Supervisor I : Dr. Rosmah Tami
Supervisor II : Masykur Rauf

This research discussed about the event of radical feminism in movie All Cheerleaders Die. The aims of this research are to describe the logical events of radical feminism that shown in this movie. This research focused on the events using Seymour Chatman theory about Narrative Structure in Fiction and Film. The data were analyzed using descriptive qualitative method and the structuralism approach was used in describing the logical events in the movie. The researcher used note taking as the instrument to get the valid data. In this research, the findings showed that there were 10 events on this movie, they were: the death, the raped, the revenge, the quarrel, the accident, the murder, the leering, the brawl, the fight, and the solution. The researcher concluded the dominant event that causing the radical feminism on this movie was the revenge. The antagonist who performed the bad acts such as the raped, the quarrel, or the murder made the audience has a sense to be dejected and hated.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

This chapter consists of background of the research, research questions, research objectives, research significances, and research scopes.

A. Background Of The Research

Since the last of two decades, gender issues are widespread. In general, gender issues of justice and injustice are often discussed. It was questioned and debated in national and international feminist agendas. Therefore, gender studies become a phenomenon that applied and described by the researcher in the research. Gender studies appear along with modern values. Gender studies bring about the various new streams or concepts, such as feminism and patriarchy. The role that men and women share in customs, social or cultural rights is a gender role.

Since gender studies appear, the roles that have become habitual in tradition are referred to as traditional roles. For example, an adult woman teachable and socialize as a woman in general. Such as they behave in softness, kind in speak, and act as beautiful one. This is an example of the woman tradition. Such as thing that woman like elegant, beautiful, and soft can be seen on Q.S Ar Rum Verse 21:

وَمِنْ آيَاتِهِ أَنْ خَلَقَ لَكُمْ مِنْ أَنْفُسِكُمْ أَزْوَاجًا لِتَسْكُنُوا إِلَيْهَا وَجَعَلَ بَيْنَكُمْ
مَوَدَّةً وَرَحْمَةً إِنَّ فِي ذَلِكَ لَآيَاتٍ لِقَوْمٍ يَتَفَكَّرُونَ ٢١

Translation:

And of His signs is that He created for you from yourselves mates that you may find tranquillity in them, and He placed between you affection and mercy. Indeed in that are signs for a people who give though(QS. Ar-Rum/21).

In this verse, Allah SWT explains a woman role, such as woman be taught in softness and full of mercy for produce a peaceful sensation to their husband. This verse give a reflection that how woman should be measures and how they speak as like woman. It is concluded that this verse have a relation and reflection toward gender role and woman's tradition such as they have a role and behave. It is same with the man, they grow up and teachable for socialization as like a man in general, they identifying with strongman and be responsible. It is called with the tradition roles that have of established society.

In the Middle ages, women have no status of independence, political status and the right to vote in elections, as Ehrenberg (1989:42) stated that in classical antiquity women never gained the status of citizenship with an independent, legal political status, the right to vote or hold office. Therefore, the idea of feminism encourages changes in the role of women and the role of men shifts from traditional roles to roles based on gender justice. In the other words, this movement overhauls the established society order. Although this idea overhauls tradition, the movement is widely accepted. This can be seen in the emergence of radical groups of feminism both in reality and in fiction. In reality it can be seen with the LGBT movement. In fiction can be seen in a movie. This was proved by an expert named Karl Westphal (1833-1890) published his research on homosexuality about LGBT in 1869.

The idea of gender injustice results in the shifting of a gender role. This idea is spreads through the academic arena of gender studies also through entertainment media such as novels, films and video games. The idea of a gender ideology spreading gender based ideology of liberal feminism is found in Jane Austen's work. Jane Austen (1792:20) questioned the injustice of sharing heritage and women's rights in the public arena. Another novel, Orlando by Virginia Woolf speaks of androgyny, the feminine nature in men or masculine in women, which marks the talk of gender roles in the public and private arena. Moreover, Kate Millet in her book Sexual Politics outlines that novels influenced by the idea of patriarchy encourage men to continuously strengthen their power over women. Millet (1970) advises women to break away from masculine dominance radically by breaking relationships on men biologically. Meanwhile, Virginia Woolf has long written that if Shakespeare had a sister she would also represent the psychological turmoil of women. As Shakespeare (1992: 105) writes about the problems of patriarchal power. This encourages women to write to voice their psychological problems, either by taking their positions as feminist or out of feminists.

Based on Preston (2010: 59) film is a medium of communication rich with social implications. All Cheerleaders Die is one film that expresses the conscience of a woman who has a sexual orientation to the same sex. This film has been quite acceptable among the public, as evidenced by the emergence of the second sequel of this film. Although it appears that the film brought the notion of lesbianism that has not been widely accepted in society both in the west and east, it has proven to have caused no protests from its audience.

This condition is understandable because a literary work has a certain structure capable of muffling logic by generating strong feelings so that what should be widely rejected, otherwise acceptable and silence the public protests. This resulted in the community becoming familiar with issues that in the past were regarded as taboo. Gramsci asserts that literature and popular culture are very effective hegemonic media for changing the views of society. Chatman (1980:19) shows in detail that in a narrative or literary or film story there is an event that causes cause, can change the logic of an event.

