This research discussed about Grammatical Errors Made by the Fifth Semester Students at English and Literature Department in writing Essay. This research aimed to identify and analyze grammatical errors as well as their causing factors in essay made by students of Literature department. This research focused on Dulay and Richard theories about Grammatical Errors. The researcher used interview guide and observation sheet as the instrument to find out more validity data. Thus, the data were analyzed using Dulay and Richard theories. The finding showed that there were 55 errors in writing; They were: six errors in omission of noun inflection, seven errors in omission of verb inflection, twelve errors in omission of auxiliary, three errors in omission of article, three errors in omission of preposition, one error in addition, one error regularization in miss-formation, fifteen errors archi-form in misformation. There were three errors alternating form in misformation and three errors in misordering. Meanwhile the researcher found seven causes of errors, they were: interference of mother tongue, overgeneralization, ignorance of rule restriction, incomplete application of rules and false concept hypothesis, some of students believe that the sentences they wrote were surely correct and students lack of practice and limited vocabulary. The researcher concluded that the fifth semester students still made errors on their essays especially about the error of omission and the most causes of errors were the false concept of hypothesis.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

This chapter consisted with the background of grammatical errors made by the fifth semester students of English and Literature Department. Then, it presented problem statement, objectives of the research, significances of the research, and scope of the research.

A. Background

English is an international language used by many people in many countries. It is used either spoken or written language. People use English to make relationship with people in different countries in the world. In Indonesia, English is taught as a foreign language. English generally has been learned by the students since they were in the basic level of education.

In learning English, the learners will focus on mastering four language skills: Listening, Speaking, Reading, and Writing. Listening and reading are receptive skills while speaking and writing are productive skills. All of the skills are improved in the English learning process.

Writing is not easy. Especially in foreign language as Alice and Ann (1991:3) say “Writing is not easy. It takes study and practice to develop this skill. For both native speaker and new learners of English, it is important to note that writing is a process, not a product”.

Actually, writing needs good knowledge and hard thinking when the students produce words, sentences, or paragraphs at the same time with good English grammatical. English grammar is more complicated than Indonesian grammar. It makes many people when writing English are often made errors. Those errors are caused by their native language structure and some developmental causes of error but they are not aware of those causes.

One of causes of students' error is influencing of their mother tongue that usually called interference. Language interference is a nature phenomenon that occurs in bilingual or multilingual countries. Lekova (2010:320) states that Communication between the two languages system are the reason for the interference which is negative transfer of language habits and skills from the mother tongue or from a foreign language to another foreign language or a change in linguistic structures and structural elements.

In the other hand, some mistakes are made when the students do not understand well about the English grammar. Some students commonly make grammar mistakes in their learning especially in writing. The students make their mistakes repeatedly because they do not have the correction and it is called as error. If the learner is able to correct a fault in their writing, it is assumed that the fault is a mistake. On the other hand, the learner is unable to make the correction in their writing, it is called error.

Errors also found in English literature students' writing. It is important to give errors analysis in their writing. Richards et.al (1985:96) say "error analysis is the study of errors made by the second and foreign language learners".

Based on the explanation above, the researcher is interested in analyzing the fifth semester of English and Literature Department in Adab and Humanities faculty about students' errors especially in their essay writing due to the fifth semester students have already learned structure and writing for three phases and essay is the last kind of writing that they have learned in the previous semester. Thus, it can evaluate students' achievement in writing and structure's field. Besides that, the researcher also wanted to analyze the causes of student's error instead by knowing their errors it can help them to decrease their errors. The researcher carried out the research under the title "Grammatical errors made by the fifth semester students at English and Literature Department in Writing Essay". The researcher used Dulay's theory to analyze students' error and Ricard's theory to analyze Causes of error. It was in line to Corder explanation that was cited in Ali (2012:1029) that "The study of error is part of the investigation of the process of language learning." By using Dulay and Richard's theories, the researcher hopes that it can investigate students' error and their causes of errors in writing essay.

B. Problem Statements

Based on the explanation above, the researcher intended to answer the following questions:

1. What types of grammatical errors were found at the fifth semester students of English literature students' essay?
2. What were the causes of grammatical errors at the fifth semester of English literature students' essay?

C. Objectives of the Research

Based on the problem statements, the objectives of this research were:

1. To find out the types of grammatical errors at the fifth semester of English literature students' essay.
2. To find out the causes of grammatical errors at the fifth semester of English literature students' essay.

D. Significances of the Research

The result of this research was expected to be able to give the following advantages:

1. English Learners

The results of the research were expected to help the learners to be aware of the grammatical errors they made and the causes of the problems they face. It was expected that they would prevent to make the same mistakes in the future writing and attempt to use the correct grammar in their writing.

2. Lectures

The results of the research were expected to help the lectures to recognize the learners' mistakes in writing, so they would pay attention to the errors made by the learners and also the causes of the errors in their writing. Therefore, the lectures encourage them to give more effective explanation that helps the students to correct the errors made by themselves.

3. Other Researchers

The result of this research was expected to give information and inspiration in conducting other research studies. The other researchers try to find out the other solutions about it. Besides that, they would be stimulus to make a new and deeper research in the same type of the research and they try to create the best new reports.

E. Scope of the Research

This research focused on students' grammatical error in writing essay based on Dulay's theory (1982). There were error of omission, edition, selecting and misordering and causes of students' error using Richard's theory (1970) which consists of interference, over-generalization, incomplete application of rule restriction, ignorance of rule restriction and false concept hypothesis.

CHAPTER II

RELATED LITERATURE

This chapter explained about related literature which dealt with some previous findings and pertinent ideas.

A. Previous Findings

Several researchers have conducted researches in relation to the error analysis. There are some previous related researches that support this research. Some of them are presented as follows:

Rusmin (2009) conducted a study under the title "Grammatical Errors in Writing English". He found the types of grammatical error based on two aspects. Based on the source, the grammatical errors were interferenced by mother tongue (27%), incomplete application of rules (43%), and false concept hypothesized (17%). Based on the effect, the grammatical errors were wrong order of major constituent and missing (13%) and wrong misplaced sentence connectors (20%). He finally found that incomplete application of rules is the most frequent grammatical error. His theses only focus on syntactical error.

Tammase (2011) conducted a study under the title "The grammatical Errors made by the student in writing thesis at English and Literature Department of Adab and Humanities Faculty of Alauddin State Islamic University of Makassar". She found error in using verb which has the highest frequency of occurrence. All the grammatical errors which she found are error in using article (4.87%), error in using possessive (9.75%), error in using adjective (4.87%), error in using determiner (9.75%), error in using number (4.87%), error in using pronoun (9.75%), error in using preposition (7.31%), error in using verb (43.90%), and error in using transformation (7.31%). Her thesis focus on morphology and syntactical errors..

Sasmitha (2013) conducted a study under the title “Grammatical errors made by the fifth semester students of English and Literature department of UIN Alauddin Makassar in writing essay in Academic Year 2012/2013”. She found grammatical errors in some classifications. The grammatical ‘errors were omission, addition and misordering. Omission had the highest frequency of occurrence. Sasmitha’s theses focus on Dulay’s Theory.

Based on all these theses above, the researcher concluded that errors often happen to the people who learn second language. The researcher finds some similarities and differences between the present study and three previous studies. Their similarities are all of them focus on students writing either essay, thesis and other kinds of writing. Besides, the researcher has different problem statements where the researcher will look for the causes of errors while all of them did not analyze the causes of the errors.

