CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Literature is an art in relation to our life, and our life is very broad. A good man of letter will make approach to this life; in order their work is meaningful and useful for reader. For a man of letter, cleverness and intelligence not only heavenly grace but it is willingness for their selves. A composer has to live between two worlds. The first world is related to their individual and the second world is related to society (Semi, 1993: 73).

Literature may consist of the writing study of books, valued as works of art such as drama, essays, poetry, biography contrasted with technical books, journalism and fiction (Hornby, 1987).

Novel, just like other pieces of literature, is a work of art. It attempts to give description to the universe in which we live and tries to give a specific impression of this universe. It often presents something that happens in daily life, so we can learn about the world we live in as well.

Novel is certain, which can serve an entertainment and useful information about human social life and society. It is very humanistic process of observing living people. Because it is creation from the background of human life expression in society. Novel is therefore a work of literature whose material is taken from the contemporary life events. As literary work, it represent story about certain aspect of human life experience it is a large diffused description with comprehends the life character and being disported a different group of uniform plan (Lefeve: 1997: 52).

Novel is an illustration of human life in society, talking the life expression as its material. It is more probably that the author's own experience becomes the main source of his creation or his imaginative powers to think of the real life inspire him to write a narration. However what the author narrated are useful for the reader, since the creation has related to human being. This is based on the fact that literary work was born because of the anxiety of authors in looking at reality. (Sitepu, 2009: 21). Accordingto Howells inKusharyanto (2008: 145):

He believed that realism “was nothing more or less than the truthful treatment of material, “especially the motives and actions of ordinary men and women. He insisted... that the novel be objective or dramatic in point of view; solidly based in convincingly motivated characters speaking the language of actual men and women; free of contrived events or melodramatic effects; true to the particulars of recent time and specific place; and ethically and aesthetically seamless piece (Howells in Baym, 1989: 265)

Realism theory says that good writing is that stems from the observation precision. Realism is the response of the author to changing social, cultural and political and interprets circumstances of emerging (Lauter, 1998:11). Realism believes in moral individual freedom and the ability to choose and decide their own destiny, and see what the so called truth and morality are subjective, depending on the particular experience and perspective they experienced themes are sult of differences in class, race and gender (Hedges, 1998:248)

Realism is work to see straightaway, feel, and think. In the literary world, realism is the literature ideology that talking about something according to the reality. Because of that, realism is a democratic ideology in the fiction since not only talking about the daily lives of the middle class specify, but also about the lower class. Also realism is directly connected with daily lives, naturally and normally. (Juliasih, 2008:115).

Moral realism is a systematic defense of the idea that there are objective moral standards. Russ Shafer-Landau argues that there are moral principles that are true independently of what anyone, anywhere, happens to think of them.

Moral Realism has the advantage of purportedly allowing the ordinary rules of logic to be applied straightforwardly to moral statements, (so that we can say, for example, that a moral belief is false or unjustified or contradictory in the same way we would about a factual belief). It also allows for the resolution of moral disagreements, because if two moral beliefs contradict one another, Moral Realism (unlike some other meta-ethical systems) says that they cannot both be right and so there should be some way of resolving the situation.

Based on the explanation above, the writer is interested to analyze moral realism in Suzanne Collin's novel "Mockingjay", they are moral requirement hypothetical imperatives, values and secondary qualities and virtues and reason. It useful to analyze about the realism in this novel. So that the writer hopes, this thesis gives benefits information about realism to the people (readers) in their reading.

B. Problems Statement

Kinds of realism includes an important that people need to understand. In Suzanne Collin's Mockingjay, there are some types of realism in this novel. Based on the background above, the writer formulates the research questions as follows:

1. What type of realism viewed from moral realism that is used in "Mockingjay" novel by Suzanne Collin's?
2. How does the author perform realism in the novel "Mockingjay"?

C. Objective of Research

The objectives of the study can be stated as follows:

1. To find out what type of realism viewed from moral realism that is used in "Mockingjay" novel by Suzanne Collins.
2. To find out the author way to perform realism in the novel "Mockingjay"

D. Significance of Research

This research intends to help and give information to the readers on how to understand realism. It mean, before the people (readers) read this thesis they do not know specially types of realism. But after reading it, they will understand about realism.

