This thesis is the analysis about the myth in Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein". The objective of this research are to find out kinds of myth in the movie "I Frankenstein" by Stuart Beattie and to know the meaning of each myth found in the movie "I Frankenstein" by Stuart Beattie. This research used structural approach. The method used in this research is qualitative method in analyzing data. The data of this research are taken from Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein" which is published in 2014. In collecting the data, the writer used note taking as instrument. The writer used Andrew Lang theory who divided myths into four kinds. In this research, the writer found that there are four kinds of myths in the movie are; rebirth myths, eschatological myths, social myth and the tricksters myths and found the meaning of myth in Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein" is the corpses can back to life which the spirit is something eternal, which can be reborn into another creature, all spirit will come in the body. Therefore, the writer concluded that there is myth that can be believed that is eschatological myth believed to doomsday and there also myth cannot be believed that's is rebirth myths which revived human who have died by human. The implication of this research is to give information to readers who want to increase their knowledge about myth especially kinds of myth. Hopefully, this research can be a reference for other writers about myth.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Literature is the result of author's thought and feeling, through expression with social life or their community in their surroundings, which are put into language become a work or literary works. According to Ahira (2010) literature is in the form of thoughts, feelings, experiences, ideas, beliefs and others. Expressions attempt to bring something in human beings. Forms of human self can be expressed out, in various forms, for without form would not be possible the content was delivered to someone else.

Literature can be divided into two major categories, they are fiction and non-fiction. Fiction is literary works that is not based on true story some example are short story, poetry, drama, movie, etc. Non-fiction is literary works that is based on the true story for example personal essay, history, biography and autobiography. Movie as one of fiction literary is not only made based on imagination, but also directed to break up the facts that always faced has become a medium to describe about human life now (Syafii' 2013:21).

In the movie, many genres had known as well as action, adventure, comedy, fantasy, historical, horror, Sci-Fi, etc. Thus, the movie genres often mix genre like horror-comedy, western-comedy, horror-science fiction, etc. The current trend of superhero, fantasy, sci-fi, horror movie can be seen as a form of modern mythology grand out of the ordinary tales inspired by human experience like lore of old. (Clarence, 2013).

Talking about mythology and human, they have relation each other. Human is creature which is created by God and the human have a mind to think and be able to distinguish about mythology of they believe. The word myth comes from the Greek word mythos, which means a spoken or written story. The purpose of the myth is to explain human experience. According to Sikana (2008: 140), myth is collection of stories that tells the story of the origin; including the human lineage, speculation natural events, the creation of the horizon, tales of fantasy, the magic, heroism, and also the aspect of trust. This believed aspects including religion, customs, abstinence, habits, cultural practices, and patterns of spiritual adherents. These are things can be found in literature.

There are some myths which become phenomena in human life and still believed by society in the world. For example phenomena of paranormal as well as full mystery, magic and supernatural. Phenomena of paranormal include matters such as creatures, ghosts, reincarnation, prediction card and etc. In addition the mythology tends to be speculative and philosophic, its affinities are with religion, anthropology and cultural history. So in the other word, between religion, anthropology and culture, they have relation which is support each other, and those are named mythology (Gurien 2005:155).

مَا تَعْبُدُونَ مِنْ دُونِهِ إِلَّا أَسْمَاءَ سَمَّيْتُمُوهَا أَنْتُمْ وَآبَاؤُكُمْ مَا أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ
 بِهَا مِنْ سُلْطَانٍ إِنْ الْحُكْمُ إِلَّا لِلَّهِ أَمَرَ أَلَّا تَعْبُدُوا إِلَّا إِيَّاهُ ذَلِكَ الدِّينُ الْقَيِّمُ
 وَلَكِنَّ أَكْثَرَ النَّاسِ لَا يَعْلَمُونَ ﴿٤٠﴾

Translate:

“You worship not besides Him except (mere) names you have named them, you and your fathers, for which Allah has sent down no authority. Legislation is not but for Allah. He has commanded that you worship not except Him. That is the correct religion, but most of the people do not know”.

In surah Yusuf, implies about people believe in the myth by making the names themselves were regarded as sacred, even that make it as a god. But divinity is not owned at all by the names of their own, Thus it is only a name without a meaning and substance of the matter. He is similar to slogans despite sounding sacred, but it is only a mere cult that breeds trust hereditary basis without justifiable truth.

From the explanation above, the writer interested in analyzing Stuart Bettie’s Movie I Frankenstein, because tell about human of dead revived by maker in a laboratory, and he a dozen used parts from eight different corpses, stitched, jolted used eels as a source of power. He is the first man could beat the devil by using the sacred objects marked symbol order Gargoyle. And then it is interested in analyzing myths which is portrayed in the movie. In this movie is about many events related to myth of Greek.

Based on the illustration above, the writer took “Analysis myth in Stuart Beattie’s movie ”I Frankenstein” as a title of this research and used Andrew Lang theory who divided myths into four kinds.

B. Problem Statement

Based upon the background above, the writer formulated the questions of this research are:

1. What are the kinds of myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie?
2. What is the meaning of each myth found in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie?

C. Objective Of Research

Based on formulated of the problem above, this research has the following purposes:

1. To find the kinds of myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie.
2. To know the meaning of myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie.

D. Significance Of Research

The significances of the study as follows:

1. The result of the study would give contribution to readers in understanding “I Frankenstein” the movie by Stuart Beattie from myth point of view.

2. The research is expected to give additional knowledge or can be reference for the next researches who wants to analyze about the myth.