B. Pertinent Ideas

1. Native Language

Native language is the first language that human learned to speak. Gass (2008:7) says that native language refers to the first language that a child learned, the mother tongue or the L1 (first language). In writing, some students made errors caused by interference of their native language.

2. Second Language Acquisition

Second Language acquisition is the study of how learners learn an additional language after they have acquired their mother tongue. Ellis (2003:3) states that “second language acquisition can be defined as the way in which people learn a language other than their mother tongue, inside or outside of classroom and second language acquisition is the study of this.”

3. Concept of Grammar

a. Definition of Grammar

Grammar has very important role to support writing. Having a good grammar of language will help learners to deliver ideas, messages and feelings either to the listeners or readers. Swam (2005) defines “Grammar as the rules that show how words are combined, arranged or changed to show certain kinds of meaning.”

b. Grammatical Units

John (1994: 1) defines grammatical units of English are word, phrase, clause and sentence. Baddulu says (2009:53) word is the smallest unit at the syntactical level of structural grammar. Swam (2005) states that a phrase is two or more words that function together as a group while clause is a part of sentence which contains a subject and a verb, usually joined to the rest of sentence by a conjunction and sentence is a group of words that expresses a statement, command, question or exclamation. A sentence consists of one or more clauses, and usually has at least one subject and verb. In writing, it begins with capital letter and ends with full stop, question mark or exclamation mark.

4. Overview Error analysis

a. Definition of Error

Some experts have presented various definitions of error. Basically those definitions have the same meaning while the differences only on the ways they formulate them.

The researcher put two definitions of error. Norrish (1983:7) states error is a systematic deviation, when a learner has learned something and consistently gets it wrong and Cunningsworth as cited in Nur Asik (2012:14) says errors are systematic deviations from the norms of the language being learned.

It seems that the phrase ‘systematic deviation in these definitions is a key word which can be interpreted as the deviation which happens repeatedly. Further, it is necessary to differentiate between error and mistake. Ancker in Galina and Liliya (2012:90) says a mistake is a performance error that is either a random guess or a slip, it is a failure to utilize a word correctly, and an error is a noticeable deviation from the language of a native speaker.” From all the definitions above, the researcher concludes that if the students are able to correct their fault, it called mistake but if they cannot correct their fault it called error.

b. Error analysis

Error analysis is an activity to reveal errors found in writing. Richards (1974:1) defines errors analysis as the study and analysis of errors made by the second or foreign language learners. Based on the definition, it is necessary to conduct the errors' analysis.

Error analysis is a type of linguistic analysis that focuses on the error made by learners. Pit Corder as the father of Error Analysis took a new turn. Corder (1981:125) who had contributed to error analysis says "The study of error is part of the investigation of the process of language learning. In this respect it resembles methodologically the study of the acquisition of the mother tongue. It provides us with a picture of the linguistic development of a learner and may give us indications as to the learning process."

c. Types of error

In classifying the students' errors in writing essay, the researcher used Dulay's theory. He classifies errors into four types (1982:145): (1) linguistic category taxonomy classifies errors according to either the language component or the particular linguistic constituent the error affects. Language components include phonology (pronunciation), syntax and morphology (grammar), semantic and lexicon (meaning and vocabulary), and discourse (style). (2) Surface strategy taxonomy highlights the ways surface structures are altered. It is classified into four types:

omission, addition, misformation, and misordering. (3) Comparative taxonomy is based on comparisons between the structure of second language errors and certain other types of constructions. These comparisons have two major error categories: developmental errors and interlingual errors; and (4) communicative effect taxonomy deals with errors from the perspective of their effect on the listeners or readers.

In this study, the researcher only focuses on the second type of error which called surface strategy taxonomy. There are four categories of surface strategy taxonomy proposed by Dulay, Burt and Krashen, namely omission, addition, misformation and misordering error (1982:146). It is defined in the following:

1) Omission

This type of error is characterized by the absence of an item, which must appear in a well-formed utterance. Certain linguistic forms may be omitted by the learner because of their complexity in production. Generally there are two main kinds of omission they are omission of content morphemes and omission of grammatical morphemes.

a) Omission of content morphemes

This type of omission is related to the major constituent of the sentence such as: nouns, verbs, adjectives, and adverbs. For example: he put it on the table. In this sentence, the learner omits a needed verb and the third singular marker-s. It should be 'he puts it on the table'.

b) Omission of grammatical morpheme

This type of omission does not carry the burden meaning. In other words, it plays a minor role in conveying the meaning of sentence. It includes noun and verb inflections (e.g the -s in girls, the-s in father's, the -ed in washed, the -ing in watching, etc) preposition (in, on, at, under, etc); conjunction (and, or, but, because, if, although, etc) verb auxiliaries (are ,will, can, etc.) and article (a, an, the, this, that, etc) for example: Ahmad is clever boy. In this sentence indefinite article a singular countable noun is omitted. It should be 'Ahmad is a clever boy'.

2) Addition

Addition is the opposite of omission. Addition is the presence of an item that must not appear in well-formed utterances. It means that learners not only omit elements, which they regard as redundant, but they also add redundant elements. This error typed is divided into sub categories namely: double markings, regularization, and simple addition (dulay,1982:156)

a). Double marking

This error is described as the failure to delete certain items which are required in some linguistic construction but in others. For example:

"She doesn't knows your name"

This sentence shows the failure of deleting third singular marker –s where the auxiliary does is required. This sentence should be “She doesn’t know your name”.

b). Regularization

Whenever there are both regular and irregular in language, students sometimes get confused to apply the correct in certain construction. Sometimes, they apply the rule used to produce the regular ones to those that are irregular. This typed of error is called errors of regularization (Dulay,1982:157). For example: I drewed the flower yesterday.

The word drewed is the example of regularization in which the regular past tense-ed has been added to the items. It should be ‘I drew the flower yesterday’.

c). Simple addition

This error is one of sub categories of addition that is neither a double marking nor regularization. For example: they stay in over there. The addition of preposition ‘in’ is not appropriate used before over. It should be ‘they stay over there’

3) Misformation

This type of error is characterized by the use of the wrong form of the morpheme or structure. This error has three subcategorized, namely: regularization, archi-forms, and alternating forms (Dulay,1982:158).

a). Regularization

A regular marker is used in place of an irregular one. For example: 'He driven so fast'.

The correct form of this sentence is 'He drove so fast'

b). Archi-forms

The selection of one member of a class of forms to represent others in class is often made learners. The form chosen by the learners is as archiforms. For example, a learner may temporarily select just one of the English demonstrative adjective this, that, these and those. For example:

That dog

That dogs

For this learner, that is the archi-demonstrative adjective representing the entire class of demonstrative adjectives.

Learner may also select one member of the class personal pronouns to function for several others in the class. For example:

Give me that

Me hungry

In the production of certain complex sentence, the use of the infinitive as an archi-form for the other complement types (e.g. gerund and those clauses) has also been observed. For example:

I finish to watch tv

She suggested him to go

c). Alternative form

As the learners' vocabulary and grammar grow, the use of archy-forms often gives way to the apparently fairly free alternation of various members of a class each other. Thus, we see for demonstrative:

Those cat

These cows

In the production of verb, the participle form (-en, as in taken) is also being acquired. It may be alternative with the past irregular, as in:

I see her yesterday

He would have saw him

4) Misordering

This type characterized by the incorrect placement of a morpheme or group of morphemes in an utterance.