This study aims to investigate how events are arranged in the film so that films with the theme of radical feminism that presents the idea of lesbianism can be watched by many audiences without raising protests. Therefore, it can be seen how the clash between tradition and waves of feminism is presented in terms of how a medium presents what was once considered taboo to be familiar and acceptable.

B. Research Question

Based on the background above, this research formulates the following how the logic event showed in movie that the radical feminism can be acceptable?

C. Research Objectives

The purpose of the research is to find out the logic event of radical feminism in movie.

D. Research Significances

This research will give some benefits as follows:

- a. Giving information to the people who are interested to study about literature so that can extended experience or knowledge more than before, especially about event of movie in literary work.
- b. Giving information especially to the lectures of literature that might need reference about event of movie in literary work teaching.
- c. Giving more information for students of English Literature about narrative structure, especially about the ogic event.

E. Research Scope

The researcher focuses on the story in movie All Cheerleaders Die. Actually in the event, action and happening. The researcher will find the result through the movie and manuscript. This research will find the theory following the structure stated by Seymour Chatman. As Chatman stated that there are causative in story event.

CHAPTER II

LITERARY REVIEW

A. Previous Studies

Some explanation related the theory that using in this research will explaining in this page.

Kristi Loobeek (2012) in her thesis titled “A Feminist Analysis Of The Film The Hunger Games”. She was investigated the appearance of feminism throughout The Hunger Games, especially when pertaining to the lead female character. This paper shows the characteristics of all three waves of feminism were present within the motion picture. This study began with a close examination of the cinematic version of The Hunger Games and feminism history. First wave feminism can be seen as women attempting to gain the same rights as men, second wave feminism also includes the aspiration for distinctively female only rights, and the third wave is an ideology focuses on a more post structuralist interpretation of gender and sexuality. Most of this thesis discuss about the character in movie The Hunger Games and feminism’s reflection by the charaters in this movie.

Heru Prasetyo (2009) , in his thesis titled “Narrative Structure Of Story Baron Sekeber in Serat Babat Pati”. He was investigated his thesis with narrative structure in story Baron Sekeber in Serat Babat Pati with talk over about text sequence, chronological sequence, existence , and discourse. This research used a structural approach. The story structure used the narrative structure according to Seymour Chatman. The data was take by text in Serat Babat Pati concerning babat Pati's story. The result of his thesis showed the struggle of Baron Sekeber for searching the king of Mataram and retake from hand of Senopati, because Baron do not want to be patih.

Stephanie Ortego Roussell (2007) in her thesis titled "An Analysis Of Femininity: How Popular Female Characters In The Media Portray Contemporary Womanhood". She was discuss the impact of the media on adolescent girls has received greater theoretical, legal and societal focus over the last few decades. Several studies link the development of women's gendered identities, healthy sexual activity and self efficacy about how the media portray women. Her research used the qualitative approach of femininity in contemporary media by analyzing textual analysis. The result of her thesis shows tht feminity can exist in many different ways, including mental, physical, emotional, cultural, sexual, familial and occupational states.

Based on the previous findings above, this research had the similarity and the difference. The similarities were all of the research, including this research, each of this research used narrative structure theory. While the difference of this research focused on the object of study. Loobek and Stephanie focused on feminism study in film. While Prasetyo focused on the man struggle of the history. Related to this statement, this previous findings have a similarities with this research. One similarity refer to narrative structure.

Related to this previous findings, the researcher will examine a film through narrative structure stated by Seymour Chatman (1980).

B. Narrative Structure

Narrative is a story that arranged by events. The aim of narrative is to make the reader as if they are experiencing the events told. The use of narrative theory is useful for expressing literary value for a literary work from the point of literature itself through the author to the readers. Aristotle, mentioned that the narrative form focuses on the plot as the main principle of a story. He mentioned that at the beginning of the story, the middle, and the end has a causal relationship.

Narrative theory is one of the modern theories developed from classical theory by some world literary experts. Gorys Keraf (1981: 136) stated that narrative is a form of discourse whose primary goal is the act of being woven and coupled in an event in a unified time. So it can be concluded that the narrative is a series of story events that are formed in order of time.

In narrative theory, there are some experts who build the formation of narrative theory. Among them is Vladimir Propp (1987), he is an expert from Russia that classifies folklore. Propp is considered to be the first structuralist from Russian to seriously discuss narrative structure, while providing new meaning of fabula and sjuzhet. Propp (1987: 93-98) concludes that all the stories investigated have the same structure.

Algirdas Julien Greimas is a literary expert from France. Greimas developed the narrative theory on the basis of structural analogies in linguistics derived from Ferdinand de Saussure. Greimas applies his theory in fairy tales and Russian folklore. The theory of nasiology applied by Greimas more observe an action than the perpetrators, so as to clearly show the protagonist and antagonist.

Seymour Chatman is a narrative figure in fiction and film. According to Chatman (1980:151), narrative theory explains how the story relation of the author's intention and the reader's assumptions as well as the 'narrator' and 'narratee'. He started the idea by telling us that it assumes the encounter of story tellers and listeners when listening and telling face to face. In the relationship of the narrator's mind and audience, he proposes a discursive framework of characters as a way of speaking. In his book Narrative Structure in Fiction and Film, he shares the concept of narrative stories of events and discourses. According to Chatman (1980:19), the story is the content of a chain of events that are divided into 'action' and 'happening' along with existents consisting of characters and settings.