E. Scope Of Research

In this research, the writer focused on the myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF LITERATURE

A. Previous Findings

In this research, the writer wants to focus on mythology and meaning that exist in the movie. The analysis about myth has been conducted by some researches. As follows:

Hardiyani (2011). In his thesis "Mitologi Kiamat dalam Film 2012". The purpose of this paper is to determine the mythology of the apocalypse in movie, to see how the mythology of the apocalypse that is displayed verbally and nonverbal. Semiotics and meaning contained in the mark or code contained in the movie. The method used is a qualitative study technique analysis semiotics of Roland Barthes in order to capture the meaning contained in the mark sign, message or image code, as well as the context of the Mayan culture myth. The results of the study showed that the apocalypse mythology in the movie utilizing the symbols which had previously been accepted in the community, as a symbols of cultural or traditional beliefs. Symbol visible symbol of which is the use of a visual effect of solar eruptions the largest so lead to major natural disasters such as earthquakes, downs ground level and make some cities drowning, fires, spills flood, and some other images related to the public perception that the movie is a film that telling signs of the day end or doom.

Ardin (2013), in her thesis "Analysis of Mythology in Rick Riordan's Novel 'The Red Pyramid'". This thesis focuses on analyzing the kind of mythological symbol and describing the meaning of mythological symbols in the novel. The writer used semiotic analysis as an approach to find the kinds of mythological symbols and describe their meanings in the novel. Then the writer used note-taking as an instrument. In this thesis, the writer found five kinds of mythological symbols in the novel. These are object, character, sense, setting, and action. And then, the researcher also described the meaning of mythological symbol expressions that were carried out by the author in the novel.

Irfawati (2015) in her thesis is "Analysis of Myths in Colleen Houck's Novel 'Tiger's Curse'". This thesis focuses on analyzing the kinds of myths and the meaning of each myth found in the novel. This research used a structural approach. The writer used Lincoln Bruce's theory, who divides myths into four kinds. The result of the research, the writer found there are 18 data. The conclusion of this research, the writer found that there are four kinds of myths. They are rational myth, structural myth, functional myth, and psychological myth. The author also found the meaning of each myth in Colleen Houck's Novel "Tiger's Curse".

From some previous findings above, the writer can conclude that the similarity among three previous researches above and this research is a study about myth. Hasrida's research used Revzina's theory about kinds of symbols, Irfawati's research used Lincoln Bruce's theory who divides myths into four kinds and used structural approach, while Hardiani's in this research focused on mythology theory. The writer analyzed myth in the movie I Frankenstein movie by Stuart Beattie, used Andrew Lang theory divides myths into four kinds and used structural approach.

There is one the researches above used structural approach, and different from this thesis. The writer analyzed myth in the movie I Frankenstein movie by Stuart Beattie, used structural approach, and focused on kind and meaning of the myth. The same as Irfawati, the writer here also used structural approach to analysis meaning of myth. Nevertheless, the writer has different theory and object, Irfawati used novel as object and used Lincoln Bruce's theory while this thesis used movie as object and used Andrew Lang theory.

B. Description of Mythology

Mythology is the study of myth. In ancient Greece myth (mu thos) came to mean a fiction. Nowadays usually associated with fictions which include the gods or supernatural forces, myth also has the general meaning of the major fictional stories that have abided since ancient times. Thus myth, while denoting what is fictional, also tends to refer to stories that have an apparently timeless and universal appeal and truth (Alen, 2003: 34).

Myth is a sacred narrative explaining how the world and human being assumed their present form, although, in a very broad sense, the word can refer to any traditional story. Myth as "ideology in narrative accounts of historical events, as allegory for or personification of natural phenomena, or as an explanation of ritual, they are used to convey religious or idealized experience, to establish behavioral models, and to teach. Modern mythopoeia such as fantasy novels, manga, and urban legend, with many competing artificial myth is acknowledged as fiction, supports the idea of myth as a modern, not just ancient, social practice (Cynthia, 2000: 24).

Myth is a story that may or may not be true. The definition of the word myth is still subject to debate. There may not be records or other proof that they happened, but at least some parts of myths may be true. We know about them from older people telling them to younger people. Some myths may have started as “true” stories but as people told and re-told them, they may have changed some parts, so they are less “true”. They may have changed them by mistake, or to make them more interesting. All cultures have myths. Stories about the Greek and Roman gods and goddesses are myths. (Chaplain 1996: 18).

Myth is a comprehensive term for stories primarily concerned with the gods and man's relations with them; saga, as we have seen, has a perceptible relationship to history. These two categories underlie the basic division of the first two parts of this book into the myths of creation, the gods and the Greek saga. Myth must be ancient and of anonymous origin, others demand that they invariably be concerned with nature and provide explanations for its phenomena (real myths are nature stories and actiological), still others would expand their definition to include tales dealing with all circumstances of human life, although they might also insist upon the presence of the divine or supernatural for authenticity (Morford, 1977:3). In other words, the conclusion of theory above according Morford explains in the book that the myth is a term for a story that comprehensive to relationship with the gods and humans.

Many people once believed in mythological animals and gods. These animals or gods may have control or has power over a part of human or natural life. For example, the Greek god named Zeus had powers over lightning and storms. Whenever Zeus wanted to, he could make a storm, and that he made storms to show his anger. Another example is that of the Egyptian god, Atum, who was said to be the creator of everything in the world. In Hindu mythology, the cause of thunderstorms was said to be the wrath of Indra, the chief of all gods. His most powerful weapon was the Vajra 1, or thunderbolt. It was said that no one could survive after an attack from this weapon. All cultures have developed their own mythology over time. Mythology includes the legends of their history, their religions, their stories of how the world was created, and their hero. These stories have great symbolic power, and this may be a major reason why they survive as long as they do, sometimes for thousands of years.