For example: what daddy is doing?

This question is incorrect. it should be 'what is daddy doing?' (Dulay, 1982:161)

d. Causes of Errors

According to Richards (1974:6) there are five causes of errors. Those are: Interference, overgeneralization, ignorance of rule restriction, incomplete application of rule and false concept hypothesis.

1). Interference

These errors caused by the interference of the learner's mother tongue. The learner applying knowledge from their native language to a second language. Sometimes they translated the sentences based on Indonesian structure instead it was different to English structure. For example: social media has many impact negative.

2). Over generalization

Richard (1970:47-48) says "this group of error is the result of the use of previously available strategies in new situation". In other words, it occurs when a learner creates a defiant structure based on his experience of other structure in the target language. Furthermore, overgeneralization is associated with redundancy reductions it may occur. For instance with items which are contracted in the grammar of the language but do not carry significant and obvious contrast for the learner.

The -ed marker, in narrative or in other past context, often appears to carry no meaning since past-ness is usually indicated lexically in stories, and the essential notion of sequence in narrative can be expressed equally well in the present yesterday I go to university and I meet my new professor.

3). Ignorance of the rule restriction

In this type of error, the learner fails to observe the restriction of existing structure. Some rule restriction errors may be accounted for in term of analogy and may result from the learning roles. For example, a learner may use infinitive after verb like “tell” in “tell him to return the book” or ‘ask’ in “I ask you to go there”. He then produces an utterance “I make him to do it”. In this sentence, the learner ignorance the rule restrictions of the verb “make” is always followed by infinitive without “to”. The learner mostly tends to generalize syntactic rules; he has previously learned, ignoring the rule.

4). Incomplete of the rule restriction

Intra-lingual error of this type may occur when the learners fails to apply the rules completely due to the stimulus sentences. It shows an utterance of structures whose deviancy represents the degree of development of the rules required producing acceptable utterance. In this case, a statement maybe form as a question. For example many people know where is Bali. The correct form of statement should be many people know where Bali is.

5). False concept hypothesized

It was derived from the faulty comprehension of destinations in the target language. The learner fails to use the correct concepts. These errors are sometimes due to the poor gradation of teaching items. The form “it’s” may be interpreted as “its” such as in its pleasant in the garden instead of it’s pleasant to the garden.

5. Essay

Alice and Ann (2006:56) say “Essay is a piece of writing several paragraphs long. It is about one topic, just as paragraph is. However, because the topic of an essay is too complex to discuss in one paragraphs, one for each major point. Then you need to tie the paragraphs together by adding an introduction and a conclusion.”

Alice and Ann (2006:56) also explain that essay has three main parts: an introduction, a body and a conclusion. An essay introduction consists of two parts: a few general statements to attract your reader’s attention and a thesis statement to state the main idea of the essay. The body consists of one or more paragraphs. Each paragraph develops a subdivision of the topic, so the number of paragraphs in the body will vary with the number of subdivisions or subtopics. The conclusion, like the concluding sentence in a paragraph, is a summary or review of the main points discussed in the body.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHOD

This chapter dealt with research method, population and sample, research instruments, collecting data procedures and data analysis techniques.

A. Research Method

In conducting this research, the researcher used descriptive qualitative research. Gay (2006:402) explains that qualitative research spends time with participants in the research setting. The researcher recorded the setting, the participant, and their interaction during research process.

In the other side, Bogdan and Biklen in Muhammad (2013:78) states in qualitative research, the data analysis does not use statistics that requires numerical data. Therefore, the data were collected and recorded in description, not symbol or numbers.

This research described the linguistic phenomenon happened using words rather than numbers. It was qualified by examining the phenomena of the student grammatical errors and the causes influencing their errors in writing essay.

B. Population and Sample

Based on Fraenkel and Wallen (2009:90) the population is the larger group to which one hopes to apply the result. While sample is the group on which information is obtained.

a. Population

The population of this research was the fifth semester students in academic year 2016-2017 of English Literature Department of Adab and Humanities Faculty. The populations of this research were 161 students which were spread in 8 classes (Ag 1-8). Each class consists of 40-42 students.

b. Sample

The researcher used random sampling as Gay (2006:101) states” random sampling is the process of selecting a sample in such a way that all individuals in the defined population have an equal and independent chance of being selected for.” The researcher has random the class by lottery the papers which consist of four classes and the result of the lottery was Ag 7-8. Just, the sample of this reseach was 34 students.

C. Research Instruments

The researcher used observation sheet and interview guide as the main data. The researcher observed the class and asked the students to write several different themes then the researcher interviewed them using three main questions and the questions developed based on the students answer. In supporting the data, the researcher used documentation and recording tools.

D. Data collection Procedures

In collecting the data, the researcher conducted some procedures as the follows:

1. The researcher met the lecturer and asked permission.
2. The researcher explained to the students what the researcher wanted to do.
3. The researcher asked the students to write essay minimal 2 paragraphs in several different themes. Those are: Overseas Scholarship, Indonesian Movies, and Social Media.
4. Then, the researcher collected the students' essay.
5. Next, after knowing the result of students' essay, the researcher interviewed the students.
6. The last, the researcher transcribed students' interview that has been recorded.

E. Data analysis Techniques

The data were analyzed using some techniques as follows:

1. The researcher identified students' error.
2. The researcher described students' error based on Dulay's errors categories.
3. Next, the researcher evaluated students' error by giving correction to the students' error.
4. After that, the researcher analyzed the result of students' interviewed to find out the causes of errors.
5. The last, the researcher discussed about students' grammatical error and their causes of error in writing essay based on the theories.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

This chapter described the data which were collected from students' writing essay and interviewed, namely finding. The discussion was organized based on the research question which underpinned the study. The first sub heading presented the findings on grammatical errors and the second sub heading presented the discussion of the research.

A. Findings

Analyzing the data, the researcher found some kinds of error made by English and Literature Department students in writing essay and the causes of those errors. The data were presented in the following paragraph which divided into two parts namely presentation data and cause of error. The first data showed the types of grammatical error and the second data showed the causes of error found at English and Literature department students' writing essay.

1. Types of Error

a. Omission

According to Dulay, Burt and Krashen (1982:146) errors of omission are characterized by the absence of an item that must appear in a well-formed utterance.

Generally there are two main kinds of omission. They are omission of content morphemes and omission of grammatical morphemes. The researcher found 31 omissions of content morpheme and grammatical morpheme.

1) Omission of content morpheme

This type of omission is related to the major constituent of a sentence such as noun, verb, adjective and adverb.

Table 1: Omission of content morpheme

Data	Omission of content morpheme
	N	Verb	Adj
Social media you can get or sharing information by using internet (D1)		X

There was only one student who made an error of this type. In the datum 1 (student 1), the student omitted one of the major constituent of a sentence, verb. In the sentence the student omitted “verb”. It should be social media makes you able to get or to share information by using internet.