E. Scope of Study

In this research, the writer focus on the kinds of realism that are viewed from moral realism in Suzanne Collin's novel "Mockingjay". In this case, the anaysis refers to the 3 kinds and then the writer also focuses to the author's way to perform moral realism and the writer used McDowel ltheory.

LITERATURE REVIEW

A. Previous Findings

The writer presents some previous findings, which are related or relevant with this research, as follows :

Dewi (2010) “Realism Sosialis Pramoedya Ananta Toer (Telaah dalam Novel Tetralogi). She studied about how the way to win the socialism around the people especially the proletar people against the capitalism people who always underestimate them. She used the journalistic media to find out the information about it and in the novel Tetralogi by Pramoedya Ananta Toer. She found the cases about Realism in the socialist people. The cases are the persecution bourgeo is class to proletaar class.

Moreover Quarles (2012), in her essay “Realism vs. Idealism”. Describes all about the differences between the realism and idealism in the Panama Canal because Roosevelt went ahead with his plan without thinking of the future. He did not think about how the world would view the U.S or about the many difficulties, like malaria, that would be encountered while building the canal.

Similar to the previous findings above, the writer will also discuss about realism theory. Dewi focused on the socialist realism in the novel by Pramoedya Ananta Toer "Tetralogi", and Quarles focused on the differences between realism and idealism and also took the example according to the real not from a novel, while the writer will focus only on the type of realism viewed from moral realism (Meta-ethical) in the novel by Suzanne Collin "Mockingjay".

B. Definition of Realism

As a description, realism treats things that are actualities. Especially as practiced by midwestern writers, realism might be said to be a democratic mode of fiction because of its concern with the depiction of middle and lower class characters and its attention to the "unremarkable" day to day details of those characters' lives. Underlying this approach is the assumption that those events, characters and objects merit such description. Whether a way of dress, a social custom, or a local dialect, whatever is described in fiction is to some degree, by virtue of that description, relevant (Howells in Juliasih, 2008:144).

Based on the opinion above, it can be concluded that someone can be easily controlled using realism even if it is our enemy. Broadly defined as "the faithful representation of reality" or "verisimilitude," a reaction against romanticism, an interest in scientific method, the systematizing of the study of documentary history, and the influence of rational philosophy all affected the rise of realism.

The term "realism" is difficult to define, in part because it is used differently in European contexts than in American literature. According to Pizer (2009:42) suggests that "whatever was being produced in fiction during the 1870s and 1880s that was new, interesting, and roughly similar in a number of ways can be designated as realism, and that an equally new, interesting, and roughly similar body of writing produced at the turn of the century can be designated as naturalism".

Realism was a movement that encompassed the entire country, or at least the Midwest and South, although many of the writers and critics associated with realism (notably W. D. Howells) were based in New England. Among the Midwestern writers considered realists would be Joseph Kirkland, E. W. Howe, and Hamlin Garland; the Southern writer John W. DeForest's Miss Ravenel's Conversion from Secession to Loyalty is often considered a realist novel, too.

The question of the nature and plausibility of realism is so controversial that no brief account of it will satisfy all those with a stake in the debates between realists and non-realists. This article offers a broad brush characterisation of realism, and then fills out some of the detail by looking at a few canonical examples of opposition to realism. The discussion of forms of opposition to realism is far from exhaustive and is designed only to illustrate a few paradigm examples of the form such opposition can take (Alexsander, 2010:16).

Based on the explanation above, the writer can conclude that realism is an occurrence or journey of human life which have happened at former epoch, however in narrating again at the present day which in supporting by existing facts. Realism cover all aspect don't only that from high class, middle class but also of lower class.

C. Types of realism

There are many different types and degrees of Realism, said by Luke Mastin: (2008) in his article "The Basics of Philosophy", some of which are described in detail in this thesis, they are:

1. Platonic Realism

Platonic Realism is the view, articulated by the ancient Greek philosopher Plato, that universals exist. A universal is a property of an object, which can exist in more than one place at the same time (e.g. the quality of "redness"). As universals were considered by Plato to be ideal forms, this stance is confusingly also called Platonic Idealism.