Many literary critics take the same Levi-Straussian structuralist, as it is coined, approach to literature. This approach is again similar to symbolist critic's approach to literature. There is a search for the lowest constituent of the story. But as with the myth, Levi-Straussian structuralism then analyzes the relation between these constituent parts in order to compare even greater relations between versions of stories as well as among stories themselves. Furthermore, Levi-Strauss suggested that the structural approach and mental processes dedicated towards analyzing the myth are similar in nature to those in science. This connection between myth and science is further elaborated in his book, “Myth and Meaning” and “The Savage Mind” He suggests that the foundation of structuralism is based upon an innate understanding of the scientific process, which seeks to break down complex phenomena into its component parts and then analyze the relation between them. The structuralism approach to myth is precisely the same method, and as a method this can be readily applied to literature, (Strauss, 2000:12)

Many definitions of myth repeat similar general aspects of the genre and may be summarized thus: Myths are symbolic tales of the distant past (often primordial times) that concern cosmogony and cosmology (the origin and nature of the universe), may be connected to belief systems or rituals, and may serve to direct social action and values. (Womack, 2005; 81)

There are a number of general conceptual frameworks involved in definition of myth, including these (Magoulick, 1998:2)

1. Myths is cosmogony narrative, connected with the foundation or origin of the universe (and key beings within that universe), though often specifically in terms of a particular culture or religion. Given the connection to origins, the setting is typically primordial (the beginning of time) and characters are proto-human or deific. Myths also often have cosmogony overtones even when not fully cosmogony, for instance dealing with origins of important elements of the culture (food, medicine, ceremonies, etc.).

2. Myths are narratives of a sacred nature, often connected with some ritual. Myths are often foundational or key narratives associated with religions. These narratives are believed to be true from within the associated faith system (though sometimes that truth is understood to be metaphorical rather than literal). Within any given culture there may be sacred and secular myths coexisting.
3. Myths are narrative formative or reflective of social order or values within a culture (e.g. functionalism).
4. Myths are narratives representative of a particular epistemology or way of understanding nature and organizing thought. For example, structuralism recognizes paired bundles of opposites (or dualities- like light and dark) as central to myths.
5. Mythic narratives often involve heroic characters (possibly proto humans, super humans or gods) who mediate inherent, troubling dualities, reconcile us to our realities, or establish the patterns for life as we know it. Myths are narratives that are “featuring actors and actions that confound the conventions of routine experience.

According to L Guerin (1979 : 324), myth in the traditional sense, an anonymous story reflecting primitive beliefs or explaining the mysteries of the natural universe. In more recent theory, myth is the symbolic projection of a people’s collective values a communal, almost instinctive, articulation of reality. Sometimes defined as the verbal aspect of ritual, mythology tends to be speculative and philosophic; its affinities are with religion, anthropology, and cultural history, and myth are the symbolic projections of a people's hopes, values, fears, and aspirations (p.155). Myth is not only stories God and Goddess in ancient history. Actually, myth is the reflection of human's hopes, value, fears and desire" (Guerin, 2005: 156).

According to Watts in L Guerin (1979 : 156) " myth is to be defined as a complex of stories – some no doubt fact, and some fantasy – which, for various reasons, human beings regard as demonstrations of the inner meaning of the universe and of human life ". Myth are, by nature, collective and communal; they bind a tribe or nation together in that people's common and psychological and spiritual activities.

Barthes further explains that everything in the world could be a myth. Everything in this world can be changed from a closed form in the silence switch to an oral condition that is open to use by the public, either because there is no natural law that prohibits or does not talk about such things. Barthes then gives examples of trees that have new meaning when it is in the hands of an artist such as, Minou Drouet. Tree is transform when the tree is decorated, adapted, and loaded with meaning that will change the literary tree to tree as we know it before (Barthes, 1975: 120).

Based on the explanation above, the writer concludes that myth is any story or narrative, in which the characters are gods, heroes, and mystical beings. And then everything in the world could be a myth if people believe toward anything loaded meaning sacred.

C. Structural Approach

According to Lévi-Strauss (1963: 307), the structure is a system consisting of a number of elements which none can change without producing changes in all other elements. Thus, the most important in structuralism is not the existence of the elements, but the elements of the entanglement with other elements in the form of meaning.

In further explained that there are two thoughts that underlie structuralism's view of Lévi-Strauss; the first is the meaning of a text depends on the meaning of the parts, so that if the meaning of a passage is changed, then a little more overall meaning of the text will change as well. The second is the meaning of any part or events in a text determined by events that may replace it without the whole text becoming meaningless or absurd (Pettit, 1977: 43).

In Lévi-Strauss's structuralism, structure and transformation is a concept that should not be overlooked. Structural analysis of the structure is divided into two, namely surface structure and deep structure. The surface structure is the relationships between elements that we can make based on external features or characteristics of empirical of these relations, while the deep structure is a specific arrangement based on the structure of birth that have been made. The deep structure is more accurately described as a model for understanding the phenomenon under study, because it is through this structure that researchers can understand the various cultural phenomena studied (Ahimsa Putra, 2001: 61-62).

Structural approach can also be called intrinsic approach. The analysis addressed to the text itself as an entity composed of parts intertwined with each other and the analysis is based on the intrinsic parameters based on the existence of internal elements (Siswanto in Ratna, 2006: 19).