2) Omission of grammatical morpheme

Omission of grammatical morpheme is the absence of words that play a minor role in conveying the meaning of sentence. Which consisted of noun and verb inflection, auxiliary, article and preposition.

a). Omission of noun inflection

Table 2: omission of noun inflection

Data	Omission of grammatical morpheme
	Noun Inflection
	-s (plural)	Ing	Er
I think social media have many positive impact and negative impact . (D2)	X
Every people have one or more country in the world that their favorite (D3)	X
If we talk about social media, we cannot apart from teenager (D4)	X
Social media is helpful to communicate with our friend (D5)	X
There are many benefit if people have social media (D6)	X

Most of the students made errors of using “s” as a plural marker. In the data 2 (student 2) and 3 (student 3), the student omitted “s” as the plural marker. The phrase “positive impact” in datum 2 was preceded by the word “many” which should be followed by the plural form of noun. The sentence should be I think social media has many positive and negative impacts.

Meanwhile in the datum 3, the word “more” refers to the plural form. The correct sentence is every person has one or more countries in the world which are their favorite country.

The sentences in the datum 4 and datum 5 (student 4) were also categorized as the form of error because the student omitted “s” as the plural marker in both words “teenager” and “friend”. The sentence in the datum 4 should be if we talk about social media, we cannot apart from teenagers while the sentence in the datum 5 should be social media is helpful to communicate with our friends

Like the sentence in the datum 2, the sentence in the datum 6 (student 5) was categorized as the form of error due to the word “benefit” was preceded by the word “many” which should be followed by plural form of noun. The correct sentence should be there are many beneficts if a person has social media.

b). Omission of verb inflection

Table 3: Omission of verb inflection

Data	Omission of grammatical morpheme
	Verb inflection
	-s	-ing	-ed
Many information no clear and make you stupid (D7)	X
Social media also give (D8)	X	X

negative impact for the youth, such as the youth become lazier because they can get all they need without go to the library and reading a book for a long time. (D9)
Social media consist of facebook, BBM, instagram, and etc (D10)	X
The positive impact beside give information and knowledge, also use for communication without use (D11) phone for send message. (D12)		X
One of technology which give many impacts for the youth is social media. (D13)	X
Everybody who want to continued their study almost all of them want to go abroad (D14)	X
Social media is a media which use for get information (D15)			X
Beside that social media also use for communication with other people (D16)			X
The positive impact beside give information and knowledge , also use for communication without use phone for send message (D17)		X	X

In omission of verb inflection, the students omitted both of “s” as a third singular person and “ing” as the form of gerund in case of gerund after preposition. The sentence in the datum 7 (student 1) showed the error of subject and verb agreement because the subject information was uncountable noun so the verb should be singular. The researcher assumed that the correct sentence is much information is not clear and makes you stupid.

In the data 8 and 9 (student 6) the sentence was not arranged well. In this case, the errors are omission of “s” and “ing”. The subject social media is singular, so the verb give should be added “s” as the third singular marker. The next error is omission of “ing” on the verb “go”. After preposition, the student should add “ing” at the end of the word. The correct sentence should be social media also gives negative impacts for the youth, such as the youth becomes lazier because they can get all they need without going to the library and reading a book for a long time.

The sentence in datum 10 (student 1) was also classified as error because the subject social media and the verb consist are subject-verb disagreement. The verb consist should be added by “s” as the marker for the third singular subject. The correct sentence should be social media consists of facebook, BBM, instagram, and etc.

As seen in the datum 9, the sentence in the data 11 and 12 (student 2) also have errors of the adding “ing” after preposition. The correct sentence should be the positive impact besides giving information and knowledge, social media is also used to communicate without using phone for sending message.

In the data 13 (student 6) and 14 (student 3), the sentences were incorrect because the subjects are singular so the verb should be singular too. The correct sentence in datum 13 should be one of technologies which gives many impacts for the youth is social media. While in datum 14, the correct sentence is everybody who wants to continue their study almost all of them want to go abroad.

The sentences in the data 15, 16 and 17 (student 2) were incorrect since the sentences were in the form of passive voice which must use past participle after auxiliary be. The correct sentence in the datum 15 is social media is a media which is used to get information. While in the datum 16 should be beside that, social media is also used to communicate to other people. Next, in the datum 17 the correct sentence is the positive impact besides giving information and knowledge, social media is also used to communicate without using phone for sending message.

c). Omission of auxiliary

Table 4: Omission of auxiliary

Data	Omission of grammatical morpheme
	Auxiliary
	Is	Are	Do	Can

Social media is a media which use for get information (D18)	X
Beside that social media also use for communication with other people (D19)	X
Social media so easy to access. (D20)	X
The positive impact beside give information and knowledge , also use for communication without use phone for send message (D21)	X
Positive impact from using social media you can get information and friend from other country. (D22)	X
Many information no clear and make you stupid (D23)	X
Instagram social media can make you to be famous people because in social media you can taje photos or video it makes your friend see (D24)	X
Social media also use as a telling our activity, tell some story and also write some quote (D25))	X
The social network that very famous and often used in indonesian (D26)	X

The negative impact like abuse phone, rarely study, watching pornografi ( D27 )		X
Except the benefit, social media can bring vice when people not use the social media well ( D28 )			X
I think use social media give us benefit ( D29 )				X

Here, the students seemed not having understood the usage of the auxilliary verb and modals. Most of the errors occurred in this form were made by omitting an auxiliary in the sentence which plays an important role in the sentence, especially in the nominal sentence where the auxiliary verb functions as the main verb.

The sentences in data 18, 19, 20 (student 2) and 25 (student 10) have the same form of error where the sentences were passive form that need auxiliary verb before past participle. So, the correct sentence in the datum 18 is social media is a media which is used to get information. While in the datum 19 beside that, social media is also used to communicate to other people. In datum 20, the correct sentence is the positive impact besides giving information and knowledge, social media is also used to communicate without using phone for sending message. The last, in datum 25, the sentence should be social media is also used to tell our activity, story and to write some quotes.

The sentence in datum 21 (student 2) showed the omission of another auxilliary because social media was the singular subject so it needed auxiliary “is”. The sentence should be the positive impact of using social media is you can get information and friend from other countries. While in datum 23 (student 1), the correct sentence is much information is not clear and makes you stupid. The sentence was a nominal, and that was why it should be added by an auxiliary. Next, the sentence in the datum 24 (student 7) should be instagram is a social media that can make you become famous people because you can take photos or videos that make your friend can see it. Here, the subject “instagram” was a singular noun, so the auxiliary “is” was the appropriate verb.

In the data 20 (student 2), 22 (student 1) and 25 (student 8), the students omitted auxilliary “be” which was needed by the nominal sentences. The sentence in the datum 20, the correct sentence is Social media is so easy to access. While the sentence in the datum 22 should be the negative impacts are such as abusing phone, lazy to study, watching pornography. The sentence in the datum 25 should be the social network is very famous and often used in Indonesia.

In the datum 28, (student 10) the student use “not” without auxiliary. In this case, the auxiliary of the verb “use” is “do”. The sentence should be except the beneficts, social media can bring vice when people don’t use the social media properly.