According to Plato, Forms possess the highest and most fundamental kind of reality. They are perfect because they are unchanging. The world of forms is separate from our own world (the world of substances) and is the true basis of reality. Removed from matter, Forms are the most pure of all things. True knowledge or intelligence is the ability to grasp the world of forms with one's mind.

Plato's main evidence for the existence of Forms is intuitive only, arguing from human perception (a generalization which applies equally to objects which are clearly different e.g. blue sky and blue cloth), and from perfection (a perfect model for various imperfect copies, which are different but recognizably copies of the same thing. flawed circles must be imperfect copies of the same thing).

2. Moderate Realism

Moderate realism is the view by Jacques Maritain (1882-1973) where universals (or universal concepts) exist, but that they are located in space and time wherever they happen to be manifest. Moderate realism represents a middle ground between Platonic realism or extreme realism (see section above) and the opposite extreme, Nominalism (the position that abstract concepts, general terms or universals have no independent existence, but exist only as names).

It distinguishes between the thing itself with the way it exists: a thing exists in the mind as a universal, and in reality it exists as an individual. Moderate Realism therefore recognizes both sense knowledge, which presents things in their individuality, and intellectual conceptual knowledge, which presents things in their more abstract nature.

3. Modal Realism

Modal Realism is the view, notably propounded by David Lewis, that possible worlds are just as real as the actual world we live in, and not just abstract possibilities. The term goes back to Gottfried Leibniz's theory of possible worlds, which he used to analyze modal notions of necessity and possibility. Lewis claimed that:

- Possible worlds exist: they are just as real as our world.

- Possible worlds are the same sort of things as our world: they differ in content, not in kind.
- Possible worlds cannot be reduced to something more basic: they are irreducible entities in their own right.
- When we talk of our "actual" world, the term "actual" is indexical (merely indicating some particular state of affairs): it does not mean that our world is any more real than any other.

4. Moral Realism

Moral Realism (or Moral Objectivism) is the meta-ethical view by Immanuel Kant that there are objective moral values which are independent of our perception of them or our stance towards them. Therefore, moral judgments describe moral facts. It is a cognitivist view (cognitive being the view that ethical sentences express propositions and are therefore "truth-apt" i.e. they are able to be true or false), and it contrasts with expressivist or non-cognitivist theories of moral judgment, error theories, fictionalist theories and constructivist or relativist theories.

Moral Realism purportedly allows the ordinary rules of logic to be applied straightforwardly to moral statements. It also allows for the resolution of moral disagreements, because if two moral beliefs contradict one another, Moral Realism (unlike some other meta-ethical systems) says that they cannot both be right and so there should be some way of resolving the situation.

Critics have argued that, while Moral Realism may be able to explain how to resolve moral conflicts, it cannot explain how these conflicts arose in the first place. Others have argued Moral Realism posits a kind of "moral fact" which is non-material and observable and therefore not accessible to the scientific method.

D. Theory of Realism

McDowell (1970:32) in parallel with the development of his work on mind and language, McDowell also made significant contributions to moral philosophy, specifically meta-ethical debates over the nature of moral reasons and moral objectivity. McDowell developed the view that has come to be known as secondary property realism, or sensibility or moral sense theory. The theory proceeds via the device of an ideally virtuous agent: such an agent has two connected capacities. She has the right concepts and the correct grasp of concepts to think about situations in which she finds herself by coming to moral beliefs. Secondly, for such a person such moral beliefs are automatically overriding over other reasons she may have and in a particular way: they "silence" other reasons, as McDowell puts it. He believes that this is the best way to capture the traditional idea that moral reasons are especially authoritative.

McDowell's moral realism had three categories are that moral Requirements Hypothetical Imperatives (MRHI), values and Secondary Qualities (VASQ) and Virtues and Reason (VR).

1. Moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperative

In moral Requirements Hypothetical Imperatives are divided into two corners (Tollfsen, 2000: 32), they are:

a. Realist

Means that the judgment depends for the requirement of morality are imposed by circumstances of action.

b. Cognitive and intern list

The corners mean that the virtuous person's way of understanding a situation is sufficient to motivate him/her.

For example:

A legislative promises some vision and mission that was beneficial to the community if they became president, If they fail, they were active in a variety of fields, for example in the field to their religious focusend on the construction of mosques or places of worship.