In the meantime, discuss the theory of Levi-Strauss's structuralism course will also explore the myth as the basis for the study of theory. Myth is composed of units called mytheme or gross constituent units. Each mytheme will consist of one relationship which is not an isolated relation, but rather a bundle of relations. One bundle of relationships are relationships in one column to produce meaning if it establishes a bundle relationship and combine. (Lévi-Strauss, 1963: 206-207).

One concept that characterizes the structural theory is the notion that within a literary work is an autonomous structure, which can be understood as a unified whole with the building elements are intertwined with each other (Jabrohim, 2003: 55).

The purpose of structural analysis is to unpack, explain, as carefully as possible linkages and link of various aspect which together from the meaning. (Teeuw, 1984:135-136).

So the structural analysis is study based on the internal elements of literary work that is one unit in order disclosure of the overall meaning.

D. Kinds of Mythology

According to Andrew in Yeniswari, (2009:6). Classified kinds of the myth such as:

1. Rebirth Myths

Myths of archaic traditions generally imply a conception of the world, nature, and man in terms of cyclic time. According to Australian Aboriginal myth, man is reincarnated into profane life at the moment of his birth. At his initiation he reenters sacred time, and through his burial ceremony he returns to his original "spirit" state. Similar beliefs are held by many tribal peoples, and their myths are expressed in terms of cosmic cycles. Special myths are narrated in many places in preparation for initiation procedures.

Some cultures such as the Greek sees time as a cycle everything is re-born, each even will happen again. There is no end. For this reason, the idea of the going the "immortality," where the gods live, is entirely different from the Christian idea of "heaven". Heaven is the termination of life, as we know, the shift to a location to receive the eternal reward for the soul. A believe in the Christian religion is not born again – life stops on Earth (Joseph, 1986: 14).

2. Eschatological myths

Eschatological myths are a part of theology concerned with what are believed to be the final events of history, or the ultimate destiny of humanity. This concept is commonly referred to as the "end of the world" or "end time". Most modern eschatology and Apocalypticism, both religious and secular, involve the violent disruption or destruction of the world; whereas Christian and Jewish eschatology view the end times as the consummation or perfection of God's creation of the world. For example, according to ancient Hebrew belief, life takes a linear (and not cyclical) path; the world began with God and is constantly headed toward God's final goal for creation, which is the world to come.

Eschatological is the judgment day on which every living creature will face death and monsters or gods who will go back to the place of origin in which we were created. Death is not the greatest loss in life but death then we are dealing with death to get a longer life (Kahlil, 2008).

3. Social myths

Social myths reinforce or defend current social values or practices. For an example of a social myth, let's look into Ryan William's book, blaming the Victim. The following are some notes from pages 20-21 in his book: "In late-nineteenth century America there flowered another ideology of injustice that seemed rational and just to the decent, progressive person... Social Darwinism... One can scarcely imagine a better fit than the one between this ideology and the purposes and actions of the robber barons, who descended like piranha fish on the America of this era and picked its bones clean. Their extraordinarily unethical operations netted them not only hundreds of millions of dollars but also, perversely, the adoration of the nation, behavior that would be, in any more rational land (including today's America), more than enough to have landed them all in jail, was praised as the very model of a captain of modern industry. And the philosophy that justified their thievery was such that John D. Rockefeller could actually stand up and preach it in church.

4. The Trickster's myths

The Trickster's myths are among the most entertaining characters in world mythology. Usually male, they delight in breaking rules, boasting, and playing tricks on both humans and gods. Most tricksters are shape-changers who can take any form, though they often appear as animals. Trickster plays a prominent role in African and Native American mythologies. They can also be found in the myths of Europeans, Asians, Pacific Islanders, and the Aborigines of Australia. Certain gods, demigods, and heroes from around the world are described as having trickster qualities. Trickster Myths Eshu is just one of the many tricksters in African mythology. A trickster appears in some myths, and tales about a trickster spider called Arachne are widespread in West Africa. Arachne is a cunning fellow who acts as God's assistant, although some stories reveal him trying to trick God. Examples of trickster characters include the Norse god Loki, the Greek god Hermes and the Native American Coyote, who is prominent in the myths of many tribes. What trickster like Coyote personifies is the force that brings change to otherwise static and often rigid social structure the force of human experimentation and raw passion which is why the trickster often takes animal forms.

The trickster myth, an important part of most cultures if not all, have seeped legends and folklore of the people since the beginning of civilized man. The ancient Greeks had a Hermes, Chinese Monkey King, and Native American Indians coyotes. It trickster found in diverse cultures often have a lot in common with each other, and then, often they do not but, this illustrates the nature of the trickster; constantly changing, shifting, shaping, coloring, and cheat your way into the lives of gods and mortals (Loki, 2005; 1-4)

Based on correlated with Al-Qur'an as our guide book as Islam. Kinds of myth above, such as rebirth is the situation will be experienced all people have died. As a teaching of Islam that all the soul has died will return from their graves and will be collected in the somewhere is namely Mahsyar. This issue is believed by Muslims as described in Surah Al-Hajj Verse 7:

وَأَنَّ السَّاعَةَ آتِيَةٌ لَا رَيْبَ لَهَا وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ يَبْعَثُ مَنْ فِي الْقُبُورِ ﴿٧﴾

Translate:

“And (that they may know) that the hour is coming – no doubt about it – and that Allah will resurrect those in the graves”.

However, based on our belief as a Muslim there is no rebirth in our religion but in our believe resurrection.

