer the test. That test is used to get information from respondent about the students ability in using gambits. It contents 20 question about gambits.

E. Technique of Data Analysis

The data is collected through the test, and they are analyzed quantitatively as follows:

Calculating the mean score of students by using the formula:

$$\bar{X} = \frac{\sum X}{N}$$

Where:

\bar{X} : Mean score

$\sum X$: Sum of all scores

N : Total number of subject

(Gay, 1981)

The students score is classified into seven levels of qualification such as follows:

1. (9,6) to (10) is classified as excellent
2. (8,6) to (9,5) is classified as very good
3. (7,6) to (8,5) is classified as good
4. (6,6) to (7,5) is classified as fairly good
5. (5,6) to (6,5) is classified as fair
6. (3,6) to (5,5) is classified as poor
7. (0) to (3,5) is classified as very poor

(depdikbud,1985)

To give score, the researcher will be used the following formula:

$$\text{Score} = \frac{\text{Students' correct answer}}{\text{Total number of items}} \times 10$$

(Sudjana, 2008)

CHAPTER IV

FINDING AND DISCUSSION

This chapter deals with the description of the findings, through data analysis and discussion.

A. Findings and Data Analysis

The data analysis of the data collected through the test.

This part presents the result of the test. They consisted multiple choice 20 items. The score based on the percentage of correct answer from their test namely 1 score for each correct answer.

To know the result of the students score clearly we can use the following table student's score from the objective test;

Table 1 : the students' score through the objective test

Number of Students	Number of Items	Number of Correct Answer	Score
1	20	14	7
2	20	17	8,5
3	20	17	8,5

35	20	15	7,5
36	20	17	8,5
Total			290,5

Source; the scores of the students' ability in using gambits in English obtained through the 20 items of the test.

By looking over the table above the total scores of the students ability in using gambits amount to 290,5 and the number of the students who have been researched their ability in using gambits come to 36 person. Based on the total scores and the number of students, the mean score of the students can be obtained by using formula which has been stated in the previous section, namely;

$$\bar{X} = \frac{\sum X}{N}$$

$$\bar{X} = 8,06$$

Table 2 : The rate percentage of students score

NO.	Classification	Score	Frequency	Percentage (%)
1	Excellent	9,6 – 10	0	0
2	Very good	8,6 - 9,5	4	11,11
3	Good	7,6 – 8,5	23	63,88
4	Fairly good	6,6 – 7,5	8	22,222
5	Fair	5,6 – 6,5	1	2,77
6	Poor	3,6 – 5,5	0	0
7	Very poor	0 – 3,3	0	0
Total			36	100 %

The table above shows that, none of students (0%) out of 36 students has excellent competence. But 4 students (11,11%) got very good competence, 23 students (63,88%) got good competence, 8 students (22,22%) got fairly good competence, 1 students (2,77 %) got fair competence. And none of the students got poor and very poor competence. And the mean score of the students was 8.06. So we can conclude that mostly students classified as good competence in using gambits.

B. Discussion

In this part, the researcher would like to discuss the result of the data analysis which are expected mainly to relate with the description of this research. The ability of the first year of SMA Negeri 1 Sungguminasa Gowa in using gambits is good. It was supported by Danang (2009) in his research say that The first activity in speaking class is conversation, and the conversations always have many ways to start, to continue and to end conversation in all of situation. English Gambit can help people in showing the ways of how to start, to continue, and also to end conversation in every situation. So, that's why the researcher want to know the students ability in using gambits.

The result of this research, the data has been showed that most of students had good competence in using gambits. Eventhough The result of data analysis that, the higher competence of the students in the use of gambits is (9) and the smaller competence the use of gambits is (6,5). Therefore the student competence in the use of gambits is classified as good competence because none of students got poor competence. It is proved that the mean score of the student in the English gambits objective test (8,06). This mean score describes that is good ability.

After giving the objective test to the students, it is found that the students competence in using gambits is classified good.

CHAPTER V