Based on that, the important unsure of narration that consciously selected and arranged by the author is plot. Plot involves a considerably higher level of narrative organization that occurs in a story. According to Perrine (1974: 41) plot is the sequence of incident or events which the story is composed and it may conclude what character says or thinks as well. Furthermore, E.M. Forster (1927:29) stated that plot as the cause and effect relationship between events in a story. So, it is conclude that plot refers to the sequences of events inside a story which affect other events through principle of cause and effect.

Each expert of narrative theory have a different assumption , but they are an expert of structural theory which develop narrative story on the basis of structural. Therefore, based on opinion some expert above, it is concluded that narrative structure is the combination of story event which beginning until the last story have a relation that have a structure and relation each other. It is known that narration as a story that arranged by an action or happening through the events and time sequences.

In this research, the researcher interests to choose one narrative structure expert, his name is Seymour Chatman. He is the famous figure in the 1980s with his book which entitle Narrative Structure in Fiction And film . In this study, Chatman detailed and compactly mention some structure in film and fiction. Chatman mentioned some new knowledge in literary work. For example, narrative structure in a movie. Therefore, literary work is not just for watching but for the research and studied.

a). Event

Something that conducted in reality life and that happened in fiction referred as event. In reality world, events oftentimes happened in everyday. It is oftentimes experienced. For example fallen down if we are riding motorcycle, we are injured with knife if slice an onion, and so on. Then in fiction, we can seen in a novel or film. In fiction, events have a chronological structure and plot. The events have a structure arranged for arrange this event. It can be witnessed of film beginning until the end story in film. The scene that shows in film have a chronological and relationship each other. The clarity connection of events can facilitate the presented story. Certainly, it is presented to make the readers or watchers unconfused and feel satisfied.

Luxemburg (1992 : 150) stated that event interpreted as switchover of one situation to other situation. He stated that events can be divided into categories depending on where the event is seen, in relation to the development of the plot or its role in the presentation of the story. Events can be divided into three types: functional events, link events and reference events, this can be explained as follows:

- 1). Functional events are events that determine and influence the development of plots. The sequences of functional events are at the heart of the story of a work of fiction concerned. The presence of events in relation to the logic of the story is a necessity. If a number of functional events are removed, it will cause the story to be different or even less logical.
- 2). Attribute events are events that serve to associate important events in the ordering of the presentation of the story (plot). The affinity event does not affect the plot development of the story, so even if it is uninstalled it will not affect the logic of the story.
- 3). Reference events are events that do not directly affect or intertwine with plot development, but refer to other elements, such as relating to issues of alienation or the atmosphere surrounding the mind of a character. In this connection it is not the plot and the important events it tells, but how the atmosphere of nature and the mind is portrayed.

From division of the event above, Luxemburg means to differentiate event type as detailed that functional event is an important kind because directly influence and determine growth of plot. But, reference and attribute event looked important because relating to sequence, characterization, or atmosphere in story.

Chatman in Aristotle (1980:15) tells that events in traditionally referred as plot. According to Aristotle (1987), plot in a story or myth conceived of "arrangement of incidents". This Structuralist says that "arrangement" exactly represent operation that formed by discourse. Modus from a presentation presenting of events in a story begin from existence of a plot of discourse. This is because that plot in discourse more to common level than some special object. The example can be seen in presentation of film and novel. The sequence of this presentation need not to be same in base logic of story. This function for emphasize or not emphasize the even certainly in story, to interpret some event or leave other event for getting conclude, to show or tell event, to comment or keep quiet, to focus in event or focus in aspect or the character.

It is known that the author can arrange the incidents in a story in a great many ways. The author can treat some in detail and barely mention or even omit others. It can be seen in story of Oedipus, that Sophocles omits everything that happened to Oedipus before the plague in Thebes. In other words, the author can use flashbacks and many way. Each arrangement produces a different plot and a great many plots can be made from the same story.

Chatman (1980 : 44) stated that event is one of actions or happenings. Both can change depended from a situation. It is concluded that Chatman tells the event as an action or happening, it can be differentiate through a situation.

According to Chatman (1980 : 44), action is something that bring a change of situation about an agent or one that influencing a patient. If the action referred as plot, there an agent or patient as the character. Chatman was description a story of abstract level, outside from some kind of the manifestation. For example, 'the diamonds have been stolen by the stealer' or 'the police have informed that some diamonds have been stolen'. In this example, the character even not appear in a manifestation, so their existence must be inferred. It is conclude that the character as an affector, the effect of the agent to the patient.

According to Chatman (1980 : 45), happening is an object in the story that focused in character existence or other. For example, 'the storm throw Peter afloat'. Peter is a subject in event this story. Peter existence effected by the storm. Happening in event as an affected not affector. It is conclude that happening in event focused to the character as affected, and there is no character as affector.