2. Value and Secondary Qualities

Furthermore, in value and Secondary Qualities, McDowell's in (Tollfsen, 2000: 34) said that he defends the claim that it is the world which is it value laden. Common sense likens value properties to primary qualities which are objective by being "simply there, independently of human sensibility.

For example:

Teacher or consultant teach someone to be better by instilling moral values to students and it is only he who knows the meaning of the action. Although it has benefited by others.

3. Virtue and Reason

Virtue and Reason said that he also defends the claim that it is in consequence of the virtuous agent's conception of world, and consequence of some desire, that the virtuous agents is motivated to act as the world demands. Virtuous just is to have the sensitivity to the particular situation which is necessary for acting in accordance with the requirements generated by the situation. His position is again internalist; for the virtuous person's conception of the situation completely explains why she acted as she did the conception is sufficient to show the favorable light in which the agent viewed the action.

For example:

A village have one characters who were be important in the fight area because after many requests from people in the community value, whether it's from or how to speak the designated behavior prior to occupying an office.

E. Moral

Moral is derived from the Latin word mores, which means the plural of mos customs. While the Indonesian interpreted with moral decency. While the moral ideas are commonly accepted human action its phone is good and reasonable.

The term moral to always ask the good and bad deeds of man as man, he was predominantly used as a parameter to set right or harm human actions associated with something. A person who obey the rules, the rules and norms in society are considered immoral, but if the private then judged immoral. Therefore , in terms of its moral may be regulatory or principles are true, good, praiseworthy and glorious . It also can be associated with loyalty, obedience to the values and norms that bind life.

F. Value

The word " value " can be defined as a feeling of what is good and what is bad, what is required or what is not in want, what should and what should not. Relate to the value of choice, and that choice is a prerequisite for taking an action. A try to achieve everything according pandangannya angle has a value. Robin Williams talking about " social value ", ie the value which upheld the crowd. There is also a " tika or moral values ", namely the provisions or ideals of what is considered good or right by the community. One more " cultural values ", namely the concept of what living in a natural society think in part, on what they deem valuable, and important in life .

According to Murtaza muthahari that every thing in essence worth , because every thing is a level of form , and the form is a value in itself.

G. The Synopsis of the Novel

The story begins with the uproar situation of district 12. Smoke in everywhere and the people houses those burned by the fire. Many people in the district 12 moved to district 13 for foods and the good place include Katniss and her family. Even though there are many rules, district 13 is still the best place in that time.

While in district 12, Katniss is a good fighter in the Hunger Games arena. This is become the reason for the leader of the district 13 to ask Katniss become the Mockingjay or the fighter of district 13.

The helicopter keeps falling down the bombs, however the leader of district 13 finally success to make it landed on the ground and catch Capitol. He is punished and killed.

Some years later, Katniss and Peeta is married and have some child. The story ends with peace without violence that always pressure Katniss's feeling.

CHAPTER III METHODOLOGY

A. Research Method

In this thesis, the writer used qualitative descriptive method. Withney in Sugiyono (2009:54) explains that descriptive research method is the fact-finding to the truth interpretation. Furthermore, Bogdan and Biklen in Sugiyono (2008:21) define characteristics of qualitative research method, they are: first, qualitative research has the neutral setting as the direct source of data and the researcher is the key instrument. Second, qualitative research is descriptive. The data collected is in form of words of pictures rather than number. This method intends to describe everything types of realism in novel "Mockingjay".

B. The Sources of Data Collection

In this research, the writer used source of the data which is novel "Mockingjay" Suzanne Collins novel which published 2012. It contains 27 chapters and 179 pages. The data taken from utterances from all the parts of novel that express as kind of realism viewed from moral realism.

C. The Instrument of Data

In collecting data, the researcher used note taking as the instrument of research. An important aspect of good note taking skills knows what to write down in the notes. Distinguishing important from unimportant information is a skill that improves with practice. Being able to identify key words and key points help the researcher to determine what should be recorded (Ray, 2005:14). It were used to find the data from the novel Mockingjay.