In the verse above also explain about eschatological myth that the doomsday is surely coming. So, the myth is not just a myth but has been describes in the Qur'an that doomsday will actually happen. And has been also described in Surah Furqan verse 2, there is no worship except, to Allah ask not to what our ancestors have though that only Allah can create everything. Surah Furqon verse 2:

الَّذِي لَهُ مُلْكُ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْاَرْضِ وَلَمْ يَتَّخِذْ وَلَدًا وَلَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُ قَرْيَةً
 مِنَ الْمَلٰٓئِكَةِ حَافِيًا يَنْشُرُ السَّحَابَ الْغُلُقُقٰٓءَ

Translate:

“He to whom belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth and who has not taken a son and has not had a partner in dominion and has created each thing and determined it with (precise) determination”.

Based on the types of myth above are some differences, as follow:

No.	Kinds of Myths	Differences
1.	Rebirth myths	Died as ordinary mortals, only to become gods of various statures after they were resurrected from the dead. Not dying as gods, they thus defy the definition of “dying and rising gods”

2.	Eschatological myths	Eschatology pointed at the end of which simultaneously entered a new phase, either individually or communally - personal - collective. That is about the fate of the whole human person's life or universal or cosmic.
3.	Social myths	Occurs in the form of a real violation of rules and procedures that are considered good morals in society.
4.	The Trickster's myths	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Being ambiguous 2) Like cheat or play tricks 3) Clever disguise or transformation 4) Capable of turning any situation drastically 5) Often help, as well as against, figures that are more powerful 6) Very creative when passed

E. Myth in Greek

Greek mythology is the body of myths and teachings that belong to the ancient Greeks, concerning their gods and heroes, the nature of the world, and the origins and significance of their own cult and ritual practices. It was a part of the religion in ancient Greece. Modern scholars refer to and study the myths in an attempt to throw light on the religious and political institutions of Ancient Greece and its civilization, and to gain understanding of the nature of myth-making itself (Hellas 1952).

Most of the Greek god depicted as a human, but not be born old, immune to anything, be invisible, and each god has its own characteristics. Therefore, the gods also have the names of titles for each character, which may be more than one. These deities are sometimes help humans, and even human love relationship with that produced a child, who is half-man half god. Children are what came to be known as a hero. Greek mythology is explicitly contained in a collection of stories and artwork of Ancient Greece, as in the vase paintings and ritual objects to the gods. Greek mythology explains the origins of the world as well as the life and adventures of various gods, goddesses, heroes, and mythological creatures. Greek mythology was initially spread through oral tradition. Today most of the information about Greek mythology derived from Greek literature.

2. Genre of movie

According Joyce 2009: 132. The movie genre consist of:

- a. Action: where one or more heroes are thrust into a series of challenges that typically include physical feats, extended combat scenes, violence and frenetic chases. Action films tend to feature a resourceful character struggling against incredible odds, including life-threatening situations, a villain, or a pursuit, which generally conclude in victory for the hero.
- b. Adventure: features the hero in action scenes which also display and explore exotic locations. The subgenres of adventure films include swashbuckler film, disaster films, and historical dramas – which is similar to the epic film genre. Main plot elements include quests for lost continents, a jungle or desert settings, characters going on a treasure hunts and heroic journeys into the unknown. Adventure films are mostly set in a period background and may include adapted stories of historical or fictional adventure heroes within the historical context. Kings, battles, rebellion or piracy are commonly seen in adventure films. Adventure films may also be combined with other movie genres such as, science fiction, fantasy and sometimes war films.

- c. Fantasy: featuring elements of the fantastic, often including magic, supernatural forces, or exotic fantasy worlds. Fantasy television programs are often based on tales from mythology and folklore, or are adapted from fantasy stories in other media. The boundaries of fantasy television overlap with science fiction and horror.
- d. Horror is a film genre seeking to elicit a negative emotional reaction from viewers by playing on the audience's primal fears. Horror films often feature scenes that startle the viewer; the macabre and the supernatural are frequent themes. Thus they may overlap with the fantasy, supernatural, and thriller genres.
- e. Western series: set in the American West and embody the spirit, the struggle and the demise of the new frontier. Western series use stock characters such as cowboys, gunslingers, and bounty hunters, often depicted as semi-nomadic wanderers who wear Stetson hats, bandannas, spurs, and buckskins, use revolvers or rifles as everyday tools of survival, and ride between dusty towns and cattle ranches on their trusty steeds.

f. Comedy: A subgenre of comedy which emphasizes physically humorous antics, unorthodox body-language and oftentimes exasperating situations. Examples are: Charlie Chaplin, Jackie Chan, and Lucille Ball.

g. Biography: The details of the life story of a real person, told by someone else.

h. Mystery

A mystery story follows an investigator as he/she attempts to solve a crime. The details and clues are presented as the story continues and the protagonist discovers them and by the end of the story the perpetrator and motive behind the crime are revealed and the perpetrator is brought to justice. Mystery novels are often written in series which allows a more in-depth development of the primary investigator

i. Sci-Fi: Science fiction is similar to fantasy, except stories in this genre use scientific understanding to explain the universe that it takes place in. It generally includes or is centered on the presumed effects or ramifications of computers or machines; travel through space, time or alternate universes; alien life-forms; genetic engineering; or other such things. The science or technology used may or may not be very thoroughly elaborated on; stories whose scientific elements are reasonably detailed, well-researched and considered to be relatively plausible given current knowledge and technology are often referred to as hard science fiction.