From some example that mentioned by Chatman in his book, it is conclude that the event is an action or happening. It is can be differentiated, action is a change of conditions that affected of an agent to patient, while happening just focused on charcters existence without an effect. Therefore, action and happening both representing as an event through a situation.

b). Kernels and Satellites

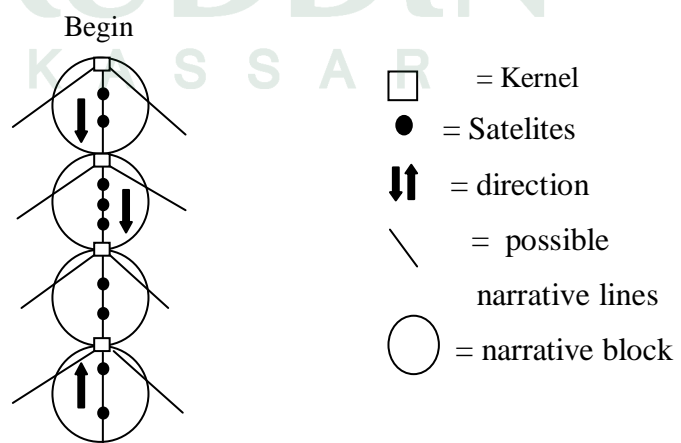

Based on an expert opinion before, they mention that in film or novel there are a plot that become an important basic because arranging the way of a story. There are some events that shown by plot, its like a prominent event and also a complement event. In this studies, the researcher will discuss more details about division of events. According to Chatman (1980 :53), the event divided in two type. Chatman mentions that major events as Kernels, while minor events as Satellites.

Chatman (1980 : 53) stated that Kernel are the main events that determine the development of the plot. Kernel as a narrative moments that give rise to cruxes in the direction toward events. It is because the kernels are nodes or hinges in the structure, the branching points that force one movement to enter one of two or more of the possible paths. Therefore, kernels can not be deleted because it will damage the logic of the story.

Based on Chatman (1980: 54) the satellite is not very important, satellite just complementary events that are displayed to indicate the existence of the kernel. Satellites have no function of determining the direction of development or structure of the story. So, the satellite can be removed without disturbing the plot logic even though it eliminates the aesthetic narrative. Satellites just imply kernel-kernel existence. Satellites functions are filling, elaborating, and complementing the kernel.

Chatman (1980: 54) clarify the relationship between kernel and satellite, following the scheme below:

For example:

- Anca visit his friend that owner cafe in midnight
- His friend promote a black Toraja's coffee to Anca
- Anca feeling a coffee's sensation made by his friend
- Anca shake hand his friend hardly so that make his friend swaying and they are laughing each other after drinking coffee.

Example above can represent that kernel is a main principal while satellite represent a complement that elaborated for boost up an aesthetics story. Furthermore, based on the picture above Chatman (1980 : 54) stated that the kernels are shown with plots at the top of each circle. The circle is a complete narrative block. The kernels are connected by a vertical line to show the main direction of the story logic. The oblique lines show possible narrative lines, but are not followed. The points are the satellites. The points on the vertical lines follow the normal sequence of the story. The points anticipate or retrospectively the kernels ahead or before (depending on the direction indicated by the arrows).

Based on the description and scheme above, it is concluded that Chatman mention the principal events as kernel, while less significant events or as complement called satellite. Therefore, kernel cannot be eliminated while satellite can be eliminated although lessen aesthetic story. It is known that the function of satellite able to fill, elaborated, and as kernels complement.

C. Logical Sequence

Logical sequence is a sequence based on causality between kernels. The logical sequence emphasizes the logic of the story. Based on Zaimar (1991: 42), the logical sequence occupies the most important place in story discuss because causal logic is the basis of structure. In the other words, logical sequence is an identical to plot studies. In this case, the plot is different from the story. E. M. Forster (1947: 87) distinguishes both by example, the sentences of "the king died, and then the queen died" is the story. While the statement "the king died then the queen of grief" was a plot. The difference is due to the fact that the first statement simply shows the time sequence of the event, while the second statement shows the time sequence of the event and contains the element of causality.

Related to this research, the logic sequence occupies the most important position because the causality is the basis of structure. Relation of causalitas in kernels will be describe based on kernels and satelites result. In this case, it is not mean that kernel I as a cause of kernel II happened, kernel II as a cause of kernel III happened, kernel III as a cause of kernel IV happened, and etc. However, it can be possibility of kernel I as a cause of kernel III happened.

D. Feminism

Since gender issues concerning the injustices of men and women encourage the emergence of feminist ideas. Based on June Hannam (2007 :22), feminism as a recognition of an imbalance of power between the sexes, with woman in a subordinate role to men. According to this statement, it is known that feminism is an idea and movements of women that demands the emancipation of justice of woman rights with men.

Since feminism emerge in the 18th century, June Hannam (2007 : 7) stated that organizations as a center of feminism history. In this organizations, the woman educated for get a changes and development in social, economy and politics in society. So, their idea can be famous in future. Its concluded that they make an organization for pour their ideas, so the next generation know their prestation. This woman's group make some wave and class of feminism that have been known until this contemporary era.