The last, in datum 29 (student 5), the correct sentence is I think that using social media can give us benefit. It was because the subject “social media” needed a modal auxiliary “can” before the verb “give” to show the advantage of having social media.

d). Omission of article

Table 5: Omission of article

Data	Omission of grammatical morpheme
	Article
	A	An	The
But negative impact of facebook is tricking someone, there are many trickers can tricking people, began from chatting until greeting.(D30)			X
Instagram social media can make you to be famous people because in social media you can take photos or video it makes your friend see (D31)			X
I think social media is part of globalization (D32)			X

The researcher found that there was an omission of article in the datum 30 (student 2). The sentence should use article “the” before the word “negative” to specify the word. So, the correct one is But the negative impact of facebook is tricking someone, there are many trickers can tricking people, began from chatting until greeting. In the datum 31 (student 7), the same case was found where article “the” should be put on the words “instagram social media” to spesify the word as a subject. Then the correct one should be the instagram social media can make you to be famous people because in social media you can take photos or video it makes your friend see. The last datum of this error was datum 32 (student 5). the case was still same as in the datum 30 and 31. and the correct one is I think social media is the part of globalization.

e). Omission of preposition

Table 6: Omission of preposition

Data	Omission of grammatical morpheme
	Preposition
	Of	By	On
Positive impact facebook can help us for chat with family or our friends. (D33)	X
First, people get financial depression if they very depend their social media (D34)			X

Phone is instrument communication , many kind types of phone like Samsung, sony, oppo, iphone etc. from various world but phone have negative impact and positive impact. (D35)	X
--	---	--	--

The researcher found omission of prepositions “of” and “on” in students’ essay. One of branches of error in the form of omission is preposition. It occurred because the students omitted a needed preposition in a sentence. Here, the students only omitted preposition “of” and “on” in the datum 33, 34, and 35. The sentence in the datum 33 (student 2) should be the positive impact of facebook can help us to chat with our family and friends. While the correct sentence in the datum 34 (student 5) is first, people can get financial depression if they really depend on their social media. And then, in the datum 35 (student 8), the correct sentence must be phone is instrument of communication, many types of phone such as Samsung, Sony, Oppo, iPhone etc. from various countries but it has positive and negative impacts.

2. Addition

This type of error is characterized by the presence of an item, which must not appear in a well-formed utterance. It means that learners not only omit elements which they regard as redundant, but they also add redundant elements. There are three categories of this type, those are; double markings, regularization, and simple addition.

a). Regularization

Table 7: Regularization

Data	Additional error
	Regularization
We can make some businesses in social media (D36)	Business

This student added “es” as a plural marker. In the datum 36 (student 12), the sentence was categorized as the form of error in the term regularization in addition. It was because the student added an item which must not appear in the sentence. In this sentence, the student added “es” in the noun “business” to indicate plural form. The student did not pay attention that the word was uncountable noun which cannot be added by “es”. The correct sentence should be we can make some business in social media.

3. Misformation

This type of error is characterized by the usage of the wrong form of the morpheme or structure. This error has three subcategorized, namely: regularization, archy-forms, and alternating form (Dulay,1992:158).

a). Regularization

A regular marker is used in place of an irregular one.

Table 8: Regularization

Data	Regularization
Its have a rule in each country to school there ( D37 )	Its-it

The student was wrong of choosing the subject. In datum 37 (student 3), the student used “its” and “its” was not a subject. It was an adjective or possessive pronoun. A proper word as a subject was “it”. Thus, the correct sentence should be it has a rule in each country to study there.

b). Archi-Form

The selection of one member of class of forms to represent others in class is often made by the learners. The chosen form by the learners is called archi-form.

Table 9: Archi-form

Data	Archi-Form
But negative impact of facebook is tricking someone, there are many trickers can tricking people, began from chating until greeting ( D38 )	Tricking, trick
Many information no clear and make you stupid ( D39 )	Many, much
Beside social media has benefit, social media also has negative impact like make people lazy, stupid, lost time. ( D40 )	Make, making

The positive impact beside give (D41) information and knowledge , also use (D42) for communication without use phone for send message.(D43)	Give, giving Use, using Send, sending
Every people have one or more country in the world that their favorite (D44)	People, person
Indonesian movies are not showing the “horror” , they just showing the “sexiness” of the actresses’(D45)	Showing, show
I think people which use sosmed can use it sesuai kebutuhan (D46)	Which, who
And talking about action and comedian movies in Indonesia (D47)	Comedian, comedy
Many people using a facebook because facebook we can update something (D48)	Using, use
Everyone have social media (D49)	Have, has
First, people can give the information to their family although their are in another country (D50)	Their, they
Second, people can get more information that their need like scholarship, any job openings, and etc (D51)	Their, they
The last is people can lose their work because social media make their more not focus in their job (D52)	Their, them In, on

Most of students made error in this type. In the datum 38 (student 2),, the students added “ing” to verb “trick”. The students did not pay attention to the modal which preceded the verb. The verb which came after modal should be bare infinitive, thus the correct sentence should be There are many trickers can trick people, start from chatting until greeting. In the datum 39 (student 2), the word “information” was an uncountable noun and an uncountable noun should be paired with “much” not “many”. Thus, the correct sentence should be much information is not clear makes you stupid.

In the datum 40 (student 2), the student did not pay attention that a verb that comes after preposition should be added “ing”. Thus, the correct sentence should be beside social media has benefit, social media also has negative impacts like making people lazy, stupid, wasting time. In the data 41,42 and 43 (student 2), the student did not pay attention that a verb that came after preposition should be added -ing. Thus, the correct sentence should be the positive impact beside giving information and knowledge , social media is also used to communicate without using phone for sending message. In datum 44 (student 3), the student did not pay attention that the word “every” should be paired with singular noun and singular noun should be paired with singular verb thus the correct sentence should be every person has one or more countries in the world which are their favorite country.

In datum 45 (student 13), the subject and the verb did not match. The verb should not be added “ing” since there is no auxilliary “be” after subject, thus the correct sentence should be Indonesian movies are not showing the “horror”, they just show the “sexiness” of the actresses. In datum 46 (student 14), the student used “which” to explain people whereas “people” should be paired with “who”. Thus, the correct sentence should be I think people who use social media can use it properly. In datum 47 (student 15), the student was wrong to select the proper word to explain “movies”. The student used “comedian”. Comedian meant the actor of the movie whereas it should be a kind of movies to explain “movies”. Thus, the correct sentence should be and talking about action and comedy movies in Indonesia.

In datum 48 (student 16), the subject and the verb did not match. The verb should not be added by “ing” since there was no auxilliary “be” after the subject, thus the correct sentence should be many people use facebook because it can help us to update something. In datum 49 (student 17), everyone is a singular noun and it should be paired with singular verb. Thus, the correct sentence should be everyone has social media. In data 50 and datum 51 (student 5), the student was wrong to select a word as a “subject”. The student used “their” as a subject but “their” is an adjective pronoun. A proper word as a subject is “they”. Thus, the correct sentence for datum 47 should be first, people can give information to their family although they are in another country and the correct sentence for datum 48 should be second, people can get more information they need like scholarship, jobs etc.

In datum 52 (student 5), the student was wrong to select a word as an “object”. The student used “their” as an object but “their” was an adjective pronoun. A proper word as an object was “them”. Next, the student was also wrong to pair the word “focus” with the proper pair. Focus should be paired with “on” Thus, the correct sentence should be the last is people can lose their job because social media makes them unfocus on their job.

c). Alternating Form

Table 10: Alternating Form

Data	Alternating form
Social media is a media which use for get information (D53)	For, to
Negative impact from using social media can relieve meeting with other people in our area (D54)	From, of
The user of those social media is not only to those who have been old enough to use them, but also to those who have facilitation to access internet (D55)	To,for

A few students were wrong to select the proper preposition for the sentences. In datum 53 (student 2), the student was wrong to select the proper preposition for the sentence. The correct preposition should be “to” because after the preposition “to” should be bare infinitive. Thus, the correct sentence should be social media is a media which is used to get information.