G. Synopsis of Movie “I Frankenstein”

In 1795, Dr. Victor Frankenstein creates a monster, a soulless creature patched together from corpses, and then rejects it, disgusted with what he's made, he throw his created on bridged felt to river. Leonore called the creatur “Adam” and then, explains to that they were created by the Archangel Michael to battle demons on Earth and protect humanity. Adam departs after being given heavy, baton-like weapons to protect him, as more demons will come after him. The weapons allow him to "descend" demons (destroying their bodies and trapping their souls in Hell) as they have the symbol of the Gargoyle Order carved on them.

Throughout the centuries, Adam fend off the demons that pursue him. The demon-prince Naberius, who is disguised as billionaire businessman Charles Wessex, has employed scientists Terra Wade and Carl Avery to conduct experiments with reanimated corpses, and sends a group of demons to attack the gargoyles' cathedral and capture Adam so he can unlock the secret to giving life.

The cathedral is attacked. In the ensuing battle, a number of gargoyles are "ascended" (returned to and trapped in Heaven). Then, Adam then follows Zuriel to the Wessex Institute, where he learns that Naberius plans to recreate Frankenstein's experiment and use thousands of reanimated corpses as hosts for souls of the descended demons. The demons will be able to return from Hell if they have soulless bodies to possess.

Adam warns the remaining gargoyles of Naberius' plan, Leonore agrees, but sends Gideon to kill him and retrieve the journal. After a violent fight, Adam is forced to "ascend" Gideon and then decides to burn Frankenstein's journal and destroy its secrets before the gargoyles come after him.

Adam evades them, leading them to the Wessex Institute where they join battle with Naberius' demons. Naberius takes his true demonic form and activates the machine. Naberius overpowers Adam and tries to have one of the demon spirits possess him, but Adam proves immune as he has grown his own soul. Adam carves the symbol of the Gargoyle Order on Naberius, sanctifying his very body and utterly destroying it, descending Naberius alongside all the other demons in his army, and causing the entire building to collapse.

Recognizing Adam's bravery, Leonore rescues him and Terra and forgives Adam for Gideon's death. Adam departs to begin an immortal quest to protect the humans of the world and hunt demons. In so doing, he embraces his role and his true name of "Frankenstein".

CHAPTER III

METHODOLOGY OF RESEARCH

A. Method of Research

In this research, the writer used qualitative method. Qualitative research is a research procedure which produces descriptive data in the form of words (Moloeng,2004:6). This method is intended to describe everything that related to myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie.

B. Source of Data

The researcher got data from the data source, which is the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie that consists of 90 minutes and published in 2014.

C. Instrument of Research

In order to get and analyze data in this research, the writer applied the instrument which is called note taking. According to Ray (2005:13) note taking is a method in assembling data by using note cards to write down the data easily, the researcher used note taking by using color cards; blue, yellow, pink, and red cards as instrument of the research in collecting data.

D. Procedures of Data Collection

The following procedures of collecting data that used by the writer:

1. The writer watched the movie carefully understanding it comprehensively and continually.

2. The researcher identified the myth in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie.
3. The researcher wrote the data which involves to objective of the research and problem statement, from the movie to the color cards.
4. The researcher classified the kinds of myth by using color cards; blue card for rebirth myths, pink card for eschatological myths, yellow card for social myths, and red card for trickster myths.

E. Technique of Analyzing Data

To analyze the collected data, the writer used Andrew Lang theory about myth to analyze the kind of myth in Stuart Beattie’s movie “I Frankenstein”.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

In this chapter, the writer would like to present the result of this research about kinds of myth that found in the Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein". This chapter consists of two parts, findings and discussions of the research.

A. Findings

In this research, the researcher presented the data which were considered as kinds of myth in the movie "I Frankenstein" by Stuart Beattie. According to Andrew Lang theory, myth has four kinds. They are rebirth myth, eschatological myth, social myth and the trickster myth. To make the readers to understand the procedures in collecting the data, the researcher presents the data in the form of tabulation to show us how many kinds of the myth in the movie "I Frankenstein" by Stuart Beattie.

The explanation of tabulation:

To understand the data the researcher presented the explanation of the kinds of myths are R is rebirth myths, E is eschatological myths, S is social myths and T is the trickster myths. The data are as follows: represent time in the film (hour, minute, second)

B. Discussion

In this section, the writer identified data took from the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie. The writer analyzed the data have been found in Stuart Beattie’s movie “I Frankenstein”. The writer also explained all kinds of myth that have been found based on Andrew Lang theory. They are the rebirth myths, eschatological myths, social myths and the Trickster myths.

a. Rebirth Myths

In the datum 1, The rebirth myth because this data showed Adam told how was created by Victor Frankenstein by collecting some of corpses were taken from the cemetery. Then, stitched together and powered electricity by used eels as electrical power so that the corpse can back to life and given the name Adam and also reputed a monster. Victor Frankenstein is afraid of creation so he threw it, but he survived and killed the victor’s wife because Adam revenge on victor Frankenstein, who has throw him and now, Adam to live for 200 years against incredible odds. The writer included this data is rebirth myth, because the corpse revived which in turn will be resurrected after death. So the corpse back to life.

In the datum 2, talks about Zuriah always chasing Adam on the command of prince Naberius, he wants to make Adam as his comrade by possessed by demon spirit from hell summoned by Naberius. After work, Naberius will turn millions of corpses that had been collected for centuries by calling demon spirit trapped in hell possessed the bodies to which they returned alive. So, this sentence also included as rebirth myth. Because the demon spirits can be back to world when they possess a human body was death and return to our world.