There are several feminism classes such as liberal feminism, radicalism, and marxism.

a). Liberal feminism

Liberal feminism was first recognized in the 18th century, it was formulated by Mary Wollstonecrat. Mary argues that women should have equal access to men, on economic and educational occasions. Liberal feminists base their thoughts on liberal concepts whereby men and women have equal rights and opportunities, men and women are creatures of equal rationality. The basic assumption of liberal feminism is that freedom and equilibrium are rooted in rationality and separation between the private world and the public. The basis of their struggle is to gain equality and equality of rights and opportunities for every individual, especially women on the basis of their equality of existence as rational beings. Men and women are creatures that share the capacity to think and act rationally. The liberal feminist movement demands on equal education, equality of political and economic rights. Liberal feminism believes that gender justice will be achieved by removing regulative barriers, thats related to the rule of law.

b). Radical feminism

Radical feminism was a branch that formed during the second wave of feminism in the 1960s. Radical feminism defining feature of women's oppression. Radical feminist believe that women can free themselves only when they have done away with what they consider an inherently oppressive and dominating patriarchal system. Some radical feminist see no alternatives other than the total uprooting and reconstruction of society in order to achieve their goals.

According to Lee Jussim (2015 : 10) radical feminist as the advocacy of women's rights on the grounds of the equality of the sexes. The men are expected to work outside the home while women are expected to care for children and clean the house. Radical feminists note that traditional family structure should be rejected. Another expert Hooks (1989 : 22) stated that radical feminism is the breeding ground for many of the ideas arising from feminism. Patriarchal domination shares an ideological foundation with racism and other forms of group of oppression. Furthermore, based on Millet (1970), patriarchal ideology exaggerates the biological differences between men and women, in which men always have a dominant role over women. Like Millet, Shulamith Firestone in his dialectic of Sex, claims that the material and sexual ideological base of women's submission and male domination is rooted in the male and female reproductive roles.

Marilyn French claims that feminine values should be reintegrating into the male society that has been created by patriarchal ideology. For French, the best community is the androgin community. Another expert, Mary Daly, denigrates traditional masculine values. In his book Beyond God The Father, Mary Daly rejects the masculine and feminine terms as a whole, as a product of patriarchal confusion. Daly concludes that women should reject what seems to be a good aspect of femininity, and also reject the obviously bad aspect because they are all male constructions, formed for the benefit of trapping women in deep patriarchal prisons. For radical feminists, the key of women's liberation is abolish all of patriarchal institutions. Therefore, it is conclude that radical feminism is an ideology and movement that assumes that women can be free from the patriarchal power system if they free themselves from the men as a whole.

It is well known that radical feminist see no alternatives other than the total uprooting of society in order to their goals. Over time of types of radical feminism have emerged, such as separatist feminism. Based on Alice Echols (1975: 25) separatist feminism is a form of radical feminism that does not support heterosexual relationships. Furthermore, author Marilyn Frye describes separatist feminism as “separation of various sorts or modes from men and from institutions, relationships, roles, and activities that are male defined and operating for the benefit of males and maintenance of male privilege, this separation being initiated or maintained that will by women”. So, it is conclude that separatist feminism holds that opposition to patriarchy is best done through focusing exclusively on womens. Some separatist feminist believe that men cannot make positive contributions to the feminist movement. The movement of separatist feminism can be seen in extreme idea, it is lesbianism. Lesbianism is a form of separatist feminism that there are two girl live together and separate themselves from men.

Separatism has been considered by lesbians as both a temporary strategy and as a lifelong practice. Many lesbian separatist bought land so they could live separately from men, Marilyn Frye (1978 : 406–414)

c). Marxist Feminism

In the late nineteenth century, Marxist feminism was prompted by Eleanor Marx. Marxist feminism connects the oppression of women to Marxist ideas about exploitation, oppression, and labor. Gender inequality is caused by the oppression of the ruling class, this is called capitalism. Marxists have the idea of generalizing gender in the capitalist class. One of the feminist theorists of marxism is Lise Vogel. Vogel conducted critical reviews of Marx's texts as well as Marxist feminists such as Juliet Mitchell, Margaret Benston and Peggy Morton, Mariarosa Dalla Costa, to radical feminist texts that influenced many Marxist feminists such as Kate Millet and Sullamith Firestone. From this critical review, Vogel went on to track the developmental history of the analysis of the oppression of women among socialists. Two things against the oppression of women, namely the theory of social reproduction and sexual division of labor.

Allen Wood in his book Karl Marx discloses that class division can lead to hatred and segmented and specialized nature of the work process, in which human existence will lose its unity and wholeness in four ways: first, the alienated man of the work product, second alienated from themselves, the third alienated from other humans and all four are alienated from nature. Therefore, Marxist feminists want to create a world where women can experience themselves as whole human beings, as integrated human beings and not fragmented, as people who can be happy.

According to the various definitions of several groups of feminism above, the researcher conclude that the causes of feminism's emergence is an injustice a women with a men. In this case, the women have a way for against slavery and subordinates. In this research, the researcher just focus on radical feminism.

The researcher has interested with the radical feminist case. In this world, some people has known that radical feminism as an unnatural action. A little example that often occur in society like a husband doing a violence act to his wife. This act occasionally have not get the attention in law. Since ancient times, the position of women had been marginalized and considered lower compared to men.