In datum 54 (student 2), the student was wrong to select the proper preposition for the sentence. The correct preposition should be “of” because the preposition “of” used as possession. Thus, the correct sentence should be the negative impact of using social media can relieve meeting with other people in our area.

In datum 55 (student 2), the student was wrong to select the proper preposition for the sentence. The correct preposition should be “for” because after the preposition came a word “those”. Those was object and it should be paired with “for”. Thus, the correct sentence should be the users of those social media are not only for those who have been old enough to use them, but also for those who have facilitation to access the internet.

4. Misordering

This type of error is characterized by the incorrect placement of a morpheme of group of morphemes in an utterance.

Table 11: Misordering

Data	Misordering
However social media have effect negative and positive (D56)	Have negative effect
Everyone would know what is social media , even a child know that social	What social media is

media. (D57)
Whereas, the disadvantages, many crime we can get. (D58)	We can get many crimes

Misordering is the type of error which characterized by incorrect placement of morpheme or group of morpheme. In the datum 56 (student 18) and datum 58 (student 19), the sentences were presented in the wrong sequences. The sentence in the datum 56 should be however social media have negative and positive effects. While in the datum 58 the correct sentence is whereas, the disadvantages, we can get many crimes. In the datum 57 (student 7) the sentence was actually a kind of statement, but the student misplaced the auxiliary verb. The correct sentence should be everyone will know what social media is, even a child knows about social media.

Some causes of error were found by the researcher from the students' essay and interviewed which were held after analyzing the paper written by the students. The researcher asked three main questions for every student individually to make sure that the sentences made by students were intentionally written. After that, the researcher asked some questions based on the students' answer to find out the causes of error they made. The researcher focused on internal causes of errors and found seven causes of errors. Those were:

a. Interference

Interference of mother tongue is one of causes that happen in writing. It is caused by the habitual action where the students are accustomed to applying the first language to the second language. For instances:

- 1) However social media have effect negative and positive. (D1)

(The correct sentence) However social media has negative and positive effects

- 2) There are many benefit if people have social media. (D2)

(The correct sentence) there are many benefits if a person has social media.

- 3) Social media so easy to access. (D3)

(The correct sentence) Social media is so easy to access.

The sentences above were considered errors in writing that caused of interference from mother language. This happened most of the time due to the habit of the speakers in using the mother language in applying the second language. Richard mentioned that interference error occur as a result of “the use of elements from one language while speaking another, as what can be seen from the sentence in datum 1, the diction used by the students to form a sentence seemed like a literal translation of Indonesian language. Besides that, in datum 2 there is no suffix “s” in Indonesian for plural noun, so it contributed to the error in plural form in English. Meanwhile, in datum 3 the student formed the sentence without auxilliary “be” since Indonesian language did not have auxiliary verb (is, am, are, was, were). It was in line to the result of interviewed where some students said that they made an essay by translating Indonesia into English language.

b. Overgeneralization

Overgeneralization covers instances where the learner creates a deviant structure on the basis of his experience of other structure in the target language. For examples:

- 1). One of technology which give many impacts for the youth is social media (D4)

(The correct sentence) One of technologies which gives many impacts for the youth is social media

- 2). Social media also give negative impact for the youth, such as the youth become lazier because they can get all they need without go to the library and reading a book for a long time. (D5)

(The correct sentence) Social media also gives negative impacts for the youth, such as the youth becomes lazier because they can get all they need without going to the library and reading a book for a long time

- 3). One of technology which give many impacts for the youth is social media. (D6)

(The correct sentence) One of technologies which gives many impacts for the youth is social media.

- 4) Everybody who want to continued their study almost all of them want to go abroad. (D7)

(The correct sentence) Everybody who wants to continue their study almost all of them want to go abroad.

- 5) Social media consist of facebook, BBM, instagram, and etc. (D8)

(The correct sentence) Social media consists of facebook, BBM, instagram, etc.

- 6) They are always post it on social media. (D9)

(The correct sentence) They always post it on social media.

In the datum 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, the students made an error. They did not pay attention to give “s” as a symbol of third person singular. Richard defines that omission of the “s” in the third person singular is an error made by students called overgeneralization.

In datum 9, the student did not pay attention that bare infinitive did not need to be paired with auxiliary “be” such as are, is, am since to be is paired with noun, adjective and adverb. Based on Richard’s theory, this kind of error was also called overgeneralizations.

c. Incomplete of the rule restriction

Writing in English requires complex and complicated grammar. Everything should be arranged well whether it is about subject verb agreement, using preposition or forming question and statement. If the learners made error in this form, it is called incomplete application of rules. For examples:

- 1). Phone is instrument communication, many kind types of phone like Samsung, sony, oppo, iphone etc. From various world but phone have negative impact and positive impact. (D10)

(The correct sentence) Phone is instrument of communication, many types of phone such as Samsung, Sony, Oppo, iPhone etc. From various country but it has positive and negative impacts.

- 2). Everyone would know what is social media, even a child know that social media. (D11)

(The correct sentence) Everyone will know what social media is, even a child knows about social media.

In datum 7, the student omitted one of the transformations in a series. The student did not write it completely, as Richard (1970:13) defines that “omission in one of the transformations in a series or a question word may simply be added to the statement form are errors made by students called Incomplete of the rule restriction”. Next in datum 8, the student did not pay attention to the rule of making statement and question. The student wanted to state something but the result becomes a question. The formula of making a statement is “subject + verb + connector + subject + verb.

- d. Ignorance of rules restriction

The ignorance of rule restriction is a failure to observe the restriction of existing structure which is the application of rules to contextualize where they should not be applied. The sentence was:

- 1).Positive impact facebook can help us for chat with family or our friends.

(D12)

(The correct sentence) The positive impact of facebook can help us to chat with our family and friends.

The ignorance of rule restriction is a failure to observe the restriction of existing structure which is the application of rules to contextualize where they should not be applied. In this case, the student failed to observe the restriction of rules to context where they should not be applied. In datum 9, the student made an error in differentiating between the preposition of “for” and “to”. As Richard says that misuse of preposition is an error made by students called ignorance of rules restriction.

e. False concept hypothesis

Students usually failed to use the correct concept since they have not really understood the target language. The examples of sentences:

- 1) I think people which use sosmed can use it sesuai kebutuhan. (D13)

(The correct sentence) I think people who use social media can use it properly.

- 2) First, people get financial depression if they very depend their social media

(The correct sentence) First, people can get financial depression if they really depend on their social media. (D14)

- 3) And talking about action and comedian movies in Indonesia. (D15)

(The correct sentence) And talking about action and comedy movies in Indonesia.

- 4) Social media is a media which use for get information (D16)

(The correct sentence) Social media is a media which is used to get information

- 5) Social media also use as a telling our activity, tell some story and also write some quote. (D17)

(The correct sentence) Social media is also used to tell our activity, story and to write some quotes.

- 6) Beside that social media also use for communication with other people (D18)

(The correct sentence) Beside that, social media is also used to communicate to other people

- 7).Every people have one or more country in the world that their favorite (D19)

(The correct sentence) Every person has one or more countries in the world which are their favorite country.