Based on the explanation above, writer found that the datum 1 and 2 including the myth of rebirth in which the spirit will be resurrected from the underworld. In analyzing the data, the writer found the first meaning about rebirth in the movie is God is now no longer the sole creator of man because the corpses can be back to life when its stitched and then jolted using ells as power electric, so back to life and was resurrected by the mankind. And the second meaning was the spirit or soul which is something eternal, which can be reborn into another creature. All spirit are come back in the body of flesh, if living with the truth then it will get better destiny, and if it does not live in the right way, then it would be a worse fate. The infernal is one of place when human dies of ancient Greek mythology.

b. Eschatological myths

Based on analysis the data, the writer has found several data related eschatological myth as presented in the previous section.

In datum 3 and 4, the writer included as eschatological myth because the content of this sentence when the Gargoyles is killed, they ascend in the sky because they against the demon to protect mankind and only at the hands of godless creatures that have no souls.

While, the demons are killed, its spirit descended to hell where it remains trapped for all eternity. In this movie they believe that hell is underground while the heaven is above the sky.

So that's why this data automatically included as eschatological myth. In the movie tell about Hereafter, people do not receive a reply to be added or subtracted, if the answer of good deeds or misdeeds.

In the datum 5, the writer found about eschatological because talks about Adam resolved seek out the farthest corners of the earth where no human, demons and gargoyle would ever find him. So many years passed he did not grow old and die as human do, he believed Victor Frankenstein's final curse which has revived after death so that he becomes immortal. That's believed all creatures in the world definite will dead and back to their created, but it has been revived by man namely Victor Frankenstein, Adam can't die and grow old, he is immortal human because he was fabricated in a laboratory and he live was not granted by the grace of God. So, that's why the writer included this data to eschatological myth.

In datum 6, explain about how the demon Naberius dominate the world, which he has plans for centuries to animate an army of corpses possessed by demons to take over the world. First thing they'll do is wipe out the Gargoyle order because there so few gargoyles left, they won't stand a chance and then, Naberius will launch a war on humans, kill most enslave the rest. Thus, Naberius will dominate the world means end of world. The writer included as eschatological myth because the content of this sentence when Naberius killed Gargoyles and humans so that world doomsday.

Based on the explanation above, the writer found that the datum 3, 4, 5 and 6 including eschatological myths in which pointed at the final events of history, or the ultimate destiny of humanity. This concept is commonly referred to as the "end of the world" or "end time of simultaneously entered a new phase that is about the fate of the whole human person's life. In analyzing the data, the writer found the first meaning about eschatological myth, that is back to heaven on the sky, when Gargoyle was died, they will ascend in the heaven, which in the movie believed that heaven in the sky. The second meaning is descended to hill, whereby human evil when died, they will go the hell. In this movie describe hell are in the underground. Greek belief, hell described as confinement for those who seek to threaten the gods then can make a place to punish sinners. Really, in the end of life cannot be known how life in the future because there is a very scary prison who have experienced judgment day. The third meaning is human did not grow old and die if revived by mankind in a laboratory. And the last meaning of the eschatological myth is the world will end when all of humanity that exist in the world have died or returned to their creator and we will live eternally in the hereafter.

c. Social Myths

In the datum 7, Occurs in the form of a real violation of rules and procedures that are considered good morals in society. Datum 7 is the social myth because this data explain about Queen of the Gargoyle named Leonore ordered her most trusted warrior is Gideon to follow and killed Adam after taking Adam's journal. Because many create confusion in the city however, Gideon was killed by Adam and the he ascended. Adam can kill demons and Gargoyle because Adam is a soulless creature. He is afraid of Queen Leonore for killing Gideon. Adam was followed by the Gargoyles and he was guiding them to the place of demons, in there some huge battles and finally Adam able to kill the demon prince Naberius and all the buildings collapsed along with the legions of Naberius. While Adam was saved by Queen Leonore, and he asked why he was saved while he had killed Gideon. Adam was helped because Adam finally found higher purpose. So, that's way the writer included datum 7 to social myth.

Based on the explanation above, the researcher found that the datum 7, included as a social myth in which the people violate the rules or provisions that have been determined not to be punished even otherwise that is praised. In analyzing the data, the writer found the meaning about social myth in the movie, when someone Adam had killed Gideon who is a reliable warrior Queen Leonore, he rescued when plays against Naberius demon princes and Queen do not get mad at him for killing her soldiers, even Adam praised for destroying demons that have been disturbing the peace of mankind. So, when a person reaches a more important goal then he praised and forget the mistakes he had done.

d. The Tricksters Myths

In datum 8, is the trickster myth because this data explain about Adam wanted to be killed by Gideon because it is wild like an animal and would not quite, that's the reason of Gideon wanted to kill but, Leonore Queen not allow it. Human nature can be changed as the nature of the beast. The writer included this data is tricksters myth because according the indicator trickster myths number (3) is clever disguise or transformation. So, it can be the reason why this sentence included as trickster myth.

In the datum 9, related about trickster showed Archangel Michael is command the Gargoyle order. Queen of Gargoyle named Leonore first met Adam and invited him to join in the battle against the demons to protect mankind. He also explained that Gargoyle order was commanded into being the great Archangel Michael. The writer concluded datum 9 is the trickster myth because according the indicator of trickster myths number (5) is often help, as well as against, figures that are more powerful. So, it can be the reason why this sentence included as trickster myth.