E. Movie

Based on Preston (2010: 59) film is a medium of communication rich with social implications, created within different social, historical and cultural contexts. Besides, Lonergan (1984:7) said that film is photographic process, involving the effects of light and chemical on sensitive paper. Furthermore, Lado (1974: 201) stated that the video movie or the motion pictures is in theory at least the most powerful of visual aids, it combines pictures with movement, color and sound. Meanwhile, according to the American Heritage Dictionary of English Language, film also called a motion picture. Motion picture is a series filmed images viewed in sufficiently rapid succession to create the illusion of motion and continuity. There are some element of the movie, like story idea, scenario, director, artistic arrangement, editing, and so on.

Based on some expert's explanation above, the researcher concluded that movie as a tool that have a combination between picture, movement, and sounds that present for entertain.

F. Synopsis of the movie

In the school area, there are football group and cheerleaders that always collaborated everyday. Oneday, some cheerleaders practice, student named Alexis is thrown into the air and her teammates fail to catch her in time, resulting in her death. Once school resumes Maddy decides that she will try out for the cheerleading team and manages to impress the entire team with her acrobatic skills. After being accepted, Maddy notes that Tracy has begun dating Terry a star football player who had been dating Alexis prior to her death. She begins to get along with the other cheerleaders, the overly religious and prissy Martha and her shy sister Hanna, who serves as the cheerleading mascot. This provokes Maddy's ex-girlfriend Leena, who can't understand why Maddy would want to hang out with the cheerleaders. Unbeknownst to everyone else, Maddy has actually joined the cheerleading squad to take revenge on Terry for as yet unspecified reasons. None of them recollect exactly what happened until Leena reveals to them what occurred the night before. They're also very hungry, which prompts them to attack one of Leena's neighbors and suck out all of his blood. The girls then go to school, where the football players all watch them with disbelief, as they'd thought them all dead. During the day the cheerleaders pick off the football players one by one, either out of hunger or, in the case of Martha, out of anger when she realizes that her sister slept with her boyfriend, Manny (Leigh Parker), using her body.

While the girls were all initially willing to work together, their solidarity unravels due to the day's deaths and the discovery from Maddy's video diaries that she had joined the squad out of revenge. She tries to explain her cruel criticism of them, but none of the others will listen to her, especially not Tracy, as she had genuinely begun to fall in love with Maddy.

The only person who will listen is Leena and Maddy tells her that she had been raped by Terry while attempting to film a memorial video for Alexis and that up until that point, she had not wanted revenge. The girls are then picked off one by one by Terry, who has figured out what is going on and manages to defeat them by cutting out the magic and swallowing them. Terry manages to corner Maddy and Leena in a graveyard where he tries to force Leena to show him how to use her magic for his benefit, only for him to die after Maddy attacks him and Leena's magic somehow manages to force the stones out of him. Maddy dies again as a result of this but Leena manages to revive her through her own grief, the same thing that caused the original resurrection. The two embrace and kiss, only to find that a bloody Alexis is tearing her way out of Terry's corpse and screaming Leena's name. The film then cuts to the title card, which reveals that the film is part one in a series and that there will be a sequel.

Shot on high definition videotape over a period of two four-day weekends, All Cheerleaders Die (2001) was a splatter comedy about the rivalry between a group of high school jocks and four cheerleaders who accidentally die and are brought back to life to seek revenge. In 2005, McKee was offered by United Artists to direct the David Ross script The Woods (2006), another horror film shot in and around Montreal, Canada and starring some first rate actors like Patricia Clarkson and Bruce Campbell about a haunted woods influencing the actions of a teenage girl attending an all-girls high school located in isolation within the woods. McKee then stepped in front of the camera for his first acting role in the starring role of Roman (2006), a psychological drama thriller which is based on his own script and directed by May (2002) star Angela Bettis. McKee describes Roman (2006) as a sort-of alternated version of May (2002) with him playing a lonely guy whose obsession with a woman he sees passing by his residence every day leads to things going horribly wrong.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

This page includes all of the information about the source of data and procedures that applied in composing and explain this research in order to be logic and scientific. This page consist of research method, source of data, instrument of the research, procedure of data collection, and technique of data analysis.

The expression above shows that Terry happily lifted Hanna to his bait for Leena and Maddy. Then, when they came to the edge of the forest, where they had done the attractions last week. Terry: Oh. Whoa. Tastes like jellybeans. I'm like the cookie monster up in this bitch. Oh, I hope that shit was gluten free. Come on bitches .

Tracy: (Screaming) Terry!

Picture above explains the glow of his hand, it indicated that the magis stone of her stomach has appointed. It relateded with the dialogue above that shows Terry is very satisfied and feels his strength has doubled. Terry shouted with a cheerful and happy face. Meanwhile, Tracy's face looks furious while running Terry. Their reaction is supported by the depiction of the place background and the atmosphere is tense and dark, and accompanied by the sound of music buzzing with some horror screams. And the scene of their action right in the middle of the dark forest.

After the three girls saw Terry's behavior towards Hanna, they decided to pursue Terry in the forest. Maddy and Leena also ran without seeing a hole, Tracy finally caught by Terry's trap and the blood coming out of Tracy's arms flowed unceasingly, another accident happened to Maddy, she was caught in the trees.