D. Procedures of Data Collection

In collecting the data for this research the writer do steps, they are:

1. The writer read "Mockingjay" novel by Suzanne Collin's.
2. The writer identified sentence in the novel that indicated as realism by underline them in the novel.
3. The writer classified the sentence and write down them including its pages and chapters based of realism by using card to make it easy in classifying.

E. The Technical of data analysis

In analyzed the data, the researcher used McDowell's theory about kinds of realism they are Moral Requirements Hypothetical Imperatives, Values and Secondary Qualities and Virtues and Reason to analyze the kind of realism viewed from moral realism and find out the author way perform realism in the novel Suzanne Collin “Mockingjay”.

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

This chapter consists of findings and discussions that will show the result of the research. The writer would like to show what have been found from Suzanne Collin’s Novel “Mockingjay”.

A. Findings

In this research, the writer presents the findings based on moral realism in Suzanne Collin’s novel “Mockingjay”. Through data analysis, it was found moral realism by McDowell’s (1970: 30) moral realism is set out in a number of well, especially Moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperatives, Values and Secondary Qualities and Virtues and Reason.

To understand the data collection, the writer presented The explanation as follows:

Moral realism that is used in the novel

1. Moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperatives (MRHI)
2. Values and Secondary Qualities (VASQ)
3. Virtues and Reason (VR)

Then the source (novel) of the data was explained with C is chapter, P is page, and D is data.

The findings above, they were the data that have been found in the novel from chapter 1 until chapter 27. There were 20 data. The data that included as type of realism viewed from moral realism. To more understand the more the data, the writer presents it based on the context of the findings .

B. Discussion

In this part, the writer analyzed the data that have been found in Suzanne Collins’s novel “Mockingjay”. The writer was as a reader of novel identified 3 types of moral realism that are viewed from moral realism based on McDowell’s theory.

A. Kinds of realism

1. Moral Requirements Hypothetical Imperatives

In moral Requirements Hypothetical Imperatives is divided into two corners (Tollfsen, 2000: 32) they are:

Realist means that the judgment depends for the requirement of morality are imposed by circumstances of action and Cognitive and intern list is the corners mean that the virtuous person's way of understanding a situation is sufficient to motivate him/her.

In the moral requirements hypothetical imperative are divided into two kinds they are realist and cognitive and intern list but in the novel Mockingjay, the researcher found only one kind that it realist.

a. Realist

In the datum 1, “I made it a condition of my cooperating with any of their plans”, this sentence describe Katniss cooperating of her condition. It indicates as moral requirement Hypothetical Imperatives because how Katniss give motivation for herself, Katniss Everdeen utilizes her popularity as a fighter for district 13. It is considered very important in the collection, then she filed several requests may be rejected by district 13 considering the importance of Katniss for this collection.

In datum 2, “I must now become the actual leader the face, the voice, the embodiment of the revolution”. This sentence describe Katniss become a leader of the revolution, it is indicated above showing that one moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperatives. It is concluded that Katniss understands a situation that is sufficient to motivate herself because just her can give change from the people and take district come back from Snow.

As the writer explained before, moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperatives is realistic for the requirement, of morality are imposed by the circumstance of action.

In the datum 3, this sentence “I’m going to be a Mockingjay” the context of this sentence she wants to be a Mockingjay for take district from Snow. This datum included as identify moral requirement hypothetical imperative because it is explained motivates. Because Katniss can assist all rebel defeat snow by becoming a mockingjay. It relevant with the theory that is used in this research because she gets respectful a leader of the Rebellion from the President of Districts 13.

The authors used moral requirement hypothetical motivated to describe situation in the mind of readers. In the sentence, Katniss says she is Mockingjay to give freedom for people of the datum 4, “I told Coin I’d be her Mockingjay”. But I made her promise to give the other tributes are plenty of witnesses” from the bold sentence, it is categorized as moral requirement hypothetical motivated because Katniss give motivate to herself and understand it is situation to be Mockingjay. Because Katniss is a leader who has been at the point that only he is able to free the district from the Capitol.

In the datum 5, “It was hard to see clearly because I was so afraid. Now I’m not. In the sentence Now I’m Not, she said she she not afraid to kill Snow”. In this sentence, included as moral requirement hypothetical imperative because that sentence describes a situation is sufficient to motivate her, now I’m not. Katniss is able to blend in the society and the society believes that Katniss could lead them. Because one of the most Katniss is expected to participate in the liberation of the district.