In datum 10, showed that the trickster where the color of his eyes became dark. Data 10 talks about Leonore Queen catch Adam after he fought against the demons, as a result of battles there are people who died. Therefore, Adam brackets in the place but, he denied the decision of Queen then, the Queen angry and turns into a monster. She explained to Adam that the beginning she wanted to eliminate it but she saw the Adam's eyes its full potential, is now the Queen only see dark of Adam's eyes because he selfish and aim only to get revenge on the creatures who chase that demons. So that's why the writer included this datum to trickster myth because according the indicator of trickster myths number (3) is clever disguise or transformation.

In datum 11, included trickster myth because talk about Adam is referred to as a monster because immune to anything, strong and can beat anything. He is a combination of eight corpses and he was called as a monster. Corpses were collected and then brought back to life will turn into a monster because they become stronger. In trickster myth human also transformed into a monster strong and tough. According the indicator of trickster myths number (3) is clever disguise or transformation. So that's why the writer included this datum to trickster myth.

And the last Datum 12 and 13, the writer included the trickster myth because the indicator of trickster myths number (3) is clever disguise or transformation. Most tricksters are changer form that can take any shape, although they often appear as animals. In datum 12 and 13, Leonore Queen, princes Naberius and their legions blessed by gods with the power shift to the type of monster from the human form. When they are angry or fighting their change from human form into a giant. So it can be the reason why this data included as the trickster myth.

Based on the above, explanation of the researchers found that datum 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 included as a trickster myth in which gods and god children who Clever disguise or transformation, Often help, as well as against, figures that are more powerful. In analyzing the data, the writer found the meaning about trickster myth. The first is when Gargoyles and dark prince Naberius with their legion is transformation which the changing the character became monster and then turn into a human again when finished fighting. And Adam as human beings are considered as wild animals by Gideon and his eye color depends on the behavior that is revenge and not concerned with human life so that the color of his eyes become dark. The second meaning is the Gargoyle is led by Archangel Michael duty to protect people and fight against the devil who wants to master the world. In the Greek, before the 15th century Gargoyle used in the way of superstition to ward off demons to scare away any demon spirit that came together.

The myths above are contained in the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie, there are some myths that can be believed and there also myth can not be believed. As well as believe to doomsday where all people who live in the world will die and they will be moved to the place that is called the hereafter there are heaven and hell depending deeds of mankind for life.

This issue is believed by Muslims as described in Surah Al-Hajj verse 7:

وَأَنَّ السَّاعَةَ آتِيَةٌ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهَا وَأَنَّ اللَّهَ يَبْعَثُ مَنْ فِي الْقُبُورِ ﴿٧﴾

Translate:

In the verse above explain that the doomsday is surely coming. So, the myth is not just a myth but has been describes in the Qur’an that doomsday will actually happen.

In the movie “I Frankenstein” by Stuart Beattie, there are some myths that should not be believed which describe in the movie that is revived human who have died by humans, including the kind of myth that rebirth myth. In the verse above has been explained that whatever it is resurrected from the grave after doomsday so, there is no rebirth in to the world in a religion but a belief that is resurrection. Then, believed that man can revived humans who have died, is one of the myths can not be believed, because it has been describe in the Qur'an (the provisions or qadhar is found in Islamic teaching as stated in the following Surah Al-Furqon verse 2:

الَّذِي لَهُ مُلْكُ السَّمَاوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَلَمْ يَسْخُدْ وَلَدًا وَلَمْ يَكُن لَّهُ شَرِيكٌ

الَّذِي لَهُ مُلْكُ السَّمَاوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَلَمْ يَتَّخِذْ وَلَدًا وَلَمْ يَكُن لَّهُ شَرِيكٌ
فِي الْمُلْكِ وَخَلَقَ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ فَقَدَرَهُ مَقْدِيرًا ۝٢

Translate:

Based on the verse above that proves no one can create of human or revive human of death, who can create a human being is God. Therefore, we must choose myth must be believed and which cannot be believed.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

This chapter consisted of two parts. They are conclusions and suggestions. The writer would like to present what have been found from Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein". The writer provided some conclusion and suggestions to the readers as follows:

A. Conclusions

After analyzing the data by findings and discussing, the writer would make conclusion after having elaborated the data. The conclusion is the answer of the problems statement. The researcher gets two conclusions, as follows:

1. The writer found all of the kinds of myth based on the theory in Andrew Lang in Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein". Those are rebirth myth, eschatological myth, social myth and the trickster myth. There two data of rebirth myths, four data of eschatological myths, one data of social myth and six data of the trickster's myths.
2. In Stuart Beattie's movie "I Frankenstein", the writer described meaning of myth and explained how about myth used has relation with reality in life. The first rebirth myth is myth which man is reincarnated into profane life at the moment of his birth. At his initiation he reenters sacred time, and through his burial ceremony he returns to his original “spirit” state. Similar beliefs are held by many tribal peoples, and their myths are expressed in terms of cosmic cycles. The second is eschatological myths are a part of theology concerned with what are believed to be the final events of history, or the ultimate destiny of humanity. This concept is commonly referred to as the "end of the world" or "end time". The third Social myths is occurs in the form of a real violation of rules and procedures that are considered good morals in society. And the last, The Trickster’s myths are they delight in breaking rules, boasting, and playing tricks on both humans and gods. Most tricksters are shape-changers who can take any form, though they often appear as animals or monster.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the writer puts the suggestions as follows:

1. The writer suggested to readers to improve their comprehension and understanding about myth especially kind of myth, because myth not only found in literary works, but also can be found in our life.
2. The writer hopes through this thesis, the readers can take many messages in running their life.
3. The writer hopefully helps the next researchers know more about myth. It could be reference for them in analyzing the same research.