Leena: Mad, we have to do this together! Maddy..Maddy..

Tracy: (screaming) Aaaaa.... Oh My God, Terry!

Maddy: No...

Picture above shows her face that shocked on Hanna's body, she was ripped by Terry. Dialogue above also tells that Leena feels very scared and worried when Maddy and Tracy chase Terry in the woods. In the same time, Maddy and Terry was trapped. Meanwhile, Terry still pursue them. The portrayal of cheerleaders' faces was very anxious as they ran along with Terry, and the pitch-black lighting, as well as the tense atmosphere of the place accompanied by the nuanced music sounds support of their action.

In that same time, Leena grows furious as she runs after Terry. However Leena's power is defeated by Terry so she was captured and dragged by him. Then, he forces Leena to tell a mantra over the magic of her necklace, and also he threatens Leena with a sharp knife, but Maddy abruptly blocked from behind hitting Terry's head, then the punch did not work and made Terry furious and killed Maddy.

Terry: No.

The expression above shows that Maddy can not hold back of Terry's handful. In that picture, it explains about Leena remove her stones and make this stone fly and the magic stone in Terry's stomach flow out. It is the cause of his death. The dark background of the place and the atmosphere surrounded by small, colorful lights is the effects of the reflection of light from the magical stones can support that happening. This film completed when the antagonist die.

Based on the finding of the research above, it related with the theory of Chatman in Aristotle (1968: 40), as he stated that an event traditionally referred as a plot, that plot in a story or myth conceived of "arrangement of incidents". This structuralist says that "arrangement" exactly represent operation that formed by discourse. Modus from a presentation presenting of events in a story begin from existence of a plot. Related to this opinion, according to Chatman (1980: 53), the event divided in two type, that is the major events as kernels, while the minor events as satellites. So, the researcher concluded that in this research was found some kernels and satelites that conducted on ten theme of events. This events marked with the arrangement an incidents and plots in begins until the end that reflects in this movie. Based on the 10th event above, the researcher found the logic event of the emergence of radical feminism, as E. M. Forster in Chatman (1947: 87) stated that the logical sequence is an identical plot studies that contains the element of causality. This study will discussed in the discussion part.

B. Discussion

In this part of discussion, the researcher discuss some data based on findings in previous part. The discussion related to the logical events that support the emergence of radical feminism that was showed in this movie so it can be accepted and watched by many people. This can be reflected in the causative relationships between 10 events, so that the emergence of the logic of radical feminism. Based on finding above the researcher explains that in this movie, there are 10 events that occur in antagonists and protagonists who describe their characters as the bad people and the kind people. The researcher summarizes these events into the causes, the conflicts, and the effect. Based on the division of these events, the researcher summarize the division of events based on the table below:

The cause	The conflicts	The effect
1. The death 2. The raped	1. The revenge 2. The quarrel 3. The accident 4. The murder 5. The leering 6. The brawl 7. The fight	Radical Feminism: Lesbian

Table above explains that there are causes, process that emerged by the conflicts and the effects in the tenth events found. It bring up the ideas of radical feminism. Based on the table, the cause is the death and the raped. In the cause's column, it begins when the movie shows the death of the character, it was she die when she tried to floating in the air and bumping in the grounds. This moment makes Maddy took the initiative to make a video of appreciation for Alexis, then Maddy visited Terry's house to records that video to respect her friend's death. In that room, Terry's face become naughty, then the moment ending tragically when she was raped by him. This event is the cause of some conflict like: the revenge, the quarrel, the accident, the murder, the leering, the brawl, and the fight. The continuation of the movie shows a plan of the revenge by Maddy, was caused after she was raped by Terry. The beginning of her revenge marked by the quarrel after Terry was stalked the behavior of that two girls, as he watched instantly that the two girls were having an affair on top of their car. The incident of this event continued until emerges a great quarrel between two characters the antagonists and the protagonist. The quarrel shows by the mock, the harassment and the beating. The end of the quarrel was marked by the accident, when the cheerleaders were unable to hold back the control and make the car plunge towards the ravine and the river. The events of the fall and the death of the cheerleaders in the river did not end, but the movie continued by showing the scene that reflected a magical thing. After the cheerleaders die, there was a voodoo named Leena, together with her magical stones, she helps the cheerleaders and makes them live again. Then, after the overnight incident passed, the cheerleaders have a new life where they have to kill and suck human blood in order to get their intake and for their endurance. The event was marked with the murder that they did in the school. When they have full power after killing Larry, the incident continued in the school with the various murders that they committed, such as killing Ben and killing Manny. The cheerleaders did not kill the innocent people at their school, but they killed Ben and Manny just to satisfy their vengeance for the behavior of the damaged man. Then, that event makes Terry leering and become suspicion, after the several hours of the murder of his friends occurred. Then, this makes Terry increasingly furious when his suspicions proved. At the same time, the brawl of the cheerleaders grew steadily after they knows a bitter reality. Related to this brawl, these events make Terry more easy to pounce on that cheerleaders. Furthermore, the event continued with the fight, as Terry managed to chop and stab some of that cheerleaders. But the end of Terry's struggle pounces on the cheerleaders marked when the voodoo Leena uses her magic formula and magic stones to fight Terry, so that event ends when Terry dies. Then, the last is the effect all of the events is emerged the radical feminism.