The sentences above were considered errors in writing that caused of false concept hypothesis. Richards (1970) mentioned that there is a class of development errors which derive from faulty comprehension of distinction in the target language. It includes the misuse of tense. Furthermore, he mentioned that the example of the cases are subject verb agreement, error in using relative pronoun, misuse of verb, error in passive as well as error in gerund. In datum 10, the student made an error in using of which and who. Which is paired with things whereas people is paired with who. Based on Richard's theory, it is an error made by students called false concept hypothesis. Next, in datum 11, the student made an error in using very and really. Then, in datum 12, the student made an error in differentiating between "comedian" and "comedy". Comedian is the actor whereas comedy is the kind of movie. Next, in data 13, 14 and 15. The students made an error in using active and passive form. The sentence should be passive form. The last, in datum 16 the student made an error in using people and person. Every should be paired with singular. Thus, it should be "person".

All causes above proved Richard's theory about causes of errors meanwhile during interview the researcher found two causes of error that did not include in Richard's theory. Those were:

First, some grammatical errors in writing were found because the students believe that the sentences they wrote were surely correct. After conducting the interviewed with some students, they were sure that their writing was correct. The extract of this case were:

1). The effect of social media have many negative impact, here I just talk about have many the negative impact of social media then positive impact.
(D20)

(The correct sentence) The effect of social media has many negative impacts, Here I just talk about many the negative impacts of social media than positive impacts.

2).Every people have one or more country in the world that their favorite.
(D21)

(The correct sentence) Every person has one or more countries in the world which are their favorite country.

3).Everyone would know what is social media, even a child know that social media. (D22)

(The correct sentence) Everyone will know what social media is, even a child knows about social media.

4).Indonesian movies are not showing the “horror” , they just showing the “sexiness” of the actresses’. (D23)

(The correct sentence) Indonesian movies are not showing the “horror” itself, they just show the “sexiness” of the actresses.

All the examples above indicated that the students were not conscious of the right verb and the way they formulated the sentence. They did not comprehend in the grammatical rules.

The second cause of error was lack of practice and vocabulary. Some students said that their errors occurred because they seldom practice their grammar in writing. It can be seen in the following sentences:

- 1) In the world phone is instrument special circle society. (D24)

(The correct sentence) In the world, phone is a special instrument around the society.

- 2).The other impact if they the child start to use social media and then the without control them parents cause have the big impact if the child search not good for themselves. (D25)

(The correct sentence) Another impact is when a child start using social media without any controll of their parents than can cause a big negative impact if the child searches bad things for themselves.

- c). Most of people can't life without open a day of social media. (D26)

(The correct sentence) Most of people can't live without opening their social media everyday.

This finding indicated that the students seldom practice writing and have limited vocabulary. They were not aware of practicing writing or increasing their vocabulary. They admitted that they practice their writing only in the class, or on the other words, seldom to practice their writing. So, even they have already memorized some vocabularies but when they made essay, they would forget their vocabulary at the end.

B. Discussion

This part discussed the analysis of the data from students' writing essay and interviewed. The researcher divided the discussion into two parts based on the problem statements. The researcher discussed the types of errors and causes of errors found in English Literature students' essay.

1. Types of errors found in literature students' essay writing

having analyzed the data, the researcher found 55 errors in students' writing essay. Each type was coded by the researcher. They were: one error in omission of content morpheme. Six errors in omission of noun inflection, seven errors in omission of verb inflection, twelve errors in omission of auxiliary, three errors in omission of article, three errors in omission of preposition, one error in addition, one error regularization in misformation, fifteen errors archi-form in misformation. Three errors alternating form in misformation, three errors in misordering.

Many students made errors in omission of grammatical morpheme especially in auxiliary verb. It was in line with Dulay (1982:155) he said that language learner omitted grammatical morphemes much more frequently than content words. It proved that even they have already learned structure for three phases, some of them still made errors on it as it was the basic of structure which must be mastered by English's students especially the fifth semester who will make thesis in the seven semester where they must write their research using correct grammar. It expected to the students to learn more about content morpheme and grammatical morpheme to decrease errors in omission.

On the other hand, the researcher only found one error in addition where the learner added suffix es in the noun "business" to indicate the plural form instead that word was uncountable noun which cannot be added by affixes. This meant the students have already understood how to present an item in well-formed utterance.

The findings above showed that the researcher had found the same errors appeared in Sasmitha (2013) where she found two students made errors in regularization error in misformation meanwhile the researcher found fifteen errors in that form. This occurred because the students selected the words in incorrect form. This result showed that during three years after Sasmitha conducted her thesis in the same field to the researcher error analysis in writing essay made by the fifth semester students of English and Literature department of UIN Alauddin Makassar in writing essay of academic year 2012/2013 error in misinformation had already increased. It can be assumed that students' were still lack of understanding about how to select the correct form of word for example in datum 49 the student was wrong to select a word as an "object". The student used their as an object but "their" is an adjective pronoun. A proper word as an object is "them".

Besides that, the researcher only found three errors in misordering where the students presented the sentence in wrong sequences such us in datum 54 the sentence is actually a kind of statement, but the student misplaced the auxiliary verb and make it as a question. According to Dulay (1982:163) this errors made because word for word translations of native language.

All these results implied that the students have difficulties in writing English, particularly on the grammatical. The result of this study was supposed to help language lecturers to assess their own teaching methodologies and the students' ability in writing. Additionally, this study could serve as basis in the development of a coherent program that addresses the students' types of errors and causes of errors to decrease students' errors.

2. Causes of error found in literature students' essay

After analyzed the data and interviewed the students, the researcher found some causes of error that were similar to Richard's theory and two causes of error which did not include in Richard's theory.

Interference as the first causes of error occurred since the students formed the sentence based on their first language. It also could be proven from the theory of Dulay (1982) and Hayi (1985) that interference as the automatic transfer, due to habit, of the surface structure of the first language into the surface of the target language. During the research, they admitted that on making essay they translated the sentence from Indonesian to English language. In the other hand, the students also formed the sentences based on Indonesian grammar instead Indonesian grammar is different from English grammar where the students must put s for plural or use auxiliary be for nominal sentence.

Overgeneralization as the second cause of error occurred because the students generalized the rule of English grammar. This cause of error is indicated by omitting s as the third singular person. During interviewing, the researcher found that the students have not understood well how to put additional infinitive after singular subject. The students were asked to correct their essay by the researcher but some of them were unaware of this omitting.

The third cause of error was incomplete application of rules. It indicated from the students' errors in using transformation and statement to question. The researcher found that the students knew their intended in writing. For instance, she said that she wanted to give a statement about social media by writing “Everyone would know what is social media” but she failed in using incomplete rules where to make a statement the verb should be in the end of sentence.

The fourth cause of error was ignorance of rule restrictions where the students failed to use certain structure which must be applied in the sentences like misuse of preposition. Here, the students already learned about preposition but they ignored it by using another preposition which was not suitable to the sentence. The student admitted that she still confused to differentiate between preposition “for” and “to”.