In the datum 6, “And here I am again. With people dying because of me. Friends, allies, complete strangers, losing their lives for the Mockingjay. “ Let me go on alone. Lead them off”. In the sentence describe she go alone first to finish the mission. In the datum included moral requirement hypothetical imperatives. It is created realism in the mind of the reader after the words read this sentence has relation with McDowell’s theory. Because it related details that convey amotivated what the realism literary describe and Katniss give motivate for herself because she wants to give freedom forthe society and make President fall from his position. So there are no pressures for society again.

2. Values and Secondary Qualities

In the second kinds the writer finds 6 data where the action that is done will result value or function to the people. This is corelation with MCDowells theory in Tollsens (2000 : 34), he depends the claim that it is the world which it itself ‘value laden’.

In the datum 7, in from this sentence the researcher used a one technique one of the doctors suggested. In the sentence Katniss start think the simples plan to complicated the mission. “I start with the simplest things I know to be true and work toward the more complicated”. This sentence describe were Katniss start to think the simple plan to complicated a mission. This datum included to show us that one of kind of realism is values and secondary qualities because it is the world which itself value laden. So Katniss think if she does that, she known the meaning by herself.

In the datum 8, “I laugh a little. “Both, I guess. No, I want to. I have to, if it will help the rebels defeat Snow. In the sentence she can help the rebels to defeat Snow. This datum included as values and secondary and secondary qualities because the sentence describes something when Katniss can made value laden will help the rebels defeat Snow. Becauseof the actions were taken by Katniss that can provide benefits to the community. She is only able to sense of action.

In the datum 9, Prim thinks this over. “Katniss, I don’t think you understand how important you are to the cause”. The sentence where Katniss so important for that case. This datum included as values and secondary qualities sentence that indicates something she can made value laden. In this sentence, Katniss is so important in this case because she has power like meand has ability to be free and have political spirit, so that is why be she will easily cripple.

In the datum 10, “of the word “No,” I say. “I want to go to the Capitol. I want to be part of the rescue mission”. The sentence Katniss is part of the mission to defeat Snow and broke the Capitol. This datum is categorized as values and secondary qualities because it describes something. Katniss is performed to be a leader for people. Because she believes in a way that just she will get the results that she wants to retake the district controlled by Snow.

In the datum 11, this sentence “I accept that I’m probably the most qualified from the job, grit my teeth, and put in a row of jagged sutures”. This sentence Katniss said just she can do it and give freedom for the people. So automatically it is included as values and secondary qualities. According to McDowell’s theory values and secondary qualities will describe a something that just she can do it. Because Katniss has spirit like men and Katniss can do something that is not only politically but also economically for district freedom.

In the datum 12, “I did not come all this way, and lose all those people, to turn myself over to that woman. I kill Snow”. This sentence her goes to arena and is a Mockingjay to just kill Snow. This datum included as values and secondary qualities it show where Katniss use violence to finish the complications and to finish the colonial domination. Katniss would destroy the power of Snow and restore the rights of people who have been at this for grabs.

3. Virtues and Reason (VR)

The third kinds of moral realism is virtues and reason the resercher found 8 data where the action is motivated to act as the world demands. Tollsens (2000: 35), said he depend the claim that it is in consequence of the virtuous agent's conception of that world, and not in consequence of some desire, that the Virtuous agent is motivated to act as the world demands. Katniss is only able to do it. Because she has a soul like a man so the people are confident that she is able it to defeat the Snow.

In the datum 13, “This enthusiasm was interpreted as kindness. But a man named Dalton, a Districts 10 refugee who'd made it to 13 foot a few years ago, liked real motive to me. “They need you. Me. They need us all”. The sentence, Katniss follow the plan of President Snow to join in the arena. In this datum included as virtues and reason because we see Katniss can do something and give change for them. Where she has a strategy to destroy Snow. By way of pretending to follow all orders of Capitol.