Related to this research, the theory that used on Zaimar (1991: 42) stated that the logical sequence occupies the most important place in story discuss because causal logic is the basis of structure. It same with the expert named E. M. Forster in Chatman (1947: 87) stated that the logical sequence is an identical plot studies that contains the element of causality. Related to the theory that used by the researcher, it is concluded that the movie explains the cause of the raped's event, resulting in the extreme action to satisfy the revenge by the character, that is radical feminism. Because of the antagonist seems strong, the protagonist chooses the act of the revenge by breaking all relationships to the men as a biologically which is the main idea of the radical feminism. In this case, the film can be accepted by the public because the plot and the characters that reflected in narrative is the author's skill to changes the audience's feeling. So, it makes the audience accept the radical feminism ideas in the movie.

According to this research and that theory, the researcher concludes that the event of the death and the raped, makes and causes of seven conflicts of the revenge. So that all of these events resulted the effect of radical feminism's action that showed in the movie. Tenth events that found by the researcher was obtained by 37 kernels. This research has still a little similarity and difference with the other research such as that conducted by Hery Prasetyo (2009) , in his thesis titled "Narrative Structure Of Story Baron Sekeber in Serat Babat Pati". This study also was analyzed with used narrative structure theory by Seymour Chatman. There were 38 kernel that found in his reseach. The result of the classification show that between 1st kernel until 38th kernel have a causative relation. The similarity of this research with Prasetyo's research was analyzed narrative structure theory by Chatman, and the difference was consist of the result that Prasetyo explained his research with a general ways, Prasetyo establish all of the kernel of the movie while the researcher mentions 37th kernels into the 10 events theme.

Previous studies above have the same theory with this research. Furthermore, in order to know more about feminism, the researcher also looking for the research that conducted by Kristi Loobek (2012) in her thesis titled "A Feminist Analysis Of The Film The Hunger Games". This study was analyzed about investigate the appearance of feminism consist of the women character in the movie. In her research, she found 3 wave distinctive of female. The result of the third wave was open to women of all ethnicities, religions, and sexual orientation, she found that in this 3rd wave, feminism focuses on the fluidity of a woman's sexuality. The similarity of this research with Loobek's research is about the object, Loobek and the researcher analyzed the feminity case. They have the different theory to found the result. The difference was about subject of the research and the researcher also have the different ways to found the result of her research.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter provides two sections. They are conclusions and suggestions. After findings and analyzing the logic event of radical feminism in movie “All Cheerleaders Die” the researcher gives some conclusions and suggestions to the reader. The detail of each section presents below:

A. Conclusion

This research uses to answer a problem that concerning how the logic event of radical feminism in movie. Related to this problem, the researcher found the result of the research that the logic event of the radical feminism in this movie occurs with 37 kernels that gathered on the 10 theme of events, such as the death, the raped, the the revenge, the quarrel, the accident, the murder, the leering, the brawl, the fight, and the solution. Based on the 10th events above, the researcher summarises into the parts in order to know the causality of this problem, as regards the first is the death and the raped as the cause, the second is the revenge, the quarrel, the accident, the murder, the leering, the brawl, the fight as the conflict, and the third, the solution is the radical feminism as the effect. Based on that, it is conclude the relation between radical feminism with the events can be seen in the emergence of the lesbianism idea in that events.

Therefore, all explanations about the logic event of radical feminsim, the researcher concludes that the antagonist who performs the bad acts such as the raped, the quarrel, or the murder makes the audience have a sense to dejected and hated. The protagonist characters who cursed by the antagonist make the audience feels sympathetic to them. It is the discourse about the protagonist that builds the resistance to the antagonist character. So it is reflected the logic thing. It is known that the plot and the character in narrative is the author's rethoric to change the audience's sensation such as make them hate the antagonist and sided to the protagonist, so it makes the audience accepts the radical feminism ideas in the movie. Related to this opinion, the combination between logic and rhetoric becomes a hegemonic medium for introducing new ideas through a literary work. This is the strategy that excited the feelings of sympathy and vexation to build the perception of radical feminism, so that films with the radical feminism theme do not makes the hard criticism in the audience.

It is known that the combination between good character and bad characters with the ideas of radical feminism in the movie is the author's tactic and strategy to twist the minds of the audience so that the ideas of radical feminism looks reasonable and acceptable in general. Regard from this opinion, it is well known that the film is a medium which there are characters antagonist and protagonist, plots and settings, and has a strategy for turning thoughts so that audience can give their arguments to the ideas expressed by the movie.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusions before, the researcher would like to give some suggestions as regards: the first is for further researchers, the researcher suggested learning more about the narrative structure, which used in literary works. However, we mostly can find the utterance about it in our daily life. The researcher also suggested finding the other theories in examining and analyzing the logic event because this theory stills a little that we can find. The theories can make the researchers more recognize about it and more develop than this research.

The second is for the readers, the researcher suggested to improve their comprehension or understanding about the logic event of literature in literary works. Such as Chatman helps us to disclose and apprehend about how the story values twisted in the narration. So, it is desirable for the all audience to examine the strategy before accepting a new offers or ideas that shown in the movies.