The next cause of error was false concept hypothesis. It happened due to the students’ faulty comprehension of distinction in the target language. The example of this case was misuse tense. Some students were aware that even they have already learned about tenses but they have not comprehended to use it. They said that when the lecturer explained them one kind of structure in the class, they understood but when the lecturer gave them the new tenses they forgot the previous one especially if they asked to make a writing. These finding also proven the study of Lim in Ronald (2014:96) revealing that English language learners know the rules of tenses but when they are supposed to apply the rules, they just jumble it. She add that learners think in their L1 then translate it into English, they feel confused in which tenses form they can use especially in present and past tense like whether the sentence should be in present or past form.

On the other hand, the researcher found two causes of errors which do not mention in Richard's theory. First, the learners believed that the sentences they wrote were surely correct instead it incorrect. It proves the theory from lightbown (2001:59) that second language learners are not always conscious of their individual learning styles, but virtually all learners have strong beliefs and opinion about how their second language should be delivered. These beliefs are usually based on previous learning experience and the right or wrong assumption. Second, the learners were lack of practice and vocabulary. it can be seen from students writing that they used vocabulary which is not suitable to other words. When the researcher asked them about it, they said that they have less vocabulary. Thus, they used the vocabulary that they knew as long as the meaning was same. They also said that they seldom practiced writing so even they have already memorized certain vocabulary, they lost it.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presented the conclusion as the results of research findings and also suggestion that can give contributions for the future research. The following contents of this chapter were explained in the following.

A. Conclusion

Based on the previous chapter, the writer concluded the types of errors and the causes of the errors made by the fifth semester students in writing essay as follows:

1. There are 55 errors in writing. Every type was coded by the researcher. They are one error in omission of content morpheme. Six errors in omission of noun inflection, seven errors in omission of verb inflection, twelve errors in omission of auxiliary, three errors in omission of article, three errors in omission of preposition, one error in addition, one error regularization in misformation, fifteen errors archi-form in misformation. Three errors alternating form in misformation, three errors in misordering.
2. Several causes of error also found in students' essay. After analyzed the students writing and interviewed them, the researcher found some causes of error they were: Based on Richard's theory; those are: Interference of mother tongue, overgeneralization, ignorance of rule restriction, incomplete application of rules and false concept hypothesis meanwhile the researcher found two causes that did not include in Richard's theory. They were: Some of students believe that the sentences they wrote were surely correct and students lack of practice and limited vocabulary.

It could be concluded that the fifth semester students still made errors in writing essay and most of their errors caused by internal causes of error as has been explained before.

B. Suggestion

Based on the findings, some suggestions are proposed to improve the students' mastery in English especially in writing essay.

1. The researcher hopes this research can give contribution to the next researcher who wants to conduct any research about grammatical error.
2. It is better for the lecturer to consider the results and findings of the study in providing a better explanation about grammar especially in using auxiliary verb.
3. The students are supposed to pay attention to the grammatical areas where the errors occur.
4. The researcher hopes by knowing the students' causes of error it can reduce the students' error.
5. It is better to create the explanation of structure to make the students easy to understand it and practice it.

Social media

These days, Social media is an important tool of communication, most of people live without <sup>use</sup> ~~open~~ a day of social media. I think social media is a part of globalization, know one can run about that, every <sup>body</sup> ~~are~~ now has a handphone and their handphone have social media, like facebook, twitter, and etc.

Indonesian Movies

I like watching movies, but I'd rather choose to watch the western than Indonesian, because of the quality, story and many more factors. But, it doesn't mean that I don't like Indonesian movies, there are some titles I like, such as "tenggelamnya kapal Van wick", "5 cm", etc. Indonesian movies are lack of qualities, specially movies with Horror genre, Indonesian movies are not showing the "Horror", ~~but~~ they just showing the "sexiness" of the actresses.

If we compare it with western, Indonesian is absolutely lose from western. but if Indonesian want to try harder to make better movies, there should be a big chance for them.

Talking about Social Media, everybody ~~knows~~ in the world use it. A Except people who ketinggalan zaman or never browsing. Many types of sosmed are there, wechat, what up, BBM, FB etc. ~~with~~ use sosmed can help us to minimize time, make user be happy and can communicate long distance, for example I call my sister in the Malaysia, I will use many voucher to talk with her, but if use what up I can see her face and talk for long time. ~~with what up~~ ~~because I use data phone~~ by data phone.

Nowdays, many people menyalahgunakan sosmed. & Antara lain they use it for kejahatan. I think people who use sosmed can use it sesuai kebutuhan. Sosmed can make user be lazy because they just menghabiskan waktu just for sosmed.

The horror movies give negative impact for teenagers and also for kid under 17th. There are too much such things that showed up in the movies like the sexiness with the actors.

And talking about action and comedy movies in Indonesia. Action in Indonesia now are very popular because the technology developing and for the comedy movies are also now funniest than comedy before because people now are so intelligent, us for think . . . .

- Student : oh this one..
- Researcher : actually you have already known it but what made you did not apply ur grammar skill when you wrote it?
- Student : make it clear !

- Student : just because I wrote quickly. Usually I recheck my writing but I did not at the time
- Researcher : do you have any obstacle in writing especially the grammaratical since you have learned it since the first semester?

- Researcher : which one do you mean? Live or life?
- Student : kehidupan is life and hidup is live
- Researcher : when you wrote this, did you translate Indonesia into English or you immediately .....
- Student : immediately in English
- Researcher : immediately wrote it in English.. look at the example! Actually you know it but anyway what makes you wrong in writing or in representing the grammar into the sentence?
- Student : firstly, I am not good at grammar right now
- Researcher : ok..
- Student : perhaps I am good enough at memorizing regular and irregular verb but I cannot arrange the words well
- Researcher : you have known some vocabularies.. you just need to.....
- Student : need to be improved
- Researcher : improve the way to arrange words.
- Student : yes.. the arrangement
- Researcher : except what you have mentioned, what is another cause? For example.. I have learned grammar since I was in secondary school then I am taking English literature in University but I sometimes still wrong when I write. What is the cause actually? I myself maybe because I do not understand about grammar. What about you? Do you have another reason?
- Student : if I have an assignment then I relearned the lesson I will understand sometimes but if I do not relearned, I sometimes forget.
- Researcher : ok..lacking

- Student : ok
- Researcher : did you really mean “comedian” in this sentence?
- Student : comedy.. is it comedian?
- Researcher : in your opinion, what makes you incorrect in writing the word at the time?

- Student : no ! but what is the difference?
- Researcher : it is more suitable if you put “for” rather than “to” in this sentence
- Student : oh my god !
- Researcher : in your opinion, what causes that makes you sometimes incorrect in representing the sentence?
- Student : I do not know how to differentiate between to and for.
- Researcher : yes because they sound similar.
- Student : they sound similar so it is hard for me to differentiate it.
- Researcher : What is the main cause that makes you wrong in representing the sentence especially the grammar? For example, me.. how could I sometimes incorrect in representing the sentence but I have learned grammar since I was in the first semester?
- Student : in my opinion, I am still lacking of grammar skill...
- Researcher : yes.. what is the cause? Why is it lacking?

Student : I translate Indonesia into English

Researcher : you have already known the correction. So, except this, do you still want to correct something? for example you have ever learned about this or you felt this sentence is incomplete.

Student : the grammar is correct but this one?? I am going to.. perhaps, it should be “on”. It means.. it is wrong. Wait for a while miss ! oh.. it is true !

For example Indonesian horror movie. The way they wear impolite dress. So, the children and adult who watch it will imitate their style.