In the datum 14, “What they want is for me to truly take on the role they designed for me”. In this sentence what you need to Katniss on the role is the symbol of revolution. The symbol of the revolution. Is Categorized as virtues and reason because it is describe about Katniss as a leader from the country and she can give freedom for the people from President Snow. The main reason if she to participate in the war and became the most important part of the war because she wants to restore the residence which has been controlled by President Snow.

In the datum 15, “As bad as it makes you feel, you’re going to have to do some killing, because in the arena, you only get one wish. And it’s very costly”.

The sentence Katniss join because in the arena and they are have one wish is she to killing President Snow. It is categorized as virtues and reason because the sentence describes something to get the freedom from the colonizer. Because they have to sacrifice themselves to save and reclaim the district for the survival of society.

The datum 16, “You know in general what we’re asking of you, Katniss. I’m aware you have mixed feelings about participating”. In this sentence, she friends hope if Katniss join in the arena. Because it can make change and freedom for the life. It included virtues and reason because of the sentence above described Katniss can kill Snow. Because Katniss must liberate the district from Snow and it is the greatest desire to Katniss to participate in the war.

The writer’s point of view, the sentence in the datum 17, “After your first Games, I thought the whole romance was an act on your part. We all expected you’d continue that strategy”. In this sentence, they all of them hope her to continue the strategy. It is clear that the sentence above categorized as virtues and reason when just Katniss just can do it and give freedom for districts. Because Katniss is able to paralyze Snow for the sake of a name and restore freedom to districts live.

The sentence in the datum 18, “Prim was wrong. Peeta is irretrievable. “I can’t stay here anymore,” I say numbly. “If you want me to be the Mockingjay, you'll have to send me away". In the sentence where they can send Katniss in the away if she becomes the Mockingjay. It is categorized as virtues and reason. Because the data show us if the Katniss can becomes a leader of the society.

In the datum 19, "we all have one enemy, and it's the Capitol! This is our change to put end to their power, but we need every distric person to do it". In this sentence, they all have one of them enemy, that are the Capitol. This datum above categorized into virtues and reason because there is sentence where they have some problem is colonizer.

In the datum 20, "I've asked you here to settle a debate. Today we will execute Snow". In this sentence she goes to arena and kills Snow. It is categorized as values and reason. Because this sentence describes the people who believed Katniss will kill Snow and Coin said just she can make the freedom from the colonizer. Because she believes in this way she can make it worth.

1. The writer described about the first types of realism is moral requirement hypothetical imperative in the novel "Mockingjay"

In this case the writer describes the realism on the main character in the novel "Mockingjay". Then, the writer remained that there are two kind from moral requirement hypothetical imperative, those are realist, Cognitive and intern list. Katniss was described by Zusanne Collin's in her novel, if seen from moral requirement hypothetical imperative where she was as a leader of war that made by President Snow. Realism describes here is where her statement proved by the acts, for example the participation of her to fight the district. It's sentence correlation with the data 2; I must now become the actual leader the face, the voice, the embodiment of the revolution. The person who the districts most of which are now openly at war with the Capitol can count on to blaze the path to victory.

2. To described of main character that has been seen from the type of moral realism in second number that is values and secondary qualities.

In the second types the writer explained more definition about values and secondary qualities. With McDowell's theory, Tollen (2000: 34) said he depends the claim that it is the world which it itself "value laden".

If the reader seen the described of realism from the writer, realism performs, Katniss did something that useful for people, but this is just known by who did the action. From the second type, this data correlation with data 12, I did not come all this way, and lose all those people, to turn myself over to that woman. I kill Snow. Besides, there would be an awful lot of things I couldn't easily explain about the last few days.

3. Realism is described in novel "Mockingjay" by Suzanne Collin's here according to virtues and reason.

The third types definition about virtues and reason, Tollen said he depends on the claim that it is in consequence of the virtuous agent's conception of that world, and not in consequence of some desire, that the Virtuous agent is motivated to act as the world demands.

Katniss or main character did something that can influence for the success of nation because social need it. This sentence correlation with data 14, what they want is for me to truly take on the role they designed for me. The symbol of revolution. The Mockingjay.

Based on the result of analysis, the writer just gets Moral Realism they are Moral Requirement Hypothetical Imperatives, Values and Secondary Qualities and Virtues and Reason in Novel "Mockingjay" Suzanne Collin's.
